OVER NIAGARA FALLS

Mrs. Taylor Successfully Makes the Daring Trip.

SAYS SHE WON'T DO IT AGAIN

During Voyageur Received Only a Few Minor Injuries—How the Barrel Acted in the Passage Over the Brink of the Watery Abyss—A Few Moments of Unconsciousness.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 25. — Mrs. Annie Edson Taylor, 50 years old, went over Niagara Falls on the Canadian side yesterday afternoon. She escaped without a broken bone, her only apparent injuries being a scalp wound 1½ inches long, a slight concussion of the brain, some shock to her nervous system and bruises about the body. She was conscious when taken out of the barrel. The doctors in attendance upon her last night said that she was somewhat hysterical, that her condition is not at all serious, and that she probably will be out of bed within a few days.

Mrs. Taylor's trip covered a mile ride through the Canadian rapids, which occupied 18 minutes, before she reached the brink of the precipice. Her barrel as it passed through the smoother, swifter waters that rushed over into the abyss, it rode in an almost perpendicular position with its upper half out of water. As it passed over the brink at 4.23, it rode at an angle of about 45 degrees on the outer surface of the deluge, and descended as gracefully as a barrel can descend to the white foaming waters, 158 feet below. True to her calculation the anvil fastened to the bottom of the barrel kept it foot downwards and so it landed.

It could not be seen as it struck the water below, because of the spray, but, in less than half a minute after it passed over the brink, it was seen on the surface of the scum-covered water below the Falls. It was carried swiftly down to the green water beyond the scum, then half way to the Maid of the Mist landing, it was caught in what is known as the Maid of the Mist eddy, and held there until it floated so close to the shore that it was reached by means of a pole and hook, and drawn in upon the rocks at 4.40 o'clock or 17 minutes after it shot the cataract. Ten minutes later, the woman was lifted from the barrel, and, half an hour later, she lay on a cot at her boarding house at First street, in Niagara Falls, on the American side.

She thanked God that she was alive, thanked all who had helped her in any way, said she would never do it again, but that she was not sorry she had done it, "if it would help her financially." She said she had prayed all the time during the trip, except during "a few moments" of unconsciousness, just after her descent.

The barrel in which Mrs. Taylor made the journey is 4½ feet high, and about three feet in diameter. A leather harness and cushions inside protected her body. Air was secured through a rubber tube connected with a small opening near the top of the barrel.

Destroyed Natural History Building.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—Fire yesterday destroyed the Natural History Building at Exhibition Park, and the city will lose about $2,500 by it. The building was valued at $4,000, and was insured for only $1,500, divided among 46 companies doing business in Toronto. Of the insurance $500 represented the extra amount put on when the buildings were handed over to the military authorities. The policy was only for 20 days, and expires on Saturday. The Natural History Building was built in 1882.

Admiral Schley on the Stand.

Washington, Oct. 25. — Admiral Schley yesterday took the stand in his own behalf at the court of inquiry, which is investigating his conduct as commander-in-chief of the flying squadron during the Santiago campaign. He was summoned a few minutes after the court convened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. He made full explanation of the whole movement against Santiago and the Spanish fleet.

Canadians for the Navy.

London, Oct. 25.—Admiral Hopkins, at a dinner given by the London Chamber of Commerce, declared that if some one would only make a move by holding up their hand in favor of the idea, ten thousand of the forty thousand Canadian fishermen would join the royal navy. Best Sugar in the Northwest.

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—Experiments in the vicinity of Lethbridge with sugar beets has proved most successful. He is now preparing 3,000 acres of land for cultivation for beet production.

Plotted to Take Shah's Life.

London, Oct. 25.—"News has been received here from Teheran," says a despatch from St. Petersburg to The Daily Mail, "of the discovery of a serious plot on the life of the Shah. Mr. Massey's Condition.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—The relatives and friends of Mr. Walter E. H. Massey were given some encouragement last night when it was given out by the physicians that there is still a hope for recovery.

WHITE MURDER TRIAL

Mrs. White Collapses Under Relentless Cross-Examination.

THE DEAD MAN'S BAD HEALTH

White Was Sickly and According to Many Witnesses Often Wished for Death—Often Spoke of Committing Suicide, Especially After a Bout of Hard Drinking—Tired of Life.

Peter Schram, a boarding house keeper, with whom White lived, testified that deceased spent much money in drink. He was not a well man, and often complained of pain across the chest, took medicine, sometimes from boxes and other times from bottles. He had also talked life insurance, and of suiciding when he had been drinking, saying that he would drown himself.

Philip Monthe of Toronto, formerly of Brantford, said that once, while drinking with White, the latter said that he was always in trouble and could not get along. He said that he was better dead than alive. White said: "If you find me a corpse in the morning, don't be a bit surprised." He pulled a bottle out of his pocket. The witness told him not to talk like that, or he would not stay with him. Witness stayed all night with the deceased.

W. D. Foster of Hamilton swore that, while he was boarding at Schram's with White, someone was drowned in the river. Witness remarked to White that it was a sad thing. White said he didn't know about that. He believed that death ended all, and that he would be ready to go at any time, and that, if his troubles multiplied to such an extent that he could not bear them, he would take his own life. White's condition at nights was similar to that of a person suffering from delirium tremens. When White spoke to him about the hereafter, he spoke seriously.

Thomas Maddock of Hamilton said that he was in Brantford in 1899, and boarded at Schram's. He knew White, who was always complaining of pains across the chest. White had told him that he only cared for one of his sons, Frank, and that, if it were not for him he would end his life. Witness, as he was often coming from work late at night, often met White by the river, and walked to the house with him. On one occasion, White said that he felt like throwing himself into the river.

Miss Maggie Secord saw White the Thursday before he died. On that day, she was at Mrs. White's house. White came in and threw himself in a chair, and complained of his heart troubling him. He put his hand in his pocket, and, pulling something his pocket, and, pulling out something wrapped in a paper, said that there was something in that that would fix his troubles some of these times. She told him not to talk like that, and threatened to report him.

Charles P. McGregor said he had known White from boyhood. White drank heavily at times, and complained of heart trouble and stomach trouble. This extended over a long period of time. Witness had heard White say repeatedly that he was tired of life, and that he would like to put himself out of the road. He was at the residence on the Sunday that White died. He saw a baking powder on the table; beside it were a tumbler and spoon. He was present when the body was embalmed, and saw the fluid put in the body.

Alice Chamberlain of Hamilton testified that White complained often of pains in his stomach. He often said he was tired of life. Witness had seen White take powders. Her attention had been attracted, and she asked him what he took them for. He made no reply, but colored up. She was in White's house on Sunday, and, after going upstairs, went into the kitchen, where she saw the baking powder can. Mrs. White was there, frightened and worried. Mrs. White's household effects were afterward sold. She was present, and she took the can home. Soda was in it, and she used it a couple of times. She had heard him say that he was affected with piles.

On cross-examination, the witness said that she had used the soda for baking a cake, and that no one had suffered any ill-effects from eating the cake. Mrs. White had never discussed at any time the separations from her husband.

Other witnesses testified along similar lines.

Mrs. White Collapsed.

Mrs. Josephine White, after bravely facing the attack of counsel for nearly two hours, collapsed last night under the relentless cross-examination of Mr. F. A. Anglin, the Crown prosecutor, and her condition was so serious that the court was adjourned. The prisoner entered the box confident and smiling, and refused the chair which Mr. Heyd offered her. During the examination by her counsel she maintained her self-control thoroughly. Mr. Heyd confined his questions to the main points of the case, and as a result the evidence in chief had a distinctly good effect.

FRIDAY, OCT. 25, 1901.

A FEW FACTS.

No one can deny that we owe it to the Liberal Government of this Province that we have a New Ontario to be developed.

The Dominion Government wanted to seize this territory, and divide it between Manitoba and Quebec.

Sir John Macdonald, then Premier, claimed that Ontario had no right to this territory.

He declared that "not one stick of timber, not one pound of ore," should Ontario have.

Sir Oliver Mowat, then Premier of Ontario, claimed this territory — 100,000 square miles, or sixty-five million acres — for this province.

The Dominion Government disputed his claim, and in this they were supported by the Ontario Conservative Opposition.

The Dominion Government was so determined so sure that they would win, that in anticipation they distributed to the political hangers-on of the Conservative party, hundreds of thousands of acres of this disputed territory, at $5 a square mile, or less than a cent an acre.

Mr. Broder, of Morrisburg, Mr. Leader Whitney's bosom friend, got a slice.

But Sir Oliver Mowat patriotically carried the fight to a finish, and won for the Province of Ontario a territory twice as large as Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island combined, so had it not been for a Liberal Government Ontario would have been in area one of the minor Provinces of Confederation.

If Mr. Whitney's political friends had succeeded in stealing New Ontario, and dividing it between Quebec and Manitoba, Quebec would have been nearly four times the size of Ontario, and Manitoba would have been of equal area, instead of being, as she is now, one-third the size of Ontario.

It is as well to remind the people of the facts, in face of Mr. Whitney's cheeky claim that New Ontario should have been developed long ago.

If Mr. Whitney had any sense of shame, he would blush to refer to New Ontario, which, if the party he now leads had had their way, would not have been ours to develop, but which under a Liberal Government has been developed in spite of his narrow minded opposition and obstruction.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Hamilton Spectator and Toronto Mail and Empire, see in the deposition of General Buller and the appointment of General French, as his successor, another instance of "French domination."

The Montreal Gazette nominates Hon. George E. Foster as successor of the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, in West York. It won't work. West York is accustomed to a steady going cob, quiet in harness, and won't stand a "bolter."

The value of goods sent from Canada to South Africa since the outbreak of hostilities, on order of the Imperial authorities, exceeds in value $1,250,000. These orders include saddlery of all kinds, hat and caps, wagons, etc.

The annual fall rise in grain rates from Chicago to the seaboard affords, says the Buffalo Express, the usual object-lesson of what the public would have to expect if it had to depend on railroads alone to carry the country's produce the year round.

Rudyard Kipling may occupy a commanding position in the literary world, but at home he is only a full private in the rear rank. It is said that "Mr. Kipling is absolutely ruled by his wife." It is perhaps a good thing that there is a restraining influence in the home that prevents the heads of great men from assuming inordinate proportions.

The Dundas Banner says: "The Ross Government may not be the strongest Government that Ontario ever had, but if there is any doubt about its strength, all that you have to do is to look at the men who would be called in to form a Government if it were turned out." That is worth thinking about. Even were Mr. Whitney the man for a leader, whom has he in his ranks fit for Cabinet positions?

The Toronto World says: "It was a mean trick on the part of the Government officials in charge of the Printing Bureau to dock the pay of the volunteers employed there who came to take part in the review at Toronto. Here is a palpable injustice that should be remedied."

The Montreal Star says: "The Government will pay the wages of the employes of the Ottawa Printing Bureau, who are in the militia, and who lost time by attending the Royal review at Toronto."

He (Mr. Stratton) is accused in so many words of using his influence as a member of the Ontario Cabinet to secure from the Dominion Government, a public franchise at a price greatly below its actual worth. Such an accusation is not refuted by an interested party stating that it was inspired by malice. It must be met with trustworthy evidence of its untruth. — Toronto News.

We don't think, says the Hamilton Times, the public will accept that doctrine; it is too much opposed to British practice and natural sense of right. Whomsoever accuses must be prepared to make good his accusation. Who accuses Mr. Stratton of malfeasance? Does the News? He has given the newspaper rumours prompt denial, and it is stated that the public franchise referred to is still open for public bids. Is the News not playing the role of party blackguard?

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

(Canadian Forester.)

The suggestion that all nations of the world unite in establishing and furnishing the population for a new and independent nation, probably on an island in the Pacific, has much to commend it. The scheme is to have a conference between representatives of the different powers to arrange details, and then to remove to the agreed upon international colony all the anarchists from each country.

It has been spoken of as an international colony, but it would be better described as a new nation. It should not be necessary to forcibly deport the proposed population from their present abiding places, nor should there be any time wasted in framing a constitution. Just press the island upon them and they will do the rest.

It would of course, be necessary to make a death penalty for any one to leave the island, but they would not want to go. The anarchist is a person who has, or imagines, some cause of trouble against some or all existing nations and rulers. Here would be an opportunity for him or her to have "a new deal." There would be no laws or rulers, no kings or presidents, no police or soldiers. They would be entirely free, with the supreme privilege of having absolute anarchy.

There would be the spot to which the "disgruntled" of all nations would voluntarily flock. Thus would the other countries be relieved of all who were a source of danger to the well-being of those willing to surrender a large part of their personal liberty on the altar of expediency, and for the common good. Of course the brotherhood of man would be the only ruling power of the new nation, but there does not seem any good reason why the people sent there might not be allowed to take their bombs, knives, stilettoes, pistols, sharpe-pointed files, and other paraphernalia, as well as the usual dangerous jaw bone weapons, with them. Indeed, it might not be out of place to put a liberal supply of dynamite on the island with the first outfit, so that the inhabitants of Anarchasia would be able to resist any attempts that Indians, or anything, might make to take their island or freedom away from them. If any of the brotherhood should happen to fall against any of the arsenal any dark night, the loss would be purely that of the community. The rest of the world would never know about it. If any one or more of the brethren should ever happen to take it into their heads to be leaders, or to dictate any code of laws, or to try in any way to lord it over the land, it would be handy to have the wherewithal to settle their hash in the regular way, without having to brain them with stone clubs, or beat them on the brow with pieces of trees, or use any other barbaric method.

The advantage of the proposal is that it would give anarchists to anarchy, and anarchy to anarchists. The rest of the world would be prepared to look on with a certain amount of equanimity, even if the fate of the Kilkenny cats should imperil the new nation. It would be giving content to the discontented; freedom, absolute and complete, to those who feel bound by the tyrannous bonds of civilization, and enable them to luxurate in a delightful climate, amidst kindred spirits, far removed from princes and potentates.

Speedy birth and long life to Anarchasia!

A BLAST FOR MR. WHITNEY.

Trouble Amony the Leader's Followers.

HIS DISORGANIZED PARTY.

(Toronto Star.)

This morning the Star received the following letter from Mr. Chas. R. Mabee, written on the letter paper of the Ontario Liberal Conservative Association, and accompanying it a copy of a letter written by Mr. Mabee to Mr. J. P. Whitney. We have also received a copy of the book which Mr. Mabee has had distributed by Hunter, Rose & Co., denouncing Mr. Whitney's mismanagement of the Conservative interests in Ontario politics. It appears to be an acute family quarrel. Mr. Mabee claims that in the Conservative interest he visited the various constituencies and found such disaffection existing that he is compelled to take his present course. Here are the two letters to speak for themselves:

No. 5 King street East,
Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association.
Toronto, Oct. 21, 1901.

Editor of the Star,—Accompanying this letter is a copy of a campaign book, the greater portion of which was edited and approved of here in the headquarters. Attached hereto is a copy of a letter which I have just registered and sent to Mr. Whitney in connection with the same. There will soon be a general breaking up here, and a number of resignations will be sent in, to take effect within 60 days, unless a convention is called and a new leader appointed. Mr. Whitney's gross mismanagement has caused many of our best workers to "stand pat" until some one is appointed to replace him. Make any use of letter or document you may see fit, and give us a chance to get a man instead of a boy—for leader.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. R. MABEE.

Temple Building,
Toronto, Oct. 21, 1901.

J. P. Whitney, Esq., M.P.P., Morrisburg, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—After interviewing, with few exceptions, all the Conservative candidates in the coming election, I find that the representations made to me last March, by yourself and your friends, were not true, and therefore I could not conscientiously issue a campaign document in your behalf and claim it to be in the interest of the Province. The party has had no representatives go through the Province in years, and call on candidates in their own constituencies, as I have done, and therefore I am in a position to speak intelligently of the situation. The Conservative candidates, one and all, are disgusted with your gross mismanagement of the party and reckless expenditure of its funds, while the rank and file believe that, were you elected, you would also mismanage the Province and bankrupt its treasury.

While in the United States a few years ago I came in contact with political organizations of all kinds and descriptions, but never saw one officered by such feeble and inefficient men as the Conservatives of Ontario, or one held in higher esteem by citizens in general than the Liberals of Ontario. Under separate cover I am sending you by this mail a publication issued in the interest of the Conservative party, and which has been approved by many of its leading members throughout the Province with whom I have conversed. It describes the condition of the party under your management, the causes that led to this condition, the prospects of both party and citizens, should you be elected, and contains ample evidence, from other Conservatives, to substantiate the same in its entirety. If you are not lost to all sense of shame, you will show your loyalty to party and country by accepting its advice, and not allow your repentant tears to wet the grave you have already dug for the party and country you profess to love. Your vanity and lack of business ability have caused doubt and discord to step between yourself and party, and between your party and your country. Thus your party has been called upon to pay the debt of low ambition and thirst for praise. Under your leadership the Conservative party has been greatly overpowered by the delicious poison of the destructive and ever-to-be avoided siren, sloth, whose deadly venom has preyed upon its vitals and turned a healthful organization into a cesspool of confusion. Here it has grown torpid and become corrupted, as water is corrupted unless it moves.

The programme you have enunciated and impudently labeled the Conservative platform is the work of a child—it contains nothing new, nothing progressive, and, moreover, is an insult to the party whose name it bears. Your slanderous statements, which the intelligent members of your own party refuse to accept, have not only disgraced and disorganized, but impeached the entire party.

I submit the accompanying publication, feeling confident that, after a careful investigation of its contents, you will be able to see yourself as the intelligent citizens of Ontario see you, to realize that empty vessels make the loudest sounds, that the compulsion of fate is bitter, and that open rebellion to a would-be tyrant is obedience to God. Respectfully yours,

C. R. Mabee.

(Toronto Star.)

Mr. C. R. Maybee, who is heralded by the Conservative morning papers as the dominant feature in Ontario politics, was interviewed by a Star reporter this morning, and permitted the use of the following statements for publication:

"In the first place," said he, 'I am no American as the Mail and Empire would have the public believe. I was born and brought up in Vittoria, Norfolk county, and with the exception of a little more than a year have always lived in Canada.

"I have not a single relative who is a Grit," was his way of disposing of the Conservative organs.

The reporter asked Mr. Maybee about the campaign literature which the Mail and Empire and the World to-day assert he submitted for the Conservative party's use and which they describe Mr. Whitney as virtuously casting into the gutter as unfit for use, because it maligned a political opponent.

"I am not the author of the book," said Mr. Maybee. "The Conservative organizers were compiling the publication independently, and I was consulted in an advisory capacity more than anything else. Mr. A.W. Wright, Conservative organizer, himself wrote about one-third of the book, and other Conservatives different portions of it."

Mr. Maybee produced two personal letters from Mr. J. P. Whitney, written early last spring, which were not calculated to deter the work of getting the campaign book ready, but rather the contrary. "You see," said Mr. Maybee, "the initiative was not taken by me. Mr. Whitney requested me to call on him at his room in the Parliament buildings; afterwards he asked me to see Messrs. Foy and Pyne, and, later, he requested me to see him at the Grosvenor House, where I had a long talk with him."

"The result of it all," continued Mr. Maybee, "is that the Conservative organizations have a 192-page volume in their possession at the present moment ready for publication on the shortest notice."

Mr. Maybee laughed at the idea of its lying in the shadow of Mr. Whitney's disapproval. Mr. Maybee has in his possession a letter from a leading member of the Conservative Association which states that the book "has been read and approved by Mr. Whitney and other leading members of the party."

Swedes Likely to Strike.

Stockholm, Oct. 25.—At a meeting of the Workingmen's Association held here yesterday, a vote was taken by ballot to decide if certain trades should strike in order to force the adoption of manhood suffrage. The majority of those present voted in favor of the strike and deposited one day's pay per member to form a strike fund. The final decision will be taken when the labor congress meets in January. It is hoped that the reform bill now in preparation by the Government will meet the ideas of that gathering.

Death of Fred. Archer.

Pittsburg, Oct. 24.—Frederick Archer, the great British organist, who, since 1880 has been a resident of this country, died yesterday at his home in this city of cancer of the stomach. Mr. Archer had been director of Carnegie Music Hall here since 1895. In 1887, he was conductor of the Boston Oratorio Society, and founded the Pittsburg Symphony Orchestra in 1896. Two years thereafter he was appointed musical examiner of the University of Toronto, and, during the time of his residence in this city, he officiated as organist of the Church of the Ascension. In England, where he was born in 1838, Mr. Archer occupied an eminent place as an organist. He gave 2,000 consecutive recitals in London, all of which were largely attended and hugely successful. In 1852 he was appointed organist of St. Clement's Church and Merton College Chapel in Oxford, his native city. He was subsequently made organist of the Royal Panopticon and joint conductor with Sir Julius Benedict of the London Vocal Association.

In This Locality.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefitted and cured by their use? Certainly not. One pill a dose. 25c a box.

EVERY MAN TO REPORT.

A Startling Notice From the British War Office.

London, Oct. 25.—An error committed by some of the provincial police has led to premature notice of the fact that the War Office contemplates the possible contingency of having to call out every volunteer in the country. The War Office has distributed to the police officers throughout the Kingdom bills ordering all reservists, militia, yeomen and volunteers to report themselves without delay to headquarters, with the view of active service. These bills are accompanied by letters ordering that the former be kept in a safe place until telegraphic orders to post them up are received. The police of Lancaster overlooked the letter and posted the bills, causing widespread perturbation.

Boer Force Surprised.

Cradock, Cape Colony, Oct. 24. — Col. Lukin to-day surprised a force of Boers at Steinkrautz. One Boer was killed and twelve taken prisoners.

Recovered Two Guns.

London, Oct. 25.—Reporting to the War Office, Lord Kitchener wires as follows: "Colonel Campbell's column, operating near Slangapies, has recovered two guns which the Boers had captured at Scheeper's Nek."

Another Constable Dead.

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—The Militia Department has received the following cable from the High Commissioner at Johannesburg:

Johannesburg, Oct. 24.—Trooper Harry Smallwood, of the South African Constabulary, died of dysentery at Bashar. The next of kin is C. Smallwood, West Heat, Congleton, Cheshire, England.

The Dynamite Question.

New York, Oct. 25.—The first move in the direction of a settlement of the Transvaal dynamite question is an offer of the Transvaal Dynamite Company, which is a German concern, to supply explosives at 30 shillings per case under the figure ruling before the war, says The Tribune's London correspondent. On the basis of the rate of consumption of the explosive by the Rand mines prior to the outbreak of hostilities, this would mean a saving of about $2,500,000 a year.

Roberts and Buller.

London, Oct. 25.—The storm of discussion regarding the dismissal of Gen. Buller from the command of the First Army Corps shows no diminution. It is asserted that there has been a very strong feeling of animosity between Lord Roberts and Gen Buller ever since the capture of Pretoria, and that for a week the former had vainly endeavored to persuade the latter of the advisability of resigning.

$4,000,000 Lost at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The decision of the directors to close the Pan-American Exposition on the night of Nov. 2 enables the accountants to make a fairly accurate estimate of the loss which the Pan-American will suffer. It will exceed $4,000,000. The stockholders will receive back nothing for the $2,500,000 which they put in. Contractors who built the Exposition will lose $1,000,000, and the issue of $500,000 second - mortgage bond will be defaulted, as well as 20 per cent. of the first-mortgage bonds.

New Ameer Encourages Trade.

London, Oct. 25.—A despatch from Simla to The Times says it is reported that Ameer Habib Ullah has made a liberal advance to the merchants of Cabul for the purpose of stimulating trade and reviving the former flourishing commerce with India, which Ameer Abdurrahman's short-sighted fiscal policy practically destroyed.

PREMIER HOME AGAIN

Business to Be Taken Up Before Parliament Meets.

SEVERAL BYE - ELECTIONS.

Thirteen Vacant Seats Are to Be Filled—Preparing for the Session—House May Meet First or Second Week in February—Question of Provincial Autonomy for the Territories—About Mr. Foster.

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—The Premier is once more back at his desk after his month's tour through Canada with the royal party. From outward appearances the trip agreed with Sir Wilfrid, although long railway journeys, even when made in accordance with modern notions of comfort, often caused more or less fatigue to the traveler.

An extensive program of business awaits the Premier and his colleagues, but it will probably be some days before a full attendance of Ministers at the Council Board is witnessed. In addition to the Premier there are at present in town Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Hon. Wm. Paterson, and Hon. M. E. Bernier. The absentees are Hon. Wm. Mulock, Hon. David Mills, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. James Sutherland, Hon. W. R. Scott and Hon. F. W. Borden. Mr. Mulock is recruiting his health at Virginia Springs. Mr. Mills has gone west for a few days. Messrs. Fielding, Blair and Borden are in the Maritime Provinces, but are expected here to-day or Saturday, and Messrs. Scott and Sutherland may arrive any day.

From this time forward the Ministers will be engaged with the preparations for the session, but from present indications the legislative bill of fare will not be a very formidable one. It is not expected that the house will be summoned before the first or second week in February. Indeed the additions and improvements now under way at the House can scarcely be completed until well into the new year, although every effort is being made to finish the work promptly.

In a day or two it is expected that a sub-committee of the Cabinet will receive Premier Haultain and Hon. A. L. Sifton, and discuss with them the question of granting Provincial autonomy to the Territories. On the conclusion of the conference the sub-committee will make its report to the Cabinet as a whole, and it will then devolve upon the Government to say whether the situation calls for immediate action by Parliament.

Doubtless the Government at an early date will take further steps in connection with the fast Atlantic steamship project. Hints emanating from Montreal suggest that Sir Christopher Furness is prepared to make a bid for the service, but up to this date no proposition from him has been laid before the Government.

Some thirteen constituencies are at present without representation in the House of Commons, and in due time the writs for new elections will be issued. This seems to promise a stirring prelude to the meeting of Parliament.

A number of appointments need to be made to the Senate, but no one will suffer in this matter if action is delayed until Parliament is summoned.

Gossip Regarding Mr. Foster.

The latest rumor in political circles is that Mr. Geo. E. Foster is anxious to return to Dominion politics, and will attempt to secure a seat in the Commons at one of the coming bye-elections. The ex-Finance Minister is reported to have his eye upon an Ontario constituency, but which one is not yet indicated. It is probable that West York is the constituency Mr. Foster has in view, but the preliminary difficulty for him will be to secure nomination.

FRIEND INDEED.

Advice That Led a Poor Sufferer to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many is the poor dyspeptic that has been happily led to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through the advice of a friend. Never was better advice ever tendered one friend by another.

Those who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, who have experienced their wonderful power over Indigestion and all Troubles of the Stomach, should feel it their duty when they meet some poor sufferer who is going through the misery they, thanks to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, have escaped, to put him in the way of finding relief from his affliction. Tell him what cured you. Tell him about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. You know what they did for you. They will do the same for him. It costs you nothing to tell him and it will mean the restoring of him to happiness.

Thousands and thousands of people have been induced to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through reading the testimony of some grateful convalescent in the papers. But far more have been first introduced to the knowledge of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through the kind offices of some friend. Therefore, you who know the value of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tell your friends about them.

"Through the advice of a friend," writes Mrs. Amanda Guimond, Grand Metis, Que., "who told me to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet, I found a cure for my Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles which had troubled me for years. I bought a box and had not taken them all before I felt ever so much better. I have now taken three boxes and am cured. You may publish this so as to help others and I certainly will let all my friends know about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Czolgosz to Die on October 29.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley, will be electrocuted at 7 a. m. on Tuesday, Oct. 29, at Auburn Prison.

HEART DISEASE.

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart troubles, at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way also the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half-digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action, hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant, and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless, digestive elements in a pleasant convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal times will cure any form of stomach trouble, except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents. A little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Michigan.

John Mason Leaves Canada.

London, Ont., Oct. 24.—John Mason, who eloped with Miss Laura I. Doty, was before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning. No information having been laid against him he was discharged.

The Police Magistrate pointed out to him the enormity of his crime, and told him if ever he were found guilty before him of any crime he would send him to the penitentiary for a long term, and that the best thing he could do would be to leave the city at once. Mason took the court's advice, and left for the east.

Mrs. Doty arrived in the city Tuesday night, and broke down utterly when she met her daughter at the Police Station. The girl admitted having met Mason here by prearrangement. Mason promised to take her to Chicago, where he would get a divorce from his wife and marry her. Miss Doty's friends believe Mason's object was to get possession of $7,000 which the girl has in the bank in her own right.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $186 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

WILL EXTEND THE LINE.

Buffalo Capitalists Buy Peterborough and Ashburnham Railway.

The following paragraph appears in to-day's Toronto World:

"E. M. Block, of Buffalo, is in the city on his way home from Peterborough. He represents a syndicate of Buffalo capitalists, and has just negotiated the purchase of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Electric Railway.

"The railway is six miles in length and was constructed as a model by the Canadian General Electric Company.

"The price paid for the railway is $150,000, of which $25,000 has been paid down. The new purchasers intend extending the line to Lakefield, a distance of seven miles, and thoroughly equipping it with modern cars.

"Mr. Block will be the new manager. The capitalists interested are headed by Mr. Block's father, who is connected with the Buffalo City Bank."

Local shareholders in the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Company, who were seen today, state that while negotiations for the sale of the electric railway have been under way for some time, no settlement similar to that indicated by the World, has taken place. Perusal of the paragraph in question shows the World to be at fault in almost every particular published.

A report is current on the Street to-day to the effect that the Quaker Oats Company will most likely take over the stock and plant of the Peterborough Light and Power Company.

It is known that negotiations have been in progress with a view to this end, and the fact that Hon. Geo. A. Cox has been in town for the past day or two, lends some significance to the report. It is understood that a meeting of the Peterborough Light and Power Company was held yesterday, at which the matter was discussed.

A GLIMPSE OF THE PAST.

Great Success of the Girl's Guild Olde Tyme Entertainment.

We talk of the "good old times," and we enjoy their being recalled. The entertainment of the Girls' Guild of St. John's last night in the School House was a great success, not only as a vivid reminder of bygone days, but in the chief object of it, the strengthening of the pianoforte fund of the Guild. As a result, the neat sum of $50 is to be placed to the credit of the fund, and to the credit of those who worked so hard and well to make it a success.

The prominent feature of the occasion was the appearance of about a score of the girls of the Guild attired in the fashion of their great grandmothers, with more or less fidelity to strict reproduction of the picturesque costumes of a bygone century. Some of the costumes were very fine, and the powdered hair, piled high over bright young faces, brought into charming contrast the flash of dark eyes. These young ladies acted as ushers, and did their work well in providing seats and places for the large gathering that thronged the School Room.

Mr. A. P. Poussette acted as chairman, and introduced the several numbers of the programme, which consisted of a pianoforte solo by Miss Dollie Comstock, a vocal selection by Miss Nellie Graham, sung to her sister's accompaniment, and sung so well that she was compelled to respond to a recall; a pianoforte duet was contributed by Misses Brown and Jackson; Miss Alberta White gave a recitation personating an old-time character in an old-time subject, and was rewarded with an encore. Mr. H. Clarke's trombone solo unearthed an almost forgotten plantation air, which was greatly appreciated. The Ethioptian dust by the Halpany youngesters, with the complexion of Ham, was voted one of the best numbers on the programme, and had to be repeated. Their make-up, singing and impersonation were excellent. The minuet of "Ye goode olde tymes," was put on by four couples of very juvenile ladies and gentlemen — Masters Arthur Wood and Miss Dora Dutton; Master Edward Wood and Miss Kathleen Wallis; Master Harold Wallis and Miss Gertrude McClellan; and—these were the sweetest tones of the octave—Master Gordon Campbell and Miss Jessie Spence. They reproduced the stately grace of the minuet very nicely, bowing and courtesying through the measures with the grave dignity of the Nelsonian age, when good manners and dignity of deportment never dreamed of the flippancy of bearing of this degenerate age. The little folks had to repeat their charming little entertainment before the performers were allowed to partake of the refreshments, which was the next stage of the entertainment. By dividing the company into several relays, it was directed to the basement, where the Guild girls in their quaint costumes played the hostess with old time cordiality and bountifully fed the hungry on viands prepared in the old-time style.

After refreshments the programme was continued by the singing of a solo by Miss Lily Jackson, a pianoforte solo by Miss Brooks, a song by Miss Geraldine King and a concluding chorus by the girls of the Guild.

The satisfaction was mutual; the girls are grateful to those who so liberally patronized their entertainment, and the latter were well pleased with the pleasure given.

The thanks of the Guild are due, and extended to all who assisted in the programme, including the accompanistes, Mrs. Halpany, Miss Graham, and Miss Brown, and they are especially grateful to Mr. Chas. Stanley, of the Stanley Piano Co., who kindly furnished the excellent pianoforte used on the occasion.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

Toronto Rugbyists Default to Peterborough.

London and Peterborough are Left in the Intermediate Finals—Other Sporting Notes.

RUGBY.

The latest development in local Rugby Circles is:—

1. There will be no game here to-morrow. Toronto has defaulted to Peterborough.

2. Peterborough has been ordered to play home and home games with London.

3. The annual Rugby dance has been declared off for the present. It will take place at the end of the Rugby season.

The regret that there will be no match to-morrow as was intended will be universal, and no one will feel it more keenly than the management of the Rugby Club. It is indeed a sad disappointment. Yesterday the Toronto team wired down that they would most likely default, but in conversation over the 'phone last night, Mr. Joyce, their secretary, promised that he would endeavour to pull a team together. However, at 2 o'clock to-day the secretary of the local Club received the following telegram from Secretary Joyce, of the Toronto:—"Am directed to advise you Toronto default Saturday's game—am writing."

The Peterborough Club had gone to considerable expense in advertising the game which was being looked forward to with much enthusiasm.

Should Peterborough agree to play home and home games with London the first match will take place in London on Nov. 2nd, and the second game in Peterborough on Nov. 9th, the King's birthday. However, the locals consider that they are not being used any too well by the O.R.F.U. executive, and may refuse to play home and home games with the Westerners, as they consider the London team should play a sudden death game here. The Peterborough team, it will be remembered, played a sudden death game in London last year.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club will be held in the Y.M.C.A. this evening.

GOLF.

The famous challenge match between the members of the first team and the Colts came off, yesterday, with the result that the Colts found that they had rather underestimated the strength of the Seniors as the latter won out by nine holes. The match, however, proved to be a most enjoyable one and the Seniors had an opportunity of seeing the strength which the Colts have developed during the summer. The scores made were as follows:

8	S Ray,	R Neill	0
0	Dr Eastwood, C	B McAllister	4
6	J H Burnham,	Dr Young	0
2	R M Hamilton,	Dr Neill	0
0	P Campbell,	Dr McFall	0
0	C H Bradburn,	A A Hollingshead	1
6	Fred McGill,	J Crane	0
22			13

A score or more of the players remained at the Club for dinner and during a social hour which followed the Colts issued another challenge, which was accepted, viz.: That the five strongest men on the Colt's team could win from the last five on the Senior team. The match is being played to-day, the draw being as appended:

R. Neill vs. McGill, sr.
C. B. McAllister vs. McGill, jr.
Dr. Young vs P. Campbell.
Dr. Neill vs. C. H. Bradburn.
E. C. Complin vs. W. D. Parker.

CONGREGATION OF ST. LUKE'S

Extend a Hearty Welcome to the New Rector.

REV. MR. LANGFELDT SPEAKS

He Solicits the Co-operation of the Congregation in the Work he has Undertaken.

The occasion of the tendering of a reception to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the new Rector of St. Luke's, by his congregation last evening, was marked by the presence of an exceedingly large number of the members, who commingled in informal socialibility in the manner which indicates so clearly the strength of a church. The programme was a very short one, the object of the reception apparently being to afford the Rector an opportunity of meeting his congregation socially, and the evening proved one of thorough enjoyment.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Frank Adams, who briefly addressed those assembled in the following words:

"Dear Friends, It is now time to commence the business of the evening and I am pleased to see so many of the congregation present. Some who were unavoidably prevented from being present, owing to press of business, or sickness or absence, have sent their regrets, that they could not be in attendance.

"I hope you will all enjoy yourselves and be as sociable as it is possible for you to be—or rather, as sociable as you should be. To the older members of the congregation I would ask that a kindly greeting be extended to those who may be comparative strangers, and to the new comers amongst us; I would ask that much of the reserve that is natural to most people when among strangers, might be laid aside, and endeavour to make yourself as much at home as possible—meet each other half way, and I am satisfied you will get along very nicely.

"The good attendance here to-night is evidence of two things—the lively interest of the people of St. Luke's in their church and its work, and also the confidence in, and esteem for, St. Luke's new Rector.

"The last time we had a congregational meeting similar to this, was to formally as a church say good bye to our late Rector, Dr. Symonds. Since then we have gone through the worry and anxiety connected with the selection of his successor. The decision of the congregation as you are aware, was not arrived at in a moment but after much thought and consideration and mature deliberation, and I feel sure that I am justified (from what I have seen and heard), in saying that we were in this very grave and important matter guided to a wise choice in the selection of the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt as successor to Rev. Dr. Symonds — and we should feel deeply grateful to the Bishop who, at our request, so kindly consented to make the appointment.

"We should, and I am sure we all do, feel very grateful to Mr. Langfeldt, for accepting the appointment when offered to him. I sincerely hope and trust that he may never have cause to regret the change he has made, and I am sure our earnest desire is that the foundation work of this church, so well and truly laid by our late lamented first Rector, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, and so ably carried on by each succeeding incumbent may, by the Divine guidance, in the hands of and under the ministrations of our new Rector, go on and prosper, in a very marked degree.

"A new man in a new position, can not be expected for a time to do his most effective work. He is somewhat like a new piece of machinery. No matter how perfectly fitted and adjusted its several parts may be, it takes time to get it properly adjusted to its environments, and until it has become perfectly adjusted, it can not be run to its full capacity. So it is with our new Rector. In his new and responsible position, I am sure when he becomes better acquainted with the people of St. Luke's, and their needs, he will be able to do more effective work.

"I would ask you to encourage and assist him in every way possible, and let him know that you appreciate him, and his efforts in behalf of the work in this parish.

"In conclusion I extend to you on behalf of the congregation, and to Mrs. Langfeldt, a very hearty reception. As Rector of St. Luke's we welcome you, and as a citizen of Ashburnham we also extend to you a very cordial and affectionate greeting, and we trust that the tie that now binds us, may, as the time passes, grow and expand into strong bonds of abiding affection, esteem and good will."

After expressing his thorough appreciation of the very hearty reception which was being extended to him, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt spoke of his sincere hope and prayer that the congregation would never regret their action in inviting him to become their rector. He had not come to them on account of any dissatisfaction with his former congregation, but rather because he felt that the Almighty, for His own purpose, had put it into the minds of the people of St. Luke's to call him. He came prepared to work and do all in his power to extend the Kingdom of God. He only hoped that the church would prosper as it had done under Rev. Dr. Symonds, who was the successor of one to whose energy was due the upbuilding of so loyal, true and warmhearted a congregation. In referring to the large number present, the Rector voiced his earnest hope that the congregations on Sunday would reach a similar size. It might be hard for some of them to get out to the services but his work was harder, inasmuch as with him rested the responsibility of delivering the message which was entrusted to him from above. The spiritual progress of the congregation depended upon how this message was received. Mankind needed more of the spirit of Christ in their hearts. The speaker urged that he was entitled to the co-operation of his congregation. The work of the church could only progress if this co-operation existed. He was prepared to do the work allotted to him, but could only succeed in so far as he was assisted. He solicited encouragement in his work, but not the kind of encouragement given simply by such an expression as "That was a beautiful sermon" we had today." He was not trying to preach "beautiful" sermons, but endeavouring to win souls for Christ. If ever he ceased trying to win souls he would not be worthy of being a minister of Christ. He would endeavour to so point his sermons as to show the evil propensities which lay dormant within all.

In connection with the Sunday School the Rector forcibly impressed upon parents the importance of interesting the young. The Sunday School was the nursery of the church and should be under the supervision of the minister. On this account he thought he should be relieved of the duties at St. Mark's church so that he could devote his whole attention to the work undertaken at St. Luke's. A student or a layman could conduct the services at St. Mark's and he, himself, could go down once a month and administer the sacrament.

The Friday evening Bible class was another branch of the church work, which he asked more interest to be taken in. The choir received more than passing mention. More members were needed. It was a very discouraging feature in church work when there was a lack of enthusiasm in the choir. He wanted hearty co-operation in all the spheres of church life.

Passing on, Mr. Langfeldt stated that he would like to see the Parish Magazine in every home. If any members of the congregation felt that they could not afford to pay for it, if the matter was quietly mentioned to him he would see that they received the paper. If there was any surplus in connection with the Magazine, he would wish to see it used in enlarging the circulation.

Referring to the congregation as a whole the Rector stated that social considerations should not enter into the life of a servant of God. In his sight there was no difference between the position of the humble cottager and the person in a higher station in life. He was anxious to be the friend of everybody, especially of the poor as the poor needed him more than the rich. In conclusion he thanked the chairman for his reference to Mrs. Langfeldt and extended a general invitation to all to call at the rectory in order that she might express personally her appreciation of their kindness and good will.

Short addresses of welcome to the Rector were made by Messrs. F. J Jameson, R. B. Rogers and E. A. Peck and contributions to the musical portion of the programme were given by Miss Nellie Davis, Miss Edith Burnham and Mr. Frank Gale. Refreshments were served at the close.

A MODERN BIG HOTEL

ITS CAPACITY, ITS LUXURY AND ITS ENORMOUS EXPENSES.

Public and Private Dining Rooms In Which Over Ten Thousand Persons May Be Served Daily—It Is Practically a Town Under One Roof.

Writers of fiction have outlined plans for the ultimate uplifting of the human race in which they have pictured entire communities living under one roof and yet each family still retaining its privacy. Writing of facts, George Barry Mallon in Ainslee's Magazine tells some surprising things about modern big hotels that shelter persons numerous enough to form a fair sized village. He says:

"If one of New York's big modern hotels could be whisked to the country and spread out in village formation the result would be a model proprietary town of about 3,000 inhabitants. One half of these inhabitants would work in relays night and day for the comfort and entertainment of the other half, whose obligation would be the payment of the bills, which in the aggregate would represent, in addition to the running expenses and perhaps $200,000 a year set aside for the proprietor's profits, the interest on $15,000,000 invested in land, buildings and furnishings.

"Many cities cannot muster a tax list of $15,000,000, so that this town would be conspicuous above all others for wealth, and in completeness of the details that make the material side of life a joy it would be unrivaled. Some of its houses would be constructed for one family exclusively, and others would be arranged in single rooms and in suits. All would be furnished in the most luxurious fashion. In the central warehouse of the town's steward would be found a greater assortment of supplies for the cuisine than in any public market in the world. There would be a row of cookshops, each devoted to the preparation of a special course, ranging from the soups and entrees and roasts to the pastries and coffee. There would be half a dozen big banquet rooms and ballrooms, several music rooms and a well appointed theater or two.

"The town would have of course a telegraph office, a complete telephone system and some means of rapid transit to every house. Enormous boilers would supply the heat, and an electric light plant would furnish the illumination. There would be an ice plant large enough to manufacture fifty tons a day. There would be silversmith, blacksmith and tinsmith shops, electrical repair and machine shops, florists, hairdressing rooms for men and women, Turkish baths, upholstery and furniture shops, decorators and seamstresses, a steam laundry, a messenger service, a printing office, a wine cellar, with half a million dollars' worth of choice vintages, and a clubhouse, with billiard and reading rooms and cafes.

"The town would be policed day and night by a dozen private detectives, and it would have a well trained fire department. There would be a bank, over whose counters would pass millions of dollars each year, and a central executive office, with scores of clerks and bookkeepers and auditors.

"The proprietor of this town would assume all the housekeeping cares of his 1,500 tenants and many of his 1,500 employees. He would provide amusements and act as the court of last resort. It would seem as if the man who was rash enough to attempt the management of such a town, staking his fortune on the issue, must necessarily fail, but as a fair illustration it is not overdrawn. Its parallel is found in a compact form, with no features missing and many added, in the modern big hotel that has reached the highest development in New York.

"Neither the bigness nor the completeness of a big hotel is appreciated by the patron who finds his interests satisfied with the accommodations which it furnishes. He knows in a general way that it may be a dozen stories high and several cellars deep and that the thousand or more guests are attended by servants on every hand, and when he pays his bill he believes that the charges are exorbitant.

"One of these hotels, which differs from the others chiefly in degree, represents an investment of $15,000,000. The 1,400 bedrooms and 750 bathrooms in it are so constructed by a series of inner courts that each opens to the outer air. It has several concert halls and theaters, three great ballrooms, and, in addition to its public dining room, where during horse show week, for instance, 10,000 people are served daily, it has a series of private dining rooms which are arranged for from ten to a thousand persons.

"In the largest ballroom in this hotel was given one night last winter a public ball, attended by 3,500 people, to whom supper was served, and on the same evening in other parts of the hotel were in progress two concerts, a dinner of an association of 900 men and a dozen smaller dinner parties in private dining rooms, each isolated so completely that no one of the 1,500 regular guests need know of it.

"Statistics are not very entertaining, but there are some stories of hotels that they alone can tell, and that of the supplies is one of them. For instance, during a given year one of these big hotels spent for meat $200,000; for poultry, $112,000; for vegetables, $80,000; for fruit, $42,000; for eggs, $12,000; for butter $57,000, and for the flowers used in decorations, and there are flowers on the tables every day, $80,000. The initial investment in silverware was $220,000, and, with the losses that charitably are credited to the souvenir craze and the general wear and tear on table service, about $40,000 a year is spent in keeping this supply up to the hotel's standard.

"One New York hotel that suffered severely from the souvenir spoon and salt cellar mania adopted several years ago the plan of notifying guests that each waiter was responsible individually for all articles on his table and would have to make good any loss. This reduced the taking of spoons to a robbery of the waiter instead of the hotel, and even the souvenir hunter has some conscience about such a theft. In the biggest of New York hotels $50,000 a year is spent in replenishing the linen, and looms in Belfast are busy the year round for it. The expenses of the other hotels for repairs are proportionately as large, for in the fierce business rivalry of the times none of them can afford to get shabby."

EARTHWORM'S MISSION.

Loosens the Soil, Thus Allowing the Air to Reach Roots of Plants.

Unattractive and uninteresting though the familiar earthworm may seem, they have their place in the economy of nature. At the approach of winter they burrow down deep below the frost line, and there they remain during the cold weather, often burrowing as deep as eight feet below the surface.

They are extremely sensitive to heat; and this is proven by the fact that they so quickly respond to the first warmth of early spring, oftimes coming from their underground retreats as early as February, when a warm rain has thawed the surface somewhat. We may see the castings of these primitive tillers of the soil long before we see any other sign of the awakening of the underground world.

Earthworms have no visible eyes. Their seeing apparatus consists of special single cells scattered among the epidermal cells of the skin and connected with a little branch of nervous matter in the body by means of a sensory canal. This simply enables them to distinguish light from darkness, which for them is sufficient, as they live underground anyway. In burrowing, the head is swelled by special action and the dirt is pushed away on all sides. It also swallows the dirt, which passes through the digestive canal. Darwin estimates that there are 100,000 earthworms in the upper six feet of every acre in ordinary soil.

They are continually turning over the soil and dragging down leaves and other matter, which helps to fertilize the soil and loosen the earth, allowing the air to reach the roots. —National Rural.

Diseased Kidneys

Results From Exposure to Cold and Dampness or Injury of the Back—A Wonderfully Successful Home Treatment is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Though among the most painful and fatal of diseases, derangements of the kidneys are indicated by such marked symptoms that it is not necessary for anyone to be in doubt as to their ailment. Increasing weakness, debility and loss of weight; dull, heavy pains in the back, over the kidneys; frequent and pressing desire to urinate; scanty, highly-coloured urine; quick pulse; dry, harsh skin; constipation and diarrhoea alternating; nausea and stomach troubles and dropsical swellings, are the indications of kidney disease.

As the most frequent cause of kidney disease is exposure to cold and dampness or straining of the back and kidneys, it is especially common among workingmen, teamsters, railroaders and farmers. Kidney disease is also the result of constipation, and is found to prevail among men and women of sedentary habits and those accustomed to irregular hours, highly-seasoned foods and alcoholic liquors.

Mr. James Dellihunt, a most respected resident of Consecon, Ont., states: — "I was a sufferer from Bright's Disease for several years, and at times the tortures of mind and body were almost beyond endurance. The pains were in my head, between the shoulders and down the whole spine, concentrating across the kidneys, where I was never entirely free from pain. When I got up in the morning I went about bent over nearly double. It gave me great pain to urinate, and at times the water was very scanty. Medicines seemed to have little or no effect in my case, until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The first dose relieved me, and five boxes entirely cured me. I have no pains in my kidneys, and can do as good a day's work as I ever could."

Mr. J. J. Ward, J. P., of Consecon, certifies that he knows Mr. Dellihunt's statement of his cure to be correct and true and without exaggeration. It seems Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills owe much of their success to the fact that they have a direct and combined action on both the kidneys and liver, and so thoroughly rid the system of complicated diseases of these filtering organs. There is no longer any doubt as to the remarkable virtue of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In Canada alone last year there were sold over one hundred and ninety thousand boxes of this great kidney medicine; one pill a dose; 25c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A SALE OF WARTS.

One Juvenile Transaction That Seemed to Confirm a Theory.

"This theory," said the traveling man, "that warts will go away when you stop thinking about them may have something in it, and I am inclined to have faith in it. I know from actual observation that warts can be transferred and will give you the case in point.

"I was buying a newspaper when I noticed that the hands of the newsboy were covered with warts. His stand was within a block of my house, but I am away so much the little fellow did not know me by name. I said to him:

"'You should get some one to charm away those warts,' that being the method of getting rid of them when I was a boy.

"'They ain't mine now,' he said. 'I sold them last week to Teddie Stearns, and they'll all go to him.'

"Now, Teddie Stearns is my own boy, and I did not like to think of his smooth, chubby hands being disfigured with warts, and we did not live in a wart atmosphere. They belong more exclusively to the barefoot boy with cheek of tan conditions. I had been such myself. When I went home, I called my boy to me and looked with some anxiety at his hands. They were as clean and white as a girl's.

"'What is it, papa?' he asked curiously.

"'I am looking for warts.'

"'Oh,' and he drew a long, delighted breath, 'there ain't any yet, but they're sure to come, for I bought them from "Carrotty Mike" for a pin. He says I'm sure to get 'em. Ain't you glad?'

"Glad! I could have cried, and I believe his mother did cry. But that blamed little cub said he wouldn't be a tenderfoot, and he would have warts. I read the riot act to him and went away for a month's trip, and when I came back he was as proud as Punch. His hands had grown a crop of warts that discounted anything I ever saw in that line. I hunted up 'Carrotty Mike,' and, would you believe it, there wasn't a wart on his hands! He had transferred them all to my boy."

Tendency of Catarrh is to Spread.

Just a slight matter at first, and because slight, neglected; but the seed sown brings forth a dangerous harvest, Consumption, which is the harvest of death. Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic antiseptic that relives at once, clears the nasal passages, and restores lost sense of taste and smell. The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical, so prompt and efficient. Cure is certain and permanent if you use Catarrhozone. Price $1. Small sizes 25c., at Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

CULLINGS FROM FICTION.

The man who knows a woman knows the world.—"A Summer Hymnal."

The people who help us most are those who make light of our achievements and have faith in our possibilities.—"Sir Christopher."

But if you are looking for a wife, Carus, choose yo the woman ye would like to keep yo company through a month's rainy weather in the Isle of Mull.—"Cinderella."

What is the good of it? What will it bring her? No woman yet has possessed a wohderful head who did not pay for it at some time with her heart. —"A Woman Alone."

As a rule, the men whom men draw and the women whom women depict are nearer the truth, for it is a blessed law of nature that men and women shall view one another through the eyes of the imagination.

The Proofreader.

An anonymous writer in the American Printer of New York says:

"The ideal proofreader for a small printshop ought to be an accomplished printer, a sensible person, a person understanding the scope and limitations of the English language, one comprehending the true offices of punctuation, one with a keen and true appreciation of literature, a storehouse of exact knowledge, a perfect grammarian, a perfect speller and with a fund of humor sufficient to enable him to do his whole duty along these various lines without making for an early grave. If he does not really know everything, he ought assuredly to be able to scent out an error and to know how to get at the truth. If he reads the proofs for a weekly newspaper also, he ought to know all about local affairs and all about the town or city in order to prevent the reported marriage of the girl who merely acted as bridesmaid and untangle the mixed topography of the reporters' articles."

Two Warnings.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption.

Treatment of Sore Teats.

The proper thing to do to treat each case on its merits, but perhaps the most useful dressing to keep on hand for general purposes, is camphor and elder ointment. Any chemist will supply you with such a compound, or it may be made by mixing one-half ounce of finely powdered camphor with four ounces of elder ointment. Another useful dressing, especially when flies are troublesome, is the glycerin and carbolic acid. In many cases it is necessary to draw off the milk by means of a teat tube or siphon. A laxative dose, 12 to 16 ounces of Epsom salts, is useful in cases of erythema mammillarum. —Farm and Home.

NATURE'S MISTAKES.

SOME THAT MEN CONSIDER TO BE OF REMARKABLE VALUE.

Paradoxical as It May Appear, the Perfection of a Precious Stone Is Largely Due to Some Imperfection in Its Making by Nature.

Paradoxical as it may appear, the perfection of a gem is largely due to some imperfection in its make. Some little mistake made in the laboratory of nature produces a defective stone which is perfection itself from the lapidary's point of view. Ninety-nine out of every hundred emeralds dug from the mine are almost white and of little value, but the hundredth one is of a rich velvety green and, if without other flaws than its color, sells for $300 a carat or 240 times as much as its colorless brother. The reason of the rich color which gives the emerald its value is that nature, in making the stone, put in too much oxide of chromium, just as the cook sometimes gets too much saleratus in the biscuits. The standard of perfection in the laboratory of nature is the colorless emerald, and her deep green ones are some of her failures; failures which, nevertheless, delight mankind, however much they may disgust nature. You could buy a ton of oxide of chromium for the price which half a grain of it gives to a cheap and common crystal.

When nature makes mistakes in manufacturing diamonds, the results are equally remarkable. Her standard for a diamond is a pure white stone, but sometimes a foreign substance gets into the crucible, and the result is a red or blue diamond. A fine white brilliant of one carat can be bought for $125, but a blue stone of that size would be cheap at $3,500. A red diamond is of even greater value, a red stone of fifteen grains having been sold for $5,000. Yet the little particle of foreign material which nature carelessly let fall into the mixture when she was making that stone down in the heart of some primeval volcano is of less value than a grain of common salt and only got there by mistake.

Nature manufactures in her laboratory a material called spinel. You can buy a block of spinel as large as you can carry for a few dollars. Sometimes in making spinel small quantities of chromic acid get into the material and color it a deep red. The pieces so colored nature rejects as spoiled in the making and throws them in the dust bin, from which men dig them out and call them rubies. A ruby of thirty-two carats recently sold for $52,000. Yet the material of the cheap spinel and the valuable ruby are practically the same, save for that small fraction of chromic acid which got into the ruby by mistake.

When nature starts out to manufacture opals, she endeavors to make them without any cracks in them. In this she seldom succeeds, coming nearest to perfection in the Mexican opals, which have few cracks in them and therefore little luster. The fiery glow of the oriental opal and the play of light in the depths of that exquisite stone are due entirely to the numberless cracks which seam the surface of the gem. It must give nature a poor opinion of mankind when she sees him selling the Mexican opals, which are nearly perfect, for 12 cents a carat and paying $25 a carat for her failures, the cracked fire opal of the east.

Not only in gems, but in many other things, does nature make mistakes and failures, the results of which are highly valued by man. The chank shell, a shell much like the conch shell of these shores, is one of the commonest shells on the beaches of India, and millions of them are gathered and burned for the lime that is in them. Yet in a temple near Kandy, Ceylon, are two chank shells which hold the place of honor in a shrine covered with gold, and no amount of money could buy them from their guardian priests. Their value consists in the fact that nature was not quite herself the morning she fabricated these shells and gave a right handed twist to them instead of a left handed one, such as has been given to all other chank shells, so far as man knows, since the beginning.

Baron Rothschild once paid $300 a dozen for some Schloss Johannisberg wine, and it is admitted that, taking everything into consideration, it was not an exorbitant price. Yet the wine of the same year from the vineyard directly adjoining the Johannisberg vineyard, on the same bank of the Rhine, a vineyard whose soil is, to all appearances, the same, only brought $5 a dozen. And there is no special secret about the manufacture of Johannisberg wine or about the variety of grape used. Its great value comes from a little joke of nature. In the soil of the Johannisberg vineyard there is an infinitesimal amount of a certain salt which is found in the soil of no other vineyard. The admixture is so slight that no chemist has ever been able to imitate it, yet it is worth many thousands a year to the owner of the vineyard.

When Gold Looks Green.

Gold can be beaten out so thin that it allows light to pass through it, in which case, though it still appears brilliant yellow by reflected light, it is green as viewed by transmission—that is, by the light that passes through it. This curious effect can easily be observed by laying a piece of gold leaf upon a plate of glass and holding it between the eye and the light, when the gold will appear semitransparent and of a leek green color.

THE BEE QUESTION.

"Do bees injure fruit?" That question came up in Hungary two or three years ago, when grape growers in a certain district accused the insects of puncturing the ripe berries. The matter was referred to Professor Jablonowsky, the state entomologist at Budapest. All the evidence known to him was against the charge, and none of the observations at or near Budapest gave the least support to it. But no amount of negative evidence can discredit even a single positive observation. He visited the district where the crime was committed. I saw Professor Jablonowsky at Budapest in 1890, and he told me there was no doubt the bees were guilty as charged. But in extenuation it was said that there was absolutely nothing else for them to eat at that season. The region is semi-arid, and while there are plenty of spring flowers there is nothing for the bees after midsummer. What was at first an occasional feeding on a broken grape developed into an occasional attack on a sound one, and this became a universal habit in a surprisingly short time. The mouth parts of a bee, while beautifully adapted for gathering nectar, have also well developed jaws or mandibles, and there is absolutely no reason why they should not puncture ripe fruits to get at the juices if there is nothing else equally attractive. I do not believe that the fruit piercing habit is at all a normal one, and, so far as my own observations go, I have never seen a bee on any fruit not previously injured by some other cause. I would be always inclined to seek a prior break rather than consider the bee guilty. I am a believer in bees and frequently suggest bee keeping in large orchard areas. I think their work in securing a set of fruit far outweighs the little mischief they may cause on ripe examples. And after all if lack of suitable food is really at the bottom of their raid, why not feed the bees? Deliberately sacrifice a few juicy fruits to them or a few pans of sugar water or diluted molasses, or plant a clover patch where they can get it or buckwheat or whatever else may be in honey yielding condition when the fruits ripen, but keep the bees by all means. The trees need them, says Professor J. B. Smith of New Jersey in Rural New Yorker.

Points About Tile and Laying It.

Tile when properly placed in a ditch do not require a covering of small stones or gravel, and they will do better work if the regular soil is used for covering. Horseshoe tile are not as good for the purpose of draining as round tile. While they would be reasonably sure to stay in place if properly laid, they are not as efficient as round tile. The reason they are not as efficient is shown in the cut. If but a small stream of water is flowing, it spreads out over the entire flat surface of the horseshoe tile, and there is not depth enough of water to cause the removal of silt or sediment which may accumulate. It is far more difficult to lay horseshoe tile and do good work than to lay round tile. If the round tile does not make a tight joint with its neighbor, it may be turned until a place is found where the joint is reasonably satisfactory. If the horseshoe tile does not fit with its neighbor, then the shovel must be used and earth removed or filled in as the occasion may require. If horseshoe tile are used, they will do better work if they are laid with the flat tile up, for then conditions as to the flow of water are produced which are more nearly like those present with the round tile. When round tile are laid, it is well to lay a piece of common tarred building paper over the joint before filling in with earth. No matter how tight the joint is made there is always a slight opening, and there is a possibility that soil may pass into the tile and obstruct the passage. After the tile are placed a small piece of building paper laid over the joint just before replacing the earth will insure against obstruction, says L. A. Clinton among some items of advice given in Country Gentleman.

The Art of Self-Defense.

The popular idea expressed in the phrase, "the art of self-defense," shows the opinion that the chief enemies a man has to defend himself from are visible and external. But the real danger of every man is from minute and often invisible foes. In the air we breathe and the water we drink are countless minute organisms leagued against the health of the body.

The one defense against these enemies is to keep the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery thoroughly purifies the blood, removing poisonous substances and accretions. When the blood is pure there is no harborage for the germs of disease which find a lodging only when the blood is impure and corrupt.

"I consider your 'Golden Medical Discovery' one of the best medicines on the face of the earth," writes Mr. Wm. Floeter, of Redoak, Montgomery Co., Iowa. "While in the southwest, three years ago, I got poisoned with poison ivy. The poison settled in my blood and the horrors I suffered cannot be told in words. I thought I would go crazy. I tried different kinds of medicine, tried different doctors, but all the relief they could give me was to make my pocket-book lighter. I then began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Took four bottles without relief. Kept taking it. I took in all ten bottles and got entirely cured."

WIDER SHOULDERS.

They Are Necessary to Go With the Gainsborough Hats.

Wide shoulders are now in vogue, and we have the large, flat hats to thank for this. The wide effect is gained by the additions of broad collars, ample fichus, etc. The sailor blouse is one of the most popular shapes for morning and general wear, and with this is often worn the new shape of tarban, which differs from the old in its wide brim and generally ample effects, while the outlines, instead of being severe, are often softened by sundry twists and bends to suit each individual face. The tiny basques with the upward curves are rapidly gaining ground, and these are very becoming to a slender and youthful figure.

Lace is still largely used on all gowns, even on the heavier ones, although that of the Arab type is preferred on woolen figured materials. Jeweled laces are not solely for the rich, as imitation gems are now being used, which bring the lace within ordinary means.

A striking French gown is made of light gray wool poplin. The jacket, which is cut in the form of a loose Eton, is entirely composed of gored ruffles edged with narrow black velvet. These give a long pointed effect in front and on the upper half of the sleeves. The underwaist is composed of ecru lace. The skirt is likewise made up of many gored ruffles edged with the black velvet ribbon.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

Poor Butter Versus Butterine.

Farmers, their wives, sons and daughters and those helpers on the farms must decide whether butterine shall have the preference to butter on the tables of citizens of cities. Butterine now has the preference to much of the butter which is put on the market.

A good, even quality of butter can be produced on every farm every week in the year if pains be taken with the cows, the feed, the milking, the milk, the cream, the churn, the churning and keeping the butter after it is churned. Much of the spoiled butter is spoiled after churning by being placed where it can take up the odors from vegetables, meats or the tobacco smoke from the pipes of men who sit and smoke their tobacco in the kitchen while the crock of butter sits in the pantry or cupboard near by.—H. W. Phelps.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

ALL SAINT'S CHOIR AT WARSAW

The Annual Harvest Festival of St. Mark's church, Warsaw, was held on Thursday, Oct. 24th, and proved a highly successful affair, both financially and otherwise. It was conducted under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the church, and the tea, which was served in the Town Hall, certainly reflected great credit upon the ladies of that organization, who worked so energetically to make it a success. After the supper had received justice, the singing of a sextette, composed of Messrs. O. Earle, B. Harrison, H. Perrin and three young ladies, (whose names your correspondent was unable to ascertain), was much enjoyed, the sentimental numbers being beautifully rendered, while the comic selections can only be expressed as unique.

Amongst those in attendance were Rev. Mr. Harris, of Marmora; Rev. W. Cresswick, of Young's Point; Rev. J. McKee McLennan, of Norwood; Mr. Dickenson, lay reader, of Hall's Bridge; Rev. W. L. Armitage, of town, and the members of the choir of All Saint's Church.

The chair was occupied by Rev. W. Archibold, incumbent, and the sermon was preached by Rev. J McKee McLennan, from the text "Whatsoever man soweth, that shall he also reap," Galatians 6th chapter, 7th verse, which was interpreted and applied in an earnest and appropriate discourse.

All Saint's choir furnished music throughout, and instead of the usual organ voluntary, the service began with the anthem, "While the Earth Remaineth." The usual harvest hymns were sung. The Magnificat was by Ebdon, and the Deus Miseretur by Mammet. During the offertory, the choir sang the anthem, "What Shall I Render." The service was closed by a vesper hymn, unaccompanied.

All Saint's choir received a great deal of praise from those present for the excellent manner in which the music was handled, and a number of invitations were received to visit other parishes in the vicinity of Peterborough.

Another 'bus load from Peterborough who appeared to enjoy to the full the church service and incidentally the supper, consisted of Misses Moore, Dawson, Melville, Kelly, and Messrs. Potvin, O'Brien, Stock, and Comstock. Messrs. Fred Roy and C. Anderson also drove out. Taking it all around, Rev. Mr. Archibold, and the Ladies' Guild are certainly to be congratulated on its successful termination

James Revoy the younger of the two, was discharged as it was not proven to the satisfaction of the court that he was guilty.

Bertha Rice, who was up some days ago charged with the theft of some articles from Mr. Richardson, of the C.P.R. Hotel, appeared for sentence. She was further remanded for one week.

SECOND ANNUAL.

The Nicholls Hospital Alumni Association.

The second annual meeting of the Nicholls' Hospital Alumni Association was held at the hospital, Wednesday, October 23rd, seven members being present.

Five new members were received into the Association, and a pleasant and profitable meeting was held. Various topics of importance to nurses in general, and Peterborough nurses in particular, came up for discussion.

It was thought advisable to arrange for a special meeting at an early date for the further discussion of some of these questions, and for this purpose a committee was appointed consisting of Miss Brown, Miss Ferguson and Miss Wilmot.

BOOM IN BUSINESS SHOWN BY RAILWAYS.

The Cereal Company Works Blamed for Using so Many Cars.

"The demand for cars is simply unprecedented," said Mr. Arthur White the Grand Trunk's division freight agent this morning to the Toronto Star.

Mr. White had just returned from a trip north. Everywhere he finds business on the increase.

"Besides the movement of grain there is just now a rush of orders from builders everywhere wanting cars for stone and building material generally. All the builders seem to be wanting all the stone they can get. The new works of the Cereal Company at Peterborough are requiring a large quantity of stone. In fact building operations all over Canada are more active than I have ever known before. The trouble as to scarcity of cars, caused by shippers leaving cars unloaded, has been largely got over. The shippers have helped us very much. The truth is business has very largely increased all round, and we must meet the new conditions the best way we can."

Killed on the Michigan Central.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 25.—A terrible fatality occurred at an early hour yesterday morning in the yards of the Michigan Central at Montrose. Delos Rowe of Chippewa was walking on the track when he was run down by a freight train in charge of Engineer Charles Stephens. Rowe's legs were crushed below the knees and his left arm close to the elbow. His face was badly gashed. After being taken to the depot he recovered consciousness and asked for Venerable Archdeacon Houston, who was sent for. Within an hour the injured man died. The deceased was a large man, weighing nearly 200 pounds. He was 43 years of age. He had lived in Chippewa for 18 years. A wife and six children mourn his loss. The eldest is 14 and the youngest a few months old.

Tsilka, according to the despatches received here yesterday, though whether negotiations for the ransom have actually been opened is not disclosed. The missionaries on the spot are expected to conclude the business with the utmost despatch.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—The Ontario Government, next spring, will build a railway from North Bay, northward. The Commissioner of Public Works, who made this announcement yesterday, thinks that the line could be completed in a year, or, at least, Lake Temiscaming could be reached in that time.

Largest in History.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—The production of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania this year will be the largest in the history of the trade. Approximately the output will be about 10,000,000 tons more than in 1900, when the production was 45,107,484 tons.

From His Viewpoint.

"Well," said Willie's papa after his first day in school, "what did you think of it all?"

"Oh," replied Willie, "I think the teacher is a regular nuisance."

"Well, that's what you say I am when I ask questions, an' she asks lots more'n I ever did."

BRING A FLASK ALONG WITH YOU

It has not yet been made part of the game laws to bring a flask along with you when you go hunting, although it would be much more sensible than some of them and less liable to infraction. Every good hunter knows how necessary it is in an emergency, being a small medicine chest in itself.

Don't think that because the prices of our Whiskies, Brandies and Wines are moderate that there is anything wrong with the quality. We not only give you quality that is beyond suspicion, but we save you considerable on every purchase you make.

NO VERDICT RE WHITE

Mrs. White Charges Scherer with Pure Fabrication.

THE JUDGE'S CHARGE TO-DAY

On Friday, in Addition to the Conclusion of the Cross-Examination of the Accused, Counsel for the Defence and the Crown Conclude Their Addresses—His Lordship's Charge.

Brantford, Oct. 26.—In the White murder trial the accused resumed her testimony yesterday morning. She said that she might have mentioned something about the insurance to Mrs. Bush when she called, but that she would not swear that she had not told Mrs. Bush that she was the beneficiary. The witness could not remember what had been said either by the doctor or by Mr. White. She remembered that her husband had said that he was awful sick. She did not hear him say that he was going to die. She remained in the room while her husband had the first convulsion, and until the doctor pronounced him dead. Then she was taken downstairs. She thought her husband was dead until the time that Dr. Marquis came down and told her that he was still alive. It was while she was downstairs that she told Dulmage that she had given her husband soda in water and soda in tea. She could not remember having told Dulmage that her husband had eaten a heavy breakfast. She did not think that she had told Dulmage that the first she knew of her husband's being ill was when she found him on the floor on his hands and knees, suffering from a cramp. She did remember telling Dulmage that her husband had taken a seidlits powder, and she had asked him if he thought that the glass of liquor her husband had taken on Saturday night was responsible for the illness. Mrs. White said that she did not see her husband take the seidlits powder, and she did not know where he got the water. Her husband was always taking medicine, but she did not know where he got it. She did not know that she was likely to be charged with the murder of her husband at the time of the inquest. The evidence of Scherer, she said, was a fabrication. Scherer was telling what was untrue, and his evidence was spitework. He owed her $12 and she had told him to get out. This caused the ill-feeling.

Charles Nixon, Andrew Simpson and Dr. Bier were recalled. Dr. Bier said that as far as he knew arsenic and strychnine were not sedatives to produce sleep. The Indian root pills were not an emetic, and were not prescribed by physicians. In answer to a question from Mr. Heyd, the witness said that he had heard of persons dying from being poisoned by beer. To Mr. Anglin, Dr. Bier said that he had never heard of anyone dying from strychnine poisoning by drinking beer.

F. W. Merrill, druggist, said the Indian root pills contained neither arsenic nor strychnine.

The jury then retired while Mr. Anglin argued on the admissability of the evidence of George White, an emphatic denial being given by him to the statements of two other witnesses. His Lordship decided that the evidence was not to be admitted.

L. F. Heyd, K. C., for the prisoner, began his address to the jury about 1.30 o'clock.

At the close of Mr. Heyd's address the court adjourned for fifteen minutes, after which Crown Attorney Anglin addressed the jury. He closed with the words: "Be men, and remember you owe a duty to your country. If there is a doubt in your minds, gentlemen, let the accused have the benefit of that doubt."

His Lordship Chief Justice Meredith, in addressing the jury, repeated to them the oath which they had taken upon commencing their duties, and charged them not to allow sympathy or anything else prevent their discharging that duty faithfully. He spoke of circumstantial evidence in many cases as being the only tangible evidence that could be taken in making a conviction. The Crown in this case depended almost entirely on circumstantial evidence.

After a few further remarks on the case, His Lordship announced to the jury that he intended to thoroughly review the evidence, which would take some hours, and advised an adjournment until Saturday morning. The jury agreed, and court adjourned.

MR. DAVIN HAD A FALL.

His Widow Clears Up Some Alleged Misstatements.

Ottawa, Oct. 26. — According to Mrs. Davin, who is at present stopping with relatives in Ottawa, entirely erroneous reports were circulated regarding the death of her husband, the late Nicholas Flood Davin, ex-M.P. Speaking of the tragic affair Mrs. Davin stated that deceased had neither political, financial, nor business worries. She also denies that her husband had been drinking to excess lately. He went up to Winnipeg on legal business, and while there wrote her regularly once, sometimes twice a day, the letters being bright and cheerful. Friends who met him there have, according to his widow, borne her out on this point.

Mrs. Davin spoke of an accident which befell deceased a few days before his death, which she holds responsible for his condition. In an endeavor to secure some books from a high library shelf he fitted up a temporary support, which he had ascended, when it gave way, throwing him to the floor. Mrs. Davin states he arose in a dazed condition, only to fall to the floor again, striking the back of his head violently. He complained afterwards of dizziness and was delirious at times. Mrs. Davin expressed a wish to accompany him to Winnipeg, but he assured her that the trouble was only a trivial one. She is satisfied that the head trouble, following the fall, unbalanced his mind, causing him to do the desperate deed.

Canada and Australia's Tariff.

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—The Dominion Government has been notified that the new tariff recently submitted to the Parliament of Federated Australia is in force throughout the Commonwealth. The probability now is that the Canadian Government will shortly pass an Order-in-Council abrogating the tariff preference to New South Wales, which has now become merged with the rest of the Australian colonies, excepting New Zealand. It would be anomalous, not to say absurd, to continue a tariff preference to New South Wales when the conditions upon which it was granted have ceased to exist. There is an impression abroad that as soon as the Canadian Government has had time to consider the altered state of affairs resulting from the new fiscal policy in Australia inquiries will be set on foot with a view to ascertaining whether Hon. Edmund Barton and his colleagues would be favorable to a reciprocal trade arrangement. There is, however, no official basis for this impression, the Government as yet having had no time to deliberate upon the situation.

The Australian Tariff.

London, Oct. 26.—The Melbourne correspondent of The Times says the condemnation of the Western Australian Assembly of the Federal Tariff bill is significant, as indicating that the State Legislatures will criticize the acts of the Federal Parliament. In spite of the defection of a few members in consequence of the high tariff proposals, which they regard as a breach of the pledges made by Mr. Barton, the Premier, it is believed that the Federal Ministry will have a majority of eight.

Will Canada Be There?

London, Oct. 26.—Australia and New Zealand are sending military contingents to the King's coronation next year. It is expected Canada will also be represented. Men who have seen service in South Africa are getting preference in these contingents, and the Imperial Government is anxious that Hon. Dr. Borden, the Canadian Minister of Militia, should have picked men in the contingent from the Dominion.

Good Harvest Weather.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—Beautiful summer weather the past few days has made everything very brisk throughout the whole of Western Canada. Reports from the country to the C. P.R. show that farmers are very busy and are marketing their grain freely. Yesterday the quantity of grain received at C.P.R. points was nearly 400,000 bushels.

Dr. Walker Is Appointed.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—The Provincial Government has appointed Dr. T. L. Walker, assistant superintendent of the India Geological Survey and curator of the India Geological Museum, to the professorship of mineralogy and petrography in the University of Toronto.

Dr. Walker is a native of Ontario, and originally a graduate of Queen's University. Subsequently he graduated with high honors at the University of Leipzig, and became examiner and lecturer in mineralogy in the University of Calcutta. He has served for four years at his present Indian post. He presents the highest testimonials from Prof. Zirkel and Prof. Wisiecenus of the University of Leipzig and from the director of the India Geological Survey.

The Question of Irish Representation Discussed by the Colonial Secretary—More Rules and Fewer Members Wanted—Representation by Population Would Reduce the Number.

Edinburgh, Oct. 26.—Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, addressing upwards of 8,000 persons in Waverley Market, Edinburgh, last night, announced that the Government intended to frame new rules for the House of Commons, so as to limit Irish obstruction.

"We propose," said he, "to bring forward rules which shall give to the majority of the Commons greater control over its own business and greater control over the men who insult and outrage it; and we shall endeavor to protect the mother of Parliaments from those who would destroy her usefulness and reputation."

But this was not the only thing Mr. Chamberlain declared the Government intended to do.

"The present representation of Ireland is," said he, "an abuse and a scandal. No alteration can be made except in immediate anticipation of a general dissolution, and we are not contemplating that. But when we get nearer to the time we shall ask you whether you think Irish representation is so precious to you, is so valuable to the national interests, more, it is desirable to continue on a scale which gives the Irish representation enormously exceeding the proportionate representation of Scotland and England."

The Colonial Secretary went on to point out that on the basis of population Ireland had 80 members too many in the House of Commons, and on the basis of her contributions for Imperial purposes, as considered at the time of the union, she had from 40 to 50 members too many.

"I say that this constitution is an abuse," he continued, "and there is no reason why it should be perpetrated."

In another portion of the speech, which was largely devoted to the Irish question, he observed: "If these gentlemen who now openly shout for the Mandian and pray for the Boers, if they had a Parliament of their own, if all the strings of Irish Government had been in their hands, if they had had the power, I am not certain that they would have refused to pay their contribution to the war, and that they would have placed us in a position of embarrassment."

In reviewing the war in South Africa which he declared again had been forced upon Great Britain by the Boers, he said the Government acknowledged that it had made a mistake as to the time of ending the war, and that he admired the tenacity of the Boers; but he insisted that it was the duty of Great Britain to meet this tenacity with equal resolution. Then followed what is regarded as a most important declaration:

"I think the time has come or is coming," said the Colonial Secretary, "when measures of greater severity may be necessary, and, if that time comes, we can find precedents for anything we do in the actions of these nations who now criticize our 'barbarity' and 'cruelty,' but whose example in Poland, in the Caucasus, in Algeria, in Tonquin, in Bosnia and the Franco-German war we have never approached."

HOW HE WHIPPED CERVERA.

Admiral Schley Tells the Story, Clearing Up Important Points.

Washington, Oct. 26.—When the Schley Court of Inquiry adjourned yesterday Admiral Schley had not completed his testimony in chief. The chief event of the day was the Admiral's relation of the events of July 3, when the American fleet sent Cervera's squadron to the bottom of the sea or to the beach. He told his story of this historical occurrence in plain words and in unaffected style. He cleared up many important points, and indicated that he knew all phases of the event.

Appeal to Russia Fails.

London, Oct. 26.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says Mr. Van der Hoeven, one of Dr. Leyds' secretaries, has been trying to persuade the Russian Government to take the initiative in order to bring the South African conflict before a court of arbitration. He is unable to accomplish his purpose, as Russia, after summoning The Hague Conference, could not act in opposition to its ruling that the consent of both parties is essential to arbitration.

Release Ordered.

London, Oct. 26.—The War Office has ordered the immediate release of three members of the Fifth Victorian Contingent, who, resenting Brig.-General Beatson calling the command "White livered curs," were tried by court martial and sentenced to death for mutinous conduct, General Kitchener commuting the sentence to 12 years' penal servitude.

They Long to Retaliate.

Manila, Oct. 26.—The people of the island of Samar have been notified to concentrate in the towns, otherwise they will be considered public enemies and outlaws, and will be treated accordingly. Intense feeling exists among the troops in Samar. If they can meet the enemy in the open there will be great retaliation.

MILD-MANNERED MR. WHITNEY

Mr. Whitney seems to have turned over a new leaf. The Review argues that the Opposition leader refused to entertain Mr. Mabee's first essay at pamphletering, because he, Mr. Whitney, took the ground that "personal abuse or vilification of an opponent was something he would not countenance in the coming campaign." Mr. Whitney has had a sudden change in style if he intends to adhere to this. He has in the past described the members of the Ontario Cabinet as men who should be in jail. He is noted for the violence and intemperate nature of his language, so much so that the Stratford Beacon has culled from his public utterances a bouquet of the favourite adjectives which Mr. Whitney is fond of applying to his political opponents and their acts, such as "Shameful, shocking, scandalous and slanderous; phenomenal steal, public robbery, most heinous public crime; huge, gigantic, Titanic and enormous; disgraceful, discreditable, disreputable and despicable; rogues, rascals, robbers and assassins; sal-awags, scavengers, swashbucklers, scoundrels, etc., etc." Fancy Mr. Whitney resorting to mild methods in his speech. Get him started on the subject of his political opponents, and he will, like Bottom, "roar you as gently as any sucking dove." Anybody who has ever heard the Opposition leader can form some idea of the mild nature of his language, and it is asking one to believe too much to believe that Mr. Whitney rejected, as alleged, Mr. Mabee's political pamphlet because it was too hard on his opponents. If Mr. Whitney as an orator, is just the opposite of Byron's pirate—"as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship or cut a throat." This character was mild in speech and manner but energetic in his deeds. Mr. Whitney is as violent in his political harangues as he is impotent in the arena of action. He is a fluent speaker, but his past record shows that if he is hereafter going to speak decently of his political opponents, he has turned over a new leaf.

GOOD ROADS.

Mr. Whitney in line with his opposition to progress, opposed the appointment of a Good Roads Commissioner, whose department has conferred untold benefits upon the farming community and the general public. Mr. A. W. Campbell reports the great strides that are being made in the abolition of the unsatisfactory system of statute labour, as a means of making roads, and keeping them in repair. The Good Roads Movement has become a popular movement, and about twenty per cent. of the municipalities of the Province have abolished statute labour and taken to a rational system of making and maintaining public highways; and twenty-five more municipalities will vote on the abolition at the next January elections. Thanks to the efforts of the Good Roads Department established by the Liberal Government of Ontario, the public have come to an intelligent appreciation of the benefit of good roads. With good roads the farmer is enabled to make a large gain in the saving of wear and tear, and waste of time, in marketing his produce, and universal good roads would add very largely to the profit of the dairying industry. With general good roads there would be a general increase in the use of the co-operative dairying system. More farmers would patronize factories if better roads facilitated the hauling of milk.

NO THANK YOU.

The Washington Post says: —"Canada is the second of the American republics in extent, the fourth in population, and the second in wealth, commerce, enterprise, and industry. Of course she is called a part of the British Empire, and her people are enjoying thrills of delicious excitement now over the visit of the heir to the British throne, but she is a republic for all that, and a much more democratic one then Mexico or Venezuela. So when we are making plans for the republican family in America, why should we not count in Canada?"

The United States Journals and politicians wont understand Canada. True we are a democratic people, but it is equally true that we are no republic. We live under, we believe in, we glory in, and we shall stay under a limited monarchy to the end of the chapter. There is no attraction to the people of Canada in a republic, especially a federal republic, with its perpetual political turmoil, its autocratic federal cabinet appointed by a president and irresponsible to the people, with its free and easy divorce law, with its elective judiciary; where roasting negroes is a popular amusement, where liberty degenerates into license, where lynch law supersedes the law of the land, a practical reign of anarchy. Our Yankee cousins are progressive and wide awake because these conditions are essential to the making of money, which is their universal object of worship, with exceptions as rare as hen's teeth. We Canadians may be slow but we are sure; we may not be showy but we are solid. We are working out our great destiny in our own way quite collected with our political condition. The Post needn't bother about Canada when it is manufacturing fuel for the republican family on this continent. We are not republicans and we don't want anybody to make plans for us. We will be good friends and neighbours so far as our neighbours will let us be; we will trade with them, buy and sell—sell almost anything but our practical independence under the protection of the Empire, and are proud to belong to—I'll anything but our birthright for a mess of pottage.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster can sympathize with Noah's dove in its first few excursions from the ark—he has not where to set his political foot. The ex-Finance Minister is knocking at the doors of several vacant constituencies but he finds that these doors are himself in the past tense—"bolted."

The Mail and Empire asserts in a heading "Laurier fails in duty to Quebec"—another way of saying that Sir Wilfred Laurier is doing too much for Ontario and the other Provinces and too little for Quebec. Now the Mail and Empire declares that Sir Wilfred is ruled by Mr. Tarte, and it takes the position that all its abuse of Mr. Tarte over his subordination of the interests of the country to the interests of Quebec is so much slander and wasted wind. He who walks crookedly has to be very careful if he does not sooner or later strike a snag.

Our mining interests in Ontario are rapidly developing importance. Figures on the mining industry for the first nine months of the year showed a remarkable increase; for instance, during 1900, 62,386 tons of pig iron were produced in Ontario, valued at $936,066. During the first nine months of this year 87,887 tons were produced, valued at $1,280,827, a comparative increase of 36 per cent. in quantity and 40 per cent. value. In the Temiskaming district alone over 100,000 acres of land had been sold to settlers this year.

Rev. James Buchanan, a Presbyterian minister of Dundalk, speaking at a Sunday school convention in Toronto, said: "The trouble with the churches has been that they have been built in the past with everything else in view but the Sunday school; that has been an etcetera, and arrangements for socials and feeds have been first instead." This seems to be a just criticism of a condition permitted on the part of the churches, which ignores the spirit of the injunction of the wise Sunday school authority who advised us to "train up a child in the way he should go."

BABY'S ILLS.

Every Mother Should be in a Position to Promptly Relieve the Minor Ailments of Her Little Ones.

The baby who is always plump always has a good appetite, always has a clear eye and a rosy cheek, and is always active and playful, is the choicest treasure this life affords. The medicine which keeps babies in such a condition or which restores them to it when they are ill is certainly a priceless boon to humanity. There are many medicines which produce sleep, but their action upon the child is similar to that which whisky or opium has upon a full grown man. They deaden and stupify and are the most injurious things which can be given to children.

The only safe course is to use nature's remedies. Nature has provided a vegetable cure for every ill, and her remedies for children's disorders are scientifically compounded in Baby's Own Tablets. For diarrhœa, constipation, colic, simple fever, croup, irritation when teething, indigestion and all the disorders of children so familiar to mothers, this remedy is conceded by the medical profession to be without an equal. Its effect is gentle, soothing, promptly curative and never failing. It will save pain, anxiety, doctor bills and perhaps a life. All mothers who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their little ones speak of them in terms of warmest praise. Mrs. Ben. Seward, Forfar, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and can highly recommend them to all mothers. My baby was cutting his teeth, and was very cross when I first gave them to him. They acted like magic; he cut his teeth almost without my knowing it, and gave him such ease that they proved a blessing both to the child and myself. He has not been sick since I gave them to him, and I would not be without them in the house." Baby's Own Tablets can be procured at any druggist's, or will be sent post paid on receipt of 25 cents by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GREAT DEMAND FOR HORSES.

N. Y. Sun: — England is finding difficulty in obtaining horses suitable for its mounted infantry in South Africa. Her agents are ransacking the horse-breeding districts of Europe but the supply is not equal to the demand.

In Europe there, were, at last accounts about 43,000,000 horses and mules, more than twice as many of these animals as are to be found in our own country. The trouble in England is not due to any dearth of horses, such as they are, but to inability to find a sufficient number of the animals with the breeding and general characteristics desirable for military purposes.

The breeding of cavalry horses in Continental Europe is a great business, but the supply never seems to exceed the demand of the Powers that maintain large standing armies. The preferred horses are those that are especially bred for saddle purposes and are trained from their first year to military exercises. A large part of Germany's supply comes from the wide pastures of northeast Prussia, the Government especially encouraging the industry on account of the large needs of its cavalry. Many of the horses that Denmark raises find their way into Continental armies, for Danish stock is of high repute and much of it is sent abroad both for cavalry and draught purposes. As neither England or Germany raises enough draught horses for its needs, England buys about one-half and Germany a sixth of all the horses we have to sell.

None of the powers look to Russia as a source of supply for cavalry horses, though that country raises nearly half the horses on the continent. The Government and the owners of the large landed estates in Western and Central Russia have use for all the fine horses that are bred in those regions; and the great plains of the south, where most of Russia's horses are raised, with no care whatever as to breeding or training, do not produce the quality of animals required for army purposes. The result is that comparatively few Russian horses are exported. Austria-Hungary raises more horses than any other part of Europe excepting Russia and is a large source of supply for the cavalry of the continent. Great herds graze on the flat, treeless, grassy plains or pusztas of Hungary, and thence the Italian army, not being able to obtain all the horses it needs in the home markets, procures much of its supply. English agents are now said to be trying to buy 6,000 Hungarian horses a month at about $150 a head.

The English do not appear to be looking in our direction for army horses. Our cavalry officers would not be slow to assign a reason for this fact. They have asserted for years that they rarely get the type of horses they need; that the animals usually bought for our cavalry are bred of very ordinary strains and for farm work, and can never be perfectly trained for army service because they are bought at from 4 to 6 years old. The bulk of our exports of horses, worth about $3,500,000 a year, are sent abroad solely for draught purposes.

Our stock raisers as a whole may learn a useful lesson from the condition of the horse market in recent years and the inability of England to get all the better-grade animals needed for South Africa. Many of our farmers came to the conclusion some time ago, that, with the introduction of electricity, modern machinery and automobiles, the period of profitable horse-raising was at an end. The fact is, however, as the statistics for the five years ending in 1900 show, that prices for really good horses in the coach, saddle and draught classes have been slowly rising, while the prices for second and third grade animals in all classes have not held their own. The same report comes from Canada where it is said to be difficult to get together a large number of first-class animals for export because the country has been drained of its best material. Farmers in America who are raising only first-rate horses for sale are not complaining that the industry has become unprofitable.

MORE LIGHT ON THE FOOD QUESTION.

Malt Breakfast Food

The Only True Health Food on the Market.

Food experts and analysts have fully demonstrated that the great majority of prepared breakfast foods are not up to the proper standard of purity. Such foods hamper digestion and give rise to many serious stomach derangements.

Malt Breakfast Food is a natural food producing natural conditions. It increases and maintains digestive energy; its freedom from insoluble starch and irritating properties enables it to restore and rebuild the weak and overworked stomach, so that this organ can do its proper work. Malt Breakfast Food gives more true bodily nourishment in one meal than all other combined foods can afford in a week. A single package tested in your home will make it a permanent friend. At all grocers.

Teacher Burned.

Windsor, Oct. 26.—Sister Isabelle, head teacher in the Separate School, Sandwich, was severely burned about the face while lighting the gas stove in the school yesterday morning. As she applied the match the flames burst into her face, igniting her heavy veil. She quickly threw her apron around her head, and smothered the fire, but not before it had scorched the skin in many places and singed her hair. The pupils became panic-stricken and rushed from the room. In the crush a number of little ones were squeezed, but no one was injured. It is not thought that the sister's face will be disfigured.

A HELPLESS MAN.

A man is certainly in a helpless condition when he has to sit with his leg on a chair for weeks, unable to move. William Grimshaw, Wolfe Island, Frontenac County, Ont., was in this plight. Doctors could do nothing for him and the pain remained in his legs for six months. Three bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure and three boxes of Ohmoz Iron Tonic Pills routed the disease and restored him to perfect health. He now recommends it to all sufferers. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

SIR ROBERT BOND, K.C.M.G.

Only Premier of Colony Knighted During Duke of York's Tour—Royal Party Sails for Home.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 26.— The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York started for England at daylight yesterday morning on board the royal yacht Ophir, with the British cruisers Niobe and Diadem forming the escort. The flagship, the first-class cruiser Crescent, accompanied the Ophir outside the port, and fired a farewell salute.

The Duchess, who has recovered from Thursday's faintness, attended the state dinner last night. Prior to the dinner the Duke conferred on Robert Bond, the Premier of Newfoundland, the honor of knighthood, making him a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Sir Robert Bond is the only colonial Premier who has been so honored during the royal tour.

WHEN DOES DEAFNESS BECOME INCURABLE?

Regarding the exact conditions which produce incurable deafness, we find great variations of opinion among the members of the medical profession. There are some who say that a complete cure of deafness is possible only in those cases where treatment is applied in the very early stage of the ailment; others, and among them the foremost ear specialists, give a more favourable opinion, but they are very careful to convey the impression that many months of treatment are necessary, even in those cases where the hearing is only slightly impaired, and that a perfect cure is improbable in cases where the deafness has been of long duration.

There has been good ground in the past for this attitude on the part of the profession. The fact that the essential and delicate structure of the organ of hearing are carefully protected by Nature by being placed deeply within the bony parts of the skull, presents at once an obstacle to the direct application of medicine to the pathological changes within the ear, which are the cause of Deafness. The efforts of the ear specialist to overcome this difficulty met with very poor success, until Dr. Drouet hit one day on the idea of utilising the well-known absorbant properties of the skin and tissues. He reflected that this was in fact, the way always employed to treat an internal disorder locally, and, setting out from this principle, he drew up the formula of a preparation in the form of a crescent-shaped plaster, which is applied to the mastoid process, the raised part of the skull behind the ear, exactly underneath which are situated those internal parts of the auditory organs of which we have just been speaking.

To those internal applications, which act by gradual absorption, an auxiliary treatment is generally added, when there is an inflammation of the nose or throat, or when antiseptic precautions are necessitated by some discharge from the ear. The curative treatment, therefore, differs in nearly every case, but external applications always form its basis.

It would be exaggeration to say that the treatment is infallible, for if the organs of hearing has undergone very grave physiological deteriorations—for example if the tympanum is totally destroyed, or if the stapes has disappeared, it is evident that a cure is out of the question; but with this exception, it can be affirmed that a method of curing the deaf is at last discovered.

It mattters little if the infirmity is of long standing, or if the deaf person is old, or if other treatment has already been unsuccessfully followed, Dr. Drouet's external applications are sure to take effect. To be persuaded of this it is only necessary to read the review published monthly by the Drouet Institute, "The Journal for the Deaf," which contains the detailed accounts of over two hundred cures performed on persons of every age, and even in cases which specialists have declared incurable. The perusal of the "Journal for the Deaf" is from this point of view, very instructive, and is to be earnestly recommended to everybody interested in the subject. This journal is sent free, under cover, to anyone applying for it, to the Secretary of the Drouet Institute, 72 Regent's Park-road, London, N.W.

This journal is always accompanied by a pathological report form, which enables each patient to describe his case so clearly that the consulting surgeon can send accurate information of the treatment necessary to effect a cure.

Greatness is to take the common things of life, and walk truly among them. Olive Schreiner,

LIVES LOST IN FIRE

TERRIBLE LEAPS FOR LIFE

Fatal Fire in Philadelphia—Inmates Plunged to Destruction—Men and Women Roasted to Death—Awful Scenes That Met the Gaze of Firemen and Spectators—Powerless to Help.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—Eighteen known dead and property loss amounting to upwards of $500,000, is the awful result of a fire, which occurred yesterday in the business portion of the city. The number of injured is not known definitely, but fully a score of victims were treated at various hospitals. Police and firemen were last night delving into the ruins in search of bodies supposed to have been buried beneath the debris, as it is feared that others besides the known dead may have lost their lives in the flames.

The buildings destroyed were the eight storey structure occupied by Hunt, Wilkinson & Co., upholsterers and furniture dealers, and three three-storey buildings occupied by small merchantmen.

Never in its history has Philadelphia experienced a fire which spread with such great rapidity. At 10.20 o'clock yesterday morning the blaze broke forth, and one hour later the horrible sacrifice of life had been made, and the immense loss of property had been accomplished. The origin of the death-dealing conflagration is unknown.

Such a disastrous fire, attended with so great a loss of life in such a brief period, was never before known in this city. Men and women died a lingering, agonizing death in the presence of thousands of spectators, who were unable to lift a hand to their assistance. The rear of Hunt, Wilkinson & Co.'s building faces on Commercial street, a small thoroughfare. On the fire escapes at this end of the building two men and one woman were slowly roasted to death, while the horror stricken throng on the street below turned sick at the sight. In front on Market street, a woman driven to despair, leaped from a window on the top floor, and was dashed to death on the pavement. These are but a few of the heartrending scenes attending the conflagration. Firemen claim to have seen men and women unable to reach the windows by fire escapes burned to death in the interior of the building.

Seventy-nine of the 100 persons in Hunt, Wilkinson & Co.'s building when the fire started, were employes, and the remainder were customers and outside workmen, who were engaged in putting the finishing touches on the new eighth floor. Most of those killed were at work on the sixth floor, where women were engaged in sewing.

There were 11 employes and a number of outside workmen on the eighth floor. Among those on the eighth floor who jumped and were killed were M. A. Sparrow, an expert electrical contractor, and Chas. E. Sparrow, his nephew, and assistant. A colored scrub woman also jumped from this floor, and was crushed to death in the street.

At 2 o'clock the fire was out. The loss last night was estimated at half a million dollars.

Big Fire in London.

London, Oct. 26.—A big fire has been raging since 1 o'clock in the four storey building of the London Tobacco Curing Company, situated in the rear of the Helena Costume Company's big building on King street. How the fire started is not known, but when it was first discovered it had gained considerable proportions. At 2 a.m. the Tobacco Company's building was completely gutted, nothing but the walls remaining, and the fire was not got under control until 2.30 a.m., after it had spread to the Helena Costume Company's block. No estimate of the loss can be given at this hour, as it is not known if this season's tobacco crop has been stored. The damage to the Helena Costume Company's block will not be heavy.

Ameer Led by a Woman.

London, Oct. 26.—It is reported from Peshawar, says a Simla despatch to The Times, that Ameer Habib Ullah, following the counsel of his father, consults the mother of Umar Jan on all important state affairs. She is a royal princess, was the chief wife of Abdurrahman, and enjoys much prestige, but she does not head any faction against Habib Ullah, as Umar Jan is only 12 years old.

Will Sell Ten More Seats.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—There was an important meeting of the Stock Exchange yesterday. A proposition to issue ten new seats was first on the program. It was proposed by Ralph Forget and seconded by Andrew Wilson. The motion passed by 34 votes to 6.

Five Killed by Explosion.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 26.—A terrific explosion of gas occurred in the Buttonwood mine of the Parrish Coal Company, situated one mile south of this city late yesterday afternoon, which caused the death of five men and the injury of nine others.

Demand Manhood Suffrage.

Winnipeg, Oct. 26.—The labor party of this city is demanding manhood suffrage in civic elections, and this will probably be one of the chief issues in the coming municipal election.

A Phenomenal Horse Wins.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 26.—At the race track here last night South Africa, owned by Crowe & Murray of Toronto, won the Kansas City star purse of $2,000 for horses in harness.

Railroad Men's Backache.

Men who work on the railroad whether in the capacity of engineers, firemen, machinists or trackmen, find that the heavy work they do and the exposure to change of weather and temperature very hard on their back and kidneys.

There are few railroadmen who do not complain of kidney trouble in some form.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have proved themselves the greatest benefactors of all classes of railroad men. They give ease to the aching, sore back, clear up the urine, relieve the scalding and burning, and impart new life and vitality to the urinary organs.

PLASTERS NO GOOD.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, living on Albert Street, Sarnia, Ont., has confidence in Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Her son George, employed as a machinist on the Grand Trunk R.R., has been cured of lumbago by using them. Mrs. Wilson said: "Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I brought my son from Geary's drug store has cured him of that constant pain and lameness in the back that caused him the greatest misery. He had tried plasters and other remedies, but nothing gave him the permanent relief obtained from these Tablets. The whole difficulty has quite disappeared and with it the accompanying weariness and lack of energy. He has no headaches nor kidney trouble, but is enjoying perfect health. I can honestly recommend these Tablets to anyone having any trouble with their backs."

BASIS OF CANAL TREATY.

London Times Believes It Has Been Settled in Principle.

London, Oct. 26.—The Times, in an editorial article yesterday, says it has reasons to believe that the basis of a new arrangement regarding the Isthmian Canal has been settled by principle by the British and United States Governments. It has long been acknowledged, says The Times, that under the altered circumstances it would not be to Great Britain's practical advantage to insist on every jot and title of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, though that treaty is still legally valid, and is technically protected by a clause in the Constitution of the United States. In the matter of the canal, as in others, the American Senate checked the policy of Mr. McKinley. The editorial adds:

"We have never thought it expedient or reasonable to stand on our strict rights under the treaty. With a system of complete maritime freedom, Great Britain cannot fear, and may have much to gain from, the opening of a canal, whether by the Nicaragua or Panama line. The most formidable obstacle is the resistance, open or secret, of the railway interests. The uncompromising jingoes maintaining that the control of the canal by the United States must be absolutely unfettered, have also to be reckoned with."

AN INTERNAL REMEDY.

A Pleasant Tasting Tablet; Simple, Convenient; Cures Every Form of Catarrh.

The use of inhalers, douches, sprays, salves and powders for catarrh is a nuisance and inconvenience at the best, and cannot compare with antiseptic remedies in tablet form for internal use.

Internal remedies are the only ones which can really reach the seat of the disease, which is in the blood, and local applications can no more cure catarrh and rheumatism or kidney trouble, the excessive secretion in nose and throat being local manifestations of a deep seated poison in the blood.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the most successful of the various internal remedies, is composed principally of highly concentrated antiseptics which destroy the catarrh germs in the blood, and causes them to be eliminated through the natural channels.

Progressive physicians use and advise Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because they contain no cocaine, no opiate, no enervating drug whatever, but are composed of Guaiacol, Hydrastin, Red Gum and similar catarrh antiseptics, and are so safe and pleasant that even little children may use them with excellent results.

Catarrh sufferers who have wasted time and money on local applications should not despair of a radical cure until a trial of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets has been made.

A complete treatment may be purchased at any drug store for 50 cents.

Boy Run Over at Scarboro.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Twelve-year-old James Duggan met a terrible death yesterday afternoon at Scarboro while returning from school. He was struck by the Grand Trunk International Limited train and death was instantaneous. The lad was a son of James P. Duggan of 791 West Queen street. The family were to remove to Ohio in a few weeks time. Deceased's father left for Ohio only a few days ago to make preparations for the reception of his family at their new home.

Terribly Injured.

Georgetown, Oct. 26.—Threshers were working at Malcolm McPherson's, lot 13, concession 5, Esquesing, yesterday, when one of the belts on the separator flew off. Robert Swackhammer went to adjust it without stopping the machine, and in so doing had his right arm caught in the belt, and he was thrown against a double flange driving wheel on the cylinder. The injuries sustained are terrible. It is hardly possible that he can recover.

Mr. Massey's Condition.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—Mr. Walter E. H. Massey's condition showed a little more improvement yesterday. This change has given his friends some encouragement, and the hope is still held out that he may recover. Last night the improvement had continued slightly.

TRADE WITHIN THE EMPIRE.

Duty of Britain to the Colonies in Matter of Food Supply.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—The duty of Britain to the colonies in the matter of trade and particularly as regards the food supply was the most vital note struck at the meeting of the British Empire League in St. George's Hall last night. The point was made by Hon. G. W. Ross, who advocated a vigorous propaganda on this line and also in the matter of emigration from Britain to the colonies, which, he said, to be effective, should be in the hands of a commission. Hon. G. E. Foster forcibly endorsed the proposition that Britain should deal with the colonies in preference to dealing with alien countries, wherever practicable and this, he said, would prove the compensation within the Empire for its enormous responsibilities and sacrifices. Dr. Parkin took a different line and called for a propaganda to be sent from Canada to know why at this critical stage—Canada's boasted mobile forces were unrepresented in South Africa, while Australia, New Zealand and the South African colonies had thousands of men in the field. Sir Frederick Young, an accredited member of the League from Britain, spoke of Imperial Federation, which as he proposed it, would in no way conflict with the self-government of the colonies.

Preference Within the Empire.

London, Oct. 26.—The rumor was revived yesterday that Mr. Chamberlain intends to launch some proposition for the establishment of an imperial mutual preferential tariff before the next general election, which is now looked for as soon as the war is really over. It cannot be traced to any substantial source, but it would not surprise politicians.

The Girl and the Pimple.

Newspapers contained last year the account of a girl who committed suicide because she had a pimple on her face. Merrill's System Tonic, from its blood purifying and blood strengthening qualities, cure not only pimples but blotches of all kinds, also scrofula, eczema, and salt rheum. Three weeks treatment, 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

According to The New York Herald advices from the Pacific coast of South America, yellow fever is epidemic in Buenaventure.

The attempt to dispose abroad of Japanese bonds of 50,000,000 yen has failed. This, it is expected, will seriously affect the position of the cabinet.

George McDonald, court crier, and caretaker of Division Street Presbyterian Church, Owen Sound, has died from the effects of a paralytic stroke.

A man named E. Battleby, of Point St. Charles, shot himself at Stillwell's eating house, Montreal, on Friday morning and was dead when found.

The Macklem investigation at Stoney Creek has been finished, and Inspector Stewart will go over the evidence and report. It will be some time before the report will be made known.

Colin MacDougall, K. C., one of the oldest and best known citizens of St. Thomas, dropped dead Friday afternoon, just as he rose from his bed, where he had been resting. Deceased was born in Elgin County on March 8, 1834. A widow and two children survive him.

According to reliable reports received by the British Consul-General at Shanghai, Mr. Warren, 500,000 persons in the Province of An Hui, and 300,000 persons in the Province of Kiang Su are on the verge of starvation, and the famine is spreading.

Mother Drowns Herself.

Beeton, Oct. 26.—Mrs. William Brawley, a highly respected resident of Beeton, killed herself here Thursday night. The deceased contracted blood poisoning from a pin pricking her in the hand about 12 days ago, and a few days later was forced to take to her bed. Her hand was swollen, and the family physician, who was called in, ordered her to remain quiet. Last night she drowned herself in a small creek near her home. From different indications the suicide is supposed to have been premeditated, and caused by a feeling that she would not get well. The unfortunate woman was about 37 years of age, and leaves a husband and two children.

Swimming.

"No man can ever hope to be a strong swimmer unless he cultivates the power of endurance in the water," says a professional. "It costs me no more exertion to swim for an hour than it does to walk for the same period of time.

"In swimming a man should time his stroke with his breathing. He should take but one stroke to each breath. In this way the muscles of the body work in conjunction with the lungs, and no energy is wasted. In salt water, which, of course, is more buoyant than fresh water, a man who has trained himself in this way should have no difficulty in keeping afloat, say he were shipwrecked, until sheer weakness from hunger and thirst would force him to succumb."

A CURIOUS EXPERIENCE.

That of a Louisville Belle Who Saw Her Fiance Rob Him.

"One of the most curious of Kentucky stories and one that never reached the ears of the newspapers," gossiped a Louisville visitor the other day, "occurred some years ago in our city. A promising young man had come to the city, had done well, was of a respectable country family and had won the love of one of the finest young women in the city.

An only child and motherless, she lived with her father in one of the rambling mansions in the outskirts of the city. As is the custom in many southern places, the servants lived in a small building in the rear of the large plot of land surrounding the house. Late one afternoon the father told his daughter that she had better arrange to spend the night with one of her friends, as he expected to leave the city on a business trip and would be gone overnight.

"She told him that she would not be afraid to stay in the house alone. She expected to go out to the theater that evening with her fiance. When they returned, she would ask him to see that all the windows were securely fastened, and she would feel perfectly secure after he had gone.

"Her father somewhat reluctantly agreed to this and started on his journey. The girl and her fiance went out together, as they had arranged to do. It seemed a peculiarly happy evening to the young woman. They returned to the house in due time. At her request her fiance examined all the windows and doors to see that they were fastened. She bade him good night and went up to her room, asking him to extinguish the front hall light and close the front door as he left. She saw the light go out and heard the front door slam.

"Thinking all was safe, she prepared to retire. Just before getting into bed and while standing in front of her mirror combing her hair at a dresser just opposite the door to the room and over which was a transom she saw reflected from the transom the face of a man. A closer look showed that it was the man she had just left at the door.

"Being of a cool temperament and not possessed of 'nerves,' she made no sign of her observation, but calmly turned out the gas and retired. She lay awake, waiting to see what would happen. In about half an hour she was horrified to see the figure of this same individual climbing through the transom. He got into the room, walked to her dresser, took the jewels from it, including gifts he himself had made to her, ransacked the little treasure boxes she had and then stealthily returned through the transom. With eyes half closed the young woman watched the whole performance silently.

"Her father returned home next morning and heard the story with extreme indignation. She begged him not to create any scandal about it, and as the young woman was nearly crazed with distress he respected her wishes. It was finally agreed that she should write to the young man telling him that she had seen it all, asking him to return her jewelry and requesting him never to let her see his face again.

"The father took this note to the young man, who promptly delivered the valuables he had stolen. The young woman's friends were told that the engagement was off, and it was not until several years after the incident that the reason was known to any one besides the three persons directly concerned in this tragic occurrence of this young lady's life."

HUNTING NOTES.

As the opening of the deer shooting season approaches, the hunters commence to move to the back country and by the middle of next week the forests of the north will be alive with marksmen. The first section of the Gold Lake Hunt Club left the Snowdon House at 5 o'clock this morning for their headquarters at Gold Lake. The party was composed of Messrs. G. M. Roger, Clare Gutterson, Martin McFadden, Wm. Snowdon, E. A. Bennett, Larry Steele, Sam Ray, W. F. Johnston and Arthur Blade. Cook Baptie, of Lakefield completed the personnel of the party. They have a splendid outfit and will no doubt do a good few week's business. They took several of Mr. Dixon Jewett's carrier pigeons with them and will have daily communication with the town.

The Fitzgerald-Laroque-Hamilton party will move back north on Wednesday. This is one of the jolliest parties that visits the back country, and they always come back with their full limit of deer. The party is composed as follows: Mr. Bat. Laroque, captain; Jack Fitzgerald, treasurer; Milne Hamilton, secretary, and Messrs. George Dawbon, Gus. White, Smith Milburn, Jack Milne, Jack and George Johnston, Bill Morris and Louis Houdrey. The party will put up at Mr. Nelson Windover's, Gull Lake. Nelson was formerly cook for the Dickson Co., back north and the boys will therefore live on the best in the land while away. The party with their 13 beautiful hounds will move back north from the Montreal House on Wednesday morning and will spend three weeks in the woods. They have the best equipment of rifles that ever went back north and amongst their outfit are six staunch canoes.

"The Ketcheeum Lake Sanitarium" has been a busy place for the past week or two and will continue such until the end of the season. This handsome little lodge has been erected on a prominent point on Lake Ketcheeum by the Winch-Marrow-Peck syndicate. The success of the enterprise is due to a very great extent to the efforts of Mr. Harry Winch who is the oldest member of the party and who has been going back to this section of the country for the past 20 years or more. Mr Winch personally superintended the construction of the lodge which is a model of convenience. It is 35 x 25 feet with the addition of a neat little kitchen. There is a dining room, a sitting room, a sleeping compartment capable of accommodating 16 people together with other conveniences. A neat little verandah faces the water making it a most desirable spot on a pleasant day. The fishing portion of the party has been back north for a week or two and is returning in sections. Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, H. C. Winch and J. D. Collins came down on Thursday night. There are still up at the lodge Messrs. H. LeBrun, Alex. Elliott, D. J. Landy, R. J. Winch. The hunting party will be organized next week and will move back north. The party has had fair luck in their fishing.

Another party that will light out on Wednesday for the north is the Fitzgerald-Westlake party. Their headquarters will be at Eagle Lake, about 1 1-4 miles from the Gold Lake party. The members of the party are Sam Currier, Capt., Chas. Westlake, Sec.; M. Tooley, Geo Fitzgerald, Jack Cottingham, Albert Tivey, C. James, Frank Pearson, Billy White, Jos Gosselin, Chas. Gansolus, Wm. Creamer and Geo. Mitchell.

Mr. James Brooks, of the Palace Hotel will leave next week to join a Port Perry and Oshawa party. They will camp about five miles from the Algonquin Park. Mr. Brooks is a most enthusiastic deer hunter.

Schubert Symphony Club.

Manager Bradburn of the local opera house, received a communication to-day from Manager T. T. Ganser, of the St. Mary's opera house, which says:

"The Schubert Quintette gave a very satisfactory entertainment. They are all good. There was a good house, although the night was very wet. The audience was well satisfied."

BISHOP O'CONNOR'S RETURN

From a Diocesan Visit to the North Country.

Great Development in New Ontario—Impressions he Gained During His Seven Weeks's Absence.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor returned on Wednesday evening from a seven weeks' diocesan visit to the northern portion of his Diocese. His Lordship pays a visit to the northern part of his Diocese periodically, and while some of the settlements have been visited during the past year, still the greater number of them, and in fact the more northern regions have not, owing to their remote location, been officially called upon in three years.

As is well known, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor has a very extensive Diocese, one of the largest to be found, extending as it does from Trenton on Lake Ontario, to Biscotasing, a distance of 1100 miles. To visit the whole of the Diocese is no easy task, and necessitates a great deal of travelling of course, with its accompanying hardships.

The portion just visited by Bishop O'Connor was the Parry Sound, Nipissing and Eastern Algoma Districts, extending from North Bay to Biscotasing. The greater part of the journey was made by rail, considerable by carriage and some by row boat, including a trip across Lake Nipissing. During His Lordship's absence he enjoyed the best of health, and has returned highly pleased with the outcome of his official tour.

During the past ten years Bishop O'Connor notices a remarkable advance in the settlement of the district he visited, particularly in the mining towns, such as Sudbury, Copper Cliff and Victoria Mines. The agricultural regions, too, have grown in population at a wonderful rate, the increase being chiefly in French Canadians. In the Chelmsford District, which has excellent agricultural land there has been a great influx of French Canadians, and their families, all of whom appear to be industrious and prospering. With the growth of population, there is of course a corresponding increase in church work, and no greater proof of this is needed than the fact that at the present time there are being built three new churches to accommodate the residents in their particular localities. One of these churches is being built at Victoria Mine, another at Grande Brulle, and the third at Blezard Valley. The parish churches in these sections are principally in charge of secular priests, although in the western portion they are looked after by Jesuit Fathers.

No greater indication of the growth of the population in this new country is needed than the fact that in the 23 missions visited, 1026 confirmations were made by His Lordship.

There is one great evil to contend with, and that is the liquor traffic, and Bishop O'Connor thinks that every possible energy should be put forth to advance the cause of temperance there. There are as many hotels as the law allows, and there is also suspicion that illegal selling is resorted to. At Copper Cliff there is no licensed liquor selling place at all, although the town has a population of some four thousand souls. The reason of this is that the mining companies that own all the land here and rent or lease it to their employees, will not permit of the sale of intoxicating liquors. Nevertheless certain of the residents do not go without their strong drink, as they go down to Sudbury and other places to get it. On the whole the people are prospering and the appearance of the country indicates this. Where the land is fit for agricultural pursuits, it is being cleared, modern buildings are being erected thereon, and the settlers are going into work with great determination, knowing that they have to make many sacrifices but that in the course of a few years they will be in easy circumstances and in comfortable homes. This is the state of affairs that exists in the vicinity of North Bay and Chelmsford where the land is comparatively level. In the agricultural districts and in the mining towns, labourers are very scarce and in some instances men can't be had at any price. The managers of mining camps never treated their men so kindly or considerately, and in the shanties where a few years ago men were paid $18 a month, they are now receiving $28 a month and their board. No one need go idle in this particular section of Ontario.

Another noticeable feature was the improvements of the roads which were much appreciated by His Lordship on his drive of 50 miles or so. The Government grants for colonization roads is being judiciously spent and is aiding materially in the development of the country. Post offices too are being opened to meet the demands and altogether the outlook is most encouraging.

During the visit of Bishop O'Connor to Northern Ontario he was very kindly received and was the recepient of many expressions of sincerity on the part of the people.

KENNEDY'S MEAT MARKET.

THE NEW INDUSTRY.

Contractor Hartley Rushing Things Down at the Cordage Company's Works.

The work on the Cordage Company building is still being pushed forward with the greatest haste, and Mr. J. J. Hartley, the contractor, states that he does not think that so much stone wall has been built in town in so short a time before. Over 42,000 feet have already been put in running longitudinally, under the buildings, to support the heavy machinery.

The boiler house, 30 x 40 feet, is already nicely roofed in, and the roof will be on the 74 x 122 preparation room, early next week, whilst by the end of the week the spinning room and rope room building will be ready for roofing. They are 92 x 270 in size, and a warehouse extends alongside 52 x 280 feet in dimensions. A tar shop, 30 x 60 feet, and a repair shop, 30 x 40, are also being built, and it has been decided to erect a new 30 x 45 brick building, two stories in height, for offices. The large frame building on the grounds has been sold and is being moved away by Allan McCarthy.

By present appearances it is evident that the entire block enclosed by Perry, Aylmer, Lake and Bethune streets, is to be filled in so thickly with buildings that there will be barely room for a wagon to get around between them.

DON'T LEAVE THE LEAVES

Piled Against Fences as a Menace of Fire.

The dry weather has made the fallen leaves crisp and light, and the gales have piled them up in windrows around leeward fences. Here a carelessly dropped match of a smoker, or lighted end of a cigar, or the ever blazing mischief of the small boy, may ignite them at the risk of causing much damage. Day before yesterday by some means the leaves drifted against a fence at the residence of Mr. Wilson Henderson, superintendent of the Water Company, caught fire and in a short time the fence was blazing, and if the fire had not been discovered by the driver of a delivery wagon, the buildings and (with the wild gale blowing) possibly the residence would have been destroyed. On several other streets are to be seen fences charred by burning leaves. These leaves should be raked out, placed in rows and burned, or better, should be piled in some back corner of the premises, which if mixed with slops and saturated with household slops will in a short time make excellent material for potting house plants.

"Our Navy," is Coming.

What is "Our Navy?" One of the most successful and certainly one of the most beautiful entertainments ever brought to Canada is the series of marvellous beautiful moving pictures which is to visit Peterborough Nov. 8th and 9th. Our Navy has met with unvarying success since its arrival in Canada from England, having been seen by sixty-thousand people in Toronto, besides running for four weeks in Montreal. In it is depicted the life and career of the sailor of the British Navy, from the time he enters it as a boy. It shows how he is trained, drilled and developed into a regular Jack Tar. The pictures are each surrounded with bright tuneful music, and also with realistic effects, and are far superior to anything of its kind ever shown in Canada before. Our Navy has as patrons H.R.H. the Duke of Cornwall and York, K. G., and the Governor General of Canada. It was also shown at Osborne before her late Majesty, the Queen. 2d99

CONVENTION AT NORWOOD

Of the Peterborough County Teachers' Convention.

Interesting Addresses by Prominent People—A Very Successful Convention—The Programme.

The annual convention of the teachers of Peterborough County opened in the Model School, Norwood, on Friday morning, October 25th, shortly after nine, the President, Mr. H. C. Kindred, Principal of the Havelock public school, occupying the chair.

After a few introductory remarks, he appointed a Nominating Committee, composed of Miss Mary Brighty, Miss Sara Hamilton and Mr. James Brackenridge.

The members of the Executive Committee were made a committee on resolutions, to report to the convention on the "O.E.A. Resolutions."

Inspector Brown then took up the subject of "Difficult Words." In introducing new words to the pupil there are three stages. After dividing the word into syllables, have pupils spell and pronounce by syllables, then pronounce the whole word.

Pupils should learn the letters of the alphabet in order, so that they may be able to readily consult dictionaries and other books, the contents of which are arranged alphabetically.

Teachers were asked to not neglect the reading of the sketches of the authors at the beginning of each lesson in the Fourth Reader. They are usually in a style of composition different from that in the lesson itself.

Mr. Brown's paper was listened to with attention and profit by those present. At the close he answered some questions asked by those present.

Mr. L. T. Lochead, M. A., of Toronto, followed with an able address on "Reading and Ideal Readers." He expressed himself as pleased to meet the teachers of Peterborough County and stated that his one object was to raise oral reading to its proper plane as a science and as an art. Reading is the natural expression of the true interpretation of thought. However, all may not interpret the thought in the same way. By our present Readers a great deal of time must be spent in mastering mechanical and etymological difficulties connected with the spelling of words. If we had ideal Readers, showing the proper pronunciation of words, then more time might be devoted to the proper expression of the thought.

Mr. Lochhead's address was a treat to those present. Afterwards it was discussed by Inspector Brown and others, who expressed themselves as being in accord with the ideas he presented. Mr. T. J. Wallace, Mr. J. Frappy and Mr. M. W. Matchett took part in the discussion.

The following resolution was passed:

"1st. We, the teachers of Peterborough County, hereby approve of (a) having the syllables of the words in our school readers shown by slight spacing; (b) the accented vowels by heavy type; (c) the silent letters shown by outline or skeleton type; (d) the consonant powers and (e) the ordinary vowel sounds distinguished and related as illustrated by Lochhead's System of Phonics.

"2nd. We also recommend that the readers be published (a) by the Education Department; (b) with the co-operation of the teachers of the province; and (c) supplied direct to the secretary of each school at first cost for the pupils."

In the afternoon the Vice-President, Mr. Jas. Brackenridge, opened the session, and called upon Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A. He gave a most interesting address on "The Life of Napoleon," tracing his career graphically from first to last. He held the rapt attention of those present from the beginning of his address. At the conclusion he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

Mr. H. C. Kindred, one of the delegates to the O. E. A., then reported part of the recent session, held in Toronto in April, 1901, and Mr. T. J. Wallace followed with the balance of the report.

Mr. Closs, of Norwood High School, gave a very able paper on "How to Mount Plants and Insects." He explained how to collect these and showed how they might be exchanged with other persons, and how botanical and entomological clubs effected exchanges.

A discussion on the "O.E.A. Resolutions," followed. They were taken clause by clause, and either sanctioned or condemned.

This closed the Friday session, which was very profitable throughout.

Reinforcing the Rear!

Mr. H. P. Kennedy has found it necessary to extend his meat market premises in the rear where he has fitted up additional quarters off the market square. This expansion of shop room is specially intended for wholesaling by the quarter. It also helps to improve the surroundings of this portion of the market arcade by utilising it for a legitimate business, instead of allowing unseemly accumulations to exist, so frequently to be seen along this thoroughfare. To-day, both rear and front, Kennedy's Meat Market swarmed with customers and business was booming all day.

—Although Charley LeGros is now doing the biggest barber business in town, he's hustling to do better. Another new luxurious chair, making the fifth, will be put in right away. Life is too short to have to wait in a barber shop.

Result of the Fall Tournament of the Peterborough Tennis Club—Other Notes of Interest.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night. There were present Messrs. R. F. McWilliams, Dr. Scott, Victor McWilliams, Hal. Burnham, A. W. McPherson, H. R. H. Kenner, Harry Rush, C. G. Graham, Herb. Wood and E. S. Clarry. The chief topic for discussion, was of course, the matter of whether the club would accept the O.R.F.U's decision regarding home and home games with London. It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that Peterborough was not being fairly dealt with in the matter and a most emphatic protest is being forwarded to the secretary of the Union regarding the matter. The members of the Peterborough club are very indignant and expressed themselves in that manner last night.

The local committee reported recommending that the annual dance be postponed for some weeks at least.

Peterborough's Protest.

The secretary of the local club has forwarded the following protest in the form of a letter to Mr. J. D. McMurrich, secretary of the O.R.F.U.:

J. D. McMurrich, Esq.,
Sec.-treas. O.R.F.U.

Dear sir,—We have to-day learned that the Union has ordered us to play home and home games in the final, with London, and also that the Torontos have defaulted to-morrow's game here. It is needless to say that Peterborough has the hottest kind of a protest against being sent to London after going there twice last year. It is all very well to be sympathetic with London's wail about lack of money and having no home games, but that is no reason why we should be soaked to the tune of $150 to help them out.

Let us look at the position of the two clubs. Each has had one home game and one away. London got by default a home game as the result of a bargain made with Hamilton, which saved London sending their Junior team to Hamilton. Peterborough got by default a home game with the Torontos in the semi-final, after they had incurred all the expenses of the match, and had strongly objected to a default. London's game away from home meant travelling 130 miles, and took less than one day, while Peterborough's involved travelling 570 miles and took a day and two nights, with all the additional expense. Further, the game in Ottawa was the result of a change in the schedule, to which we strongly objected, except upon the condition of our getting the finals played here, and, further, the game had to be played in the morning, and we did not get a cent of the gate money.

Upon what ground it can possibly be contended that the clubs are on such an equal footing that home and home games should be ordered for the first time in the history of the series, we are utterly at a loss to understand.

But even if London could find in these circumstances any reason for such favoured treatment, the slightest regard for last year's record will quickly dispose of any such claim. Last year we were sent to London for a sudden death game in the finals, and when the game was protested and ordered to be played over again on grounds for which we were in no way to blame, we were again sent to London for a single game. We went both times without any kicking about lack of funds, although in both cases the members of the team had to pay the bulk of the expenses out of their own pockets. In carrying out the schedule last year we travelled 940 miles with double hotel expenses, while London travelled altogether only 260 miles. Surely we are not unfair when we say that this year's final, when between the same two clubs, should be played in Peterborough.

If the Torontos had not defaulted the semi-final there would have been some reason for ordering home and home games between us, but in view of this default we strongly urge that the Executive ought to change its decision and order a single game in Peterborough. We are not such poor sports, as, like London, to ask for favoured treatment to help us out financially, but it is a little too much to ask our club to go to very heavy expense to help out of the hole the dirtiest team in the country. We ask that you call a meeting of the Executive at the earliest possible date, and have this matter reconsidered.

Letter from the Torontos.

Mr. R. H. Joyce, secretary of the Toronto Rugby Club, in writing to the locals, regarding their default, says:

"We have not by any means had a good season here. We started out with a fair team and good prospects, but one game will not keep interest alive for a month, and that, coupled with heavy expenses, has settled our fate. . . . . So we are in no condition, financially or otherwise. Had we even a fighting chance of winning we would go, but with a scrub team it would be folly.

"Personally it is a matter of deepest regret to myself and others of our club who have worked hard and faithfully, and at our own expense have tried to keep things going, and to meet with failure is the hardest crack of all. Please convey to your committee and officers our sincere regrets."

Free Kicks.

Mr. "Towser" Campbell, formerly of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, and now of Simcoe, is distinguishing himself in Rugby circles in Western Ontario. "Towser" is playing centre scrimmage for the Simcoe fifteen and reports say that he is marking his man in fine style.

GOLF.

A new regulation was passed at the last meeting of the executive committee of the Golf Club superseding its former regulation respecting the selection of teams to represent the club. Instead of having a team-list as heretofore subject to challenge by other members of the club, the new plan simply requires that those wishing to qualify for foreign matches shall put duly authenticated cards (medal play) into the box at the club house. The captain shall on the occasion of selecting a team, go over these cards considering only those not more than one month old from date of play. The team players shall, for the proposed match, be chosen from the best cards as many as may be required and shall play in the order of the record.

This new rule makes the plan of selecting a team both simple and just, and will do away with all causes of complaint. The committee was aided in its deliberations by a large number both of Seniors and Colts, all of whom signified their hearty approval. The regulation comes into force at once, but will not in all probability come into active operation till next season.

The King's Birthday will be a field day on the links, and it is to be hoped that as many members as possible will take part in the competitions which will take place. An entrance fee of one ball admits a member into the whole list of events. In the morning the driving, cleeking and approaching and putting competitions will take place, and in the afternoon there will be medal play, and many prizes will be offered for the best net and gross scores. Dinner will be served at the Club House.

A match of considerable importance will take place on the links one day next week between gentlemen of the club who play the game simply from the stand-point of "a round on the links." They classify themselves as "Duffers and Bluffers." Eight members have already enrolled and as a supper will take place at the club house after the match the success of the competition is assured. The "Stars" vs. Colts have had their respective innings, now it is time for the "D. and B." to have theirs. The supper will be provided by the Webb of Peterborough—Mr. Long.

Dr. D. C. King appears to be going into the dog business quite heavily. He has wired an offer for two more Great Danes to Des Moines, and yesterday purchased the Scottie "Sunflower" from the Nonpay Kennels.

RULES OF A MONTANA HOTEL.

In a little mining town up in Montana there is a hotel in which there is posted a notice to guests which reads as follows:

READ THIS.

Guests of this hotel will please bear it in mind that we will not be responsible for either their lives or their property. There are places convenient where valuables may be deposited for safe-keeping, and where life and accident policies may be secured.

Guests are requested to use proper care and caution when shooting at each other in the dining room, as a reckless discharging of firearms is liable to result in the unnecessary killing of innocent and unsuspecting parties.

Guests will be expected to pay for whatever tablewear they break in throwing at one another. This rule will be insisted upon.

If guests have any complaint to make regarding the conduct of waiters, they will please not come to us about it. The waiters carry pistols, and are supposed to know how to use them, and they will settle all their own difficulties.

Guests must not put their feet on the tables, especially if ladies are present. The act may be harmless enough, but there are fastidious people who object to it, and we are here to cater to the highest and most refined class of society.

Guests who are not willing to sleep in the same bed with another guest need not stop at this hotel. We do not care for the patronage of people who want the earth, with the moon thrown in, for one dollar.

This hotel positively will not bear any part of the funeral expenses of people who get killed while stopping here—not even of those we are forced to shoot in the interests of society and good order.

Guests wishing to attract the attention of a waiter are requested to call or whistle for him. This is better than shooting him through the ear or nose and, besides, it will save funeral expenses.

The public will bear in mind that this is no cheap house, but that it is a first-class, high-toned hotel. Therefore guests are expected to conduct themselves in a gentlemanly, wellbred manner. This will be strictly insisted on, even if it be necessary to resort to the use of our guns.—Harper's Bazaar.

That weak, tired condition will soon change by the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills; 50 doses 25 cents. Sold by W. Madill.

No Lie, After All.

They were telling fish stories, and at last the tall, lank man on the cracker barrel said:

"I went down to the river this morning, and, although the water was high almost to a flood, I took a ten foot pike"—

"Stop there!" exclaimed the fat man with the corncob pipe. "Tell us you took an eight pound trout, and I'll sit idly by. But a ten foot pike, never! Ananias died for less than that!"

"I took a ten foot pike pole," continued the unruffled tall, lank man on the cracker barrel, "and in less than five minutes I hooked out a fifteen foot bass"—

"See here! See here!" yelled the man who owned the grocery. "You'll have to go 'way from here to finish that lie! I hain't got no lightnin' rod on this store yit!"

"I hooked out a fifteen foot basswood log," persisted the tall, lank man, "and I want to ask how much you think I kin git for it."

OUR NORTH-WEST.

While the Conservative papers, says the Hamilton Times, have been scolding about the settlement of Galicians in the Northwest Territory, the Galicians have been working hard, adding to their wealth and proving their value as industrious and enterprising settlers, soon to be transformed into first-class Canadians. One of these days we may expect to see the Tory guns turned upon immigrants from the United States. Mr. Andrew Graham, of Pomeroy, has been travelling through the Territories acting as judge on live stock at the Fairs, and he reports that the country is swarming with Americans who are there from every State in the Union the majority coming in over the Soo line; a good many proceeding north over the Prince Albert branch, but the larger number going west over the main line and along the Calgary and Edmonton branch. Mr. Graham says he talked to scores of Americans and did not meet a single individual that was not well pleased with the western country. These men say that Canadians do not half appreciate that district. Americans say that there is no other spot in North America where such lands are available on as favourable terms. They also state that the Dominion Government has agents all through the States who are doing good work in the way of pointing out the possibilities of the Northwest. Mr. Graham thinks that in the very near future we are going to get back a large portion of the numbers that flowed from Canada to the States in earlier years.

A WOMAN AND A WIRE

THE WOMAN WAS INQUISITIVE AND THE WIRE WAS A LIVE ONE.

She Caught It In Her Hands and It Only Tickled Her—Escaped With Her Life and Made a Pass About Her Soiled Palms.

The electrician was working upon a light socket. Every little while he would wet his finger and put it inside the socket. Then he would hastily take it out with the remark:

"It doesn't take long for a 110 voltage to find you."

While he was working on the socket he told a story. He gave as a reason for telling this story the following:

"A woman will get into worse places and come out less hurt than any man that ever lived."

While he let this assertion fix itself in the mind of his hearers he delivered himself of this story:

"I was working some time ago where we had a great many dangerous wires. Some carried a voltage of 500, some a voltage of 300 and some a voltage of 110. Many of the wires were so exposed that if they got loose from their fastenings and fell where people walked some one would surely be killed. I warned people about these wires, and I did my best to keep them firmly in place, but they should have been buried.

"One day I received a complaint notice that one of the main feed wires was out of order and needed immediate attention. No one knew where the trouble was, and I spent an hour locating it. At last I found it in a stretch of wire running through a semipublic hallway. In order to work freely and to get the trouble remedied as soon as possible I put a danger sign at each end of the hallway and then took the wire down from its fastenings. I was working, of course, with such tools as made it impossible for the wire to hurt me, unless I was very careless.

"I had been at work, I guess, fifteen minutes when a woman spoke to me. I looked up, and there, close to me, stood a woman about forty years of age. She had brushed by the danger sign without paying any attention to it. Of course, being a woman, that was all that could be expected of her. She was almost on top of a redhot sizzling live wire, and my heart jumped into my mouth. 'Madam,' I almost yelled, 'get out of here and keep close to the left wall when you go out.'

"'Young man,' said she, 'I'm not going out of here until I find Henry Brown. Where is he?'

"'Madam,' said I, 'I don't know Henry Brown, but you're standing over lightning and death this minute, and you get out of here.'

"'You are impudent,' said she.

"'I'm not,' said I, 'but for heaven's sake go somewhere else and find Henry Brown.'

"'Young man' said she, 'I'll stay here all night if you don't find Henry Brown for me.'

"Well, there I was. I had that wire in hand and an obstinate old woman standing over me, and I didn't know what minute she might get hold of that wire. I thought very quick, and then I said to her, 'If you go out into that other hall and wait there five minutes until I get done with this wire, I'll see if I can find Henry Brown for you.'

"This seemed to satisfy her, and she started for the hall, while I resumed my work. I did not look at her, but it appears that she was about half way out of my hall when she noticed this electric wire and deliberately stooped and picked it up in her hand. I did not even know that she had done this until I suddenly heard her say:

"'My, this tickles me.'

"I looked up, and there that old lady stood fooling with that wire and smiling as if she had a pet dog in her hands. I couldn't yell at her. Why she didn't instantly drop dead I don't know and never will know. I tried to scream, but something stuck in my throat, and I could only gasp and look at her. Finally she dropped the wire and walked into the other hall. An instant later she called to me:

"'Young man, I've got black lines on my hand from your dirty old wire.'

"I just shoved the wire up into its regular position, where it could harm no one who let it alone, and I went out into the other hall and said to the old lady:

"'Do you know that you ought to be dead this minute?'

"'No more of your impudence, young man,' said she. 'You just look at my hands and remember that I am going to sue your company for damages.'

"She held up the palms of both her hands, and the wire had burned the skin so quick and so sure as to leave three or four black lines. I said to the woman:

"'That is not dirt, madam. You have been burned by an electric wire having 500 voltage, and those marks are dead skin. You will probably carry them as long as you live. Didn't the wire hurt you?'

"'Didn't hurt me a bit,' said she, beginning to look a little scared. 'It just made me feel as if somebody was tickling me. I don't know a live wire from a dead one.'

"I took her down to the office of the company, and they found Henry Brown for her, and it seems that he was her nephew. She told him about her experience with the wire, and he looked mighty troubled. Before she went away I thought to ask her:

"'Do you wear rubber heels, madam?'

"'You young seambox,' said she, 'I suppose you would like to look. No, I don't wear rubber heels nor iron heels.'

"I have often wondered since what protected that woman from being killed at that time."

Tendency of Catarrh is to Spread.

Just a slight matter at first, and because slight, neglected; but the seed sown brings forth a dangerous harvest, Consumption, which is the harvest of death. Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic antiseptic that relives at once, clears the nasal passages, and restores lost sense of taste and smell. The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical, so prompt and efficient. Cure is certain and permanent if you use Catarrhozone. Price $1. Small sizes 25c., at Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston Ont.

Don't Drink During Meals.

Be careful to limit the amount of water and fluids which you take during meals, since large quantities of these, especially ice water, hinder digestion. Not more than one glass of water should be taken during each meal. In order to quench the thirst which is so apt to clamor for water at meals an eminent authority suggests taking a glass of hot water fifteen or thirty minutes before meals. This acts especially well in the morning, as it cleanses the stomach.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A good friend is one's nearest relation. One's greatest relation is not always a good friend.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A TEACHER'S WORRIES

From the Review, Windsor, Ont.

Only those engaged in the teaching profession realize how much care, worry and perplexity is met with daily. It is therefore little wonder that there are so many health breakdowns, especially among young ladies who follow this calling. Miss Christine Pare, of Ojibway, Ont., is one who has suffered much in this respect. To a reporter of the Windsor Review, Miss Pare said: "For several years, while teaching school, I was continually troubled with headaches, dizziness and a weak back. I tried several doctors and medicines, but got no relief. I became so badly run down that I thought possibly a change of employment would give me relief. I gave up my school and tried other duties, but the result was disappointing as the trouble seemed to have taken a firm hold upon me. The headaches grew more and more severe, my appetite failed me and I was frequently compelled to take a rest in order to overcome dizziness. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to try a box, and before they were all used I found much relief. I continued taking the pills for some time longer, every day gaining new health and strength, and now, I feel as well as ever I did in my life, and am never bothered with the old troubles. You may say therefore that there is nothing I can recommend so highly as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Young girls who are pale and weak, who suffer from backaches, headaches, loss of appetite, palpitation of the heart, and other symptoms that overcome so many in early womanhood, will find a certain and speedy cure in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make rich, red blood, strengthen the nerves, and give new life and vigour to the whole body. The genuine bear the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers on by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The License Investigation.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—At Stoney Creek yesterday morning Chief Inspector Stewart of Toronto continued the investigation into the charges preferred against License Inspector Macklem of South Wentworth.

At the afternoon's session Commissioners Smith and Stewart both declared Inspector Macklem to be a competent officer, whose work they were satisfied with.

Prince Murat Dead.

Paris, Oct. 25.—Prince Joachim Murat died yesterday at his chateau at Chambly. General Prince Joachim Napoleon Murat was born at Bordentown, N. J., on July 21, 1834. He was the eldest son of Prince Napoleon Lucien Charles, who died in 1878, and was the grandson of the King of Naples. The mother of the deceased prince was Caroline Georgina, daughter of Thomas Frazer of Bordentown, N. J. She died in 1879.

FRIEND INDEED.

Advice That Led a Poor Sufferer to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many is the poor dyspeptic that has been happily led to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through the advice of a friend. Never was better advice ever tendered one friend by another.

Those who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, who have experienced their wonderful power over Indigestion and all Troubles of the Stomach, should feel it their duty when they meet some poor sufferer who is going through the misery they, thanks to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, have escaped, to put him in the way of finding relief from his affliction. Tell him what cured you. Tell him about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. You know what they did for you. They will do the same for him. It costs you nothing to tell him and it will mean the restoring of him to happiness.

Thousands and thousands of people have been induced to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through reading the testimony of some grateful convalescent in the papers. But far more have been first introduced to the knowledge of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through the kind offices of some friend. Therefore, you who know the value of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tell your friends about them. "Through the advice of a friend," writes Mrs. Amanda Guimond, Grand Metis, Que., "who told me to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet, I found a cure for my Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles which had troubled me for years. I bought a box and had not taken them all before I felt ever so much better. I have now taken three boxes and am cured. You may publish this so as to help others and I certainly will let all my friends know about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Henry Ward Beecher's Wit.

On one occasion as Mr. Beecher was in the midst of an impassioned speech some one attempted to interrupt him by suddenly crowing like a cock. The orator, however, was equal to the occasion. He stopped, listened till the crowing ceased, and then, with a look of surprise, pulled out his watch. "Morning already!" he said. "My watch is only at 10. But there can be no mistake about it. The instincts of the lower animals are infallible."

There was a roar of laughter. The "lower animals" in the gallery collapsed, and Mr. Beecher was able to resume as if nothing had occurred.

RIB THROUGH HIS LUNG.

Mr. Honeywell Fell From a Barn Left to Death—Manitoba's Wheat Is Little Damaged.

Count von Moltke of Berlin has gone to the United States to study the transportation system.

There is no foundation for the story that the Crown Prince of Germany will visit the United States next spring.

Mrs. Margaret White, aged 50, and Aldroney Snow, aged 50 years, were burned to death at Gloucester, Mass., on Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Ann Wiltshire, wife of Mr. William Wiltshire of London East, Ont., committed suicide Thursday morning by taking poison.

The Manitoba Government harvest report to be issued shortly will show that there has been little damage in the quality of the wheat outside of the Red River Valley.

W. F. Luxton, for many years editor of The Manitoba Free Press, and recently editor and manager of The St. Paul Globe, will return to Winnipeg to reside Nov. 1.

The writ for the bye-election in East Kent has been issued. The nomination will take place on Nov. 4, and the election on Nov. 11. This is the seat held by the late Robert Ferguson.

The third International Congress on Weights and Measures, sitting at Paris, has solved the delicate problem of the precise determination of the kilogram and has broached the important commercial question of the numeration of yarns.

The 36th annual convention of Ontario Sabbath School Workers, which has been in session for the past three days in the Metropolitan Church, was concluded Thursday evening. This convention was probably the most successful in the history of the association.

Mr. Honeywell, a well-known resident of Haldimand Township, on Thursday fell out of the loft to the ground floor and received injuries from which he died about three hours later. Several ribs were broken, and one rib was driven into the lung. His skull was also fractured. Deceased was 74 years of age.

In This Locality.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefitted and cured by their use? Certainly not. One pill a dose. 25c a box.

An Old Indian Drum.

The Sioux Indians formerly had a conjurer's drum, which they called wakanchanchagha. It was used on religious and ceremonial occasions, had two heads, frequently decorated with crude pictures of animals, and was beaten with great vigor for the purpose of appeasing the wrath of their offended deities or of contributing to the recovery of the sick.

The Waters of the Ocean.

It has been computed by geographers that if the sea were emptied of its waters and all the rivers of the earth were to pour their present floods into the vacant space, allowing nothing for evaporation, 40,000 years would be required to bring the water of the ocean up to its present level.

Orderly.

Mr. Frontpew—I am glad you belong to our church choir, my dear; it is such an orderly organization. I never see you whispering to one another during services.

Mrs. Frontpew—No; none of us are on speaking terms.

No Hitch.

Mr. Goops—Wasn't there some kind of a hitch about the wedding of Mr. Spooneigh and Miss Mooney?

Mr. Woops—No. The groom did not show up, and so there wasn't any hitch at all.

Absorbent to Collect Dust.

A German absorbent collecting dust in sweeping is made by mixing 12 parts by weight of mineral sperm oil with 88 parts of Roman or Portland cement, a few drops of mirbane oil being added. The greasy, sandy mass retains the dust of the surface being cleaned, preventing the rising of the particles, and it may be used repeatedly.

FOR ENGLAND AT DAYLIGHT.

Amid Frequent Showers Royal Program at St. John's Gone Through With—Newfoundland Dog for Children.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 25.—The program of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York was carried out yesterday amid frequent rain showers. The royal party landed at 11 o'clock, not any of them wearing uniforms, and drove to the Government House under an escort of mounted police, through streets lined with sailors and marines from the fleet. At the Government House, Sir William White, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, presented an address of welcome, to which the Duke replied in suitable terms.

The Governor of Newfoundland, Sir Cavendish Boyle, then presented the people's gifts, two splendid caribou heads, mounted for the Duke, and two albums containing photographs of native scenery for the Duchess.

The Duke, later, laid the commemorative stone of the new court house, and then children, numbering 6,500, in the rink presented the Duke and Duchess with a Newfoundland dog, harness and cart for the royal children. The Duke thanked them.

The only function during the afternoon was a reception by the Duke and Duchess in Government House, which was attended by about 500 persons. When the affair was partly over, it was suspended for a time, as the Duchess became somewhat faint in consequence, it is understood, of her condition. The reception closed at ten minutes past four.

The royal party then drove to the dock and went on board the Ophir, where the Duke and Duchess rested for a few hours, returning at eight o'clock to attend the state banquet at Government House, and to drive through the city at 10 o'clock for a view of the illuminations, which, as the weather had improved, were general.

At 11 o'clock the Duke and Duchess returned to the Ophir, which will sail for England at daylight to-day.

Chaplain's Body Found.

Halifax, Oct. 25.—The dead body of Chaplain Black of H. M. S. Charybdis has been found in the woods at St. John's, Nfld. There were two bullet holes in his head, and a revolver firmly grasped in his right hand.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

A Clever Editor.

We can tell a circus man as far as we can see him. He has a sort of careless air that cannot be mistaken.

We can also tell married women from unmarried women. We don't know why, but we can do it. Put one married woman in a crowd of a hundred girls, and we can pick her out. Or put one girl with a crowd of a hundred married women all about the same age, and we can pick her out. We'll bet on it.

Another thing we can do. We can tell the time at any hour of the day or night. If we awaken at night, we can tell exactly what time it is. We don't know why we can do it, but we can.

WHEN SHE COMES HOME.

When she comes home again, a thousand ways
I fashion, to myself, the tenderness
Of my glad welcome. Shall I trouble—yes,
And touch her, as when first in the old days
Granted her girlish hand her deed upraise
Mine eyes, such was my faint heart's surest dress.

Then silence, and the perfume of her dress;
The room will sway a little, and a haze
May eyesight—cool night, even—for a space,
And tears—yes? And the calm there in the throat
To know that I at all deserve the place
Her arms make for me, and the sobbing note
Stay with kisses are the tearful face
Again is hidden in the old embrace.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A WILD RIDE

It Was Made by a Veteran Engineer and a Fireman.

It was in Colorado, on one of the wildest and roughest railroads I know of.

I was fireman on 67, which was used in the passenger service. She had the largest drivers on the road, and they only measured forty-eight inches in diameter. Matt Irwin was the engineer.

Sixty-seven had just been housed after a run. I was filling the oil cans and Matt was hauling off his overalls when Mr. Fox, the superintendent, climbed into the cab.

After a few commonplace remarks he said abruptly:

"Matt, there's been a big mistake made in the higher offices—but that is not for us to criticise—and there is but one way to rectify it."

Here the superintendent's voice dropped to a whisper. "One hundred and fifty thousand dollars in gold has got to be in B—— before midnight, to connect with the eastern express, and you are the man selected to take it through."

Old Matt showed his astonishment with his eyes, but never opened his mouth.

The superintendent merely glanced at me and, turning to Matt, continued:

"A lone engine might create suspicion, so we'll make up a wild freight. They'll all be empties. Back down to the office before you couple on, and we'll put the safe under the coal in the tender."

That was all. He jumped off and disappeared.

For some time Matt and I sat staring at each other. Then he slid off his seat and said:

"This won't do! Supper, Harry; supper! We haven't much time to lose. It only lacks a few minutes of 6. Be back before the quarter."

The wind was whistling among the cars, whisking the dust and papers about, while in the south a big black cloud was coming up, resplendent with chain lightning. Altogether the night promised to be unusually bad.

I was back on time, but Matt was there before me. He had lighted the shaded steam gauge lamp and stood scanning a small piece of pasteboard.

"What do you make of this, Harry?" he asked as I climbed up beside him. "I found it pinned to my cushion."

On it was scrawled with a lead pencil the words:

Danger! Don't pull the wild freight to-night if you value your lives. A True Friend.

"I make it that some one beside the superintendent and us knows of it," I replied, the cold shivers beginning to chase each other up my spinal column. "There's danger ahead!"

"Aye, there is danger ahead, my boy." And old Matt spoke softer than I had ever heard him before. "If you want to"—

"I'll go where you lead," I replied quickly, knowing what he was going to say.

"Then we'll go through if it takes the wheels out from under! Ring up the wipers!"

And, without waiting for the hostler to run the engine out, old Matt backed her on to the turntable, where the wipers swung her around, and then we backed down to the office, where four trusty men from the square said under the coal.

A few minutes later we were coupled on to a half dozen empty freight cars and a caboose.

"There's your orders!" cried Jimmy O'Connor, the conductor, shoving up the yellow sheet of tissue paper.

Old Matt looked them over, and we began to move out of town.

"We've got a clear track," he said, looking across at me, and then he drew up the corners of his mouth, and I looked for a quick run.

Before we reached the outskirts of the town the rain began to come down in a perfect deluge.

Great drops fell, mixed with hail, and in such quantity that the dry drains were soon transformed into raging creeks.

The wind howled and shrieked above the rumble of the train and threatened to lift 67 off the rails. When the telegraph poles began to snap off, Matt's face began to lengthen.

"Good night for wash overs," he said, "and wash overs are as bad as washouts!"

It was all down grade, and all the steam used was to run the air pump. I had only to keep the fire alive.

Eight miles down we ran past a small station where a freight train was side tracked. It had perhaps a dozen cars.

Just before we reached it I saw a man dart in between two of the cars to escape the headlight.

I thought him either a trainman or a tramp, but have since changed my mind.

We were half way down the Haversack grade, with a straight stretch of track and a long curve before us, when Matt looked across and said:

"I'm afraid the little pasteboard was only a scare. If"—

There was a flash of light behind, the rattle of coal and Bob Duncan, the forward brakeman, stood in the cab.

His face was as white as a sheet.

"Shut her down—shut her down, for heaven's sake!" he shouted. "A freight's broke loose and is coming down the grade two miles a minute!"

Before you could snap your fingers my face was as pale as Bob's.

Matt Irwin never lost his head and with a coolness that comes to few men in time of danger he asked, "How do you know?"

"Seen her by a flash of lightning. O'Connor and Billy have jumped!"

And then he swung out on the step and disappeared.

"Jump if you want to, Harry," called old Matt. "I'm going to stick to her."

"Keep your eye peeled for her," he cried, and commenced to let 67 out.

"There she is!" I shouted.

And there it was, sure enough. It had just come out of a cut. One of he boxes was on fire, the flame streaming back half a car length and cutting through the air like a meteor.

"She's four miles behind," said old Matt, "and coming four feet to our one. If we can get around the curve, there's a show of her jumping."

And then began that terrible ride.

He hooked 67 up to the first notch and then opened the throttle.

With seven cars behind us we shot down the grade of 175 feet to the mile.

Sixty-seven set low in her frame, but every low joint rung her bell for an eighth of a mile. She jumped and swayed and threatened to leave the rails. The wind shrieked around us like a thousand demons, and the rain poured against the windows in a perfect stream.

"There's danger ahead and death behind!" shouted the old engineer. "If the rain loosens a bowlder and drops it on the track"—

I shuddered. There was a blasted pine that marked the curve. The next second we reached it. For a moment I thought it was all over. Then 67 righted. There was a sharp jerk. We forged ahead faster, and our seven cars cleared the roadbed and went down the bluff with a crash that was heard high above the storm, leaving a clean track for the runaway behind that was coming as swift and sure as death.

If the runaway got around the curve, the probabilities were that we would be knocked from the track into the river.

We were very near to the bottom now, where the roadbed followed the river, and the engineers were cautioned not to run over fifteen miles per hour.

But orders were not respected that night. We were making thirty miles per hour when a flash of lightning showed me that dark string of cars coming around the curve. The blazing box was on the opposite side and invisible.

Old Matt gave 67 the steam so suddenly she seemed to jump from under us, but the runaway was not more than half a mile behind and was coming with the speed of a tornado.

There was no getting out of the way. In a moment it would be on us. I imagined I could see the black mass coming down on us in the darkness, when a heavy rumble was heard, followed by a tremendous crash.

The rain had loosened the rock and dirt overhanging the track and it only needed the jar of 67 to set it in motion.

Something like 1,000 tons of debris rolled on to the track directly behind us, and into this those runaway cars plunged.

But we did not find this out until afterward. Matt kept 67 up to what was a tremendous speed on that track. She plunged and rolled and rang her bell continuously. A dozen times I thought we were going into the river.

We pulled through all right, but that was my last trip. When I got off the engine, my hair was streaked with gray and now it is white as snow.

For some time it was thought that the runaway cars had broken loose, but the company became suspicious and had the case looked into, with the result of running down some tough characters, who finally confessed to cutting them loose with the intention of ditching us between Haversack grade and the bottom and securing the treasure.

Old Matt has retired from the road, but I do not think that either he or I shall ever forget the run of 67.

Few People Escape Piles

And Dr. Chase's Ointment is the Only Positive and Guaranteed Cure for This Tortering Disease.

There is usually very little satisfaction in consulting a physician regarding a case of piles. In nine cases out of ten he will recommend a surgical operation, forgetting, it may be, the risk, suffering and physical as well as financial expense which this treatment entails. For this reason very many people are going about in misery with piles, believing that they cannot be cured except by means of the surgeon's knife.

It is to such persons that this advertisement will bring good news of great value. Dr. Chase's Ointment has grown in popularity until to-day it is recognized the world over as the standard ointment for the cure of itching, burning skin diseases, and as absolutely the only preparation that can be relied upon to cure every form of piles.

It seems strange that anyone should suffer the wretched uneasiness and acute torture of burning, itching piles when it is so easy to procure Dr. Chase's Ointment. Nearly every dealer in medicine keeps Dr. Chase's Ointment, and you can apply it at home without any inconvenience. The first application is usually sufficient to put an end to the itching, and it is rarely that more than one box is required to make a thorough cure.

Mr. F. Stokes, 116 Dunlop street, Barrie, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with blind, itching piles for years, and could get nothing to stop the constant itching. I was always in pain until a friend of mine told me of the wonderful cures Dr. Chase's Ointment had made among his acquaintances.

"I only used one box, and am entirely cured. In gratitude for this marvellous cure, and for the benefit of others suffering as I did, I send you this record of my case."

Mr. Geo. A. Booth, of Trenton, Ont., writes:—"This is to certify that Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me of itching piles from which I suffered for two years in spite of all the remedies I used and which failed to cure me."

Hosts of cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has actually cured serious and long-standing cases of piles have been reported in the Canadian press. Should you want to know more about it ask your druggist or your neighbour. There are few people in Canada who are not familiar with the record of this famous preparation. If your dealer does not have Dr. Chase's Ointment in stock it will be sent post-paid on receipt of price, 60 cts. a box, by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

Young Men as Authors.

Keats was dead when just a little over his twenty-fifth year. Shelley wrote "Queen Mab" at twenty and the "Prometheus Unbound" and the "Ode to the West Wind" at twenty-six. Byron startled the town with "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers" at twenty-one and at twenty-four "woke up and found himself famous" by the publication of "Childe Harold." Burns was but twenty-seven when he was the lion of the season in Edinburgh. Campbell published his "Pleasures of Hope" at twenty-two. Chatterton was not eighteen when he finished his life's work. The great Shakespeare himself was famous when little more than a youth, and the same is true of the Shakespeare of France, Victor Hugo. And Goethe, by the bye, was known to all Europe at twenty-four.

Scott, on the other hand, was more leisurely. He made no serious effort as an author till he was over thirty, and he was over forty when "Waverley" was given to the world. And Thackeray also was verging on twoscore before "Vanity Fair" established his reputation.—Critic.

year. These coats are made of heavy fawn colored cloth, fitted in the back with straight fronts and cape collars fancifully stitched. Usually there is a wide black silk tie or a fall of lace at the throat. Fortunately women are learning at last the important fact that no matter how smart the wrap a woman never looks well if she is not warmly clothed. Consequently even the lighter weight coats are warmly and luxuriously lined.

Bits of color are introduced into the most somber garments by the addition of large and beautifully worked buttons of metal.

Here is a neat tailor made suit useful for traveling and morning wear. The material is dark blue cheviot trimmed with stitched bands of the same. The jacket is cut with scalloped edges and has a short back barely reaching below the waist line. It is single breasted and has a bolero effect, given by a line of curved strapping. The upper half of the sleeves are ornamented with a chevron shaped strapping. The skirt is cut with a wide gored flounce laid in a multitude of tucks and headed by a stitched and strapped effect studded with smoked pearl buttons. The same kind of buttons serve to fasten the single breasted jacket.

Gunning For Ice Cream.

W. was an apprentice on board the battleship —— and, becoming tired of the service, went home when his time was up, remaining on shore about a year. The old desire to follow the sea returning, he enlisted at the Brooklyn navy yard, got sick and was sent to the Vermont. One scorching hot night at a reception on the receiving ship the ice cream failed to appear. Orderlies were sent through Brooklyn searching for some, but all failed to find so much as a pint.

In this predicament W. said he thought he might be able to get a few gallons and somehow or other did manage to do so. The gratitude of the wives of the officers was so keen that they exerted their combined influence in his behalf and actually obtained for him a warrant as gunner. He may not know much about gunnery, but he did know where to find ice cream when it was sorely needed. He rose to the occasion, and it is the man who does that that gets along.

What Motherhood Means

Motherhood means either happiness or misery. There is scant happiness for the mother, who in pain and weakness brings into the world a weakling babe which she can neither nurse nor nourish.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription fits women for motherhood. It strengthens the maternal organism. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and brings refreshing sleep. It makes the birth hour practically painless and gives the mother the nourishment to give her child.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"Words cannot express how grateful I am for your kind advice and your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. D. S. Barricks, of Perrows, Campbell Co., Va. "I feel that it has cured me. I had been in poor health for four years. Suffered greatly with my right side, also with bearing-down pains, and my nerves were in a dreadful state. After using four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' I am now well. I am the mother of two children. With the first child I suffered twenty-eight hours, and with the second I used your medicine and was sick only three hours. I believe Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to be the best medicine in the world for suffering females. I wish you great success, and hope that God will bless you in your noble work."

An Interesting Account of a Local Volunteer's Experience on the 2nd. Canadian Contingent—The Impressions he Gained.

(Lt. Robert Johnston, 45th Regiment)

CHAPTER VII.

I won't soon forget my first experience doing piquet duty in a palace horse-car in January. The train rushed wildly on as I mused in my solitude about things in general, past, present and future. My quarters were anything but congenial, and as the day wore slowly on, I fancied the sergeant's watch had jumped a cog or else the sun stood still. For hours I had been praying for night or Blucher—my relief. At last night did come, not because of the efficacy of my petitions, but as a matter of daily occurrence, and it was that dark I couldn't see anything. I fed the horses again and went to water them, but found there was about four or six inches of ice on the barrels. Everything completed, I thought to have a comfortable (?) snooze, and immediately began to construct a cot. An oat sack, half-full, served the purpose of a pillow, a broken bale of hay that of mattress, and an unbroken one for a blanket. For a time I couldn't sleep, not due to insomnia, but Jack Frost kept me in constant chills, notwithstanding the fact that I had one hundred and fifty pounds of covering over me. This may appear incredulous, but it is quite true, for I wouldn't dare tell one of them like that gentleman who went to the arctic regions and said it was so cold that he saw a jackass kick up its heels and they were frozen stiff in that position before he could get them down again.

Through a little effort, I was soon transported to Dreamland, but I thought that state was a cold one, for when I awoke my fingers, hands, feet and ears convinced me it was no lie. It was well-merited punishment for being asleep on duty. Never was I so cold before, and may I never be so again. I heard a sharp knock at the car door, and a voice enquired 'Are you dead in there?" It was my relief. I never said a word, but jumped out of the car with all the agility of a two-year-old, just to convince my interrogator that there was still a kick in the old soldier, but when I struck the ground I fancied both legs had abruptly snapped off at the knees, and I went away on my head in the ditch. How I recovered my feet is still a mystery. My limbs were so numb I could hardly walk, and as I passed a car on my way back to our sleeping quarters a poor fellow, somewhat cool like myself, enquired "Will you tell Sergeant D. to hurry up with our relief?" I endeavored to be courteous and answer in the affirmative, but never a word could I say, so he, kind-hearted boy that he was, told me to go to a place where I would doubtless be seen thawed out, but refused to follow his instructions, not caring to extract the frost too rapidly, and thinking a coal-stove's heat would be quite sufficient.

When I reached the coach the glow of the fuel in the stove assured there was a good heat, but I received this information through the senses of sight and smell, rather than of feeling, having burnt a portion off the tail of my coat.

This duty in the horse-car didn't come very often, and as it was the only duty we were required to perform, we had considerable time left at our disposal for sight seeing. Our coaches were not observation cars, but their occupants were careful observers, and it was little that escaped their view. All along the line of the Intercolonial Railway lumbering seems to be the principle occupation of the people. The forests were majestic, boundless and inexhaustible. Agriculture, too, is an important industry, and it occasioned no little surprise to observe the farmers leaving the stones in long, narrow, flat piles, over which machinery could pass without obstructions, instead of building them into fences. Telegraph poles along the I.C.R. were also held in position by heaps of stones neatly piled at their base. As a general thing the physical feature of the country vary little in a short distance, and what greeted our eyes was merely a repetition of forest, lake, city, town and plain. One day, however, we were confronted with a puzzle that baffled the wisest sage on board. It was an extensive plain, resembling a prarie, and was bounded on all sides by the horizon. There was no evidence that man had ever resided there, except for the numerous hay cocks and the hundred little barns that dotted it over like the ant-hills of the African veldt. There would be about forty of these on a hundred acres. Everybody strove to solve the mystery, but had to give it up. Some ventured the opinion that it was a dairy district, but I wanted to know where they kept their cattle or goats, or how far the milk maids had to travel to do their milking, for there was no human abode as far as the eye could reach. It was not till I was returning from England that I learned what it was. It is an expanse of country known as Tantamar Marsh, reputed to be one of the best hay-growing districts in the world. At every station along the line we were greeted with loud hurrahs, and even away out in the country the two-year-old, perched on a gate post, waved his cap or shook his little flat and shouted as we rushed madly on at the rate of thirty or forty miles an hour. Excitement and loyalty ran high. At the more important stopping places, large crowds would gather, even in the wee small hours to cheer us on our way, and bands played martial and exhilarating airs that infused new life and animation into our dormant sensibilities. Everywhere greetings of kindness and respect convinced us that those who remained at home bequeathed their good-will, wishing us God-speed and a safe return. Canadian hearts are loyal hearts where'er the light of day may be. It was a late hour on a Thursday night when we reached Halifax, and for this reason our staff decided that we should remain on board the cars till morning. I have often wondered since why we were not ordered to detrain at once, and have things made as unpleasant as possible, but it may be the officers were enjoying a champagne supper in the dining car, and didn't care to be molested in their revelry. In the early morning we arose, not from our slumbers, for such a thing had failed to make an appearance, and after breakfast began to unload our horses. The balmy sea breezes had made the atmosphere salubrious during the night, and the snow rapidly disappeared from the roofs of our cars. In the morning it was raining heavily, but the work of detraining went on uninterrupted, and those who were out first had the uncommon pleasure of standing by their horses till the last animal was unloaded, and moved off toward camp. The quarters assigned us were in Willow Park, the new exhibition grounds, about a mile or a mile and a half from the depot. No man was permitted to mount, and the mud being some inches deep, your frisky charger, as he pranced along, would splatter you with mud and water from head to heels. Of course, this was immaterial, and we didn't object so long as our officers were alright. These gentlemen, generally, enshrouded in waterproof coats, travelled by electric car, or if they preferred to save a nickel they had liberty to walk on the pavement. It would be something simply awful if they should get their feet wet or have their shoes splattered with mud. They were officers. Even though they did have this misfortune their two servants would only enjoy the sweet labour of restoring them to their former beautiful condition, but poor Tommy had to get the same lustre on his coarse-grained brogues by his own exertions, by the sweat of his own brow, or else receive a sharp "calling-down" by these what might from appearances correctly be termed over-grown babies called officers. No other synonym would so correctly express the idea of their utter helplessness. If they resent this insinuation then, they must admit that while on active service so far as ambition is concerned they acted as though they were completely dead, and nothing less than laziness itself personified. Just think of it! Could you possibly conceive of anything more ridiculous! A government sending what it supposes to be a man, a leader of men, to the threatre of war, and this leader who assumes to be omniscient and to command the respect of those under his supervision, is such a dismal failure or such a confirmed slouch that he can't buckle on his own sword—nay, he can hardly lace his own shoes without the assistance of his trustworthy servant, whom he considers far beneath him. When an officer is as helpless as this and unable to travel without being carefully guarded by no less than two servants, it is high time the government would leave such things at home in the nursery, under the watchful care of some good-natured old grandmother who could put them to bed before sunset and sing sweet soothing lullabies to gratify the childish whims. Let them remain there while their servants, who can look after themselves, don their badges, buckle on their swords, and launch out, ready to meet the inevitable, filled with the determination that says and believes it will overcome every obstacle in the path of duty. Our officers were certainly men, but because they permitted themselves to be so influenced by s...y regulations, so pampered and nursed as it were, they brought themselves into ill-repute among the men. We want no feather-bed soldiers on active service. We can tolerate them in the barracks at home, but we have neither use nor place for them when a nation's honour is at stake. We want men, not puny infants, to command. What better is an officer than an man that he should receive special comforts, sleeping beds, and luxuries, when he is like his men, only doing his duty. "England expects every man to do his duty," so read Nelson's immortal motto, and England's motto remains unchanged. Our officers were not the slightest particle better than they believed themselves to be. With few exceptions, they were a mass of pride and arrogance, domineering over everybody and everything as though they were sovereign lords of all creation with a mortgage on heaven. This reaveled itself and became more oppressive daily, but in justice to all I must say, we each had all the self-conceit it was wise of the good Lord in his infinite wisdom to bestow upon us. It is no wonder at all to me that our caps wouldn't remain on our heads without being held in position by chin-straps, for the bump Self-esteem was so prominent, it was absolutely impossible. This is my theory, but it may not be a correct solution. Why had we such an exalted opinion of ourselves? It was simply due to flattery, flattery, flattery. All along the line we were extolled for our imposing physiques, our courage, and many other things. Some of our admirers went even so far as to tell us we were the cream of the land, the flower of our population, etc., and not a few of us were foolish enough to believe it, just as though there were not thousands of men at home just as brave and just as good soldiers as the best of us. This feeling of self-sufficiency was largely infused and cultivated by the hundreds of visitors who came up to Willow Park to see us in our pristine beauty. The quarters assigned to the troop of which I was a member of was the "Nova Scotia Fruit-Growers Association Hall." It was a commodious, well-lighted frame building, with many hygenic advantages unknown in some of those we had recently vacated. There were six coal-stoves burning day and night to keep the atmosphere congenial, but they were not always able to successfully perform this duty. The building was not intended for winter use, and being elevated on posts, the frigid breezes, as they swept beneath the floor, had every chance to make the temperature of the interior fall to an unpleasant degree. In general these quarters somewhat resemble those of Montreal, though they were not so cosy, for reasons assigned above.

MABEE AND THE PARTY.

Tells of His Relations With Mr. Whitney and the Conservative Organizers and Denies That He Ever Claimed Pecuniary Relations With Mr. Alex. Smith.

The stir created by the issue of Mr. Charles R. Mabee's campaign book entitled "Our Progress," and the fact that the Conservative papers are kept busy denying any connection between Mr. Mabee and the party, and explaining his former relations with Mr. Whitney and the Conservative organizers, seems to have created interest in the brochure all over Ontario. From the publishers' standpoint it is evidently a very attractive document, for by Monday evening the printers had received orders for 13,000 copies. These orders are still pouring in, although the compilation has been issued for only a few days. It is now expected that 60,000 copies of the book will have to be issued. Mr. Mabee does not seem to be at all disturbed over the criticisms in the Conservative press regarding his relations with the party managers. Yesterday he made an affidavit, which is given below, telling how he came to publish it and exactly what his relations were with Mr. Whitney and the Conservative Executive. As to the book itself, Mr. Alex. Smith, who has prepared literature for four general elections for the Liberal party, and whose accuracy of statement has never been impugned, expressed the following opinion in letters to friends in the various ridings:—

MR. ALEX. SMITH'S LTETER.

"Dear sir,—Mr. Mabee, a Conservative, has prepared an attractive document, showing why the Conservatives and others should not support Mr. Whitney. I have seen proofsheets of this work, and while it is not in the same style as literature we may get out, it is very attractive, indeed, and, I am sure, would be of good service if a couple of thousand copies were distributed in each of the constituencies.

"Mr. Mabee is handling this entirely of his own accord, but it is all right, and the price is reasonable. He asks $40 per thousand copies, and has made arrangements with the printers, Hunter, Rose & Co., Toronto, to have the purchasing done through orders to them, so that everything will be in proper form, and there need be no fear as to non-delivery of the book or the loss of any money.

"A considerable quantity of the material in the book has been read by some of our friends, and they say it will be a useful book to be distributed amongst the people generally. It is profusely illustrated, and brings out some points very nicely indeed.

"Mr. Mabee desires to handle this book entirely of his own accord, and he is doing it systematically and in a business-like way, and for that reason I am writing this letter so that you may know that the book is considered to be of service to us, and it is hoped our friends will give it a large circulation.

The whole financial responsibility in the publishing of the book is in the hands of the printers, and no member of the Liberal Association or party has assumed financial responsibility regarding the same, or paid either directly or indirectly any sum of money to Mr. Mabee in connection therewith. Mr. Mabee furnishes an affidavit to this effect, published herewith, as follows:—

MR MABEE'S AFFIDAVIT

Dominion of Canada, Province of Ontario, County of York. To Wit:

I, Charles Ralph Mabee, of the City of Toronto, in the County of York, publisher, do solemnly declare:

1. That I have read in The Toronto World of this date what purports to be an interview with Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, the President of the Ontario Conservative Association, in which Dr. Nesbitt is alleged to have stated that he had been told by Mr. A. W. Wright that I had stated to the said Wright that I could get all the money I wanted from Alexander Smith, and that I backed up my assertion by exhibiting a roll of bills. This statement bears the mark of untruth on its face, and I cannot credit that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt ever made it. If he did so, he has been deceived by Mr. Wright, as no such thing ever took place.

2. I have never received one dollar in any shape or form from Alexander Smith or from any other person in connection with the book just issued, nor do I expect to receive anything from anybody, except through the publishers on the sale of the book. And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously, believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada evidence act, 1893.

CHARLES RALPH MABEE.

Declared before me at the City of Toronto, in the County of York, this 23rd day of October, A.D., 1901.

Charles F. E. Evans-Lewis,
A Commissioner, etc.

RELATIONS WITH CONSERVATIVE LEADERS

From the following affidavit it will be seen that Mr. Mabee had a most intimate relationship with the several Conservative leaders, and that he was closeted with Mr. Whitney in his private rooms. Mr. Mabee, therefore, is in a position to know whereof he speaks:—

County of York. To Wit:

1. That on or about the 11th day of February, A.D., 1901, the Manager of a well-known publishing house in the City of Toronto handed me a letter, dated on the 9th of February, 1901, signed by J. P. Whitney, the leader of the Conservative party in Ontario, addressed to the said firm, in which Mr. Whitney stated that he had in his possession an American campaign book, and thought the idea for a similar book in Ontario a good one. The said letter is now shown to me and marked Exhibit "A" to this my declaration. At this time I had never met Mr. Whitney personally.

2. That on the 8th day of March, A.D., 1901, I received a letter signed by J. P. Whitney, addressed to myself, requesting me to come and see him with reference to the said book. The said letter letter is now shown to me and marked Exhibit "B" to this, my declaration.

3. In answer to said letter I went and interviewed the said Whitney in his private room in the Parliament buildings in the City of Toronto, when he told me that he was convinced that a publication issued in the interests of the Ontario Conservative party would be of material benefit to the party. He told me to go and see Dr. Pyne and J. J. Foy with reference to it, and to meet him again in his rooms in the Grosvenor House.

4. The following Sunday morning I had an interview with Dr. Pyne at his residence, and on Monday I had an interview with J. J. Foy in his office on Church street, in the City of Toronto. Both of these gentlemen coincided with Mr. Whitney's view of the matter.

WHAT MR. WHITNEY SAID.

5. After this I met Mr. Whitney at his room in the Geovenor House, and it was then decided to publish the book. The chief topic of discussion between us was whether the book should be sent out free or a charge made for it. Mr. Whitney inclined to the view that it should be issued to candidates free, and said that he thought it could be arranged with the Southam Publishing Syndicate to publish the book without any charge being made for it, as, in the event of the Conservatives coming into power in Ontario, this syndicate would have a monopoly of all the Government printing. He said that there were only two other Conservative printing houses in Toronto, and that one of them did not have large enough plant to do the work, and the other had the patronage of the City of Toronto, and should be satisfied with that.

6. I agreed to edit the book, and the Conservative organizers were to assist me and furnish portions of the material, which they did. Mr. Whitney deputed Mr. W. A. Wright to make the arrangements with the publishers. I prepared the material for the book, and when the proof sheets were handed to me I turned them over to the said Mr. Wright, who told me that he, in turn, handed them over to Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., Mr. Whitney, M. P. P., Mr. Foy, M.P.P., Dr. Pyne, M. P. P., and others. Finally Mr. Wright told me that the literature Committee had approved of the matter in the book, and had decided that it should be issued at once. Two letters were handed to me, signed by officers of the Conservative organization, stating that the matter had been read and approved of by Mr. Whitney and other leading members of the party, and I made a tour of the Province in connection with the said book.

THERE WAS GENERAL DISSATISFACTION.

7. I had often heard Mr. Whitney denounced by the officers of the Conservative organization and others in the headquarters of the Conservative party on King street, in the City of Toronto, for his conceit and total lack of political sagacity and business ability. When out in the Province nearly every Conservative with whom I came in contact expressed dissatisfaction with Mr. Whitney's leadership and the dictation of the Albany Club in Toronto. Several of the candidates said that if Mr. Whitney had not squandered the $76,000 in protests they might now have $1,000 each to aid them in the coming fight. Some had heard that the party headquarters in Toronto had been closed, and complained that when they went to the city there was no place to go for information, and that nobody ever came to see them in connection with the welfare of the party in the constituency. In one constituency six men had signed notes to raise part of the $76,000 spent in protests, and had not been reimbursed. Mismanagement was apparent everywhere, and lack of confidence in Whitney, Foy and the Albany Club was so evident that I felt confident that the Conservatives could not succeed under the present leadership, and that if by any chance the Liberal Government should be defeated the affairs of the Province with Whitney as Premier would be so grossly mismanaged that the Conservatives would be turned out at the end of four years, and the Liberals again returned to power, probably for another thirty years.

8. So, for the good of the Conservative party and the people of Ontario, I decided not to issue the book as proposed by Mr. Whitney, but to issue in its stead one that would have for its foundation the vantage ground of truth, and to which I could with confidence attach my name.

9. In addition to the letters above referred to, I have from time to time received other letters from Mr. Whitney and from other leading members of the Conservative party with reference to the publication which Mr. Whitney asked me to issue on his behalf.

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously, believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada evidence act, 1893.

(Signed) CHARLES RALPH MABEE.

MR. MABEE A CANADIAN.

The public now await the publication of the letter addressed to Conservative candidates by Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, recommending the above book. He has promised the letter to the press.

Mr. Mabee was born at Vittoria, in Norfolk County. He is a Conservative, and with the exception of a year or so, has all his life lived in Canada. In answer to a question Mr. Mabee says: "I have not a single relative who is a Grit."

The Khan on Marriage.

After a lengthy silence, The Khan has been heard from in a letter to the Hamilton Herald on the question of Why Old Bachelors Do Not Marry. He writes from Rushdale Farm, and the occasion of his letter was the discovery that in Wentworth County there is a tract of farming country in which nearly every farmer is a bachelor. "Marriage," he says, "is falling into disfavor because the age is irreverent."

"Everybody thinks it smart to get off a 'funny crack' at anything which in itself commands, and should command, the respect of all.

"Irreverence is undermining the church; irreverence is undermining the home; and when there is nothing left to revere—may the Lord have mercy on us all!

"Take the comic column of any popular paper, and all the so-called 'funny cracks,' or most of them, are levelled at the bride and bridegroom, a mother-in-law, an angry father, a smart brother, and all the impudent, sassy, lecherous, and smart gang that terrifies the man who would be married.

"Here is a sample joke:

"'Father: Old enough to know better.'

"The reader is supposed to laugh at that. As a matter of fact, it is an open insult to every decent girl in the community. It is a sneer at virtue and a jibe at God himself—He who instituted marriage.

"That is only a sample. Lying on my table as I write is a Sunday paper, and one-third of its so-called jokes are sneers at the marriage state.

"When a young fellow decides to get married he breaks the news to his friends apologetically. Why should he? Will some girl tell me why? Many a man has been married in secret rather than run the gauntlet; other men won't take the chance at all."

MRS. WHITE IS FREE

The Jurors Refused to Say That She Was Guilty.

A VERDICT OF "NOT GUILTY."

Before Foreman of Jury Said Final Words There Was Intense Suspense and Almost Oppressive Silence in the Court Room at Brantford—Affecting Greeting of Her Two Sons in Court.

Brantford, Oct. 28.—After a trial lasting all week, Mrs. Josephine White was late Saturday afternoon declared not guilty of the charge of poisoning her husband. The jury retired at 11.25 a. m., and were out of the courtroom until 4.02 p. m.

As the afternoon passed the expectation of a verdict of acquittal faded away, and the least anyone looked for was a disagreement of the jury. As the jurymen filed into their places there was an intense suspense and almost oppressive silence.

When the foreman announced the decision arrived at Mrs. White burst into tears, and as she stepped out of the dock to greet her two sons, the scene was an affecting one. She was immediately surrounded by a number of friends, who offered their congratulations on the result.

Mrs. White emerged from under the shadow that has hung over her during the past six months almost a nervous wreck. She has been subjected to an intense strain during the trial, and reaction has succeeded the tension.

The trial was a long and thorough one. There were many witnesses examined, and the opposing counsel exerted their best abilities in developing their cases. The addresses of the counsel were long and exhaustive. Mr. Heyd, K. C., for the defence, addressed the jury four hours, and Mr. Anglin's address occupied three hours and twenty minutes. His Lordship Justice Meredith, in summing up the case, spoke for two hours and forty minutes. His Lordship's charge was concluded at 11.25, and was an able and impartial view of the evidence.

This is the second poisoning trial here in six years, and in both cases, Mrs. White and Mrs. Hartly, the charge was not sustained.

VERY BRUTAL MURDER

Tobin Hansen, a Dane, Gives Himself Up as the Criminal.

CUT 12-YEAR-OLD BOY'S THROAT

The Awful Deed Was Done Near the Lad's Home—Murderer Followed His Victim and Deliberately Knocked Him Down in Order to Get the Few Cents the Child Had on Him.

Montreal, Oct. 28.—Tobie Hanson, a Dane, 24 years old, is locked up in the Westmount police cells for a brutal murder committed Saturday night. Hanson met a young lad about 12 years old, named Samuel Marrotte, the son of Samuel Marrotte, one of the best known citizens of Montreal, on the street near his father's home at Westmount. He followed the boy into some fields and then deliberately knocked him down and put an end to his life by cutting his throat. Hanson's explanation is that he wanted money, but all he got was a few cents, which the poor little lad had on him. Hanson, after killing the lad, threw his body on a high pile of stones and proceeded on his way. The boy's body was found a few hours afterwards, but nothing was known as to how he came by his death until this morning, when Hanson walked into Montreal police headquarters and gave himself up. He was handed over to Westmount police. Hanson stated he had only been in this country a few months and that he had worked for some months at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec.

WILL BE A MONSTER.

The Royal Chorus Entertainment in the Market Hall on Nov. 7th.

The grand Royal chorus concert which will take place in the Market Hall on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 7th, promises to be one of the biggest events of the season. The concert is being put on with the hearty co-operation of the citizens of the town, and the proceeds will be divided equally between the Children's Aid Society of the town of Peterborough and the "Regimental Colours Fund" of the 57th Regiment. In view of the very large attendance that will undoubtedly attend an affair of this kind, and in view that it is being held under such favourable auspices, the management of the Royal Chorus has deemed it advisable to procure the Market Hall for the occasion. The Peterborough section of the Royal Chorus, as it appeared in Toronto, was composed of 110 voices. For the entertainment that will be put on on the 7th the Chorus will be increased to 350 voices. The 57th Regimental Band will assist in the programme, which will consist of 15 numbers in all. There will be about 200 reserved seats, none of which will be marked. The non-commissioned officers of the 57th will, with their characteristic politeness, act as ushers.

The Royal Chorus will practice in the Oddfellows' Hall on Tuesday night. Two pianos will be used, the accompanists being Mrs. Mowat and Miss K. Hurley. The Chorus will practice regularly from this forward and a programme of rare excellence will be rendered.

Mr. Charles Stanley, of the Stanley Piano Company, has very kindly loaned the Chorus two of his elegant pianos for the rehearsals in the Oddfellows' Hall and also for the entertainment in the Market Hall. Undoubtedly a handsome sum will be realized by the undertaking.

MRS. WHITE IS FREE

The Jurors Refused to Say That She Was Guilty.

A VERDICT OF "NOT GUILTY."

Before Foreman of Jury Said Final Words There Was Intense Suspense and Almost Oppressive Silence in the Court Room at Brantford—Affecting Greeting of Her Two Sons in Court.

Brantford, Oct. 28.—After a trial lasting all week, Mrs. Josephine White was late Saturday afternoon declared not guilty of the charge of poisoning her husband. The jury retired at 11.25 a. m., and were out of the courtroom until 4.02 p. m.

As the afternoon passed the expectation of a verdict of acquittal faded away, and the least anyone looked for was a disagreement of the jury. As the jurymen filed into their places there was an intense suspense and almost oppressive silence.

When the foreman announced the decision arrived at Mrs. White burst into tears, and as she stepped out of the dock to greet her two sons, the scene was an affecting one. She was immediately surrounded by a number of friends, who offered their congratulations on the result.

Mrs. White emerged from under the shadow that has hung over her during the past six months almost a nervous wreck. She has been subjected to an intense strain during the trial, and reaction has succeeded the tension.

The trial was a long and thorough one. There were many witnesses examined, and the opposing counsel exerted their best abilities in developing their cases. The addresses of the counsel were long and exhaustive. Mr. Heyd, K. C., for the defence, addressed the jury four hours, and Mr. Aaglin's address occupied three hours and twenty minutes. His Lordship Justice Meredith, in summing up the case, spoke for two hours and forty minutes. His Lordship's charge was concluded at 11.25, and was an able and impartial view of the evidence.

This is the second poisoning trial here in six years, and in both cases, Mrs. White and Mrs. Hartly, the charge was not sustained.

Chili is Fighting Mood.

London, Oct. 28.—"The Chilian Government announced the mobilization of the army for the end of November ostensibly for manoeuvres," says a despatch to The Daily Mail from Buenos Ayres. "The Argentine fleet has been ordered to be provisioned and coaled and the sailors are working day and night. Three thousand manifestants have arrived."

Manchurian-Siberian Railway.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—According to a despatch to the Novoe Vreyna from Vladivostock, the Russian general, Grodekoff, accompanied by the Russian Assistant Minister of Finance, M. Romanoff, will soon open the Manchurian-Siberian Railway.

Three Killed by Train.

Milwaukee, Oct. 28.—Three persons were killed and one was seriously injured by a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train last night while driving over a grade crossing at Oakwood, near here.

VERY BRUTAL MURDER

Tobin Hansen, a Dane, Gives Himself Up as the Criminal.

CUT 12-YEAR-OLD BOY'S THROAT

The Awful Deed Was Done Near the Lad's Home—Murderer Followed His Victim and Deliberately Knocked Him Down in Order to Get the Few Cents the Child Had on Him.

Montreal, Oct. 28.—Tobie Hanson, a Dane, 24 years old, is locked up in the Westmount police cells for a brutal murder committed Saturday night. Hanson met a young lad about 12 years old, named Samuel Marrotte, the son of Samuel Marrotte, one of the best known citizens of Montreal, on the street near his father's home at Westmount. He followed the boy into some fields and then deliberately knocked him down and put an end to his life by cutting his throat. Hanson's explanation is that he wanted money, but all he got was a few cents, which the poor little lad had on him. Hanson, after killing the lad, threw his body on a high pile of stones and proceeded on his way. The boy's body was found a few hours afterwards, but nothing was known as to how he came by his death until this morning, when Hanson walked into Montreal police headquarters and gave himself up. He was handed over to Westmount police. Hanson stated he had only been in this country a few months and that he had worked for some months at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

Horse thieves are at work in Pickering and Whitby Townships.

Two cases of smallpox are reported in Kingsville, and several houses are said to be quarantined.

Twenty-three persons have been eaten by wolves, says The Neus Wiener Journal of Vienna, while working in the fields near Witebsk, Poland.

The death occurred on Saturday morning of Mr. James Grant, late clerk of the Township of London, and one of the best known citizens of London district, aged 60 years.

W. H. Gillard, head of the firm of Gillard & Co., wholesale grocers, Hamilton, died Friday night from apoplexy. He was in his usual health shortly before 8 o'clock.

On the second anniversary of the opening of the Stony Creek Battlefield Park on Saturday Alex. Muir of Toronto, author of "The Maple Leaf Forever" planted a maple tree.

A maniac ran amuck near Beechwood, a small settlement eight miles west of Iron River, Mich., Saturday, and as a result two persons besides himself are dead, and a fourth is dying.

At Niagara-on-the-Lake a large ice house, located in Paradise Grove, and owned by the Michigan Central Railway Company, was totally destroyed by fire about 8 o'clock Saturday night. Incendiary.

Two-year-old Josephine Marie McCollum choked to death on Saturday afternoon at the residence of her grandfather, Peter Freyseng, Toronto. The child's death followed quickly after that of her mother and father.

Arthur Burger of Toronto, his son Charles, aged 7, and John Figg, were injured in an exciting runaway accident on Sunday. Lord Minto, which Burger was driving, ran away, throwing them out. Burger is suffering from scalp wound and concussion and his son and Figg from painful bruises about the head and face. The horse was killed by striking a telegraph pole.

WILL BE A MONSTER.

The Royal Chorus Entertainment in the Market Hall on Nov. 7th.

The grand Royal chorus concert which will take place in the Market Hall on the evening of Thursday, Nov. 7th, promises to be one of the biggest events of the season. The concert is being put on with the hearty co-operation of the citizens of the town, and the proceeds will be divided equally between the Children's Aid Society of the town of Peterborough and the "Regimental Colours Fund" of the 57th Regiment. In view of the very large attendance that will undoubtedly attend an affair of this kind, and in view that it is being held under such favourable auspices, the management of the Royal Chorus has deemed it advisable to procure the Market Hall for the occasion. The Peterborough section of the Royal Chorus, as it appeared in Toronto, was composed of 110 voices. For the entertainment that will be put on on the 7th the Chorus will be increased to 150 voices. The 57th Regimental Band will assist in the programme, which will consist of 15 numbers in all. There will be about 200 reserved seats, none of which will be marked. The non-commissioned officers of the 57th will, with their characteristic politeness, act as ushers.

The Royal Chorus will practice in the Oddfellows' Hall on Tuesday night. Two pianos will be used, the accompanists being Mrs. Mowat and Miss K. Hurley. The Chorus will practice regularly from this forward and a programme of rare excellence will be rendered.

Mr. Charles Stanley, of the Stanley Piano Company, has very kindly loaned the Chorus two of his elegant pianos for the rehearsals in the Oddfellows' Hall and also for the entertainment in the Market Hall. Undoubtedly a handsome sum will be realized by the undertaking.

CANADA AND THE CLYDE.

Another milestone in the progress of Canada in industrial times is the shipment of Canadian pig-iron to the Clyde, the centre of great iron working industries. Glasgow commercial circles are commenting in the most favourable way upon the last shipment of 6,000 tons of Cape Breton pig-iron, which makes the total shipments to that point this season 18,400 tons. It wont be long before Canada will not only be providing all the iron and steel it needs, but will have a big surplus to send to other countries. In 1900 the imports of Canada in rails and railway supplies, other forms of iron and steel, and pig-iron amounted to nearly twenty millions of dollars. By furnishing our own steel rails and pig-iron and other forms of iron and steel we shall not only keep many millions of dollars in the country but will also give a large employment to labour and a great stimulus to the many industries that are beneficially affected by activity in any large producing enterprise. We have in unstinted abundance, the ores and the other requisits essential to making Canada the producer of not only her own iron and steel but a liberal supply to help meet the demands of the outside world. Taken in connection with our magnificent deposits of nickel our inexhaustible iron deposits open up untold possibilities for Canada in the matter of the nickel-steel industry.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Canada is gradually branching out. This year we have sent nearly 20,000 tons of pig iron to the Clyde, and now the Slater Shoe Company is to put its foot, or rather, shoes, on British soil. The company intends opening a number of branch shoe shops in Great Britain.

While ships are lying idle in New York harbour, unable to get cargoes on account of the shortage of the corn crop, the cry in Canada is that there is an unprecedented shortage of railway cars, which, of course, indicates, says the Brantford Expositor, that this favoured country has an abundance of produce to be moved to the seaboard. With lowered ocean freights, the farmers ought to get better prices for what they have to sell.

It is not at all probable that President Roosevelt, of the United States, will take any action in regard to the Boer appeal for intervention of the United States to put a stop to hostilities in South Africa. It might be good home politics to do something of the kind, but it would at the same time be bad international policy. He could not consistently interefere in opposition to Great Britain if he had in mind for one moment the part taken by that powar when the Spanish-American war broke out..

Advices from Great Britain are to the effect that the manufacturing establishments of the country are flooded with orders, and that industrial interests are in a prosperous and flourishing condition. The "effete" monarchy is not dead yet, and the "slow-going" Britishers have made a big financial success of an exposition, banking over half a million dollars to the good, while the "greatest nation on earth," with "the greatest exposition in creation," is said to be four million dollars "in the hole," with a prospect of litigation which will last much longer than the exposition itself.

THE STRIKE SETTLED

Deputy Minister of Labor at Valleyfield.

STRIKE ONE OF SYMPATHY.

Thierge, the Dismissed Man Who Went to Bury His Dead Child, and the Other Strikers Apologize and Return to Work—Settlement Effected on Sunday.

Valleyfield, Que., Oct. 28.—After several interviews with the company and the men the Deputy Minister of Labor held a meeting of the strikers in the Town Hall yesterday (Sunday), after which the dismissed man apologized to the foreman, who asked for his reinstatement, and the committee of strikers apologized to the manager of the company. The manager agreed to reinstate the dismissed employe and take back all the strikers without discrimination. The men have agreed to work overtime to make up the time lost on the strike, and provision is made to prevent strikes in the future.

The strike arose out of sympathy by the spinners for a fellow-workman named Thierge. This man, while on duty last week, was told that his child was dead. He asked leave to go home, but was requested by the foreman to wait until another man could be got to fill his place, so as to keep his machine in operation. Thierge would not wait, but went off and buried his dead child. After two days' absence he returned, and was informed that the foreman wanted to see him. He replied that if the foreman wanted him he knew where to find him. Thierge was then dismissed, and his fellow-workmen, being informed that it was on account of absenting himself to bury his child, at once quitted work out of sympathy. This was on Friday last, and the spinners refused to return unless Thierge is reinstated.

CLAIMS OF THE TERRITORIES.

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—A conference took place Saturday afternoon between several members of the Dominion Government and Premier Haultain and Hon. A. L. Sifton, representing the Government of the Northwest Territories. The Dominion Ministers present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Clifford Sifton and Hon. R. W. Scott. The object of the conference was to discuss in a general way the mission of Messrs. Haultain and Sifton to Ottawa, viz., to see whether it is not possible to improve the financial position of the Territories, either by granting an increased subsidy based upon the population or raising the Territories to the dignity of a Province. Either course would perhaps suit the Territorial Ministers, although Provincial autonomy has the preference, seeing that it conveys the control of the timber and mineral lands and also permits the exercise of borrowing powers. Saturday's talk between the Dominion and Territorial Ministers was a preliminary canter, so to speak, but during the next few days a sub-committee of the Cabinet and the two delegates from the west will earnestly deliberate upon the matter.

King Edward's Health.

London, Oct. 28.—Reynolds' weekly newspaper, an ardent pro-Boer sheet, is the first British paper to assert that King Edward is suffering from cancer of the throat. In yesterday's issue it declares that since His Majesty's accession three operations have been performed for the removal of papilloma of the left vocal chord, and that one was removed from the right vocal chord last week.

"Assistance was hastily summoned," says this journal, "as His Majesty was breathing with difficulty, and an immediate operation was performed. But it was regarded as only a temporary relief, the injured epithelum now having become a cancerous growth and serious developments are expected."

Killed While Hunting.

Montreal, Oct. 28.—News was received last night from Lachute, Argenteuil County, that Mr. J. W. Simpson, the former member for that county in the Quebec Legislature, had succumbed to an accidental gunshot wound. From what can be learned Mr. Simpson was out Saturday hunting with some friends, when one of his friend's gun was discharged and Mr. Simpson was wounded in the shoulder. Everything possible was done for him, but he lingered until yesterday afternoon, when he passed away. Mr. Simpson was 51 years old and was very popular.

Lineman Electrocuted.

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 28.—W. Dockings, a lineman of the British Columbia Electric Railway, while working on the wire from Gold Stream, which brings power to the city, on Saturday night was accidentally electrocuted, and was found the next morning dangling from a pole to which his dead body was attached by his belt. He was a resident of Victoria.

A Sour Stomach

Is Often the Real Cause of a Sour Temper.

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition, is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Johnston wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a fact which none may dispute that a sunny disposition more often results from a healthy digestion than from any other cause.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gasses, which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves, and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues," but how quickly all these disappear when appetite and digestion are restored!

Laxative medicines only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels and have no effect upon actual digestion of food.

The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate.

The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach trouble is because they contain in a pleasant concentrated tablet form all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says, "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life, should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself, and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigour to their daily use.

"From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal.

"I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction, which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous, but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

Sailing of the Antarctic.

London, Oct. 28.—Dr. Otto Nordenskjold's ship, the Antarctic, left Falmouth on Saturday for her eighteen months' voyage to the Antarctic Circle. She will call at Buenos Ayres, sailing thence almost due south of Cape Horn in the hope of reaching land on the Atlantic side of the Antarctic by Christmas. This is the first expedition to that particular region, and the results are awaited with interest by British geographers as coming from a practically unknown land. Zoologists especially are anxious to obtain data of the whales, seals, seabirds and possibly other living creatures.

The Volga Traffic Blocked.

London, Oct. 28.—A despatch from Odessa to The Times says the water of the Volga is falling at an alarming rate, and that there is no hope of getting the accumulated traffic through before the river is icebound. Several hundred steamers and barges are aground. Grave charges of mismanagement and corrupt practices have been made against the contractors and officials connected with the administration of the Volga waterway.

Gold Coinage of World.

Washington, Oct. 28.—A table prepared by the Director of the Mint shows that the coinage of gold for the world during the last calendar year was $354,936,497, a decrease from $466,110,614 for the preceding year. The coinage of silver was $177,011,902, an increase over the preceding year of $10,884,938.

Willie Sutton of Brockville Killed.

Brockville, Oct. 28.—A sad accident occurred here Saturday morning, by which an eight-year-old lad named Willie Sutton lost his life. He was riding on a loaded coal cart, and in some manner fell of the cart, his head striking the hub of the wheel in the descent. He died a few minutes afterwards.

BANKER ARRESTED.

Had Been Manager of the British North Americas Branch at Fredericton—

Trouble Due to a $6,000 Deposit.

Halifax, Oct. 28.—The arrest was made last night of a young banker, A. Harley, who 10 or 12 years ago came to Nova Scotia and entered the service of the Bank of British North America. His advancement in the bank was rapid, and a few years ago he was given the post of manager of the bank's branch at Fredericton.

A few days ago he was dismissed from his position. He went from Fredericton to Boston, and under instructions from the general manager of the bank it is stated that he was under detective surveillance while in that city. He managed, however, to elude his shadows, but on Friday night returned to Halifax, where his wife was. Last night with his wife he boarded the night express for Boston, but was arrested on a warrant two minutes before the departure of the train.

Some time ago a gentleman from Scotland, who was visiting Fredericton, deposited in the Bank of British North America there $6,000, receiving the regular deposit receipt therefore from the manager. The Scottish gentleman went to Montreal and recently presented his cheque to the British North America branch in that city for $6,000, but was told that there were no funds to his credit.

The bank's inspector immediately investigated the matter, with the result that the Fredericton manager was arrested. Subsequently, events were as stated above. It is supposed that Harley intended, after reaching Boston, to sail for England. It is probable that the matter will be quietly arranged to-day, and that no prosecution will result.

Tendency of Catarrh is to Spread.

Just a slight matter at first, and because slight, neglected; but the seed sown brings forth a dangerous harvest, Consumption, which is the harvest of death. Better spend a few moments each day inhaling Catarrhozone, an aromatic antiseptic that relives at once, clears the nasal passages, and restores lost sense of taste and smell. The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical, so prompt and efficient. Cure is certain and permanent if you use Catarrhozone. Price $1. Small sizes 25c., at Druggists or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Duke's Speeches.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 28. — The Duke's great tact, so frequently exhibited on his tour, was conspicuous here. His speech was admirable in its references to the fact that Newfoundland was an appanage of the British Crown before Australia was discovered, and to the fact that the men of Devon, who beat the Spanish Armada, learned their seamanship on the banks of Newfoundland. The speeches of the Duke of Cornwall have attracted universal admiration in British North America. They have always been contained within the limits of four pages of foolscap, written in a large, round, plain hand. They have been particularly noticeable as referring in felicitous phrase to the local history and particular environment of the various places at which they have been delivered.

The World Needs Nerve.

Needs it in business, in the study, in the household. Irritability, weakness, lack of strength—the blue feeling—why they just tell you that you lack nerve. You'll use Ferrozone? My! What an appetite you'll get. How quickly the colour will return to your cheeks, how buoyant you will feel. Work, of course you'll work, for you'll enjoy it. That is, if you will use Ferrozone. It gives nerve, strength, muscular endurance and invigorates the brain splendidly. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Czolgosz's Father's Message.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—The Associated Press is made the medium of the last message from the father of Leon F. Czolgosz, the condemned assassin, who will pay the penalty for his terrible crime in Auburn Prison next Tuesday morning. In an interview yesterday afternoon the elder Czolgosz was asked what he had to say finally to his unfortunate son.

The old man's eyes filled with tears as he replied: "Tell Leon that I hope that he may rest in peace; that he will become reconciled to God and will meet his end bravely. Tell him that as much as I and all of our family regret his most unhappy plight that we can do nothing to interfere; that he alone is responsible for his unfortunate position, and that he must meet his punishment as a consequence."

MORE BOERS SHOT.

Captured in Khaki, They Were Promptly Court-Martialled and Executed—

Theron West of Louw River.

London, Oct. 28.—The South African mail brings news that several Boers who were captured wearing khaki uniforms were court-martialled and shot. It seems also that Commandant Theron crossed the Cape Town lines, west of Louw River Station, Sept. 23.

Botha Rejoins Burger.

Newcastle, Natal, Oct. 27. — Commandant General Botha, with a small escort, has rejoined Schalk-Burger, whose movable Government is established to the westward of Amsterdam, guarded by 100 horsemen. Gen. Botha's forces have separated into small commandoes, which are operating in a rough, bushy country well adapted to Boer tactics. Several British columns are hunting them.

Chasing the Boers.

Matjesfontein, Cape Colony, Oct. 27.—Col. Scobell, after chasing the Boers under Commandant Smuts almost day and night for two weeks, eventually drove them to the north. Gen. Knox's column arrived at Beaufort West on Sunday to refit. It is now moving again. Commandant Scheepers, who was captured recently and taken to the hospital at Beaufort West, is progressing favorably.

Situation Has Improved.

Pretoria, Oct. 27.—Of late a number of young Cape rebels have taken the field in the western province, but most of them are unarmed. They roam about the desolate country in the west and northwest portions of the colony, doing little damage and taking good care to avoid the British columns. The situation in the Cape Colony has greatly improved.

"Please Do."

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—The North American's London correspondent says: I am told that General Kitchener, in a recent despatch to the War Office, reports the receipt from Generals Botha and Dewet of information saying that if any further executions of Boers took place they would shoot any of Kitchener's higher officers who were captured. Kitchener, it is reported, replied: "Please do." The War Office has suppressed the despatch.

Dutch Consul to Leave.

Brussels, Oct. 28.—The relations between Holland and Great Britain again appear to be somewhat strained. According to intelligence which is being circulated here, Great Britain asked Holland to recall her consul at Pretoria, because he was suspected of facilitating treasonable correspondence. Holland has given the consul indefinite leave of absence.

Bear Motion in French Chamber.

Paris, Oct. 28.—George Berry, a Nationalist member of the Chamber of Deputies, has informed the Ministry of his intention to introduce a motion in the Chamber, instructing the Government to join with other nations in obliging England to remove the women, children and aged people from the concentration camps in South Africa to healthy, neutral territory.

FRIEND INDEED.

Advice That Led a Poor Sufferer to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many is the poor dyspeptic that has been happily led to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through the advice of a friend. Never was better advice ever tendered one friend by another.

Those who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, who have experienced their wonderful power over Indigestion and all Troubles of the Stomach, should feel it their duty when they meet some poor sufferer who is going through the misery they thanks to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, have escaped, to put him in the way of finding relief from his affliction. Tell him what cured you. Tell him about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. You know what they did for you. They will do the same for him. It costs you nothing to tell him and it will mean the restoring of him to happiness.

Thousands and thousands of people have been induced to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through reading the testimony of some grateful convalescent in the papers. But far more have been first introduced to the knowledge of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets through the kind offices of some friend. Therefore, you who know the value of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tell your friends about them.

"Through the advice of a friend," writes Mrs. Amanda Guimond, Grand Metis, Que., "who told me to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet, I found a cure for my Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles which had troubled me for years. I bought a box and had not taken them all before I felt ever so much better. I have now taken three boxes and am cured. You may publish this so as to help others and I certainly will let all my friends know about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Over 300 Killed.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 28.—The China mail brings news of outrages at Hin Meng, where a German church has been burned, and the missionaries narrowly escaped with their lives. The triad rebels afterwards attacked the town, and there was a fight in the streets between the triads and the townspeople, in which the rebels were victorious, and about a hundred of the inhabitants were killed. Gen. Wu afterwards marched a force of Imperial troops to meet the rebels, of which they killed over 200.

The King Edward VII. Coins.

London, Oct. 28.—For the first time in many years the British mint will not issue any new money at Christmas. The first issue of the coinage of King Edward VII. will be as early in 1902 as is possible. Before the date of issue the coinage will be heralded by a royal proclamation describing minutely the character and appearance of each coin, without which formality none could be legally put into circulation. Most of the dies of the Victorian coinage will then be destroyed.

No Hope of His Recovery.

Toronto, Oct. 28.—Although there was a little improvement noticeable in the condition of Mr. W. E. H. Massey on Saturday and yesterday morning, he became worse again in the afternoon, and no hope whatever is now held out for his recovery. At midnight the family handed out the following bulletin: "The improvement in Mr. Massey's condition, which has been in evidence for the past 36 hours, suffered a very serious check late on Sunday afternoon. His physicians in consultation, offer practically no hope for his recovery, as perforation of the bowels has occurred. He is not expected to survive many hours."

Used Earth's Currents.

London, Oct. 28.—The naval attaches of the United States, German and Austrian Embassies in London yesterday officially inspected the Orling-Armstrong system of wireless telegraphy and telephony, in which earth currents are used. Commander Clover, representing the United States, operated the transmitter. Messages in Morse characters were satisfactorily sent a distance of three-quarters of a mile. A short iron rod was stuck in the ground at the sending and receiving stations, and the instruments connected with these rods. The inventors claim to have operated in a similar manner over a distance of 20 miles.

GET COMFORT.

There is little comfort in life when a person is afflicted with pain. Donald Babcock, farmer, Harrowsmith, Ont., was a sufferer from rheumatism for years. When advised to take Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure he did so, and two bottles of this wonderful preparation, with two boxes of Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. He has not had a twinge of pain since, and attends to his duties regularly. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

The doctors have frankly told her that she is threatened with brain fever, and she is not as clear in her statements as to her experience as she was right after the plunge.

ROBT. NEILL

350, 352 and 354 George Street.

There are several reasons why the farmers get tired of patronising the skimming stations, says O. W. Lohn in Kansas Farmer. Sometimes we find a man at the station called the "operator." After having been acquainted with this gentleman for some time we are forced to conclude that he was never cut out for the business and the position he fills. He is in the business simply because he cannot find anything else to do that suits him.

He takes very little interest in his patrons and prefers that they stay away from the station as much as possible. He never goes out to visit them and knows so little about the dairy business that he could not tell a beef animal from a dairy cow.

He has learned barely enough so that he can weigh the milk, run the machinery and do the testing. I will say that I would prefer for him not to test my milk were I to patronize his creamery.

The one aim of this class of operators is to get the milk through the separator as soon as possible and to clean up so that they can have the rest of the day to loaf around town. If the farmer or milk hauler happens for some reason or other to be a little late with the milk some morning, this kind of an operator will invariably growl and fuss around as though he were running the universe and wanted every one to know it.

It, of course, would be unreasonable to suppose that a man of this kind would try to pasteurize the skimmilk, so the farmer takes it home fully convinced that the "blame stuff" is not worth much anyhow, in which he is right after it has been through our skimming station operator's tank. This is the kind of men that preside at some of our skimming stations, and they are the ones that help to keep the price of butter fat down and make it disgusting for the farmers to attempt to patronize the creamery. It stands to reason that it would be useless to attempt to raise a good calf on the kind of skimmilk that is returned from such a station. Such an operator will not be careful to examine the cans as they come in, and the result is that the cans of tainted milk are turned right in with the sweet, thus contaminating the whole mess of milk. Is it any wonder that the farmer stops sending milk to such a station? Any one with good common sense would do the same. The large companies frequently make the mistake of hiring just such men as the ones I have described simply because they get them cheap.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

At the Opera House.

It was a very small audience that greeted the Schubert Symphony Club and Ladies' Quartette at the opera house Saturday evening, but those who were present were treated to a delightful programme. Every number received an encore, and special mention must be made of the violin selections of Master Tommy Parsell, who is indeed a child artist. Every member of the troupe is a star and the different vocal and instrumental numbers were musical gems.

AN IDEAL DAY.

Many Visitors to the Lift Lock and the Quaker Oats Co's Buildings.

Sunday was an ideal day for outdoor recreation, and the people of the town took advantage of it. The temperature was about right, the sky clear, and the atmosphere calm. The liverymen did a great business and every horse and vehicle available was pressed into service. But the townspeople did not confine their pleasure to driving. The number of visitors to the fast-becoming-famous lift lock, was undoubtedly a record breaker. All afternoon streams of people made their way over Armour's Hill and back again, after making a thorough inspection of the work.

There were other places visited. The Quaker Oats Company premises are becoming a great place for visitors, and yesterday an immense number of people spent a few hours in the afternoon viewing the operations which have of late assumed very large dimensions.

The Cordage Company's buildings, too, were viewed by quite a number of persons, all of whom expressed their surprise at the rapidity with which the work has been pushed forward by Contractor Hartley.

CUT HIS FOOT.

Thomas Fair an Employee of the Dickson Company.

On Friday afternoon last while at work in the Dickson Company's saw mill in Ashburnham, Thomas Fair, an employee of the company, had the misfortune to receive a bad cut in his right foot.

Mr. Fair was engaged in using an axe, when it glanced quite unexpectedly, causing a deep gash in his foot, which necessitated a number of stitches. He will be laid off work for some time as a result.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Gibson Pringle an Employee of the Canadian General Electric Co.

Mr. Gibson Pringle, an employee of the tin shop at the Canadian General Electric works, met with a very painful accident last week. Mr. Pringle was engaged in repairing a gasoline lamp when it exploded, badly burning his hands and face. Dr. Eastwood attended the patient who suffered intense pain. His hands are quite badly burned but he is doing as well as might be expected. It will be some time, however, before Mr. Pringle will be able to resume his duties.

"Our Navy," is Coming.

What is "Our Navy?" One of the most successful and certainly one of the most beautiful entertainments ever brought to Canada is the series of marvellous beautiful moving pictures which is to visit Peterborough Nov. 8th and 9th. Our Navy has meet with unvarying success since its arrival in Canada from England, having been seen by sixty-thousand people in Toronto, besides running for four weeks in Montreal. In it is depicted the life and career of the sailor of the British Navy, from the time he enters it as a boy. It shows how he is trained, drilled and developed into a regular Jack Tar. The pictures are each surrounded with bright tuneful music, and also with realistic effects, and are far superior to anything of its kind ever shown in Canada before. Our Navy has as patrons H.R.H. the Duke of Cornwall and York, K. G., and the Governor General of Canada. It was also shown at Osborne before her late Majesty, the Queen. 2d99

WHO CUT THE TIRES?

A Devilish Act Committed on Saturday Evening.

On Saturday evening Messrs. Thomas Anderson and Jack Gerrard had occasion to leave their bicycles on the pavement in front of the Y.M.C.A. while they went inside for a few minutes. Upon their returning they found that a most dastardly act of destruction had been committed to the tires of their wheels. Both of the tires on Mr. Gerrard's wheel were gashed in a ruthless manner with a jack knife, apparently, while one of the tires on Anderson's wheel met a similar fate. The tires, of course, are completely ruined. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Gerrard will give $25.00 to the person who will furnish information that will lead to the finding of the guilty party.

The Police Defied.

Chief Rossel and Mr. H. P. Kennedy had a slight altercation on Saturday morning. It appears that Mr. Kennedy commenced doing business on a rather extensive scale on the market to the rear of his retail meat market. He was selling meat in smaller quantities than by the quarter. The Chief ordered Mr. Kennedy to cease doing business in the manner aforesaid, but Mr. Kennedy refused and continued selling until he quit of his own accord. An investigation of the facts shows that Mr. Kennedy's out-of-door establishment was entirely on his own premises, and he was not therefore breaking the provisions of the town meat bylaw. It is understood that no action will be taken in the matter.

OUR TOWN THE BEST.

What Mr. Richard Sheehy Thinks About Peterborough.

Mr. Richard Sheehy, who has the contract for the construction of the new Post Office, Inland Revenue and Court House building at Deseronto, was home over Sunday. Mr. Sheehy takes a run up to Peterborough every two weeks and will continue doing so until his work is completed down east. Speaking to the Examiner Mr. Sheehy said that Deseronto is going to possess one of the finest public buildings of any town its size, or in fact any town many times its size, in the Province. "But," said Peterborough's well known contractor, "there is no town can touch Peterborough. Every time I come back to it I think more of it, and I would not give Peterborough for twenty places like Belleville, Brockville, or any of those towns down along the front." Continuing he said that Peterborough had received a great deal of advertising of late through the dam No. 5 question, and he would like to see the Government, if need be, give away the dams to any person as long as they would supply power at such low rates, that capitalists could not but be induced to locate here.

MRS. MOWRY'S FALL.

She Became Dazed and Came Down on the Pavement.

Mrs. Mowry, an elderly lady, while walking on Charlotte street on Saturday afternoon, suddenly became dazed and fell upon the pavement. The accident occurred in front of Dr. F. L. Robinson's livery stable, and she was carried into the doctor's office by those who happened to be near her at the time. Drs. Bradd and Scott were summoned and gave all possible attention. Beyond being slightly cut, Mrs. Mowry was in a short time apparently none the worse of her mishap.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. JOHN'S.

Announcements were made yesterday at St. John's in regard to the re-opening of the church after the renovation and interior decorations which have been in progress during the last month.

The re-opening services will be held next Sunday, November 3rd and on Sunday week, the 10th, and will be given with orchestral accompaniment.

At the evening service last night, Rev. J. C. Davidson informally remarked that the huntsmen of the town would be soon leaving for the north country, and he wished them all the invigoration and pleasure possible, taking the liberty to suggest that on Sunday they should find their way to the nearest church and give the scattered and lonely congregations the encouragement and cheer of their presence.

The Girl's Guild of St. John's Church will meet to-night instead of to-morrow evening, owing to the Harvest Dinner at All Saints' Church.

The hymn for those at sea was sung yesterday in reference to the Duke and Duchess of York, and Miss Bourchier, a member of the choir. Reference was also made at the same time to the journey of Mr. L. Rye, and family, and the loss which the congregation had sustained in the removal of such enthusiastic and faithful members.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

The anthem at Murray street Baptist Church yesterday morning was entitled "Like as a Hart." The evening anthem was "Abide With Me," with solo by Mrs. Dr. Scott. Florence Carolyn Hall rendered the solo "Just as I am," at the evening service.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

An exceedingly large audience was present in George street Church last evening, it being the monthly song service given by the choir.

The anthem "Hast Thou Not Known?" by Pflueger was sung after prayer, Mr. J. Miller singing the tenor solo in fine voice, and Mr. Mulligan the bass solo with splendid effect. A male quartette, composed of Messrs. Turner, Watson, Miller and Walden sang "Just as I Am," The voices blended beautifully and this number, unaccompanied, was very much enjoyed.

The solo "O Holy Night," was given by Mr. Mulligan in his usual artistic style. The "Children's Home" was sung in good voice by Mr. J. Miller.

During the offertory a duett entitled "A Clear Heart" was sung with much expression by Mr. and Mrs. Walden.

The next song service will be held the last Sunday in November.

PETERBOROUGH AND ITS FUTURE.

What Shall We Depend Upon for Our Growth?

MORE MANUFACTURES REQUIRED.

Development of Our Water Powers the Key—Must Have Cheap Power to Attract Manufactories—Must Have More Industries if the Town is to Grow.

The past and present of the town of Peterborough are known to all; but what materially concerns every citizen of the town, not only the wage-earner, but every one engaged in any business enterprise, and every owner of real estate, is what the future of Peterborough shall be. The questions to be considered are simple. Shall the town continue to be comparatively an over-grown village — yet the best town in the Dominion — or shall it become a city of importance, such as existent possibilities can easily be used to make it?

In considering these questions it is to be remembered that the growth and expansion of Peterborough, from what may be called outside sources, are at an end. The lumbering industry, which gave so important an impetus to our growth, will never be more important than at present, and will naturally be less important as time goes on. The surrounding country, except perhaps in the immediate vicinity of the town, has perhaps reached the full measure of development that can contribute to our growth. If we are not to remain stationary, what then are we to depend upon? To this question there can be but one answer.

Manufacturing industries are the only means to which the town can look for a greater future. As to the effect of manufactories in stimulating the prosperity of the town, this summer's experience gives interesting indication. We have several large manufacturing concerns preparing for operations. What has been the result? An unusual activity in every branch of industry. Stonemasons, brick-layers, carpenters and others, whose labour is employed in connection with these callings, have been employed to a man, and the person who did not get employment, at profitable wages, is, it is safe to say, the person who did not seek it in earnest. The trades engaged in the supply of articles for which building operations create a demand, have shared in the improvement, and there is at present hardly a vacant house for rental in the town. Real estate is advanced in value, the returns from it have become greater, and in every line of life and action, the town has felt the stimulation which manufacturing industries impart. And this stimulation will, to a large extent be continued when these concerns are in operation, for Peterborough, important as she is now, would occupy but a sorry position, except for the existing manufacturing establishments which have contributed to her prosperity in the past, and are doing so at the present time.

If two or three new industries can produce so marked a result in advancing our growth and prosperity, what will the results be when the manufacturing possibilities of Peterborough are employed to, or near, their limit. We are most favourably situated, we have unsurpassed railway facilities, and to these will shortly be added the important facilities presented by the extension of the navigable stretch of the Trent Valley Canal to Lake Ontario. We have water powers capable of furnishing motive power to ten times the number of manufacturing establishments now in operation or presently contemplated. We have within the present limits of the town vacant building lots capable of housing twice our present population, which additional manufactories will give us, in proportion to their extent and number.

It is plain that what Peterborough needs for its continued growth is more manufactories. And it is evident also that in addition to the other facilities we can offer, the best means to attract new industries is available motive power at a low rate. It is well known that the first consideration of a manufacturing establishment seeking the best location, is that of cheap motive power. That is something that will be continuously needed. As to sites almost any village or town or city can furnish them, but there are few, if any, towns in Ontario which, under proper conditions, can offer such cheap power and in such quantity as Peterborough can do.

Under these conditions it is not unreasonable to expect that every citizen, would take an active and friendly interest in developing our water power to make it available to manufacturers, who may desire to locate in Peterborough. This would be the patriotic, the sensible, the profitable course that every citizen would be expected to take. We have been waiting for a quarter of a century for the day when our magnificent water powers could be easily and economically developed, and we have been indulging great hopes as to what we should do when that time came. That time has come, and what is the attitude of many of our citizens not to speak of outsiders?

The very first attempt to develop new water power for manufacturing purposes, while welcomed by the mass of our citizens, has for certain reasons, been opposed, obstructed and belittled. The Otonabee Power Company, taken in the abstract, or apart from those connected with it, represents an enterprise designed to confer important benefits upon the town, improve its manufacturing importance and conduce to its increased prosperity. Three or four manufacturing concerns, some long established, and some wishing to establish themselves here, wanted the power, obtainable from no other source, which the company was organized to supply.

Taken as a type of an earnest and practical attempt to utilize our hitherto wasted water powers, whose utilisation we have been waiting for for nearly thirty years, it would have been expected that the company would have received the full encouragement and support which it does receive from the great body of our citizens. But opposition and obstruction, dictated by private interests, dictated by personal animus and dictated by the desire to make political capital, came to the front. The interests of the town in manufacturing advance, were sacrificed to the perpetuation of a monopoly of light and power, to the satisfaction of personal dislike, to the petty work of making political capital out of a simple business proposition so far as the town was concerned. The Toronto Mail and Empire, coached and assisted by the local Conservative organ, took the political end of the movement in opposition to the manufacturing advancement of the town and the people of the town will long remember these journals in connection with their attempt to injure the prospects and retard the expansion of the interests of the town of Peterborough.

If there are found citizens enterprising enough to secure capital and enter practically upon the work of developing our water power, no matter who, they should be encouraged, and not antagonized. The Otonabee Power Company is not hostile to any interest, but is doing something important, presently and prospectively, in the direction of advancing the interests of the town. They are employing Peterborough labour in the development of power. They are giving Peterborough citizens, in the employment of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Co., work in the manufacture of turbines. They are giving Peterborough mechanics employment in the construction of generators and electric apparatus, by the Canadian General electric Company. If the Lakefield Cement Works begin operations within a few days, employment will be given in the production of cement. Its works will give employment in the production of brick; in fact all the supplies possible will be produced or procured in Peterborough. All this is for the general benefit of the town, but it is only of temporary advantage and insignificant in comparison with the important service the company has done in making a beginning of the development of our water powers, and procuring the fixing of a reasonable price, which will make development of other powers practicable and feasible.

In bringing about this one step of advance in contributing to the manufacturing progress of Peterborough, some one of influence had to take a stand in the matter of having these water powers developed. The Government, as is the way of governments, were delaying matters. When Mr. Kilbourne, who has established the splendid cement works at Lakefield, applied for No. 3 dam, at the price required—$2 per horse power, or $1200 or $1500 a year, but could not as a business man, afford to pay the price asked. He went to Young's Point, and purchased outright a dam for $5,000, or at 4 per cent., $200 a year, that can be developed nearly as cheaply to give as much power as any of the Government dams south of Lakefield. Were Peterborough citizens who wanted to develop power, to be thwarted in their efforts, and the manufacturing interests of the town suffer? Was it not time that some one spoke out plainly to the Dominion Government, and who could do so more effectively than the friends of the Government? Now if any person or company wants No. 3 or No. 4 dam for bona fide development purposes, they should be allowed to have it on the same terms as No. 5 dam. The Examiner and Mr. Stratton are not going to remain idle when manufacturing establishments wishing to locate in the town, are threatened with the compulsion to remove from town in default of obtaining power. He would be unworthy to represent the interests he represents, and of the position he holds, if he suffered, without an attempt to prevent it, the interests of the town to be seriously injured, as they would have been, if the obstruction to a beginning in the development of our water powers, and a beginning of the prosperity and growth that must come from the expansion of our manufacturing industries, were allowed to prevail. The attacks on Mr. Stratton have not injured him; they have strengthened him. It is known locally that he has no interest in the power company. Any one that chooses, however, may share in its alleged advantages; even the Review and the Mail and Empire can share in the "graft" they invent. But they will not invest a dollar. Talk is cheap, and talk for political purposes, is their main object.

Peterborough is perhaps the best market town in the province. The farmers and farmers' wives can bring their produce to Peterborough assured of a ready and profitable market. The more people we have in town, the better demand for farm products, and the greater the benefit to the surrounding country. And we must look to the increase of manufactories to create this increased population. The increase of our manufactories is a condition of the growth and expansion of the town; that is in turn dependent upon the least restricted development of our water powers, and he that opposes their utilization can lay little claim to being a patriotic citizen, and loyal to the best interests of the town, which will be promoted by power development, from those of the bumblest labourer to those most deeply interested in the largest commercial, real estate and industrial operations. The future of Peterborough will be what our citizens make it—will be decided by the use they make of the facilities we possess for increasing our manufacturing importance. Manufacturing must be the making of Peterborough.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

Town Should Have New Athletic Grounds.

What the London Rugby Men Ask—Some Hockey Items of Interest.

The matter of new athletic grounds for Peterborough is becoming the all important topic of conversation in town and it is felt that the time has arrived when suitable grounds should be procured if Peterborough intends to keep its name before the athletic world. Notwithstanding the adverse circumstances, Peterborough has done nobly in this regard in the past, but it can't continue under the present conditions much longer. The practice of playing games on the Nicholls oval and depending on the good nature of the public is unsatisfactory in the extreme and the only remedy is to procure attractive grounds with every accommodation for players and spectators and facilities for charging an admission fee. A meeting will likely be called at an early date, of representatives from the various athletic organizations in town for the purpose of forming an athletic association, and then the active movement towards procuring new grounds will be proceeded with. An athletic association is something that has been needed in Peterborough for years back, as it could regulate numerous matters of universal interest to the athletes of the town. For instance, what are the Peterborough colours? No one can tell. The Hockey Club is supposed to have certain colours, the Rugby Club have other colours, the Baseball Club something else, and so on until a general mix up occurs. What ultimately must come is that every athletic organization in Peterborough will wear the same colours—they will be Peterborough's colours. Every college, almost every town and every corporation has its one style of colours for its various branches of sport and why should not Peterborough?

HOCKEY.

The Hockey Clubs throughout the Province are beginning to organize and the prospects are that some exceptionally fast hockey will be played this season. No move has been made by the local hockeyists yet although it is probable that the annual meeting will be called in the course of a week or two.

It is said that Mr. A. H. Beaton, who for the past few years has filled the position of secretary-treasurer, of the O.H.A., does not purpose seeking re-election this season.

The Norwood hockeyists held a meeting the other evening, not altogether for the purpose of electing officers, but for the purpose of seeing what action the rink authorities intend taking regarding the boarding up of the sides suitable for hockey. Should this not be done the Norwood hockeyists threaten to "quit." The clubs throughout the district will earnestly hope that nothing will be left undone to help the game along in the east riding capital, for a swifter lot of stick handlers it would be indeed hard to find. The Norwood boys last year played a clean and plucky game throughout.

CURLIANA.

Thistle curlers are reminded of the annual meeting which takes place in the rink parlours this evening. All members are requested to be on hand at 8 o'clock promptly.

MATTER AND FORCE.

ENERGY CANNOT BE CREATED NOR CAN IT BE DESTROYED.

If Puny Man Could Accomplish Either of These Impossible Things, He Could Cause "the Wreck of Matter and the Crash of Worlds."

If you could imagine an earthworm trying to run the Niagara Electric Lighting and Power Transmission works, you would have some faint idea of the capacity of the greatest human genius that ever lived to run the visible universe. That is probably why the wisest of us is not permitted to understand the final secrets of nature.

Here is a good example. Take a rifle into a place sufficiently far from the habitations of men; put the butt on the ground and support it so that the barrel points straight up and pull the trigger. The bullet will leave the muzzle with a velocity of, say, 3,000 feet a second. It will rise to an enormous height, come to a standstill for an infinitesimal fraction of a second and begin to fall back again. It will strike the earth with very nearly but not quite the same velocity as it left the muzzle of the gun. It would be exactly the same but for the resistance of the air.

What has happened is this: The explosion of the powder has changed a solid into a gas, and the expansive energy of this has driven the bullet upward. In other words, it has for the time overcome that mysterious force by which the earth draws everything toward its own center.

But when the energy of the exploded powder is exactly balanced by the pull of gravitation the bullet falls back. In the first second after its turn it falls 16 feet, in the next 32, in the next 64, in the next 128, and so on till it returns with ever increasing velocity whence it started.

Nothing has been lost, nothing gained. The gases set free by the explosion of the powder weigh exactly as much as the solid. Some of the energy has been used as heat, some in propelling the bullet. Gravitation, overcome for awhile, has reasserted itself. The sum of matter and force in the universe is absolutely unchanged.

This is as true of the quickened beat of a girl's heart when she meets her lover as it is of the march of the planets and suns through the fields of space. Every atom of matter, every unit of force, throughout the universe is constant, external and exactly balanced, and the whole strength and genius of humanity could not increase or diminish them by the slightest fraction.

Now, let us imagine what would happen if man could make that bullet strike the earth with greater or less force than it left the muzzle of the gun. He would either have increased or decreased the total of universal energy, and in either case he would have thrown first the solar system and then the whole universe out of gear.

The earth and all the other planets would begin to revolve in different orbits. The sun, with its family of worlds, would alter its path round the unknown center about which it revolves. Then world would be buried against world and sun against sun, and stars and planets would be reduced to the flaming gases from which they cooled into solids and liquids before time began to be.

Just the same catastrophe would happen if man could either create or entirely destroy a grain of sand on the seashore. The balance of the universe, in which swing stars and planets, whose weight is inexpressible in human figures (this tiny world of ours weighs 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons), is infinitely more delicate than that which the chemist has to keep in an airtight case and at an even temperature lest a breath of air should throw it ont of gear.

Thus the destruction or creation of a grain of sand would change the orbit of the earth round the sun. In the one case it would be drawn closer and closer to the sun, perhaps after thousands of revolutions to be swallowed up in fiery ruin. In the other case it would gradually leave the sun and year by year wander farther away into regions of space where human life would be impossible.

The result of the dislocation of such a stupendous system, which has worked with unfailing exactitude for countless ages, is, of course, utterly beyond the scope of human imagination, and yet such a seeming trifle as the creation or destruction of a single grain of sand might, and probably would, plunge it into utter chaos and ruin.

His Ability.

"And how is my old school friend Bimson getting on?" said the man who had returned to his native city after a long absence.

"Oh, he's doing first rate."

"But he was such a bright boy we always expected he would display especial ability."

"Well, I don't know that he hasn't displayed especial ability."

"I never hear him mentioned in connection with any of your elections."

"No; that's just the point. He has shown ability to go ahead quietly and build up a business. He doesn't have to run for office."

Critical.

She—You don't love me as much as you did or you would have stayed longer last night.

He—But you insisted on my going.

"And if you had loved me you would not have gone."

DWARFING AN OAK TREE.

The Japanese Trick by Which It Is Accomplished.

The Chabo Hiba, a dwarf Japanese pine tree, was recently sold for $1,200. It is six feet high and alleged to be 350 years old. It has long been supposed that the process by which Japanese gardeners succeeded in dwarfing forest trees was a long and costly one. It is now said that it is a simple process and that any one can do the trick. The following directions are given for producing a miniature oak tree:

Take an orange and scoop out the pulp. Fill the interior with a rich mold and plant an acorn in the center of it, leaving the hole in the rind for it to sprout through. Put it in a sunny place and water it frequently. Soon after the first shoots have appeared the roots begin to break through the orange skin. Take a sharp knife and shave these off carefully and keep them shaved. The tree will grow about five or six inches high and then stop. In a year it will be a perfect miniature oak. When the roots cease to grow, the orange skin should be varnished over and imbedded in a flowerpot.

The Japanese dwarf all kinds of trees and make them live to a great age. Some of these dwarfs, like the Chabo Hiba, are well known, and their owners have documentary evidence attesting their great age. The older they are the more valuable, of course, they are. In Japan certain families follow the calling, trade, art, or what you will, of growing dwarf trees from generation to generation, and you can buy a miniature oak 500 years old from a descendant of the man who first planted the acorn. Not only forest trees, but fruit trees and flowering shrubs, are dwarfed by these clever gardeners.

THE QUICK PACE OF DECLINING HEALTH

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There are hosts of people who are susceptible to attack of various kinds of illness. Their systems are ever ready to take on disease. They bend under the slightest trial, and their health is jeopardized by every trivial exposure. They lack resisting power, and health declines because there is no nerve food to make good the waste by disease.

At first slight weakness, stomach annoyance, headache, heart fluttering, trembling of the hands and limbs, restless sleep, indicate something is lacking—that something is nerve force. Until the stock of nerve force is replenished the pace of declining health will increase, until lost vitality is expressed in every move.

Pale, languid, nerve-shattered people find exactly what they require in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It supplies the wants of wasted nerves, rebuilds the wasted cells, and renews the blood. Its wonderful cures are due to the fact that it restores natural nerve force; and it is lack of nerve force that causes most suffering these days. Brain nerves, heart nerves, stomach nerves give out, and all sorts of trouble follow.

Mrs. M. A. McCrea, Troy Hill, Ont., writes: "My system was all run down when I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was weak and very nervous, and felt so tired and worn out that I could scarcely drag myself about the house. It seemed impossible for me to get rest or sleep at night, and I felt that I was gradually growing weaker and more nervous and irritable. Since beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel altogether different. It has gradually strengthened my nerves and built up my system wonderfully. I sleep well now, and am being thoroughly restored to health and strength. I believe it is the best medicine to be had for the nerves."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

Human Temperature.

"The highest temperature in a human being that I ever had experience with," said a well known physician recently, "was 110 degrees, and this was in a case of thermic fever, or heat prostration, a class of fevers showing the highest recorded temperatures. But medical annals cite several instances where it has reached 112 and 113, death following, of course. Generally speaking, a body temperature of 110 is a point beyond which a human being cannot live, and this intense heat cannot be endured for more than a few hours. Such abnormal temperatures rarely occur save in victims of heat prostrations."

Two Warnings.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption.

THE WIDOW TAX.

In Mindanao a Wife's Death Costs the Widower One Hundred Plates.

Becoming a widow or a widower is a much more serious business than getting married among some of the tribes in the Philippines. In Mindanao "marrying in haste" often leads to a prolonged "repenting at leisure," for they have an institution there known as the "widow tax"—"chabalban" the natives call it. Upon the death of the wife the widower must pay a certain sum of money or its equivalent in goods to his father-in-law before he can go a-courting again. As money is a scarce article among these natives, the tax generally is paid in plates of common "stone china," which are much used by the natives as a medium of exchange. It is considered the proper thing for the bereaved one to pay 100 of these plates to his father-in-law for permission to look about him for a successor to the deceased helpmate.

If the husband dies, the widow at once becomes the property of her parents-in-law and so remains for life unless some relative comes forward and produces the necessary number of dinner plates. The natural result of this is that married people are all extremely solicitous for the health of each other. In sickness the invalid is sedulously attended by the partner of his or her joys and sorrows, the well person perhaps being moved more by the thought of those hundred plates than by real affection.

Divorce is unknown among these people, but a man may have as many wives as he pleases. It will be seen that in case of an epidemic which would sweep away his wives a married man would be in dire extremity. In the case of a death of a much married man his parents come into a small fortune, for they either have enough slaves to render future work on their part unnecessary or they receive enough plates from the families of the widows to set up a crockery store.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

The Pastures

On July 1 twenty-seven milk cows were given all the alfalfa hay they would eat and then turned into a sorghum field of 6.7 acres for fifteen minutes. The sorghum was eighteen to twenty-four inches high. The next day they remained thirty minutes, the third day forty-five minutes, and so on, increasing fifteen minutes daily until they reached one hour and thirty minutes, when they were left to run at will. During the transition period the cows were given all the alfalfa hay needed to keep up the normal flow of milk. For the first nine days this amounted to nearly twenty-four pounds daily per head. After twelve days the cows were allowed to pasture the sorghum at night as well as during the day. For the rest of the month these cows consumed less than five pounds of alfalfa daily per head.

If it had not been for the sorghum pasture, it would have required at least twenty-four pounds of alfalfa daily per head to keep these cows up to a good flow of milk. This would have amounted to ten tons. As it was, the cows consumed only four and a half tons, making a saving of five and a half tons. At $10 per ton (a low price for this year) this would amount to $55, which divided between 6.7 acres would amount to a saving in alfalfa consumed of $8.20 per acre.

Saved His Laundry Bill.

A customer in our store put it uniquely by saying the 25c he spent for a bottle of Four T's saved him an extra quarter in laundry bills. The only thing he was out was the cold in the head. Get a bottle today if you have a cough or cold, try the same experiment. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drugstore.

When the Women Rule.

The witness was just getting to the thrilling part of the story when the judge interrupted.

"There are extraneous matters," she said, "that are distracting the attention of the court and preventing her from giving the evidence proper consideration. We will take a recess of fifteen minutes in order that the court may retire and find out whether her back hair is really coming down."—Chicago Post.

The Dear Things.

Uncle George—Hannah, why is it you always keep that parlor window curtain down?

Hannah—To keep the sun from fading the carpet, of course.

Uncle George—But you keep the carpet covered with matting.

Hannah—Oh, well, that is only to prevent the carpet from being worn threadbare.—Boston Transcript.

Her Calculation.

"He told me that I was one woman in a thousand," said the lady who had caused her husband's arrest for bigamy.

"And," she continued, while a bitter smile wandered across her face, "from the way the returns are coming in I am inclined to think that he was literally and mathematically correct."—Baltimore American.

OUT OF DATE.

When the sun every morning looks down on the earth,
He is smiling, as much as to say:
"If yesterday failed you in comfort and mirth,
You can start in brand new with today.
For the nights, like thick curtains, I've hung to exclude
The past from the weary and weak;
So prithee be doing nor linger all broad
O'er the troubles that happened last week.

"There are pages of pathos and pages of cheer
To be read in each story of life.
We'll close the old chapters and still persevere
Through love or good fortune or strife.
Though present events may provoke our dismay,
A solace 'tis easy to seek;
Let the hours drift away; you will soon find that they Are but troubles that happened last week."
—St. Louis Republic.

FEAR THOU NOT

A Tale of the French Revolution.

There are few who have not heard o' read of the great French revolution o' the last century, when cruel men seis ed on the government of France, when human life was of so account and when, as if wearied with its wickedness, God seemed to have hid his face from the sinful land.

No one may count up the tears that were shed, the moans that were made, the hearts that were broken in those dreadful times, but here and there out of the great mass of human misery history has preserved a record of the trials and sufferings of some hapless ones, reading which we shudder and thank God that we live in happier days.

some few years after the reign of terror—as this outburst of sin and madness was well named—a man of middle age entered a small inn in Germany and called for refreshments. His manners were timid and shrinking, and he looked as if he might just have recovered from some terrible illness—he was so strangely, ghastly pale.

The landlord supplied his wants, and, half curious, half in kindness, he made some remark as to the stranger's appearance, coupling it with the question, "Do you want aught else for your comfort?"

"Nay, nothing," said the pale man hastily. "I have food and light and air. What could I want more?" And he sighed deeply.

"My friend," said the landlord, seating himself, "you speak as if you had known the want of these things. Have I guessed aright?"

His guest looked up.

"Would you hear my tale?" he asked. "For years I have kept silence, but today it seems as if it would lighten my heart to speak. Listen and believe it if you can. Less than seven years ago I was a gay, light hearted youth in this our quiet fatherland. Having no near relations, I was led to visit some distant ones who had lived for many years in a small town in France.

"My uncle, as I called him out of friendliness, was a kind, good fellow, well known and respected in the place, where he carried on the craft of a watchmaker, and he proposed that I should become his apprentice and partner. I liked the little town, I liked my uncle, I liked my aunt, and I soon gave my consent. They had no children—I thank God for that now—but my aunt's kindly soul could not be content without young people around her, so she kept and clothed two house maidens, children of some poor neighbors. Trim and neat they looked, too, wearing the costume of that part of Germany from whence my aunt came, a pretty fancy of her own. It seemed quaint enough in a strange land.

"It was a happy household. No wonder I was glad to belong to it. But, alas, it was soon to be swept away by terrible affliction! For some time we had heard of strange troubles going on in Paris and the large towns, but our little place was still quiet. One morning, however, we woke to find everything in confusion. Our mayor had been ordered to resign, and his place was to be filled by some one sent from Paris.

"Still, we never dreamed of what fearful misery this was the forerunner. We had no time to dream, either, the blow fell so suddenly. There had been a stir going on in the market place for the two days following the arrival of the new official, but my uncle and I were busy over a discovery which he had made in our trade, and we were less than usual in the streets.

"At noon on the third day, however, he went out for a stroll to rest his eyes and look about him for a few moments. My aunt and her maidens arranged, as usual, the midday meal, and we were all ready to sit down, only my uncle was missing. He was usually so punctual that we wondered and waited, and at last we dined without him. At the close of the meal I stepped out to look for him.

"I had not got a dozen yards from our house when I met our baker's wife, her eyes staring out of her head.

"'Go back!' she said. 'Go back! It is too late. The monster, the wretch! He has executed the honest man, without even the farce of a trial, on the accursed guillotine yonder!'

"I was petrified with horror. Could she be speaking of my uncle, so respected, so quiet as he was? It was too true. The wretch in office had lost no time, but had begun his work of bloodshed at once, and my uncle was his first victim, his only crime being that he was of foreign birth and had sheltered under his roof some months since a poor Swiss. I retraced my steps to the house. My aunt's anxious face met my troubled gaze. She had begun to suspect evil. The two girls waited fearfully in the background. I tried to speak, but I turned away and burst into tears. I was young then. Master Landlord, and had tears to shed. My aunt passed me by and rushed into the street straight to the market place. I could not follow. What happened there was told me later.

"Wild with agony at her husband's fate, my gentle, loving aunt had burst into a flood of reproach of his murder. In those days this was crime enough for the heaviest punishment, and before evening she had fared the same fate as my uncle.

"The reign of terror had indeed begun with us. The girls had fled, terrified at the fate which had befallen their protectors, and I was meditating in a half stupefied way the same measure when a knock came at the door, and two men, who had often eaten and drunk at my uncle's table, came in and made me a prisoner, confiscating all the possessions of the family to the state.

"In those days a man's foes were often they of his own household. I offered no resistance. The shock of the day had completely unmanned me. I made certain that I, too, should die that night. But my time was not yet come.

"In consequence of the lateness o the hour I was taken to the town prison, a dismal building, which I had never known to be occupied. There I was thrust into a deep dungeon and left in total darkness till the morning, when I doubted not I should be conducted to the same cruel fate as my poor relatives had met. But morning came, as I had guessed by the sound without, and still no summons. Worn out with suspense and waiting, I fell asleep. When I awoke, hunger and thirst oppressed me. Happily I had stored some bread and meat and a small bottle of wine in one of the pockets of my coat preparatory to my intended flight. Of this I now ate and drank. No one came nigh me, and yet I could hear sounds as if wretched prisoners were being led forth out of neighboring cells, doubtless to death, for they wept and pleaded vainly as it seemed to me.

"But the third day a great stillness fell on the prison. I could not understand it. My senses were enfeebled for want of food, for my small stock had long been exhausted, and I almost lacked strength to wonder why I was left to live so long. Presently arose an awful terror lest this should be my sentence—to perish miserably for want of food in this damp dungeon. Death on the scaffold appeared light by comparison. I clamored at my prison door. I shouted as loudly as I could, all to no purpose. Then I burst into an agony of tears. My fate was too dreadful to bear. With the soft nature of my youth I pitied and bemoaned myself sorely. All at once words came into my mind that I had learned years ago as a text in the school, 'Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God.'

"They came like a ray of light into my prison, and I clung to the promise as if it had that moment been made to me by a pitying God. I felt soothed and hopeful, and in this condition I sank back in a doze or swoon.

"How time passed I could not tell; day and night to me were alike in my cell. I woke up to find light and warmth and kindly faces about me. Slowly I regained consciousness enough to understand what they told me. I had lain five days forgotten. The stillness I had noted the third day was accounted for by the fact that the news had just reached our town of the death of one of the greatest leaders of the revolution and the consequent decline of the party. In fear of his life, our terrorist mayor had fled, and the old mayor, resuming power, had ordered the prison doors to be set open. I in my solitary cell had been forgotten, and but that some one had been sent to examine all the cells and collect the fetters used therein I might have perished most miserably. As it was, I was carried out perfectly senseless and brought to life with some difficulty.

"I am safe now, as you see, comrades, in my own country, but the anguish of those few days will never be forgotten. I bear about with me in my face the remembrance of it. Daily I thank God for light and air and food, and yet these good gifts of his fail to make my heart rejoice. Still those dreadful days in the dungeon have given me a firm reliance on his mercy, and I know that I shall one day be joyful again in the city of which the gates are never shut and where there is no darkness."

Good Old Things.

Certain things are good for nothing until they have been kept for a long while, and some are good for nothing until they have been kept long and used. Of the first wine is the illustrious and immortal example. Of those that must be kept and used I will name three—meerschaum pipes, violins and poems. The meerschaum is but a poor affair until it has burned a thousand offerings to the cloud compelling deities.

Violins, too—the sweet old Amatti—the divine Stradivarius! Stained, like the meerschaum, through and through with the concentrated hue and sweetness of all the harmonies which have kindled and faded on its strings.

Now, I tell you, a poem must be kept and used like a meerschaum or violin. A poem is just as porous as the meerschaum; the more porous it is the better. I mean to say that a genuine poem is capable of absorbing an indefinite amount of the essence of our own humanity, its tenderness, its heroism, its regrets, its aspirations, so as to be gradually stained through with a divine secondary color derived from ourselves.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Of Two Evils.

"All those stories the papers are printing about you are lies," said the politician's friend. "Why don't you make them stop it?"

"I would," replied the politician, "but I'm afraid they'd begin printing the truth then."—Philadelphia Press.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefitted and cured by their use? Certainly not. One pill a dose. 25c a box.

TALL CORN

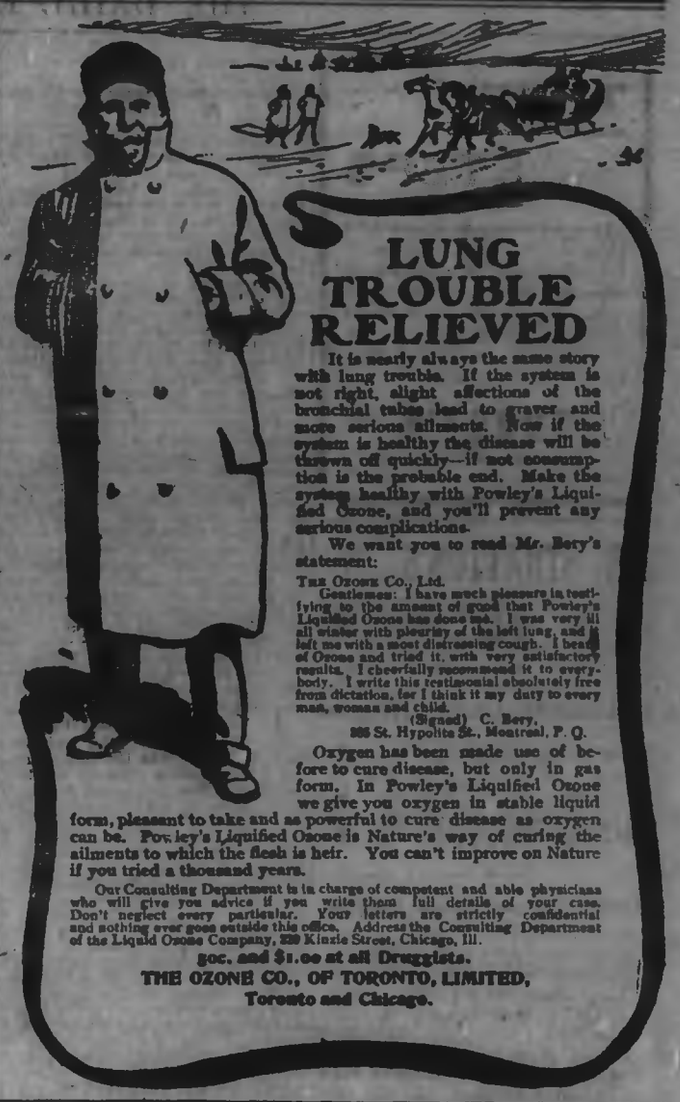
doesn't come by accident. A fertile soil and careful cultivation are necessary to produce the towering stems and heavy ears.

Yet the farmer who understands that he can't have a healthy corn crop without feeding and weeding, seems to think that he can have a healthy body without either care or culture. But the body is built up just as the corn is, by the assimilation of the several chemical elements on which vitality depends. And what weeds are to the corn, diseases of the stomach and nutritive systems are to the body; they divert the necessary food supply from the proper channels, and the body becomes lean, sickly and ill-nourished.

The proper digestion and assimilation of food is a primary essential of health. By healing diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery increases the digestive and assimilative powers, stimulates the action of the blood making glands, and sends to every organ of the body the rich red-corpuscled blood on which physical vigor and vitality depend.

"I took two bottles of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., of Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, how it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did, for I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels and cure constipation.



LUNG TROUBLE RELIEVED

It is nearly always the same story with lung trouble. If the system is not right, slight affections of the bronchial tubes lead to graver and more serious ailments. Now if the system is healthy the disease will be thrown off quickly—if not consumption is the probable end. Make the system healthy with Powley's Liquified Ozone, and you'll prevent any serious complications.

We want you to read Mr. Bery's statement:

THE OZONE CO., Ltd.

Gentlemen: I have much pleasure in testifying to the amount of good that Powley's Liquified Ozone has done me. I was very ill all winter with pleurisy of the left lung, and it left me with a most distressing cough. I heard of Ozone and tried it, with very satisfactory results. I cheerfully recommend it to everybody. I write this testimonial absolutely free from dictation, for I think it my duty to every man, woman and child.

(Signed) C. Bery,

Powley's Liquified Ozone is Nature's way of curing the ailments to which the flesh is heir. You can't improve on Nature if you tried a thousand years.

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

MR. STRATTON'S EXPLANATION

Confounds Contentions of Hostile Critics.

FACTS OF THE POWER MATTER

The Mail and Empire and News Answered and Criticised—Why Peterborough is Restricted in Power Acquirement—Who is Responsible for This Restriction.

Hon. J. R. Stratton addressed the electors of Lincoln at Niagara Falls on Thursday evening. At the conclusion of his speech he made the following reference to the Otonabee Power Company, which is taken from Saturday's Globe.

Mr. Stratton then said that as he had learned that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt and Mr. Wright had referred to him in their speeches in this hall a week ago, he would briefly advert to a personal matter: a charge was made by the Conservative press that he was personally interested in the Otonabee Power Company. Day by day, the Mail and Empire, News, and Telegram, notwithstanding the most explicit denial, repeated the charge that he (Mr. Stratton) had some connection with the Otonabee Powar Company of Peterborough, and had used his political influence as a Minister to procure for that company concessions which would benefit him pecuniarily. The statement had been made so boldly and repeated so frequently that some people whose faith in the utterances of Conservative journalism was of so robust a character as to survive continual evidences of its unreliability, might be disposed to believe it, otherwise he would allow it to pass unnoticed. As a matter of fact, he had not directly nor indirectly any interest whatever in the Otonabee Power Company or any scheme or undertaking connected therewith, and he challenged proof to the contrary.

THE FACTS OF THE CASE.

What were the facts? Several manufacturing industries in Peterborough needed power and at the time not a pound of power was available. Some public spirited citizens of the town undertook to procure it, and applied to the Dominion Government for what is known as dam No. 5. There are five dams on the Otonabee River made by canal construction, controlled by the Dominion Government. From each of these dams could be developed from 600 to 1,500 horse power. One of these dams was applied for by the citizens mentioned. An order in Council was passed granting a lease of No. 5 dam at $2 per horse power. Other Peterborough power companies sent deputation to Ottawa with a view of blocking the development of this power except at a price that no sane man would think of accepting it, for the purpose of maintaining their monopoly. An order in Council had been passed granting the lease at this time, but it had not been signed. When the agitation the rival companies arose the Minister of Railways and Canals decided to offer the dam by public competition, with the condition that the highest bidder must take off the hands of the gentlemen who had in good faith commenced their work the contracts which they had made. As a newspaper publisher and as a citizen, he (Mr. Stratton) advocated that these powers should be utilized in the interest of the general advancement and welfare of Peterborough. Was there anything wrong in that? A combined attempt by the Conservative journals has been made to try to fasten upon him (Mr. Stratton) the charge that he had what is called "graft" in connection with the Otonabee Power Company, while as a matter of fact, if the Dominion Government offered him dam No. 5, he (Mr. Stratton) declared he would not accept it and be forced to comply with the conditions agreed to by the Otonabee Power Company.

Mr. Stratton's superintendent and bookkeeper at Peterborough had taken stock in the Otonabee Power Company, and this is used as if to show that they represented him, while these gentlemen are financially quite able to carry out anything they undertake. Then his name had been filled in in a typewritten unsigned draft prospectus by the promoters of the company, in the expectation that he would take stock and take power for the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, of which he is president, but upon his declining to do so the draft prospectus had been withdrawn and never submitted to the company, nor was it ever signed. That, said Mr Stratton, was his only connection, if such it could be called, with the Otonabee Power Company, and he never had a cent of stock in the company, and no interest, except what a citizen might legitimately have in seeing the industrial welfare of the town promoted. If the Town of Peterborough was to grow, if it was to become what it ultimately would, a very large and important industrial centre, the waterpowers should be developed, as it was upon the development of its manufacturing importance that the town depended largely for its future growth. The action of the Mail and the News was a stab at the very life of the town in their attack upon the gentlemen connected with the power company, and it was so felt in Peterborough. If he had taken stock it would not have been an improper thing to do. The power in question should be developed. There was no important sentiment in Peterborough in favour of the town expending public money in the development of any of these powers, and by an act of the Legislature in 1899 the town was excluded from so doing, for the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature, upon the representations of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., and the Auburn Power Co., limited the town to the development of water powers on the Otonabee River practically south of the waterworks dam, which is about two or three miles south of dam No. 5. This was for the purpose of preventing the town undertaking the development of any powers that would conflict with the Auburn Power and the Light and Power monopolies. These concerns should not be allowed to maintain their monopolies, established by virtue of a written agreement that neither was to compete with the other in the supply of light and power, to the detriment of the town. Yet these Conservative journals, in face of these facts, persisted in insinuating that he (Mr. Stratton) had an interest in the company.

NEWSPAPER CRITICS.

The course of the Mail and Empire and the News was the more surprising when public records existed to show that the very paper upon which they were printed, the very paper in which the attacks were made, was made by power that represented the greatest water power "graft" in the history of Canada, a lease granted by the Conservative Government a few weeks before they went out of power in 1896. On May 28th, 1896, two months before the Tupper Government went out of power, a lease was renewed to John Riordan of water lots at locks 16, 18, 19 and 21 on the Welland Canal, with a limit of 1,500 horse power of water. For the land and 700 horse power Mr. Riordan of the Mail and the News pays $240 per year, or 35c per horse power. And this was a renewal of a lease which was the perpetuation and enlargement of a lease to the same family by the Conservative Government in 1870, a monopoly of water power lasting 31 years, and granted in perpetuity. Every year this lease to Mr. Riordan remained in force the people of Canada were giving undue advantages. Such party warfare as was directed towards himself showed, Mr. Stratton said, that in default of finding grounds of criticism in the record of the Government, a policy of slander of its members was to be employed. He was content to leave such tactics to the judgment of the people and to his constituents, who had all the facts before them.

REV. W. E. NORTON AT PARK STREET.

South End Baptist Anniversary Services.

PLATFORM MEETING TO-NIGHT

Two Very Interesting Sermons Delivered by the Superintendant for Home Missions.

The anniversary services in connection with Park street Baptist church were held yesterday morning and evening and will conclude to-night by a grand platform meeting which will be addressed by prominent speakers. This is the first anniversary service under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Hanna, who should feel satisfied indeed with the success of this yearly event. The special sermons were preached yesterday by Rev. W. E. Norton, the recently appointed Superintendent of Home Missions, who also addressed the Sunday School children for a brief while during the afternoon and will be the chief speaker at to-night's meeting. He is a very clever speaker and his courses yesterday were very much appreciated by those who were in attendance.

At the morning services, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hanna, in introducing the Superintendent for Home Missions, to the congregation, spoke in eulogistic terms of that gentleman and assured his hearers that his discourse would prove to be of spiritual value to them. He also intimated that the old time tea meeting had been withdrawn for certain reasons, from the anniversary ceremonies, for this year at least, but he hoped that the attendance to-morrow night at the platform service would be large and representative.

REV. MR. NORTON.

Rev. Mr. Norton prefaced his remarks by thanking the pastor for the very kindly words that he had said of him, and they were only, in fact, similar to the encouraging references that had been made concerning him since he entered upon the work to which he felt he had been called by God. Proceeding with his sermon, the reverend gentleman took for his text the words of Haggai when he endeavoured to encourage the people to work, by a promise of greater glory to the second temple than to the first. "Be strong all ye people of the land," said the Lord, "and work; for I am with you."

Haggai, said the speaker, may be thought to be an old man, when he wrote these words. The book is made up of what might be called a series of skeletons of sermons concerning the building of the temple. The people had commenced the work of building the temple, and had abandoned it. God sent the prophet Haggai to urge its completion. They made a start once more, but once more abandoned it, after three weeks time. Again Haggai was sent; the people returned to their work, and in a very short time the building of the temple was completed.

The preacher wished to apply the text to Christian work, but before speaking upon the encouragements to Christian work, he would refer to a few discouragements. As to the number of discouragements in Christian work that were encountered he might say that they were legion, but the most important hindrances were, as a matter of fact, the least thought of. The first of these was lack of confidence in our cause, and secondly, the lack of the essentail characteristics respecting the different principles and characters we represent. In dealing with these statements the speaker went on to say that a great deal of the preaching and a considerable amount of the literature of the present day is leading Christians to believe that the world is not nearly so bad as our fathers thought it to be, that the Hell that is talked about is an imaginary place, and the preacher who now-adays says the less about being born again, and about a sinful life, is the most popular. What they do to gain the admiration of the public is to talk about capital and labour, and to advocate living a better life. To all this, the speaker said that he did not ask them to hold by any doctrine, because it was old but he would also ask them not to abandon any doctrine because it is old, and he would say further, that the only way by which a Christian life can be attained is by being born again—by conversion. God looks into our hearts, not at the surface.

We have lack of conviction, and we, Baptists, are ourselves weakened along this line. In his endeavour to show in what manner we had lack of conviction, the speaker referred to the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, when representatives from every branch of the Protestant religion, representatives from the Roman Catholic church, and representatives from every other form of religion known to man, met to discuss the "various ways of being saved. The preacher deplored this state of affairs, for had these representatives not lacked conviction in the principles they represented they would not have taken part in any such discussion. Personally, if he did not believe that the Baptists had a little more of the truth than any other denomination he would join some other church. Then there is a failure to estimate the importance of and magnitude of the work we undertake and because of the underestimation we are hindered in our work. Again, we do not estimate the value and importance of the human soul, and in this connection the preacher urged the parents to see that their children were sent to Sunday school, and that they attended the church their parents professed.

In speaking of the encouragements the reverend gentleman pointed out that the past should be an encouragement to us, and he also enumerated many of the blessings that God has promised us by following in His way.

A BUSY LIFE IS ENDED

Mr. Walter E. H. Massey Succumbs to Typhoid Fever.

HEAD OF MASSEY-HARRIS CO.

Death Ended the Long Fight on Monday Afternoon—Funeral Will Take Place on Thursday—Sketch of His Career—A Short Life Crowded With a Great Variety of Interests.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Walter E. H. Massey died at his summer residence at Dentonia Farm yesterday afternoon. Mr. Massey, who took a turn for the worse on Sunday, sank rapidly yesterday, his death occurring about 4 o'clock.

The family and all the near relatives, who have been at the bedside for the past few days, were present when the end came. The doctors, early yesterday morning, gave up all hopes of their patient's recovery.

For several days Mr. Massey has been hovering between life and death, but as late as Saturday the physicians had hopes of his recovery. A new complication set in Sunday, and all chances for Mr. Massey living were given up.

History of the Illness.

Mr. Massey's illness began four weeks ago last Thursday, and his condition steadily grew worse. The physicians were able to diagnose the case at first as typhoid fever of the ordinary type, and during the succeeding two weeks, while his condition was grave, it was considered by no means critical. His constitution, never a strong one, left him an easy victim for the various complications which follow in the trail of the fever, and all the medical skill which could be mustered was unable to ward them off. There resulted the series of alarming symptoms of increasing gravity which resulted in his death.

Sketch of His Career.

The late Walter Edward Hart Massey was born on April 4th, 1861, in the village of Newcastle, Ontario, where his father, the late Mr. Hart A. Massey was in business as a manufacturer of agricultural implements.

THE LATE W. E. H. MASSEY.

When Mr. Massey was seven years old his parents removed from Canada to Cleveland, Ohio, where he was educated in the public schools of that city, and also in the Brooks Military Academy, where, in addition to the usual branches of a liberal education, he received a thorough military training.

In 1882 the family removed to Toronto, Mr. H. A. Massey finding it necessary to give the Toronto factory his closer attention. Walter, who had a strong predilection for literature, scientific research and mechanical engineering, entered Boston University in 1885. He was, however, not permitted to remain there very long, as his eldest brother, Mr. Charles A. Massey, the general manager of the company, died in 1884, necessitating his being called home to familiarize himself with the details of the business, in conjunction with his father and elder brother, Mr. C. D. Massey, he becoming at the same time a director and secretary and treasurer of the company.

He made a tour of the world in 1887-8 in company with his younger brother, Frederic Victor, and during his trip he wrote a series of letters descriptive of his travels to the employes of the company, which were afterwards published.

In 1891 came the amalgamation of the Massey Manufacturing Company with A. Harris, Son & Co., Limited, Brantford, and Massey & Co., Limited, Winnipeg, into one organization, which is known to-day as Massey-Harris Co., Limited. Mr. Massey became one of its directors and its assistant general manager. On the death of the president, Mr. Hart A. Massey, in 1896, Mr. W. E. H. Massey was elected president of the company in his stead.

He was president of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company; first vice-president of the Toronto Board of Trade; president of the City Dairy Company, Limited, Toronto, and of the Verity Plow Co., Limited, Brantford; director and secretary-treasurer of the Sawyer & Massey Company, Limited, Hamilton; and director of the following companies: Bain Waggon Company, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.; National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto; The Carter-Crume Company, Limited, Toronto; director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and director and vice-president of the Insurance Agency Corporation.

He was extensively engaged in the importation and breeding of high-class Jersey, Guernsey and Ayrshire cattle, which he kept on "Dentonia Farm," his summer residence. Mr. Massey was director of the National Sanitorium Association, and a trustee of the Massey Music Hall and Fred Victor Mission.

He was a prominent member of the Methodist Church, and was also a regent of Victoria University and one of the treasurers of the Twentieth Century Thanksgiving Fund of the Methodist Church. Mr. Massey attended for some years Central Methodist Church on Bloor street, of which he was a member and trustee and was also leader of the Young Men's Bible League of that church, which office he had held since its inception ten years ago. He was married on July 11th, 1888, to Miss Susie M. Denton of Boston, Mass., and leaves besides a widow, four children, three girls and a boy, the eldest being a girl twelve years of age.

The Funeral.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from deceased's late residence, 550 Jarvis street, to Central Methodist Church, thence to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

On learning of the death of Mr. Massey, President A. E. Ames of the Board of Trade, yesterday called a meeting of the Council for this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which arrangements will be made for the members to attend the funeral. A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will be held for the same purpose.

MATRIMONIAL AGENCY SEIZED.

Toronto Junction Was the Scene of This Cupid-Assisting Venture.

Toronto Junction, Oct. 29.— Yesterday morning a raid was made by Provincial Detective Greer, Postoffice Inspector Henderson and Chief of Police Royce of the Toronto Junction force upon a matrimonial agency, conducted in the Kilburn Block by a man named B. Kohan. The business was formerly conducted at 829 West King street and at Alliston, but was removed to the Junction about a month ago, where he rented a typewriter and brought with him two clerks. Kohan received some forty letters every day, and Chief Royce, suspecting that swindling operations were being carried on, reported the circumstances to County Crown Attorney Dewart, and yesterday morning's raid resulted.

The letters and literature used by the agency were seized. The postmarks are mostly those of American towns and cities, but two letters received yesterday morning are from the Hamilton district. To people desiring information, letters containing very tempting offers are sent, and a fee of $2 charged. An agency of the same kind at Syracuse, conducted by Kohan, was closed by the United States postal authorities.

Canadian Poultry Win Honors.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Canadian poultry at the Pan-American won more prize money in proportion to the number of entries than did the exhibit of the United States.

Mr. William McNeill of London was awarded the silver cup for the best collection of Poland chickens in competition with all America, and on Saturday was negotiating with a representative of the Chilian Government for the sale of Canadian poultry to the value of $2,000.

Mr. C. G. Creelman, Superintendent of the Farmers' Institutes, says that Ontario exhibits of fruit and live stock were a surprise to visitors from all parts of the continent, and were the subject of much favorable comment.

In the prepared lines of fruits she has secured three silver medals, and one bronze medal for four exhibits.

Sensation at Napanee.

Kingston, Oct. 29.—Sunday evening a young man named Lester Moffat of Napanee, infatuated with Miss Evans, a member of the Tom Marks Dramatic Company, attempted suicide at the Hotel Iroquois, by chloroform, because Miss Evans spurned his love. Medical assistance saved his love. Medical attendance saved the young man's life. The alarm was given by the young actress.

CROCODILE TEARS.

It is astonishing to note the saurian sympathy which Conservative speakers, even including Mr. Whitney, express for Mr. T. Blezard, now that that gentleman has signified his intention to retire from active political life at the close of his present parliamentary term. This tender and touching concern in Mr. Blezard's retirement from the toils of politics, is all the more so when one remembers that for the nearly past quarter of a century during which Mr. Blezard has represented East Peterborough, Conservative sympathy for him has been carefully concealed in a club with which he has politically been vigorously belabour-ed. As to Mr. Blezard's retirement: Eight years ago, on the eve of a general election, Mr. Blezard expressed his wish to retire from the candidature, and, consequently, from the representation of the riding. Four years ago the Liberal nomination was practically forced upon him. At the last Liberal convention at Norwood Mr. Blezard said he would not again be a candidate, and so announced before nominations took place, and a resolution of thanks was unanimously and cordially adopted to Mr. Blezard for his past invaluable services. When the time for nominations came, Mr. Blezard himself nominated Mr. Anderson. The scheme of the Conservatives is too transparent in East Peterborough. Finding that they cannot win on the merits of their leader or the Opposition record, or upon the merits of their candidate, they resort to the expedient of trying to create a grievance, and thereby create dissension in the Liberal ranks. But the game will not succeed. By expressing bogus sympathy for Mr. Blezard, who does not need it, they think they will soften his opposition to the candidature of Dr. Ford, the Opposition nominee. When the time for action comes, Dr. Ford and his supporters will find Mr. Blezard at his post.

OUR LARGEST GOLD MINE.

It is the Belmont in Hastings County.

Large Addition to be Made to the Mill —Bounty on Arsenic Asked by Mining Men—Eastern Ontario Development.

What promises to be the largest gold mine in Ontario, if not in the Dominion, is the Belmont, in Hastings County, in the opinion of Mr. T. W. Gibson, Director of the Bureau of Mines, who visited eastern Ontario last week. There is now a 20-stamp mill in operation, while the owners, the Cordova Mining & Exploration Company, contemplate increasing it to 100 stamps. There are ten well-defined veins on the property, some of them 30 feet wide, and an abundance of ore in sight. About 75 tons of ore are treated daily and 235 men are employed. It is not a high grade ore, but is said to run about $6 a ton. The company are developing a water power at Deer Lake, where they hope to obtain 800 horse power.

Mr. Gibson also visited the Detoro gold mine, operated by the Canadian Gold Fields Co., Limited, which produces both gold and arsenic, and which is said to be the only place at which arsenic is produced on this continent. They are producing about 80 tons of refined arsenic per month, selling at about 4 cents a pound. The gold taken out is also a paying product, although much difficulty was experienced in reducing the refactory ores at this mine. There is a 20-stamp mill in operation, and 160 men are employed.

While at Madoc Mr. Gibson attended a meeting of mining men, at which resolutions were unanimously passed appointing delegations to wait on the Dominion and Provincial Governments to ask for a bounty on refined arsenic. So far it is understood the question has not been considered by either Government. It is claimed that all the arsenic required in America could be produced in Hastings, Germany and England being at present the chief sources.

The Canada Corundum Company have succeeded in overcoming the difficulties of treatment at their works in Renfrew County and are employing 40 men. The supply of raw material is said to be inexhaustible and is the largest known deposit of corundum in the world. Iron mining in Hastings is not progressing so rapidly just now, only two of the properties being operated owing to the low price of ore of that class.

Ontario has in abundance, in some ways, greater than any other country the most important economic minerals. As seen by the foregoing we have at the very doors of Peterborough what is called "our largest gold mine," and we have besides rich deposits of auriferous ore in other parts of the Province — in the Rainy Lake and Lake of the Woods Districts together with the deposits that may be discovered in the future in the 100,000 square miles of New Ontario. We have unsurpassed agricultural resources, some of the best dairying lands in the world, and we have taken a foremost position in developing them with large unemployed resources in this time to yet be drawn upon. Our deposits of nickel are declared to be unsurpassed in any known country, and we are in a position to virtually control the market of the world in this important metal. Our deposits of iron, are of immense and unexhaustible extent. The Helen Mines, the Josephine Mines and the tremendous Atikokan Ranges in New Ontario all now open to railway communication and in course of or ready for development. We have salt wells, petroleum reservoirs under our richest agricultural belts, we have the only arsenic bearing ore on this continent, unlimited deposits of corundum, the base of emery, the most used article in metallurgy, and we have splendid sulphur resources. All of these minerals are important in the arts and manufactures, and the wealth of minerals, the wealth of forests, the floods of unsurpassed water powers, the immense stretches of agricultural land, form a combination of resources which gives scope for the greatest employment of enterprise and call for the action of a Government which believes in and has a policy that aims to bring about with the greatest possible expedition the utilization of these resources. Such a policy will naturally cause a considerable draft upon our financial resources, but it is well worth it and the expense is a small matter of concern to the people of the Province, especially when it is remembered that the people pay no taxes directly for Provincial purposes, and that which is expended in the development of the newer sections of the Province comes back indirectly to the older parts of the province, which are longer settled and have longer enjoyed the benefits of the provincial expenditure that has been made in the past.

Considerable, and sometimes, perhaps, unthinking, opposition is made to the expenditure of Provincial funds in bonuses. As a matter of fact the Provincial Government has practically ceased the giving of cash bonuses to railways. Instead, for colonization railways, land grants are given, a system which practically makes the railways build themselves. The lands thus given are for all practical purposes, useless and valueless, and will remain so unless railway access is given them. This makes the lands of value, not only those given to aid construction, but those of the Province adjacent and tributary to the railway, so that such land grants increase the value of the people's lands, the area of which is hundreds of times greater than that of the land grants. Whatever the merits of giving bonuses to manufactories, such as that of beet root sugar, in order to give the farmers a profitable market for a new crop, the fact remains that this benefits the farmer without his being called upon to contribute to the bonus; for the money comes from the Provincial resources, and no additional tax is levied to furnish it. The same cannot be said of bonuses given by municipalities, which come directly from the pockets of the ratepayers, and the giving of these bonuses are in the hands of the ratepayers. If they chose to give them it is their own affair, and drastic legislation to forbid the people to make what use they please of their own would be subversive of the principle of representative institutions. The people are supreme; the powers of their representatives may be restricted but the people have a free hand.

A Daily Nuisance.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later the disease extends to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucous, stoppage of the nostrils, irritation in throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging, and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often give temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh, is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These Tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalyptol and similar cleansing antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth, in this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire alimentary canal.

If desired, they can also be dissolved in water and used as a douche, in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche —a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use internally of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche.

Dr. Bemont states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching and local applications, and further says that probably the best and certainly the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are contained in this tablet."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at fifty cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist, and if he is honest he will tell you there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the market.

LOCAL LEGAL.

SINGLE COURT BEFORE STREET, J.

Re Cameron, Humphries v. Cameron. —Judgement (L.) on appeals by plaintiff and administrators of estate of Mary A. Humphries, a legatee, from the interim report of the Master at Peterborough in an administration action. The Master held that an agreement between the plaintiff and the solicitor for the adult defendants other than Mary Ann Humphries having been assented to by them, and not being objected to by the official guardian, was valid and binding upon all parties, and that these proceedings should therefore, as agreed, be confined to the Otonabee farm devised by the testator, and that plaintiff, the executor of Duncan Cameron, the testator, should have the whole proceeds of the farm, $1,858 (less cost of this action), to idemnify him against the defendants in question due for certain costs. It appeared that the interest of the infants in the farm are worthless by reasons of the charges made against it by the testator. Held that the infant defendant D. C. Humphries, the devisee of the farm, and Mary Ann Humphries, who was given a charge upon it, were both entitled to have a due proportion of the debts and liabilities of the estate and costs of administration proceedings, charged against the other farm of the testator, known as the Asphodel farm, and no alteration of their rights in this respect could be made without their consent, and the agreement being conditional upon the consent of the clients of the solicitor for the defendants being obtained and communicated to plaintiff's solicitor, the solicitor had a right to withdraw before such consent was obtained, and his statement that because the consent of the official guardian was not forthcoming, he intended to proceed with the administration of the whole estate, was a sufficient withdrawal from the agreement, which was then at an end, and could not be revived by any subsequent assent. Gillies v. Leonino, 4 C. B. N. S. 485. Appeals allowed with costs. Costs of official guardian to be paid by appellants and added to their own. Administration of the estate to proceed. E. B. Edwards, K.C., for plaintiff. W. E. Middleton for administrators of M. A. Humphries. L. M. Hayes (Peterborough) for adult defendants. F. W. Harcourt for official guardian.

NEW CANADIAN ORDER

Railway Men to Unite Independent of Foreign Bodies.

MOVEMENT HAS BEEN BEGUN

Canadian Engineers, Firemen, Trainmen, Conductors and Telegraphers Are Taxed $150,000 Yearly for Connection With International Union—Convention to Meet at Ottawa About Nov. 20.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—A movement is on foot to organize an order to be known as the Canadian Order of Railwaymen, independent of the International bodies, which control the various orders in Canada. Those directly interested in the movement are the engineers, the firemen, the trainmen, the conductors, and the telegraphers.

Recent developments are responsible for the new movement, as it has been demonstrated to Canadian railroad men that as an organized body they have no prestige in their own country, owing to their connection with international organizations. Canadian railway men remit over $150,000 a year to the headquarters of these international associations in the United States.

If sufficient encouragement is given to the movement, steps will be taken to call a convention to meet at Ottawa about Nov. 20 to establish a grand division. In the prospectus just issued, and distributed among railway men in this city, it is set out that the objects of the new organization are: to bring the five classes of railway labor in Canada into closer contact for their mutual benefit and protection; to make it a national organization to be conducted and governed by Canadian executives; to further the interests of the members and form a fraternal body to assist its members in sickness or disability; to provide an insurance department; to provide favorable legislation for railway employes, and to oppose unjust anti-railway legislation; to limit by practice and organization and regulate the supply of skilled railway employes in the operating departments for the purpose of alleviating the privations and sufferings which bear heavily on the unemployed railway wage earners, and indirectly upon all engaged in transportation through unnecessary over-production of railway employes, and to protect the interests of its members under all conditions that may arise.

The proposed order will curtail expenses by doing away with class organization and placing the affairs in one corporate body, rendering it unnecessary to contribute to the maintenance of five grand lodges, and formally to insure recognition with railway property managements by placing affairs in the hands of grand officers, not liable to be placed in the humiliating position of being refused an audience on account of being foreigners.

That Canadians are fully competent to manage their own affairs there is no room for doubt, as there are in Canada some of the best men in the railway service.

WILL SEARCH FOR MISS STONE.

Six Bulgarians Have Undertaken the Task of Finding Her.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 29.— Six young Bulgarians have banded themselves to search for Miss Ellen M. Stone and Madame Tsilka, and with the consent of the Bulgarian authorities, have left Samakov for Mehomia with this object in view.

The absence of news about Miss Stone has led to a revival of the report that she has already been killed and that the brigands have dispersed.

Half Ransom Ready.

Constantinople, Oct. 29.—A point which is much discussed among those here who are interested in the case is what shall be done if the brigands insist on being paid the £25,000 (Turkish), which they at first demanded, scarcely half that sum is available thus far, and it is believed that should an agreement on reduced terms be impossible, the offer of a less sum than £25,000 (Turkish) will be withdrawn, even at the cost of the life of Miss Stone.

Militia Did Admirably.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—The following militia order was issued yesterday:

The Major-General commanding desires to convey to all ranks of the Canadian militia his very great satisfaction at the highly creditable manner in which the forces carried out all the ceremonial duties required of them during the recent tour of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. At the royal reviews held at Quebec and Toronto, the general appearance of the troops, their soldier-like bearing and their steadiness under arms was, with but few exceptions, excellent, and earned the approval of His Royal Highness.

Dr. Wiley Coming.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—The Ontario Agricultural and Experimental Union has been exceedingly fortunate in securing a promise from Dr. W. H. Wiley, Washington, D.C., to give an address to our Agricultural College on the sugar beet industry. Dr. Wiley is the chief of the division of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. This address will be given at the time of the annual meeting of the Experimental Union, and will likely take place in the Convocation Hall at the College, on Monday evening, Dec. 9.

Ophir Due November 1.

Born Near Brantford.

Rossland, B. C., Oct. 28.—A report is to hand from Spokane, Wash., that Miss Elizabeth Hoggan was found dead in a room at the Pacific Hotel, where she had registered from Rossland. The indications pointed to death from heart-failure. The deceased was about 30 years of age, a native of Newport, near Brantford, Ont., and has a brother at Burton, B. C., and a sister at Montros, Col. She was a trained nurse at the Women's Hospital in Buffalo, N. Y., and had a responsible position there.

In King Alfred's Memory.

New York, Oct. 28.—In a number of New York churches yesterday services were held in commemoration of the millenial of King Alfred. Ceremonies incident to the event will be continued to-day, and it is the intention of those who promoted these ceremonies to establish some fitting, permanent memorial to the famous King in the New York Public Library.

CZOLGOSZ'S LAST HOURS.

President McKinley's Assassin Refuses the Good Offices of the Clergy—Fakirs and Their Money-Making Schemes.

Auburn, Oct. 28.— By 7.15 o'clock to-morrow Leon F. Czolgosz will have paid the tribute with his life to the law as the murderer of President William McKinley, and, unless he undergoes great change of heart and strength in the few hours of life left to him, he will go to the electric chair to be killed, unconfessed and unrepentant. He suffered a slight nervous attack late to-day, but remained sullen and stoical up to the time the prison closed at 10 o'clock. He refused to heed the words of the priests who came to make spiritual preparation for death, and declined to either re-embrace Roman Catholicism or renounce anarchy. Thus, unless he changes his mind, there will be no religious ceremony at the end. He showed no strength of love for kin, nor did he turn to any of those higher considerations which ordinarily claim the thoughts of men occupying his position. He may have suffered untold torture, but outwardly he seemed sullen and indifferent.

The state is not to surrender possession of his body, and by sundown it will have been secretly interred in ground controlled by the officials of Auburn Prison. Waldeck Czolgosz, brother of the murderer, foreseeing endless difficulties and possibly angry demonstrations, in an attempt to give the body ordinary burial, heeded the advice of Superintendent of States Prisons Collins and Warden Meade, and formally relinquished all claim to it. He merely stipulated that at the close of the autopsy, the body should be buried intact. All chance of an unhappy and unfortunate sequel to the execution, either in displays or of popular contempt, or the exhibition of ghastly relics, is, therefore, finally stopped.

The plan of burning his clothing and papers will be carried out immediately after the execution.

The electrical machine is ready for its work: Auburn Prison is carefully guarded; the city is in its usual calm, and there seems to be no circumstance standing in the way of a successful and expeditious execution of the law.

The resolution of Superintendent Collins to prevent spectacle or sensation in the transportation and burial or cremation of the body of Czolgosz took new zest from two offers that were submitted to-day by men of questionable enterprise. A museum keeper in one of the larger eastern cities telegraphed him an offer of $5,000, spot cash, for either the body or the garments of the murderer, and the owner of a kinetoscope wired Warden Meade that he would pay $2,000 for permission to take a moving picture of the murderer entering the death chamber.

Refused to Do It.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The Buffalo Crematory Company has refused to cremate the remains of Czolgosz

Thrown Before an Engine.

Moncton, Oct. 29.—Samuel Landry, while driving down a hill to the railway station at Memramcook yesterday afternoon was killed by the C. P. R. express from Halifax. His horse ran away, and upset the wagon, and threw Landry in front of the engine.

Is Your Child in Danger?

Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Severe Chest Colds are Threatening.

It is the old story of wet feet, exposure to cold and dampness and chilled bodies. Towards night the hoarseness comes and the hollow, croupy or tight chest cough. Then mother's anxiety, for she knows the danger and the suddenness with which the little ones are sometimes snatched away. When you think of the thousands of times that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has saved the lives of the little ones it is scarcely to be wondered at that mothers look upon it with confidence and satisfaction.

Mr. Peter Sidey, 530 Clinton street, Toronto, states:—"Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is, in my opinion, a splendid remedy for children, being at once soothing and easy to take. It cured my two-year-old girl of a bad cold and croupy cough. It was no trouble to get her to take it, and the relief was remarkably quick."

Mr. D. Graham, 45 Callendar street, Toronto, states:—"My boy, aged six years, was developing all the symptoms of pneumonia, when we commenced giving him this valuable remedy. It very quickly checked the advance of disease, and in a few days he was as well as ever and at school again."

SCIENTIFIC LECTURE.

Mr. Fife's Able Address at Charlotte Street League Last Night—Heartily Thanked.

A large and attentive audience greeted Mr. Fife's lecture before the Charlotte street League last night, on the subject, "Water and its place in the economy of nature."

By a series of experiments the component gases of water and some of their properties were interestingly demonstrated. Its occurrence in nature together with its solvent powers and buoyant effect were strikingly illustrated.

The mechanical force of water was exemplified by rivers, both surface and subterranean. By surface rivers mountains are being hurried to the seas, coast towns are becoming gradually inland centres, and huge delta formations are gathering along the coasts. Subterranean rivers give rise to such excavations as the mammoth cave.

In dealing with water in the form glaciers, Mr. Fife showed how glaciers were formed and gave some idea of their rate of motion and their power of erasion. The speaker further described the glaciers of Greenland and Alaska, and that age in the formation of North America when Canada consisted of vast glacial areas.

At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Fife and on every side were heard the liveliest expressions of pleasure and satisfaction with the lecture.

WEDDING AT ST. LUKE'S.

Mr. E. M. Poussett Married to Miss Alice E. Meade This Morning

A wedding of more than ordinary interest, took place at St. Luke's Anglican church, Ashburnham, at 9.30 o'clock, this morning, it being the occasion of the marriage of Miss Alice E. Meade, second daughter of the late Richard Meade, to Mr. E. Macklem Poussett, of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co.

The wedding took place from "Bell View," the handsome residence of Mrs. John Burnham, aunt of the bride.

St. Luke's church had on its gala attire. The interior of the edifice was elaborately decorated for the occasion, the sanctuary being particularly beautified with flowers, palms, etc., the work being done by the Girls' Guild of St. Luke's church, of which the bride was a prominent member.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's, assisted by Rev. J. C. Davidson, of St. John's. As the bridal party entered the church, the organist, Prof. Davies, rendered "Entree de Procession," which was followed by Stephen Heller's wedding march. The choir during the service rendered excellently the hymn "How Welcome was the Call," and "Sweet the Festal Day."

The bride was given away by her uncle, Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers. She looked charming, indeed, gowned in white organdie, wearing a veil and orange blossoms. Her bridesmaids were her two sisters, Miss Kathleen and Miss Gwendoline, who were attired in gowns of white organdie and black picture hats. They carried bouquets of chrysanthemums.

The groom was supported by Mr. Hazen Ritchie, formerly of the Canadian General Electric Co., town, and now of Montreal.

The ushers were Messrs. W. D. Parker, Hal. B. Burnham, A. A. Hollingshead, and George C. Burnham. Messrs. Stanley Burton and Herbert E. Wood admitted the guests to the guests pews.

As the wedding party left the church, Mendelssohn's wedding march pealed forth from the church organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Poussett left on the G.T.R. noon train for Toronto and other points, and will on their return take up their residence at No. 607 Stewart street

The bride is one of Peterborough's most charming and popular young ladies, and the groom is highly esteemed by all who know him. He was the recipient of a handsome dinner service from the employees of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co.

The Examiner joins with their hosts of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Poussett many years of happiness and prosperity.

WEDDED IN PAISLEY.

The Bride is Well Known and has Many Friends in Peterborough.

The residence of Mr. Peter Porter, of Fairview Farm, 2nd concession, Elderslie, Bruce County, was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday, Oct. 16th, at 3.30 p.m., when his sister, Miss Lizzie Porter, was united in wedlock to Mr. William Aitkens, of Paisley.

The Rev. J. Johnston, of Knox church, Paisley, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride was tastefully dressed in a dark green travelling suit, trimmed with pale blue cloth and sequins, and carried in her hand a bouquet of snowballs and myrtle.

After the ceremony, the guests numbering twenty, sat down to an excellent supper provided by Mr. and Mrs. Porter, and everything was done in a style which testified to the abilities of Mrs. Porter in this line. After all had done justice to the sumptuous repast they repaired to the parlour and some time was spent in music and social intercourse. The guests left, wishing the bride and groom much happiness in their new relations. The presents were numerous and useful. Mr. and Mrs. Paisley will reside in Paisley, and will be at home to their friends after November 1st.

A BARRISTER MARRIED.

Mr. O. A. Langley of Lakfield, Wedded to Miss Bray of Oakville.

The marriage took place on Thursday last at Oakville, Ont., of Mr. O. A. Langley, barrister-at-law, to Miss Gertrude Bray, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bray. The interesting event took place at the home of the bride's parents, at 9.30 a.m. The bride was becomingly attired in her travelling dress of blue frieze and black velvet hat, and carried a large boquet of white crysanthemums. There was no bridesmaid or groomsman. Miss Applebe played Mendelsshon's wedding march. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. Worrell, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and flowers for the occasion. After congratulations had been extended by the guests, a sumptuous breakfast was served in the dining room, after which Mr. and Mrs. Langley left on the 11.40 train for a trip eastward. Upon their return they will reside at Lakefield. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome mink muff and a watch. Their many friends wish them great prosperity and happiness in their wedded life.

A Good Move.

In the present scarcity of houses and the certainty that in the near future there will be a demand far beyond the present supply, we notice with pleasure that Mr. Dumble is putting lots on the market at prices and terms that will enable men of small means to buy and build. For instance lots that he sells at $200 may be paid for in quarterly payments of $6.66 each. So that in 10 years the lot will be paid for, and the purchaser is enabled to put his money into a house. This is giving the poor man a chance to get for himself a home and get rid of the landlord.

HUNTERS MOVING NORTH.

Several Parties Leave To-night—The Eagle Lake Hunt Club.

The Head-Wills hunting party will leave to-night for a two week's outing at the head of Eagle Lake. The party will be composed of Messrs. Arthur Head, H. Wills, B. Mitchell, J. Welsh, C. Butcher, and E. Milburn.

Rev. W. L. Armitage and Mr. E. B. Stone leave on Monday next to join their old party in the Coe Hill District.

Dr. T. N. Greer and Mr. J. D. Collins left to-day to join a Cobourg hunting party, composed of Wm. Black, Charles McCallum, Geo. Mitchell, Dr. Bennett and Mr. Fits-Hugh. The party camps in the Parry Sound District, within about five miles of the Algonquin Park.

To-morrow night the Eagle Lake Hunting Club leave the Commercial House at 9 o'clock for their hunting grounds on the lake of that name. This party has for years been the most successful hunting party going to the north country. This year they take with them nine canoes, a large Klondike and 22 hounds, some of the latter being, the Bobcaygeon gentleman says, the best pedigreed dogs in all Canada. The party is composed of Jack Cottingham, (Capt.) who is an enthusiastic hunter, having learned the business in the swamps of Emily; Geo. Fitzgerald, the celebrated shot and canoeist; Chas. Westlake, a graduate of Harvey; Chas. Gunsolus, the trapper and hunter, late of Little Bob.; Chas. James, R. Tivey, the noted trap shots; Tommy Parker, who on this occasion will puncture deer instead of mending punctured tires; ex-Ald. W. White, Jos. Goselin, the "steakbeef" man; Geo. Mitchell, of London; Mark Dobson, famous as a fox hunter; M. C. Tooley, Farmer Pierson, Sam Courier, the Rice Lake duck champion; W. Creamer, who a few days ago was presented with a compass, to avoid accidents of former years. John Irwin goes as cook. Owing to activity in building, R. Sheehy and H. Evans, members of the club, will not be able to go, much to their regret.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.

The anniversary services at Park street Baptist church concluded last night.

There was a departure from the old-time custom of serving a tea. There was simply a platform meeting at eight o'clock, when the pastor took the chair, and the following programme was given:

Prayer ... . Rev. J. Bastow, M.A.

Selection ... ...by the Choir

Address ... ...Rev. J. Bastow, M.A.
Recitation ... ...Miss White

Though the attendance was not so large as is usual at a tea-meeting, it was an occasion of pleasure and profit to all who were there. The free will offering amounted to nearly $11.00. The church thoroughly appreciates the kindness and excellent assistance of those who helped us on the programme.

REGARDING PARTRIDGE.

It is an Offence to Offer Them for Sale in Any Manner.

Many of the merchants of the town are offering for sale partridge, evidently unaware of the fact that it is directly contrary to the provisions of the game laws. For several weeks past an unlimited amount of game of this sort has been placed on exhibition for sale in town and it would be well for those who have been dealing in this line of game to consider their position. If they will look up sub-section 2, of section 15, chapter 49, Revised Statutes of Ontario, they will find that it is an offence to offer partridge for sale before September 1905.

It is said that the police intend taking action in the matter.

If it is asthma, bronchitis, croup, or any such trouble, use Vapo-Cresolene. All Druggists.

MILITARY GLORY.

"Elector," in a letter to Saturday's Globe, undertakes to criticize a communication from Peterborough which appeared in the Military Gazette, and which advocated the adoption of such legislation as would necessitate three years identification with the volunteers before the enjoyment of the privileges of the franchise. "Elector" takes the ground that this system is equivalent to conscription, and in assailing the principles advocated creats a man of straw and then knocks him down by stating that the 57th Regiment was in a state of demoralization a fortnight before participating in the review before the Duke of Cornwall. If the rawest of raw recruits could do as well, "Elector" sees no reason for conscription.

Without being drawn into an argument pro or con in regard to the system advocated by the writer to the Military Gazette, still we think it is but fair that "Elector" should be called to task for casting an aspersion on the 57th by designating them as "the rawest of raw recruits." As a matter of fact the Rangers never drilled more consistently than they did during the summer months, and that this labour was not wasted was evidenced by the warm words of praise which were given them by Lt.-Col. Otter, a man so chary of compliments. If "Elector" has no better argument to advance against "conscription," as he terms it, then he has most assuredly lost the day.

CAPT. A. L. YOUNG HONOURED.

(From the Souris Plain-Dealer.)

"Captain A. L. Young, returned on Friday last from the shooting party at Lake Manitoba. He reports having had a most enjoyable time. Before leaving His Royal Highness the Duke of York, presented the Captain with a very handsome breast pin in morocco leather case, with the Royal Arms emblazoned upon it, as a souvenir of the occasion. Needless to say the recipient is justly proud of the distinction and values it very highly."

Captain A. L. Young is a younger brother of Sergeon-Major Young, of town.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

What is Going on in Peterborough's Annex—Improvements.

In the general advance in the commercial progress of the community, the village of Ashburnham is holding its own, and during the past summer season an exceptional amount of building operations has gone on in various parts of the village. It is, in fact, some time since so many new houses have been in the course of erection and improvements of so extensive a nature undertaken in connection with others.

Mr. Wm. Collins, Ashburnham's well known grocery and liquor merchant has about completed some very elaborate improvements and renovations to his establishment on Elizabeth street. This is one of the oldest established business houses in either Peterborough or Ashburnham, being the old Rogers' store, and the present building in which Mr. Collins carries on his grocery and liquor business was erected in 1856. The greatest renovation that it ever received and, perhaps, the only thorough one, has been in progress during the past few weeks. On the outside the building has been painted and generally brightened up. A beautiful hardwood floor has been laid inside, the woodwork has been artistically painted, the ceiling papered to produce a harmonising effect and new counters are substituted for the ones that have done service for so many years. Messrs. Duncan and Doupe did the painting and decorating. Mr. Collins can pride himself on having an up-to-date store in every sense of the word.

Mr. David Conroy's new house at the corner of Elizabeth and Lake streets is about completed and makes a very creditable substitute for the structure that was destroyed by fire some months ago.

Mr. Weir, of Otonabee, is erecting a beautiful new house at the corner of Elizabeth and Stewart streets. The contractors are Messrs. Malcolm and Arch.

Mr. E. A. Peck's handsome new residence on the corner of Stewart Sophia streets will be one of the most modern houses in the village.

The steamer Water Lily has been engaged for some time in bringing cordwood up from Birdsall's Landing, Rice Lake, for the Calcutt Brewing and Malting Company. The Water Lily has brought up about 300 cords this fall. To-day the Water Lily is towing a scow load of grain from Hale's Bridge.

The steamer City of Peterborough is lying at the Ashburnham wharf these days. It is quite probable that she will be soon taken out of the water for the winter.

"If I Only Knew."

A man applied for a position in the town a few days ago, and as far as his knowledge of the actual work went was well qualified to fill it. He would have succeeded in securing it, but a man was needed who had a knowledge of bookkeeping and mechanical drawing. "If I only knew these, the job would be mine." He missed the chance, but is now entering classes at the Y.M.C.A. evening school so as to be ready for the next. There are other men by the score who will not be as wise as he is—they will go through life satisfied with a dollar a day job, when they might be earning two or three. All because they failed to see their opportunity to improve, and to grasp it. It is not yet too late yet to join the Y.M.C.A. evening classes.

MR. ROBT. NEILL THE PRESIDENT.

The Thistle Curlers Elected Him Last Night.

A WELL-ATTENDED MEETING.

Members Anticipate a Most Successful Season—Game Promises to Boom This Year.

The members of the Thistle Curling Club assembled in force at the rink last evening for the purpose of holding their annual meeting. As usual the players were brim full of enthusiasm and the names of many new players were mentioned whose presence will run the club membership up to a number not attained since organization.

President Dickson Davidson occupied the chair and after speaking of the prosperity of the club, expressed the hope that there would be no abatement this season in the enthusiasm and bon camaraderie, which has always characterized the Thistle Club.

The question of fees brought on an animated discussion, resulting in an agreement being reached which was thoroughly satisfactory to both the members and the Rink Company.

A communication was read from J. A McFadden, secretary of the Ontario Curling Association, stating that this season annuals would be forwarded to the club members free of charge, and asking that a list of the officers, skips and members be forwarded by November 1st.

The Club Secretary was instructed to comply with the request.

Previous to the election of officers, Mr. John A. Cameron remarked on the entire satisfaction to the club with which the officers had discharged their duties last year. They had done everything in their power to further the interests of the game. A more capable set of officers could not, in his opinion, have been selected to look after the affairs of the club. They had worked early and late. He was sure he was only voicing the sentiments of the entire membership when he moved a hearty vote of thanks to all of them individually and collectively. He thought that it would be a good idea to re-elect all of the office holders.

Mr. Davidson and Mr. C. N. Brown both expressed the belief that it was in the best interests of the club that the honours should be passed around.

The election of officers then took place as follows:

Patron and Patroness—Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGill.
President—Mr. Robert Neill.
1st Vice-President — Dr. Greer.
2nd Vice-President — Mr. Robert Kerr.
Sec.-Treas. — Mr. C. N. Brown.
Chaplain — Rev. Geo. Yule.
Executive Committee — Dr. Mober, Messrs. A. H. Stratton, W. G. Ferguson, J. S. Knapman and the officers.
Representatives to the O. C. A. — Messrs. W. G. Ferguson and Charles McGill.
Skips — Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, D. Davidson, T. Rutherford, C. Rutherford, Robert Kerr, C. N. Brown, S. Ray, J. S. Knapman, J. Stanger and Arthur Blade.

In moving the re-election of Mr. C. N. Brown as Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. W. G. Ferguson referred to that official as the most capable man who had ever filled the office.

The members re-elected him by a standing vote, three cheers and the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow."

On leaving the chair Mr. Davidson thanked the officers for the assistance they had given him in the discharge of their duties and, on behalf of the officers, expressed their appreciation of the manner in which the members, as a whole, had rallied to their support.

Dr. Greer, 1st Vice-President, ascended the dias in the absence of President Neill, and in thanking the members for electing him, stated that he would endeavour to further the interests of curling, as far as lay in his power. With the efficient set of officers that had been elected during the evening, his task looked to be an easy one. He hoped that in his official position he would do credit to the Club.

The members then adjourned until called together for the selection of rinks next month.

—The Toronto Star boasts of a fog horn, the largest ever made, constructed in Toronto for the Dominion Government. The Star suggests that some idea of its size can be formed from the fact that it can be heard 12 or 15 miles. That's nothing—compare the whistle of the Canadian General Electric Works. This can be heard, and has been heard at Idyl Wyld, about 20 miles and goodness knows how much further. The people of Keene, thirteen miles from Peterborough, habitually regulate their clock and watches by the whistle of the Electric Works. Toronto is always anxious to blow its own horn, but we can go them one better in the matter of far reaching noise producers.

ALFRED THE GREAT.

ENCOURAGEMENT HE GAVE TO THE ARTS OF CIVILIZATION.

A Name Which Has Grown Brighter as the Centuries Passed in the Last 1,000 Years of the World's History—How He Advanced the Cause of Christianity—Interesting Details of His Life.

The celebration at Winchester, England, recently, of the 1000th anniversary of the death of King Alfred has called anew the attention of the world to that early English ruler whose name has grown steadily brighter with the passing of centuries. It may be interesting to inquire briefly on what foundation his great fame rests, says the Rev. J. T. Sunderland, M.A., in Sunday World.

Alfred was King for 30 years, from 871 to 901, A.D., but not King of all England. He ruled over only what was known as the Kingdom of Wessex, in the south, which comprised about one-third of England. But the work he did made the unity of England only a question of time, and ensured that English civilization and English institutions would develop along essentially the lines which he had marked out.

His reign fell at a most critical time in English history. When he ascended the throne the Anglo-Saxons, who had come as invaders from northern Germany and subdued the original Britons, had been in possession of the land for three centuries. During this time they had accepted Christianity and had made much progress in enlightenment.

But now a time of sore trial came upon them. The home which three centuries ago their fathers had won they must now fight to defend from another set of invaders swarming across the sea from Denmark. By the time Alfred came upon the scene these fierce non-Christian Danes had fought many battles with the Anglo-Saxons or English, and had established themselves in many parts of the land. Indeed, it was a question waiting to be settled, which should permanently possess, rule and give their language and institutions to the country, the English or the Danes. Alfred, by the success of his arms, but more still by his enlightened policy as an administrator, answered the question in favor of the English.

The early years of his reign he was compelled to give largely to military matters. Some of them were very dark years. Again and again he suffered severe defeats. Only courage, persistence, determination, devotion to his people and military genius such as find few parallels in history, enabled him finally to win the day.

At last he defeated the Danes by land and sea. He did not drive them out of England, but he drove them out of his own kingdom and made that secure. This done, he turned to the far more congenial task of making his kingdom worth preserving, of ruling his people well, of promoting the arts of peace, of advancing all the higher interests of his realm.

King Alfred was a brave and skillful warrior. But he did not love war. He loved peace. He was great enough to be able to see that war can never make nations strong or prosperous, or great. War destroys; only peace can build up. He would fight to defend his country, but for no other purpose. Important as was his work in driving out the Danes and giving military protection to his kingdom, his greatest deeds and those that have had far the most enduring results in English history were those of peace.

We may recall some of his peace achievements. He encouraged shipbuilding, and thus laid the foundation of the British marine. He promoted agriculture. He fostered trade and such manufactures as were possible in those times. He did much building, bringing architects and skilled builders from other lands. He restored many towns which had been destroyed by the Danes. He rebuilt London, making it once more a city of great importance.

He established schools, and gave constant and earnest attention to the diffusion of knowledge. He brought teachers and learned men from abroad. What was most remarkable, he planned and in a measure carried out a more complete system of primary education for the people than was known in England in any subsequent age down to our own generation.

He devoted much time and attention to improving the laws of the land. He gave most rigid supervision to his law courts, to see that they meted out equal justice to rich and [illegible] to nobles and common people.

He did everything in his power to foster religion. He was deeply religious himself. He gave religion a prominent place in his schools. He promoted the education of the clergy, and took care that the men who were given positions of influence in the church should be men of learning, high character and sincere piety.

By these various methods he steadily promoted the prosperity of his realm, elevated the whole life of his people and laid the most solid and enduring foundations possible for the greatness of England.

But his most important achievement, and that which had the profoundest influence upon the future, was his work as a translator and an author. In that day Latin was the language in which nearly all European learning was embodied. Alfred found the English people wholly dependent for their writings in prose upon that tongue, which few could read. They had some poetry of their own—the long poem of Caedmon, and various ballads and battle songs—for poetic literature always precedes prose. But of prose literature they had none; and, indeed, they possessed only a crude, half formed prose language. Alfred changed all that. He selected a number of the most valuable Latin books of the time—historical, philosophical and religious—and translated them into the vernacular, with extensive additions and comments of his own. Thus he gave to the English people a very considerable prose literature—the first they possessed—and in a style which Frederick Harrison declares to be as perfect as anything in England until the appearance of the English Bible, and in quiet force, simplicity and purity not surpassed until the age of Addison. Says Stafford Brooke, Alfred "was the creator and then the father of English prose literature." His books "were the origin of English prose." This is high praise. But the growing consensus of judgment among scholars is that it is just. Such an achievement gives to King Alfred a foremost place in English history, even if he had no other claims. Add to it all the rest, and we see on how high a pedestal he stands.

Alfred is the only ruler of England who, by general consent, has had attached to his name the adjective "great." Why has he been thus honored?

We have already found the answer. It was because he did the greatest things for his kingdom that can be done for any nation: He defended it from its foes, and then he gave his whole strength, not to subduing and ruling other peoples, but to making his own people strong, wise, happy, noble, intellectually and morally great. Few English kings ever served their country with such unselfish and perfect devotion. None ever served her on so high a plane of service.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

The Sovereign Did Not Count.

In England unattached good stories are generally, by a kind of prescriptive right, the property of the London cabby. From him directly comes a recent anecdote of the King's salad days. The cabby tells that two distinguished strangers hailed him at Westminster Palace and bade him drive at top speed to Marlborough House. After a moment of recollection he recognized the Prince of Wales and his friend, the King of Belgium. An awkward attempt at an obeisance from the box was promptly rebuked, and the cabby settled down to his business of driving his royal guests as fast as a handsom may go in London streets. They stopped at Marlborough House, and it was time to pay. "Well driven, cabby," said the Prince. "What do I owe you?" The cabby: "Please, sir, I've already 'ad a sovereign and a 'arf in the 'ansom," bowing to the Prince and the King of Belgium. "Here's for the King of Belgium, then," said the Prince, handing the driver a sovereign. "I don't count, you know."

Children's Sleeping Rooms.

A physician gives the following hints regarding proper sleeping rooms for the children.

The apartment should be ventilated during the night as well as the day.

Gas stoves consume the air required by the child, and are not advisable in a sleeping room.

No sweeping should be done while the children are in the room. If, however, because of sickness, this is necessary, dust the furniture and floor with a moist cloth and use a carpet sweeper instead of a broom.

Soap for Cancer

If we are to believe J. H. Webb, M. R.C.S., England, who has made a statement to the Intercolonial Medical Journal of Australia, the cure for cancer is to be found in a very simple remedy. He has made some experiments upon cancer patients. He asserts that they have been cured and that the agent in this recovery is soap.—Sanitary Record.

STYLISH WAISTS.

Many of Them Have the Openwork Hemstitched Effect.

Pretty waists are made of taffeta ornamented with rows of hemstitching. This hemstitching gives a semitransparent effect when the goods are cut out from beneath. These waists are usually worn over linings of contrasting colors. Thus a waist of navy blue will show glimpses of bright red silk. White and brocaded satin held together with gold thread hemstitching is one of the novelties. These white waists are worn with lace or crepe de chine skirts.

Most of the separate waists show very elaborate trimmings, and lace and embroidered mousseline boleros figure largely on the most elaborate of them.

Waists made of three different shades of lace are the latest fad in Paris.

in the illustration. It would be very suitable to those women who are slight and therefore cannot wear the conventional close fitting tailor made. The Eton jacket is cut loosely and is shirred in across the arms at an equivalent height on the body above the bust. The sleeves are bishop, with a long tight fitting cuff. There is a long, narrow collar of buff lace edged with narrow black velvet ribbons, and the jacket itself fastens with a rosette of this narrow velvet ribbon. The skirt is made with a wide flounce headed with four rows of shirring and edged with three black velvet ribbons. The wide belt is of black panne.

Only When He Talked.

Jim Hopkins was in town one day recently and incidentally told a story about Bill Sawyer, who lives in his community. Bill is a good natured fellow and has a strong vein of humor in his composition, but he stammers so that it is almost painful to hear him attempt to say anything. Bill was talking to a woman the other day with whom he was only slightly acquainted, and, being somewhat embarrassed, he stammered more than usual, whereupon the lady exclaimed, "My goodness, Mr. Sawyer, do you always stutter like that?" "N-n-n-n-no," replied Sawyer, "only wh-wh-when I t-t-t-t-talk."

Kidney Troubles of Children.

There are many mothers blessing Dr. Pitcher and his wonderful Backache Kidney Tablets. This remedy has proved so successful for that serious affliction of children—bed wetting—that mothers rejoice to know of a positive cure. The Tablets have a strengthening and tonic influence on the weak urinary organs of children and enable them to retain their water naturally.

Don't let your child grow up with this weakness blighting his life. Have the trouble cured in time before it does permanent injury to the health.

THE DIFFICULTY REMOVED.

Mrs. W. M. Glover, Pearl Street, Brockville, Ont., says: "One of my children that had been suffering from sluggish kidneys read about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and procured a bottle from F. R. Carry's drug store. They removed the whole difficulty promptly. That depressing pain over the kidneys stopped, dizziness and headaches ceased, and there was a general invigorating of the system. There is no question regarding the merits of these Tablets for the back and kidneys."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

LOVE'S REVENGE.

She lightly tossed his flower away,
And joined the careless throng,
He stopped a moment where it lay
And picked it up, all soiled and they Smiled back who passed along.

He kept the flower, soiled and frayed,
With what he treasured best;
His fingers often o'er it strayed,
And oft his loving lips were laid
Where once it touched her breast.

And she with shame writ on her face,
Some [illegible] sat far apart
From those with whom she shared disgrace
And wept for having gone the pace
To merely break a heart.

FAKE CURIOS.

How an English Newspaper Gets Even With Paris, France.

You can have antiquities made while you wait nowadays. Many people are aware of this, but comparatively few know that Paris is the centre of the manufacture of antiquities. The selling of spurious articles of vertu in the French capital is managed very cleverly, says The London Express.

Dealers in alleged antiquities have agents in the slum quarters of Paris and in small neighboring towns. There are many little curio shops in coast towns of Brittany. Few of the articles sold in these places are genuine. Here is the way the antique game is worked:

When a tourist makes his appearance he is either offered a drink from a cup of rare design or food from a plate of apparent old Dresden.

Ambitious to be thought a true connoisseur, he becomes enraptured and buys the article, paying a fabulous sum for what is worth but a few francs.

If the visitor is the least bit skeptical about purchasing, the dealer usually informs him that the curio belongs to an old lady, the last of a noble family, who is forced to part with treasures that have been in the family for 200 years or more.

Of course the old lady in question is an agent of the "fake" dealer, and it is only after a good deal of persuasion, backed finally by a good round sum, that she will consent to sell.

There are many tricks used in manufacturing antiques. In the numerous shops near the Place de la Bastille may be seen hanging on the walls fine leather paper of Moorish design, having a deep, rich color, which only age can impart.

One who was not initiated would readily believe the paper to be 200 or 300 years old and a fine specimen of mediæval art. In truth, only one small corner of the paper is genuine.

Distance Judging.

A familiar example of the vagueness of our mental ideas on the dimensions of familiar objects is the trick by which a number of people are induced to measure off upon the wall what they consider to be the height of a top hat. Success in this feat is rare, says The London Globe, and the estimation in yards or miles of distances in the open air is no less difficult, though often considerably more useful. Generally, of course, it is the level surface or one filled with monotonous features many times repeated which is most underestimated, while diversification seems to impress the mind with a greater notion of extent. Even so, the usual tendency is greatly to underestimate distances of more than a quarter of a mile, while the differences between the guesswork computations of various members of the same party are often extraordinary. In our ordinary life we have rarely need for ascertaining in actual yards the distance of objects under observation, and our faculty of estimation is not developed much further when we have once left the stage behind at which all the objects in a room, for instance, appear to the infant to be equally within its grasp. The difficulty of judging distance is much increased over an undulatory or hilly surface, whether it is desired to find out the actual superficial measurement or the "air line," as the Germans term it, for rifle shooting in sport or war. In this last application the training of the faculty is extremely important, and in actual fact often extremely imperfect.

Erasing Memories of John Brown.

The colossal statue of John Brown which the late Queen placed in a prominent position in the Balmoral grounds, has been removed to Balmachol, near Craithie, the residence of his brother, Mr. William Brown. The Queen kept John Brown's rooms in the various palaces shut up, and his occupation was commemorated by brass plates erected on the walls. These rooms at Windsor Castle, at Osborne, and at Balmoral have all been cleared out, and converted to other purposes.—London Truth.

Among the many changes that are taking place at Balmoral Castle in view of the coming visit of the King is the disappearance of cairns and all reminders of the late John Brown. Only the stone in the churchyard of Craithie remains to keep the memory of the Queen's faithful retainer at Balmoral alive. — Westminster Gazette.

The King's Precautions.

Among the works which are taking place at Windsor Castle is the pulling up of all the floors — which have not been touched since the beginning of the last reign; some not for a century. They are to be completely relaid on modern principles, and are to rendered fireproof. Since the burning of Sandringham the King has always had a great dread of fire, and he is taking advantage of the present opportunity of rendering the castle more secure against the devouring element.—Tattler.

How Butterflies Sleep.

The butterfly invariably goes to sleep head downwards. It folds and contracts its wings to the utmost. The effect is to reduce its size and shape to a narrow ridge, hardly distinguishable in shape and color from the seed heads or leaves on thousands of other stems around.

MILK OF SHORTHORNS.

An English Authority Says It Is Poor in Quality.

Professor James Long in an article in the London Live Stock Journal says:

"There is little doubt that large numbers of pedigree Shorthorns produce poor milk, and there is always the danger, which some gentlemen do not appear to apprehend with sufficient force, that in crossing with bulls of pedigree blood for the maintenance of Shorthorn character of the dairy cow they impart to the progeny a tendency to produce milk such as their own dams produced before them—i. e., milk of poor quality."

Commenting on this, Hoard's Dairyman says:

Professor Long believes in the Shorthorn as a dairy cow, but it seems to us that in the above quotation he gives the case away badly.

His statement is just the indictment the men have made against the profitableness of the Shorthorn who have been striving to secure the most profitable dairy animal possible. Furthermore, he shows the force and power of breeding for dairy qualities specifically and alone. The Shorthorn as a breed is not a profitable dairy animal, not alone because she does not yield rich milk, but because of her low dairy temperament all around. She is what she is because the men who have bred her have been breeding into her for hundreds of years the beef temperament, or, in other words, an inherited tendency to turn her food into flesh rather than milk at the most profitable rate. It does not answer the case to say that there are phenomenally good cows among the Shorthorns any more than it would to say that there are beefy animals to be found among the Jerseys and therefore the Jersey is a profitable animal to breed for beef.

The Shorthorn people are about the only ones we know of who claim the impossible and the unreasonable for their cattle from a breeding standpoint. Occasionally a little light is let into the question by such remarks as we have quoted above from Professor Long.

The breeders for specific dairy power and capacity have conclusively shown in the results of their breeding that such results cannot be attained by adhering to the Shorthorn idea of cow or the still more inconsistent idea of a dual purpose.

No true dairy breeder on earth ever attained success by following such notions. We believe the Shorthorn could be made a profitable dairy breed, but it would only be done by adhering to specific dairy standards of temperament, form and heredity.

Perhaps He Was Right.

"Darwin's theory must be correct," remarked Mrs. Enpeck as she stopped in front of the monkey cage. "These little fellows certainly have many actions in common with human beings."

"Pahaw!" exclaimed Enpeck. "A monkey, my dear, is no more human than I am."—Chicago News.

Piscatorial.

"Would you say that our friend belongs to the codfish aristocracy?"

"No," answered Miss Cayenne. "His social pretensions may be a bit fishy, but any one who can make as big a splash as he has caused is really entitled to be considered a whale."—Washington Star.

TAKING NO CHANCES.

The Landlord's Fire Drill Worked to Perfection.

"It happened last winter," said Jones, "but I have never before been able to tell the story without getting unduly excited. Business took me to a little country town in the interior of the state, where I was forced to pass the night at the only hotel that the place boasted. It was a cold, stormy night, and I thanked my lucky stars that I did not have to be out in it. Some time about midnight I was awakened by some one yelling 'Fire!' at the top of his voice. The hotel was nothing more than a fire trap, a fact that I had fully realised when I had turned in, and the cry of 'Fire!' sent my heart into my mouth. Hastily jumping out of bed and without waiting to dress myself, I seized what clothing I could in one hasty clutch and rushed outdoors and joined the guests who were already there clustered together in a shivering group.

"'They're all out, dad!' yelled the landlord's son, who was standing at the door, as another half dressed guest rushed out.

"'Confound them,' grumbled the landlord, 'they ought to do better than that. They're three minutes behind the record.'

"'Where is the fire?' I asked.

"'There ain't no fire,' he answered, closing the watch that he had been holding in his hand. 'Tain't nothing but a fire drill.'

"'You old fool,' I shouted, 'do you mean to say that you have routed us out on a night like this on a false alarm?'

"'That's all right,' he answered. 'I had a guest burned up once in a fire, an' he owed me $1.15, an' I ain't takin' any more chances than I have to. People what put up with me has got to learn to jump when the alarm is given!'"—Detroit Free Press.

In This Locality.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefitted and cured by their use? Certainly not. One pill a dose. 25c a box.

Don't Excite Milk Cows.

To rush cows into the stable from the pasture night or morning is to excite them sufficiently physically to heat their milk to a feverish point, quickly undermining its quality. So, in order to preserve milk in hot weather, aeration, ice and cold water are a mockery unless the cows are kept cool and free from irritation. For this reason I have no use for even the most intelligent dogs to assist in driving cows to and from the pasture, says a correspondent of Wisconsin Agriculturist.

Jovial.

Jovial once meant the type of character supposed to belong to all persons who were born when the planet Jupiter, or Jove, was in the ascendant. They were supposed to possess more of the cheerful elements of character than others and hence to partake of the benign qualities attributed to the father of the gods.

SUCCESSFUL MEETINGS.

Ensign and Mrs. Bloss are Leaving Peterborough—Their Send-off.

Sunday was an exceptionally busy day in Salvation Army Circles and the services were largely attended. In the morning the feature of the service was the dedication of Loise Amelia Braund, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Braund. The attendance in the morning was the largest in over a year at morning service. The interesting ceremony was conducted by Ensign Bloss.

Sunday was Ensign Bloss' last Sunday in Peterborough, where he has laboured earnestly for the past year. He leaves with Mrs. Bloss to engage in special revival work. In the afternoon and evening very successful meetings were held, there being three converts at the evening service.

The final send-off to Ensign and Mrs. Bloss will take place at the barracks to-night to which everyone is welcome.

RUGBY.

The Executive of the Rugby Club met last night to discuss the present situation. There were in attendance Messrs. Kenner, R. F. McWilliams, Vic. McWilliams, Graham, Rush, McPherson, Paterson, Burnham and Clary.

A communication from Mr. J. D. McMurrich, secretary of the O. R. F. U. was read, in which he stated that the Executive would meet on Thursday night to consider the Peterborough protest against playing home and home games with London. In any event there would be no game between these two teams on Saturday, so it was decided to communicate with the Torontos, waiving the default of Saturday last and offering to play that team here on Saturday. This was unanimously decided upon by those present. In the meantime the boys will keep in training.

Speaking of the London and Peterborough teams, the Toronto News says: "Champions of 1899 and champions of 1900 will clash when Peterborough and London meet to play off for the intermediate championship of the Ontario Rugby Union. And it should be a grand struggle, too. Both these teams are strong, but local rugby men fancy the Peterborough team. They will play home and home games for the championship. The rivals have had comparatively easy lines in reaching the finals. London played home and home games with Sarnia, and Peterborough beat Ottawa at the same style. Hamilton 11 defaulted to London, and now the Torontos have defaulted to Peterborough. The first of the final games will be played next Saturday."

The Toronto News says "The Torontos assumed a very unsportsmanlike attitude when they decided to default to Peterborough. The excuse given out was that "Four of Torontos men were unable to get away, even for the half day, thus demoralising the team." The schedule was a nasty one for them, for had they been successful in Peterborough, the final would be sudden death in London. The Rosedale Club will be accused of showing the white feather, no matter how prominently they publish that excuse. It would have been much better to have played the game and be beaten than to give the game away without an effort to retain it."

The Ottawa Citizen, like the Kingston Whig and the Examiner, claims that the O. R. F. U. is run to suit the conveniences of the west. The Citizen says —"The Quebec union matches finish on November 9th, but on account of last Saturday's inactivity, due to the desire of the Argonauts to play a city championship game, the Ontario series does not close till the following Saturday. Then the play off for the Canadian championship cannot take place till the end of another week. On one occasion the Quebec champions refused to play on account of the lateness of the season, and they would be justified in taking the same grounds this year. If the O. R. F. U. is run for the sole accommodation of the Toronto clubs, it is time the other factors switched on to some other track." The Kingston Whig seems to think that an issue will be shortly forced, and comments as follows:—"Now that the "Wickey" Wilson affair has been settled and the O. R. F. U. has again vested him with the cloak of amateurism, there is no harm in letting in a little light behind the curtains that screen the Granites from the public gaze when they are in a contemplative mood. Had not the Executive Committee of the O. R. F. U., at Thursday's meeting, granted Wilson's petition and again placed him in amateur standing. The Granites had intended playing him Saturday against the Argonauts and bringing O. R. F. U. affairs to a focus. In such a case, was expected that the Argonauts would have defaulted when they found Wilson on the field. Granites would not have relented, and the wharf rats would have been forced to pay back to the audience their entrance money. Ensue, confusion, disruption, etc."

GOLF.

The Colts have made good their boast that they numbered within their ranks players who could catch places on the senior team if they chose to exert themselves. In a match on Saturday, played between five seniors and five Colts, the latter were victorious by 16 holes, the individual scores being as appended;

3	McAllister	McGill, jr.	0
6	Complin	Parker	0
6	Dr. Neill	Bradburn	0
2	Young	Campbell	0
9	Neill	McGill	0

The match between the Duffers and Buffers is being taken up with a great deal of interest. The club house is to be profusely decorated with fancy coloured lights, etc., for the occasion, and the dinner, it is said, will be something above the ordinary.

CURLING.

The Granite Curlers will hold their annual meeting on Wednesday evening in the parlors of the Charlotte street rink, and it is hoped that every player intending to identify himself with the club this season will be present. The game promises to boom this winter as it has not done in some years and as the membership will doubtless be large, the club will be greatly assisted if the names of intending players come in in early.

HOCKEY.

Dawson City people are willing to provide money to send a team to play for the Stanley Hockey Cup.

A PRESENTATION

To Mrs. (Rev.) McMullen of Springville —Well Filled Purse.

The congregation of the Springville Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, October 3rd, suitably remembered Mrs. (Rev.) A. J. McMullen before she and her husband took their departure from that circuit. The affair took place at the residence of their pastor, and about fifty members of the congregation assembled to take part in the proceedings. The ladies brough refreshments, and altogether a most delightful social time was enjoyed.

The following address was read by Mr. Joseph Sanderson, while Miss Maggie Lang presented Mrs. McMullen with a well filled purse. The address was as appended:

Dear Mrs. McMullen,—We, the members and adherents of the Springville Presbyterian Church, hearing with deep and sincere regret that you are about to sever your connection with us, feel that we cannot let you depart without expressing our appreciation of your service while in our midst.

In connection with both the Sabbath School and Service of Praise, the discharge of your duties has been marked by great fidelity and zeal. Coupled with this the cheerful disposition in which these services were rendered, as well as your proficient capabilities has made them appreciated by the congregation.

Our personal relations with you have been of the most pleasant nature, your genial courtesy and active sympathy has won for you our warmest esteem.

As a tangible accompaniment of our formal farewell we would ask your acceptance of this purse.

We trust that you and Mr. McMullen will be greatly blessed in your new field of labour, and while we once more express our regret at your departure, yet we feel that our loss is anothers gain.

Signed on behalf of the congregation, Mrs. Wm. Rutherford, Mrs. Wm. Bobson, sr.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McMullen replied in suitable terms expressing their appreciation of the gift and assuring the Springville people of the tender recollections they would have of their stay in that vicinity.

BATTLE FOR THE LIFE

Strong Effort Being Made to Save the Neck of Fred Rice.

WHO FIRED THE FATAL SHOT?

Constable Stewart Point Blank Swore Rice, the Prisoner, Fired the Shot That Killed Constable Boyd—Line of Defence Indicates That It Will Be Claimed That Jones Killed Boyd.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Fred Lee Rice spent the whole of yesterday in the dock at the Criminal Assize Court, listening to evidence laid before 12 jurors, who will determine whether or not he murdered County Constable John Boyd.

The counsel engaged in the case are: Hugh Guthrie, M. P., of Guelph, who is conducting the prosecutions at the court, and Messrs. T. C. Robinette and J. M. Godfrey, who appear for the prisoner, Rice.

Mr. Hugh McMath, J. P., announced the result of the grand jury's finding in the case promptly at 10 o'clock, the hour at which the court opened. Rice was brought in and escorted to the dock by Officers Sevens and McIlwain. He was arraigned and a plea of not guilty entered.

The jurymen chosen to try him are these:

Robert R. Powell, grocer, 440 Spadina avenue; Philip Rynard, farmer, Georgina; Thomas Shortiss, confectioner, 48 Walton street; Henry Pye, piano regulator, 50 Bellevue place; Lewis Ramer, piano maker, 39 Balmuto street; Abraham Kingdom, farmer, Etobicoke; William T. Watson, bootmaker, 833 West King Street; Thomas N. Northcott, gentleman, 24 Walton street; Benjamin Pearce, machinist, 336 Lippincott street; Francis Dundas, gentleman, 89 Annette street, Toronto Junction.

The Crown had eight stand outside and the prisoner, entitled to 20 challenges, used 18.

County Constable Walter Stewart, the Crown's chief witness, told of the drive from the City Hall to the jail on the night of June 4. Everything went well till the corner of Sumach and Gerrard streets was reached, when the parcels containing the revolvers was thrown in by some person, and a scramble ensued. Rice and Rutledge each secured a revolver and ordered the constables to throw up their hands. Boyd was immediately shot dead.

"Who was it that fired the shot that killed Boyd?" asked Mr. Guthrie.

"Rice did," answered the witness.

Stewart continued the recital of the story of the tragedy, and the recapture of the prisoners. He told how the prisoners got out of the cab, and how he shot Jones from the door of the hack.

The cross-examination of the witness by Mr. Robinette furnished the first definite clue to the line to be pursued by the defence. Stewart admitted that, although Jones, who died as a result of witness' bullet, was hand-cuffed to his fellow prisoners, he could raise his arms and use his hands quite freely. Although Stewart was positive that only one shot was fired inside the cab, he admitted he did not look in the direction of Rice at the instant of the explosion.

Thomas Crittenden, jr., druggist, at the northeast corner of Gerrard and Sumach streets, was called when the court resumed at 2 o'clock. On the evening of the murder he was standing about 20 feet east of Sumach street, on Gerrard street, when the hack carrying the prisoners approached from the west. His attention was attracted by a stiff hat (produced) falling out of the north entrance. The vehicle was going very slowly, and Crittenden, after picking the hat up, ran around to the south side and looked in. Rutledge, who was sitting on the right hand side, had a revolver. Rice's left hand was across the carriage door. Immediate across the carriage door. Immediately after he looked in he heard a "bang" and the carriage door was kicked open. Rice came out first, and was followed by Jones and Rutledge, in the order named. As soon as the prisoners were clear of the hack, someone inside fired a shot, and the shots were returned by Rice and Rutledge. The latter fired three or four, and Rice three shots. Rice then turned around, facing the east, and made for the car. Jones, the man in the centre, was shot and had to be dragged on to the car.

Mr. Robinette, in cross-examination, pointed out to Crittenden that, at the preliminary investigation, on June 7, he had sworn that he had seen no revolver in the hands of the man on the other side. The witness made some explanation unsatisfactory to Mr. Robinette, and the lawyer accused Crittenden of talking over his evidence with Detective Forrest. The witness denied this, and, on continuing his evidence, he admitted that if Rutledge had Stewart's revolver, the only place he could have got it was in the back. In conclusion, he said he would not like to swear that he saw any part of the revolver in Rice's hand.

Robert Highley, who drove the party from the City Hall, described the position of the prisoners in his carriage. Rice was on the left, Jones in the centre, and Rutledge on the right hand side. "Before we started," said Highley, "one of the prisoners remarked, 'Hurry up, we are in a hurry to-night.'" He drove by way of Albert, James, Queen streets, Wilton avenue and Parliament and Gerrard streets. At Sumach street, he heard a scuffling in the cab, and someone said, "Let me out!" After more than one shot had been fired inside, Rutledge came out first, Jones next, and Rice last. They ran around in front of the horses and jumped on the street car.

Seldon Kohlmeyer, the moterman on the street car upon which the men jumped, said several shots were fired before the hack stopped. When they boarded the car, Rice made a grab for the controller handle and started the car. Kohlmeyer cut the power off, when one of the two said, "Keep the car going, or I'll shoot you!" Rutledge pointed a revolver, and the motorman had him in one hand and Rice in the other. Just then, Stewart came aboard, struck both prisoners over the head, and they fell, Rice saying, "I'll give up!"

Motorman Robert Wilson of a car standing on the north track, heard five shots before any of the prisoners left the hack. In all, nine were fired. Stewart took the revolver from Rice on the car, and Jones said, "We'll give up!" Robert Annis, who took a revolver from Rutledge, and William Green and James Simpson also gave unimportant evidence dealing with the struggle on the platform of the car, and the recapture of the prisoners. Guards Spanton and Dodds also related the details of the efforts made to subdue the prisoners. The former swore positively that it was he who got Constable Stewart's revolver from Rutledge. Motorman Thos. Malone, who was proceeding west along Gerrard street with his car, when he saw the revolvers thrown into the hack, was the last witness examined before the court adjourned. The trial will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

PRAIRIE IN A BLAZE.

Great Tract of Land Burned Over—The Fire Still Going.

Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—One of the worst prairie fires of recent years started shortly after noon Monday near the C.P.R. track, between Bergen and Rosser, about eight miles from Winnipeg.

At the time there was a strong wind blowing from the south, amounting to about a small hurricane. This drove the rapidly-spreading flames in front of it at a terrific rate, and it is estimated that a tract of land five miles wide and twenty miles in length has been converted into a charred waste. At an early hour this morning the fire had reached the bush south of Stonewall, and was still making rapid headway.

Royal Investiture.

London, Oct. 30.—King Edward yesterday personally conferred the insignia of various orders on 250 to 300 officers and others recently decorated. The investiture, which was held in St. James' Palace, was attended by all the state ceremonial.

The two eldest sons of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, Prince Edward and Prince Albert, dressed in sailor suits, were interested spectators of the scene.

Ontario W.C.T.U.

Stratford, Oct. 30.—The annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Ontario opened at the City Hall here yesterday morning with a large attendance of delegates representative of the order throughout the Province. Mrs. S. G. E. McKee of Barrie, president, presided. The session was opened with a consecration service, after which various reports were read and adopted.

To Succeed Judge Fortin.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—The Liberal electors of the County of Laval held a convention at St. Vincent de Paul last night to consider the question of of a candidate to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the appointment of Mr. Fortin to the bench. It was decided to offer the candidature to Mr. Gardian Menard, a prominent resident of the county.

LAWLESS TRIBESMEN

Canadian [illegible] Indians Murdered [illegible] Inlet.

THE INDIANS TO BE OVER-AWED

Some of the Men of the Offending Tribe Rescued from Justice by Force and Beat the Officers—Indians Threatening Further Trouble—Are Armed with Modern Rifles—Steps to Be Taken.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 30.—The Government at Ottawa has notified Captain Gaudin, agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, that the Dominion steamer Quadra is to proceed to Kingcombe Inlet, having been loaned to the Provincial Government to overawe the tribesmen there. Some of the men of the Nimpkish tribe at that point on the 18th ult. attacked two police officers who had arrested the Indians for the theft of a check, wrested the prisoners from them, and beat the officers about the face. It was considered useless to attempt to punish them with the little force at Alert Bay, so a petition was sent for the Quadra. As soon as Superintendent Hussey returns from the inland specials will be sworn in, and all preparations made for the expedition.

LORD MILNER'S IDEA.

He Would Show Britain Master of South Africa by Repeopling, Rebuilding and Living In It.

Durban, Oct. 29.—The Imperial authorities have reached the conclusion that the early repeopling of the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies is advisable, so that the normal industrial and agricultural life of the colonies may be resumed.

In the course of a speech yesterday afternoon, Lord Milner of Cape Town said it was useless to wait until the war was over in a formal sense. It might never be over, he declared, but it was burning itself out, and, in time, "we ought to show ourselves master in the house we have taken, by rebuilding it and beginning to live in it."

"Bobs" Wants to Fight Again.

London, Oct. 30.—It is now tacitly acknowledged in official circles that Field Marshal Lord Roberts is not only anxious to go out to the Transvaal again in command of the forces, but he has even offered to do so. The desire, or rather request, to that effect was received by Mr. Brodrick, Secretary of War, within a week, and may have something to do with the hurried return of the Marquis of Salisbury from the continent at the time when it was expected he would remain away for at least a month.

"Bobs" wants to succeed Lord Kitchener, whose stock has been steadily falling for several months in the light of the meagre and disagreeable intelligence constantly trickling out from the South.

Botha's Narrow Escape.

Pretoria, Oct. 29.—Commandant-General Botha's recent escape from the British columns pursuing him was a close affair. Major Remington marched on the commander-in-chief's quarters at night, only to find that Botha had got off with a few hundred yards' start, leaving his hat, revolver and papers behind. Ten prisoners, including Commandant Hans Botha and former Landdrost Schutt Botha and former Landdrost Schutte, were captured.

Severe Fighting.

London, Oct. 30.—A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Monday, Oct. 28, says he has received reports of important fighting on Oct. 24, near Great Marco River, when Delarey and Kemp attacked a British force, and were only repulsed after severe fighting, leaving 40 dead on the field, including Commandant Omstirhuysen. The British lost 26 men killed and had 56 wounded. The Boers carried off eight British waggons. The Republicans appear to have paid special attention to the guns, as 37 gunners and drivers were killed or wounded.

Lord Kitchener mentions a number of minor affairs, and says this week's "bag" consisted of 74 Boers killed, 16 wounded and 325 made prisoners. In addition, 45 Boers surrendered and the British captured 471 rifles, 75,950 rounds of ammunition, 210 waggons, 590 horses and 8,000 head of cattle.

The Boer Issue.

London, Oct. 30.—Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, speaking yesterday in Ospar, Scotland, repeated the arguments he has frequently used in justification of the Government's South African pacification policy. He defended himself from the accusation that he was responsible for the war by declaring that again and again Great Britain had been on the eve of a struggle with the Boers, not over the question of franchises, but on the issue whether Briton or Boer should be predominant in South Africa.

Negotiations With Brigands.

London, Oct. 30.—"It is officially stated that the United States Legation in Constantinople has opened direct communication with Miss Stone's captors," says a despatch from Sofia to The Daily Telegraph. "The Bulgarian Government has allowed the celebrated Rilo Kloster (southwest of Samakov) to be searched, and two suspected monks to be arrested."

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 30, 1901.

MR. WHITNEY'S WORDY WAYS.

Speaking at Havelock on Saturday night last Mr. Whitney quoted a couple of sentences from the report of a speech by Hon. Mr. Harcourt, at Ridgetown on Oct. 24th, as follows:

"Our iron output in 1899 was less than 20,000 tons; in the following years it was somewhat less than 50,000 tons, and this year the estimated output is in the neighbourhood of half a million tons. All this, to use Mr. Whitney's phrase, is from the land of the stunted poplar."

In comment upon this Mr. Whitney said, according to the report of the Review:

"Every word and every letter of these, Mr. Whitney said, were falsehoods, and he challenged Mr. Harcourt or any one else to quote the time and place in which he made the statements."

Mr. Whitney is noted for using violent language and making reckless statements. The above quotation is a good sample. He says "every word and every letter" of Mr. Harcourt's statements as quoted above were falsehoods. Mr. Whitney's statement in this regard is contrary to the facts. At a meeting to welcome Dr. Borden, the leader of the Dominion Opposition, held in Massey Hall, Toronto, on Monday evening, May 27th, 1901. Mr. Whitney was present in the capacity of a curtain-raiser—he made the first speech. In the course of it he assumed a vein of elephantine playfulness and sarcastically asserted that Hon. Mr. Ross claimed to be the discoverer of New Ontario, and Mr. Whitney distinctly described New Ontario as the "land of the stunted poplar." The writer of this paragraph heard him make this remark and was so struck with it as showing how low a public man and leader of his party could bring himself, for the sake of raising a sycophantic smile or scoring a political point by sneering at, and discrediting before the eyes of the world the resources of a province he was ambitious to rule, that he made a note of this remark. This unfortunate phrase has been quoted scores of times and as often ascribed to Mr. Whitney and he has never before denied having used it. The fact of Mr. Whitney having used this sneering disparagement of the great and valuable territory his party tried to deprive Ontario of, is not the point just at present. The point is that Mr. Whitney uses such violent and unconsidered language and in so reckless a way, that, perhaps without intending it, he will sacrifice the truth for the purpose of rounding off a sentence, with sufficient strength of denial or assertion or sufficient violence of invective. According to the Review's report, Mr. Whitney declared that every "word and every letter" of the statement attributed to him by Mr. Harcourt were falsehoods. The statement that Mr. Whitney described New Ontario as "the land of the stunted poplar" is true, as, presumptively, the others are, for if Mr. Whitney denies that he made one statement that he actually did make, he wouldn't assume much greater moral responsibility in denying that he made other statements which he may really have made. Mr. Whitney has got so completely into the way of using strong language, that it has become a habit as hard to break in his case as in the case of others in the habit of using strong drink. He uses this language so recklessly that he afterwards regrets it and has, therefore, contracted the habit of denying what he really has said—when he sees the consequences—and to this he has added another habit of accusing the reporters of misrepresenting him. It may be a small matter to fix upon Mr. Whitney the fact of his having miscalled New Ontario "the land of the stunted poplar;" though his employment of the phrase is quite consistent with his attitude towards a section of the province, whose development and improvement he has opposed and denounced in language, in which "phenomenal steal," and "heinous crime," were only in congenial company in the matter of violent and intemperate language. But it is worth while to do so to show that Mr. Whitney's habit of using this strong language of reckless denunciation of the acts of his opponents, which he has afterwards to deny or palliate, deprives his utterances of a claim to reliability. So much is this so, that it has come to pass that the more trifling the issue the less of public interest there is at stake, the more ponderous become Mr. Whitney's adjectives, and his violence of language the more extreme.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Dr. Ford, speaking at Havelock on Saturday night, said that Hon. J. R. Stratton had "turned down" Mr. Blezard. If this were true, (which it is not), Dr. Ford should have a fellow feeling, when he remembers how Mr. Blezard "turned down" Dr. Ford last election with as little trouble as Mr. Anderson will have in repeating the performance next June.

Just like Mr. Whitney. He has been making a speech at Havelock, and he hinted that he knew a lot of things which he can't reveal for fear Messrs. Ross and Stratton will snap them up and make use of them. These things are supposed to be good ideas for the benefit of the country. Mr. Whitney wishes to withhold them for fear his opponents will use them for the welfare of the province. He wishes to serve his own purposes, rather than serve the interests of the country. Pap, not patriotism, is Mr. Whitney's strong point. If a leader is so anxious to secure office as to subordinate the people's interests to his success in that direction, it may be held as certain that he will use office to further his own ends and not the public interests.

They dragged Mr. Flynn from his bedroom into the hall, where they maltreated him in a most terrible manner, and but for the brave assistance rendered by his sister, who seized a club and put the rowdys to flight, the consequences might have been more serious. As it was, Mr. Flynn escaped with a choking and a few kicks in the ribs. Information has been laid and the young men referred to will have a chance to say why they committed such a dastardly outrage.

1,700 VOLTS KILLED

Leon F. Czolgosz for the Murder of President McKinley.

WAS NOT SORRY FOR HIS CRIME

Before He Was Strapped in the Fatal Electric Chair He Asked for a Crowd That He Might Talk to Them—Said His Victim Was Enemy of the Working People.

Auburn, Oct. 30.—At 7.12.30 o'clock yesterday morning Leon F. Czolgosz, murderer of President William McKinley, paid the extreme penalty exacted by the law for his crime. He was shocked to death by 1,700 volts of electricity. He went to the chair in exactly the same manner as have the majority of all the other murderers in this State, showing no particular sign of fear, but, in fact, doing what few of them have done, talking to the witnesses while he was being strapped in the chair.

"I killed the President because he was an enemy of the good people — of the good working people. I am not sorry for my crime."

These were his words as the guards hurried him into the chair.

Words he supplemented a moment later, mumbling them through the half adjusted face strap were: "I am awfully sorry I could not see my father."

Czolgosz retired Monday night at 10 o'clock, and slept so soundly that when Warden Mead went to the cell shortly after five in the morning the guard inside had to shake Czolgosz to awaken him. He sat up on the edge of his cot and made no reply to the warden's greeting of good morning. The prison official took from his pocket the death warrant and read it slowly and distinctly to the assassin, who hardly raised his eyes during the perfunctory ceremony.

Just as the warden stepped away from the cell door Czolgosz called to him and said: "I would like to talk with the superintendent." The warden responded: "He will be down presently."

Then the condemned man rolled over on his cot, apparently anxious to sleep again. At 5.15, however, the guard brought to him a pair of dark trousers, with the left leg slit so as to allow the free application of the electrode and a light grey outing shirt. He was told to get up and put these on, which he did.

Contrary to the usual custom he was given a new pair of shoes. When dressed he laid down on the cot again, and in this attitude Superintendent Collins found him at 5.40, when he went down to visit him.

The superintendent stood in front of the steel bars, and when the guard had called Czolgosz's attention, he said:

"I want to make a statement before you kill me."

"What do you wish to say, Czolgosz?" asked the superintendent.

"I want to make it when there are a lot of people present. I want them to hear me," said the prisoner.

"Well, you cannot," said the superintendent.

"Then I won't talk at all," said the prisoner sullenly.

After the superintendent left the guards brought Czolgosz's breakfast, consisting of coffee, toast, eggs and bacon, and he ate with quite a good deal of relish. When he was partaking of this the witnesses were gathering in the office of Warden Mead, and at 7.06 o'clock the procession passed to the death chamber, going through the long south corridor.

After testing the death chair Warden Mead gave the signal to have the prisoner brought in, and, at 7.10.30 o'clock Chief Keeper Tupper swung open the big steel door leading to the condemned cells, and as the steel bars behind which Czolgosz had been kept were swung aside and two guards marched the prisoner out into the corridor, two others following behind, and the chief keeper walking in front.

The guards on either side of Czolgosz had hold of his arms, either as if to support him, or to keep him from making a demonstration. As he stepped over the threshold he stumbled, but they held him up, and as they urged him forward toward the chair he stumbled again on the little rubber covered platform upon which the chair rests. His head was erect, and with his gray flannel shirt turned back at the neck, he looked quite boyish. He was intensely pale, and as he tried to throw his head back and erect, his chin quivered very perceptibly. As he was being seated he looked about at the assembled witnesses, with quite a steady stare, and said:

"I killed the President because he was an enemy of the good people — of the working people."

His voice trembled slightly at first, but gained strength with each word, and he spoke perfect English. "I am not sorry for my crime," he said loudly, just as the guard pushed his head back on the rubber head rest and drew the dripping strap across his forehead and chin. As the pressure on the straps tightened and bound the jaw slightly, he mumbled: "I'm awfully sorry I could not see my father."

It was just exactly 7.11 o'clock when he crossed the threshold, but a minute had elapsed, and he just had finished the last statement when the strapping was completed and the guards stepped back from the man. Warden Mead raised his hand, and at 7.12.30 Electrician Davis turned the switch that threw 1,700 volts of electricity into the living body. The rush of the immense current threw the body so hard against the straps that they creaked perceptibly. The hands clinched up suddenly and the whole attitude was one of extreme tenseness. For forty-five seconds the full current was kept on, and then slowly the electrician threw the switch back, reducing the current volt by volt until it was cut off entirely. Then, just as it had reached that point, he threw the lever back again for a brief two or three seconds. The body, which had collapsed as the current was reduced, stiffened up again against the straps. When it was turned off again Dr. MacDonald stepped to the chair and put his hand over the heart. He said he felt no pulsation, but suggested that the current be turned on for a few seconds again. Once more the body became rigid. At 7.15 the current was turned off for good.

From the time Czolgosz had left his cell until the full penalty was paid, less than four minutes had elapsed. The physicians present used the stethoscope and other tests to determine if any life remained, and at 7.17 the warden, raising his hand, announced:

"Gentlemen, the prisoner is dead."

The witnesses filed from the chamber, many of them visibly affected, and the body, which, five minutes before had been full of life and vigor, was taken from the chair and laid on the operating table.

Almost the entire attention of the physicians assigned to hold the autopsy was directed towards discovering, if possible, whether the assassin was in any way mentally irresponsible. The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, an expert alienist, and former President of New York State Lunacy Commission; Dr. E. A. Spitzka of New York, and Prison Physician Gerin. The top of the head was sawed off, through the thickest part of the skull, which was found to be of normal thickness, and it was the unanimous agreement, after microscopical examination, that the brain was normal, or slightly above normal. The autopsy was completed shortly before noon.

The body was placed in a black-stained pine coffin, every portion of the anatomy being replaced, under the supervision of Dr. Gerin and Warden Mead. Shortly afterwards it was taken to the prison cemetery, and an extraordinary precaution taken to completely destroy it. A carboy of acid was obtained and poured upon the body in the coffin after it had been lowered into the grave. Straw was used in the four corners of the grave as the earth was put in, to give vent to such gases as might form.

It is the belief of the physicians that the body would be entirely disintegrated within twelve hours. During that time, and as long as deemed necessary, a guard will be kept over the unmarked grave.

KEEP THE HOGS THRIVING.

(John McMullen.)

I came to the conclusion several years ago that hemlock boards were cheaper than corn, so built a hog house 24x30 ft., with 12 feet posts, and a ventilator through the roof. I double boarded with matched boards, putting heavy paper between the boards. I put three windows in the east side and two in the south side. These admit plenty of sunshine, which I think is very essential to the comfort and health of the hogs.

I divided it into eight pens, ten feet deep, with an ally four feet wide in the centre, which makes it very handy for feeding. A door opens from each pen into the ally, which makes it very convenient about removing the hogs. There is also a door between each pen, so that four pens may be turned into one if necessary, which I do when not in use for breeding sows. The upper part of the building I made into a henhouse, with a glass front facing the front and an outside entrance to keep it separate from the hog room. The entire building cost me $250.

I keep about six breeding sows of no particular breed. They are fed on whey, except when suckling pigs and for two weeks previous to farrowing. Then I mix in wheat middlings or barley meal, the latter preferred. I have the sows farrow in March and August.

After weaning I feed the pigs skim milk and barley meal or middlings, till they are two months old, giving them all they will eat. At the end of that time substitute whey for the milk, but continue the meal with a few ears of corn. The object is to keep them growing and fat enough to kill at any time. I market them in May and October, my experience being that porks bring the best price in these two months. I let them run in a large yard in the summer, and have never had any trouble with lame pigs. I usually keep about 20 to 30 in summer and the same in the winter.

I keep a summer and a winter dairy so that I have whey the year round. I sell my skim milk at the separator for 10c per 100 lbs., and get the whey back, which I think is the most profitable way.

There are four things necessary for the profitable keeping of pigs, viz., a warm place, cleanliness, good dry straw and plenty of it for a bed, and all they can eat from the time they are dropped till the day of killing. I feed my hogs regularly three times a day, and never have squealing hogs.

My neighbors sometimes remark, "How do you make money on hogs? It costs me $2 to make pork for every dollar I get back." But when I inquire into their way of keeping their hogs, it is no mystery to me. They feed them only when they happen to hear them squeal, and wait until hulsing corn in the fall to fatten them. They dump in enough green corn in the morning to last all day, of which one-third is wasted. I would rather have two bushel of old corn than three of new corn for fattening purposes.

CANADIAN BUTTER IN ENGLAND

(Monetary Times, Toronto.)

W. Weddel & Co., Liverpool, in their weekly report on colonial dairy produce, refer to the very steady demand for Canadian Saltless Butter, which is so keen at present that buyers find difficulty in meeting their requirements. Canadian dairymen, as a rule, do not make this class of butter except on direct orders, and in this case it, of course, goes directly to the consumer giving the order. Prices for this grade are 113s to 115s 4, c.i.f., British ports. There is a good demand for Canadian salt butter, but recent advance, equivalent to 8s per cwt. on this side, is restricting it somewhat. We notice in English circulars and periodicals considerable complaint about mould on some Canadian butter. This is attributed to several causes, such as unseasoned wood of which the boxes are made, or imitation parchment paper in which it is packed instead of genuine parchment paper, or the unwhitewashed or unlimewashed condition of the interior of the Canadian butter factories. It may be one or it may be all these conditions in combination which produces this unsatisfactory state of things, but whatever it be, it is imperative that the Canadian government should make a searching enquiry into the matter and remedy it. There is another point which comes up in this connection, requiring earnest attention, namely, that Canadian butter does not keep anything like so well as Australian and New Zealand, nor will it do so until at least a half of one per cent. of boracic acid is used in its manufacture. Such an amount is said to be absolutely non-injurious to health, even of the most delicate person.

WAR CLAIMS SETTLED

Sir John C. Ardagh Makes An Interesting Announcement.

SOUTH AFRICAN COMPENSATION

All Claims of Foreign Countries Settled Diplomatically Except Two—England's Generosity Pleases the American Commissioner—The Amount Is 14 Per Cent of the Claims—A Letter From Dewet.

London, Oct. 29.—At the resumption of the seating of the South African Compensation Commission yesterday, Major-General Sir John C. Ardagh, on behalf of the Government, announced that all claims of foreign countries had been settled diplomatically, with the exception of those of the Netherlands and France, as follows: The United States, £6,000; Austria, £15,000; Germany, £30,000; Russia, £4,000; Italy, £12,000; Spain, £150; Sweden and Norway, £1,000; Switzerland, £250; Belgium, £800; and Denmark, £250.

Newton Crane, who represented the United States before the commission, regards the settlement as most favorable for the American claimants, of whom there are only 15. The average, after the expenses are deducted, will be £583 for the Americans, against £68 for the claimants of other countries.

"The terms are generous," said Mr. Crane, "inasmuch as no court would have compelled Great Britain to pay a penny. The amount is 14 per cent. of the claims, while the award under the treaty of Washington to British subjects who suffered through the civil war was 2 per cent."

LETTER FROM DEWET.

"God Has Chosen Me to Lead My Brothers," He Says.

Geneva, Oct. 29.—A wealthy Swiss lady, at present staying at Lancy, a suburb of Geneva, lately received a letter from General Dewet. The letter was written at Modderfontein, on Aug. 18, and bears the Delagoa postmark. The Swiss lady lived for many years in the Transvaal, and knew the Boer general intimately.

In the course of the letter General Dewet says:

"God only knows when the war will end. I and my commando are determined to fight to the last. I see by the papers you sent me that both sides accuse each other of cruelty to prisoners. Don't believe these newspaper reports; they are false.

"Both sides treat their prisoners with as much consideration as possible under the circumstances.

"We have all we require to satisfy our simple wants, as we have captured enough stores to last us a long time. It is only our horses that suffer during our long marches of 10 and 12 hours.

"God has chosen me to lead my brothers, and I shall fulfil my trust to the last."

Four New V.C.'s.

London, Oct. 29.—It was announced in Sunday night's Gazette that the King has been pleased to confer the Victoria Cross on Sergeant H. Hampton, 2nd Battalion Liverpool Regiment; Private H. G. Crandon, 18th Hussars; Private C. Kennedy, 2nd Battalion Highland Light Infantry, and Private E. Durrant, 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade. In all four cases the acts of gallantry were performed in South Africa.

The Schley Inquiry.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The cross-examination of Admiral Schley was begun yesterday. Nothing sensational developed and the only outburst in the court occurred when Mr. Rayner, Admiral Schley's counsel, objected to a line of inquiry of the Judge Advocate, designed to criticize Admiral Schley's alleged failure to formulate a plan of battle, with the declaration that as Admiral Sampson was in command, his junior had no right to plan an order of battle. Admiral Schley concluded his direct examination, which was concluded about ten minutes after the court convened yesterday morning, with a statement of the effect of the fire of the respective fleets at Santiago, showing that 36 per cent. of the hits suffered by the enemy was scored by the Brooklyn's 5-inch guns, while his ship received 70 per cent. of the hits from the Spanish ships.

Widow of U.S. Grant Ill.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Julia Dent Grant, widow of Gen. U. S. Grant, is ill at her home here. She has been confined to her house since her return from Canada about 10 days ago. At present her illness is not regarded as critical. It began with a cold and the developments have been such as to alarm her friends. Yesterday she was thought to be a little better.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 556 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

King Alfred Launched.

London, Oct. 29.—The King Alfred, the largest cruiser in the world, was successfully launched at Barrow-in-Furness yesterday morning. The King Alfred cost £1,011,759. She will have a speed of 23 knots.

Verdict of Wilful Murder.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—The coroner's jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Hansen, the Westmount murderer of the boy Marrette.

Smallpox in Quebec.

Quebec, Oct. 29.—There are thirty cases of smallpox in Quebec, and some of them are very serious. The situation has become alarming.

RACE WAR NEAR NEW ORLEANS.

Three White Men and Eleven Negroes Killed Already.

New Orleans, Oct. 29.—The Picayune's Amite City special says: Three white men and 11 negroes killed was the startling and terrible news from Washington Parish last night. Your correspondent has just conversed with a man from Franklinton, and he confirms the above information, but he knew nothing of what has happened since Sunday evening. The first news of the race riot was brought here yesterday by Cornelius Mixon, who, with his mother, left from near Franklinton yesterday morning. He stated that white men rode into Franklinton at 2 o'clock in the morning, asking for help, saying that the negroes were up in arms threatening to exterminate the whites. The scene of the trouble is at or near Ballton.

A Sour Stomach

Is Often the Real Cause of a Sour Temper.

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition, is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Johnston wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a fact which none may dispute that a sunny disposition more often results from a healthy digestion than from any other cause.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gases, which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves, and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues," but how quickly all these disappear when appetite and digestion are restored!

Laxative medicines only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels and have no effect upon actual digestion of food.

The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate.

The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach trouble is because they contain in a pleasant concentrated tablet form all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says, "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life, should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself, and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigour to their daily use.

"From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal.

"I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction, which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous, but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

The Rice Case.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—The Court of Common Pleas and King's Bench was opened yesterday. His Lordship, Chief Justice Falconbridge's charge to the grand jury was brief. He explained his regret that the crimes on the calendar comprised the highest degree of gravity and magnitude—crimes for which in case of conviction the death penalty could be imposed. Murder was defined and explained clearly to the jury. The case of Fred Lee Rice and the incidents leading up to the murder of County Constable William Boyd were reviewed briefly. After advising the jurors that it was not their duty to try but to determine whether there is sufficient evidence to place a man on his trial, and suggesting that their visits be confined to the jail, His Lordship adjourned the court till 10 o'clock this morning. The Rice case was considered by the grand jury after adjournment.

Detail Work in the Dairy.

In butter and cheese making it always pays to attend strictly to all detail work. Without doing so it is impossible to produce top quality, and in times of prosperity particularly it is much easier to sell the highest than it is to sell low grade dairy products.

A Lindsay Wedding.

A wedding of local interest took place at 8 o'clock yesterday morning in Lindsay, at St. Mary's Cathedral, when Miss Nellie Butler, daughter of Mr. John Butler, of that town, became the wife of Mr. John Collins, of Ennismore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Sullivan. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Owens, of Peterborough, while the groom was supported by Mr. Michael Collins, brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Collins will reside in Lindsay.

A Good Move.

In the present scarcity of houses and the certainty that in the near future there will be a demand far beyond the present supply, we notice with pleasure that Mr. Dumble is putting lots on the market at prices and terms that will enable men of small means to buy and build. For instance lots that he sells at $200 may be paid for in quarterly payments of $4.56 each. So that in 10 years the lot will be paid for, and the purchaser is enabled to put his money into a house. This is giving the poor man a chance to get for himself a home and get rid of the landlord.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a travelling suit of navy blue with picture hat, and the bridesmaid was similarly attired. A message was received from Lindsay to-day announcing the fact that no change had taken place in Monsignor Laurent's condition since yesterday, and that his condition still remains serious.

ADDRESS BY HON. GEORGE E. FOSTER.

He Urged the Necessity of Unification With Great Britain.

MANY INTERESTING FACTS.

Co-operation Needed in Emigration and Immigration Plans—Britain Needs Her Colonies More Every Day.

Association Hall was well filled last evening by the members of the Fortnightly Club before whom Hon. Geo. E. Foster had been invited to deliver an address, being one of a course of winter lectures.

Sheriff Hall occupied the chair and with a few preliminary remarks complimentary to the speaker of the evening, he introduced Mr. Foster, who met with a most hearty reception at the hands of those present. His remarks were chiefly confined to the relations existing between Great Britain and her Colonies at the present time, with a brief outline of the possibilities which were in store for the British Empire when the process of unification should become more firmly cemented and the interlacing of mutual interests assume more definite form. Such a subject gave the speaker scope for the indulgence in word pictures of a nature which proved more than fascinating to his audience.

The study of the handicraft of nation building, Mr. Foster stated by way of introduction, was most interesting, and very directly concerned Canadians just now. The questions arose—whence do we come, whither are we tending and what is the significence of our national life? We are not yet an old country and yet we have a past of which we may well be proud. During the last 20 or 30 years of our national life we have grown apace, and are now beginning to think along the lines of our future national existence. We are an offspring of Great Britain, were cradled by her and brought up to young manhood and it is quite natural that there should be certain ties binding us together which cannot be broken and which we do not want to break. (Applause.)

The idea of Empire has been brought before us lately particularly by two events.

The first occurred in 1897 on the occasion of the Queen's Jubilee, with the thought of that spectacle in London, the metropolis of the Empire, and the metropolis of the world, when there gathered there from every quarter of the globe, from every clime, representatives of every variety of national life, and religious beliefs, coming spontaneously forward to do honour to Her Majesty. Nobles, rajahs, princes, dukes, even kings from every part of the world vied with each other in homage to our great Queen who sat upon the throne. Was ever a spectacle like it? The only thing which could approach it was the spectacles in Ancient Rome. But how different. Rome subjugated countries and brought home captives chained to her chariot wheels. No one came to Rome through love then. It was the triumphant pageant of a glorification over the conquered race and an exhibition of the brute might of the Roman Empire. How different in London when the greatest spectacular event of the age was marked by the love and devotion of a free people. The majority of them were conquered but had become the friends of Great Britain and were filled with enthusiastic devotion and brought willing tribute to be laid by them in graceful homage at the foot of the throne.

Nothing before ever brought the idea of imperialism so strongly before the people.

Then two years later something else took place, when Mr. Kruger launched that ultimatum of his, and the Empire began its battle with a foe, small in numbers, but in regard to geographical conditions, a foe of undoubted strength. When the first cannon was fired by a Boer on the veldt into a British home, what happened? From one end of the Empire to the other, every people under British rule, which gave allegiance to the flag, rose as one man for the defence of the Empire. Canadians felt that the home which was struck in South Africa, was equivalent to a home being attacked in Canada; Australians felt as though their own peace and own own homes were in jeopardy. Such a splendid outburst of patriotism for the flag of the Empire, and the institutions which that flag symbolised, never occurred before in the civilised world, and never will again. (Applause.)

These two incidents, then, brought the Imperial idea to the front more than any, or all other circumstances combined.

Where do we look for the beginning of this patriotism, which flashed out with such spontaneity and brilliancy? The seeds of that patriotic devotion were planted long ago, and came into the country with the early settlers of Great Britain, and it was in fact this same patriotism which prompted confederation, and so built up an adjunct to the British Empire on the North American continent.

It does not lie with us to form the Empire. It is already formed. The processes of a thousand years have gone towards its building. There were wars of defence, and then wars of conquest, and following in the train of the wars of conquest, came trade and commerce, and then Christian civilization in the conquered countries, and the giving of a strong and equal freedom, and so on, until British power belted the world.

We are not expected to give permanence to the British Empire as the lines of permanency are already strongly drawn, but never in the history of the Empire was better citizenship required than now. Only the basis of our Empire has been built. What the future course of that Empire is, remains with her citizens. If the citizens rise to the occasion, the Empire will be as much greater and stronger in fifty years as it is greater now than it was five hundred or eight hundred years ago.

What is there to hinder this betterment of the Empire?

We cannot say it is hindred by any disloyalty. Take the British Empire through and through, greater loyalty to its institutions could not be wished.

Is it beset with diversity of race and creed troubles? No! This diversity always existed. No peoples in the world have so adapted themselves to the rule of an alien race as those under the rule of British power. This diversity of race is, in fact, a source of power.

There was a time when geographical distances would have been a bar to permanency, but it acts as no impediment now, to the unity of a world-wide Empire, but is rather an element in its progress and prosperity, on account of the varying nature of the products raised.

There is another thing which is in favour of the permanency of the Empire and that is the elasticity of its constitution. Starting out with absolute monarchy, it has passed on from year to year broadening and widening and adapting itself to the Colonies of every sea, giving all their liberty until to-day the Englishman in England is as free as the Canadian in Canada, and the Australian in Australia is not a whit more free than the Scotchman in Scotland.

One of the greatest difficulties experienced in the process of unification is ignorance. The people of England until very recently were lamentably ignorant of the power of their Colonies. Not the "masses" of England but the masses of the classes. Their ignorance of the resources and capabilities of the Colonies is colossal. It is but natural as how many have ever seen the Colonies or read of them. Still there has been a great improvement in the last fifty years. Evil often comes out of good. Out of this trouble in South Africa a great good has arisen in the fact that nothing that ever happened has put the name of Canada on the lips of Great Britain as that war. When said was [illegible] it startled the attention of the people. The valour and pluck of the Canadian Volunteers made itself felt in a way that touched the hearts of the English people.

Another thing which has to be combatted in the work of federation is prejudice. The insular Englishman of fifty years ago was much prejudiced against anything which was not English. This, however, is being overcome through inter-communication.

Then there is the fact that even after prejudice has been conquered there is apathy to be overcome.

Passing on with the subject the speaker then referred to some of the successes which would attend closer unity. One of these was the dismissal of the Manchester school, whose tenents were to cut off the Colonies. That school had been dismissed and would never re-open its doors in Great Britain.

There has been a gradual merging of the interests of Great Britain and her Colonies. Twenty years ago the Mother Country held to the right to make all treaties concerning the Empire. Since 1882 the Colonies have been drawn into the treaty making area, and new no Colony is included in a treaty unless the colony elects to be, and if directly concerned they have the determining influence given them. Then, too, the judiciary of Great Britain and her Colonies are drawing closer, and even now one of Canada's judicary sits with the Privy Council.

Our cadets from Kingston are being taken into the British Army and are proving themselves equal to the best among the young men of Britain.

We are co-operating now in the matter of transport. Great Britain and Canada united in subscribing to a fund to establish connection, and Great Britain contributed in defraying the cost of the Pacific cable between Australia and Canada.

When the question of Imperialism comes up, many start to drag in questions of our representation, instead of discussing the matter on the broad grounds of common interests in trade and commerce. If the latter course was followed we would soon find that we had become thoroughly united, and had not a bylaw or constitution to bless ourselves with.

A great factor in unification exists in the co-relation of emigration and immigration. If these lines had been worked upon for the last fifty years, and the brain, brawn and spirit of those seeking new homes had domiciled itself in British possessions, instead of spilling itself in alien countries, think what the British Empire would be to-day. If we could divert that tide of immigration to us, it would mean more than could be conceived. There is no reason why the British people who are leaving home should not domicile in the colonies and develop their resources.

Great Britain is dependent on the outside world for seven-eighths of her food supply. It has been said that if a cordon could be drawn round about the British Islands, and maintained for eight weeks, that the people would be starved out. This may be an exaggeration, but it teaches a lesson, and accentuates a point. Great Britain takes fifty million of pounds and flings it into the United States for food. It means the stimulation of transportation between Great Britain and the United States, and the consequent prosperity percolates throughout every state in the union. Forty millions are thrown into Germany, and much more into France and other countries, making strong these alien nations that may any moment be ready to enter on war with Great Britain should their interests point that way. Great Britain must in the end depend on the strength of her colonies, and this will be quicker developed when she sees the wisdom of procuring her food supply from colonial sources. A strong system of mutual trade and defence would soon spring up. In the British army and navy co-operating with the colonies in the protection of trade with the colonies lies the cheapest scheme for mutual defence. This is not jingoism, nor alliance for wars of conquest, but would be found to be the best possible guarantee for permanent peace.

A very cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Foster on motion of Mr. D. W. Dumble and Mr. Jas. Kendry, M.P., after which the National Anthem was sung before adjourning.

THE PETERBOROUGH PROTESTANT HOME.

Annual Meeting in Connection With the Institution.

The Yearly Reports Submitted and Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The annual meeting of the ladies who conduct the affairs of the Peterborough Protestant Home was held yesterday afternoon with a large attendance. Mrs. Vernon occupied the chair.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. Miller, was presented as follows:

In presenting the annual report of the Peterborough Protestant Home, we would again express our gratitude to God for His care and protection during the past year. During the year thirty-one persons have been provided with a home. Some of these have been inmates for many years, while others were in but a short time. There was just one death during the year.

It is with regret that we report the death, last April, of Miss Londerville, who for some years discharged the duties of matron so faithfully. Miss Fraser was appointed in her place, and has proved herself very efficient.

We wish to thank all those who have in any way contributed to the welfare of the Home, particularly the clergymen and physicians who have given so freely of their time to the inmates, also the editors of the different papers for their kindness in inserting notices of our work and wants, also to Sheriff Hall and Mr. F. E. Bell, for auditing the books.

We would again ask that more ladies would take an interest in the work. At present there are very few who attend the meetings, and the committee would gladly welcome representatives from the different churches.

M. MILLER, Secretary.

The report was adopted.

Miss Roger, the treasurer, then submitted the following statement:

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION.

Death of an Infant Under Alleged Peculiar Circumstances.

Some few months ago a child of about three months old died under circumstances that have caused some little talk in certain quarters. The child was of illegitimate birth and it was known to some that the mother was in no position to properly care for her infant. The following statement, which has been handed in by Medical Health Officer Bingham, may throw some light on the matter:

A child died on Monday in this town under very distressing circumstances, and by request I make the following brief report of the case: About one month ago a respectable looking young woman, from another city, was taken suddenly ill here, and the poor girl, in the extremity of her suffering, took refuge in the house of a stranger, and in a very short time gave birth to a child of fine, healthy appearance. At this point the question arose, who would take care of the infant? Its unfortunate mother was utterly destitute, and the cowardly ruffian who should have stood by her in the hour of her need, had skipped out. Now, the women where the child was born has six children of her own, and an invalid mother to look after, so it was impossible that she could give the child proper care. She kept it one week, then it was transferred to a neighbor. It remained in its new home about two weeks, but having taken very sick, it was returned to the place of its birth, where it continued to sink until the end came. When the child was born I applied at once to the agent of the Children's Aid Society to have it taken to the shelter. The agent was unable to admit the child, stating as a reason that as the Society has a resolution on its books that such children would not be admitted to the Shelter, because it might encourage illigitimacy. The reason given here will not, I think, be endorsed by impartial men and women, who have a fair knowledge of human life.

One may say too, in conclusion, that in this town we have, under diversified names, all the outward observances of civilization and Christianity ably and zealously conducted by both men and women. All this is praiseworthy, but somehow the result is not satisfactory, for when a poor women appeals at the door of charity for a night's lodging, she is refused, and must lie all night in the police cells, and when a child is born out of wedlock it must die. The public can draw its own conclusions.

PETERBORO' CHEESE BOARD.

Salesmen Refused 8 15-16 by Mr. Whitton

And the Board Stands Adjourned for Two Weeks—Few Factories Sold at 9 Cents.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held this (Wednesday) morning, the following buyers being in attendance: Messrs. Kerr, Fitzgerald, Cook, Whitton, Rollins, Wrighton, Bailey and Sauve.

The factories boarded as follows:

Keene	180
Warminster	110
Shearer	100
Central Smith	108
North Smith	168
Villiers	109
Warsaw	120
Westwood	150
Oakdale	135
Missing Link	60
Daisy D.	75
Melrose Abbey	135
Lakefield	150
Pinegrove	95
Peterborough	80
Otonabee Union	64
Maple Leaf	115
Myrtle	125
Young's Point	112
Lang	170
Fraserville	150
Indian River	100
North Dummer	75
Ballyduff	40
East Emily	115
Trewern	110
Bensfort	175
Cedardale	64
Stony Lake	45
Cavanville	160
Mount Pleasant	88
Fleetwood	195
Oak Leaf	40
Darlington Union	180
Buckhorn	106
South Burleigh	87
Brickley	45
Shamrock	76
Ormonde	225

When the president, Mr. Drummond, called for offers, Mr. Kerr started the ball rolling at 8c. The bidding was very brisk, and soon ran up to 9c. Mr. Wrighton at that figure called Keene, Fraserville, Bensfort, Otonabee Union, all of which accepted.

Mr. Whitton then bid 8 7-8c, but Mr. Sauve brought the price back to 9 cents, taking Ormonde, Shamrock, Melrose Abbey, Norwood and Indian River.

The third bid opened at 8 15-16c by Mr. Whitton, who called Shearer, Villiers, Westwood, Myrtle, East Emily, Warsaw, Oakdale, Warminster—all of whom refused.

Mr. Kerr bid 8 1-2 and brought the price up to 8 7-8, and finally back to 8 15-16c, but the same factories still refused.

It became quite apparent that a deadlock existed between the buyers and sellers. Mr. Bailey tried to induce some of the factories to sell at 8 7-8c, but there was no inclination on the part of the salesmen to sell at that figure. There were calls from the buyers to adjourn the board. Upon motion, this proposition was carried, the factories in the meantime being bound not to sell. The Board then stood adjourned for two weeks.

WAS A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Annual Harvest Festival of All Saint's.

A Splendid Supper and an Excellent Programme—The Attendance was Very Large.

The ladies of All Saints' church are always known for the excellent manner in which they put on entertainments, for the energy in which they enter into the work, and for giving the people value for their money.

All Saints' annual harvest home dinner took place last night, and it passed off attended by the usual success. In fact it was a record breaker. The attendance, was, if anything, larger than on any previous occasion, and the quality of the supper and the excellence of the programme was of the gilt-edge variety. The harvest dinner was served in the basement of the church, from 5 until 7 o'clock, and during that time a steady stream of people passed into the large room and out again, after having their appetites thoroughly appeased. The ladies did "the grand." The tables were arranged with an eye to convenience, and were beautifully decorated and laden with many toothsome dainties. The young ladies were most attentive in their work of waiting on their visitors, and Mr. Armitage and his lieutenants were busy during the evening giving everyone a formal welcome.

The concert following the harvest festival has on former occasions been given in the body of the church, but this year it took place in the Sunday school room, after the tables had been cleared away.

The programme was opened at 8.15 o'clock with an instrumental solo by Miss Daisy Sawers, which was creditably executed.

Rev. Mr. Thompson, pastor of the Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, was present, and was introduced by the chairman, Rev. W. L. Armitage. Rev. Mr. Thompson made one of his characteristic humorous speeches, keeping the audience in good spirits throughout. It was his first official visit to All Saints, and it was indeed a great pleasure for him to be present.

The chairman, Rev. W. L. Armitage, addressed the gathering briefly, thanking all for their attendance, and referring to the successes of All Saints' entertainments in the past.

A quartette composed of Messrs. Rev. W. L. Armitage, J. Legg, J. Browne, and R. Sheppard, in a most excellent style, rendered the selection, "Stars of the Summer Night." This number was followed by a recitation by Mr. F. McNaughton, of New York, who is staying in town. He was compelled to respond to a repeated encore.

Mr. Joe Halpany was heard to good advantage in his well known songs and was encored time and again.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, Ashburnham, was introduced to the audience, and was warmly received. In his brief but pleasant address he told many funny little stories appropriate to the occasion and referred to the great prosperity of All Saint's church.

Miss E. Ruth made a great hit in her recitation, and Mr. Halpany in his well known selection "Statute of Liberty" kept the audience in peals of laughter. He of course gave an encore. "The Toboggan Slide" was the name of a very funny recitation by Miss Ruth, and was followed by a trio consisting of Messrs. J. Legg, James Browne and Rev. W. L. Armitage. Mr. Browne in his usual fine style took the solo.

An appropriate recitation was that which was entitled "On the underground railway of Peterborough." It was given by Mr. McNaughton and needless to say was much enjoyed.

Rev. Mr. Armitage at this juncture spoke briefly thanking the ladies who assisted in the work of getting up the entertainment, and also those who had otherwise taken part.

The last number on the programme was a quartette by Messrs. Browne, Legg, Shepphard and Rev. W. L. Armitage, and this was followed by the National Anthem.

The programme was an excellent one, the singing of the quartette being a leading feature of the affair. Mr. James Browne, too, was very popular with his beautifully rich voice.

Miss Bullen and Miss McCabe and Mr. Willie Staples acted very efficiently as accompanists during the evening.

During the period between the supper and the entertainment, the people waited in the church up stairs and Miss Dobbin and Mr. Schneider rendered several very pleasing selections on the organ.

MR. BARRIE'S DAMAGES.

He is Awarded $2000.00 for His Loss by Fire Last Winter.

The following judgment of local interest has been handed down by Justice Street in the Trial Court, Osgoode Hall:—

Barrie vs. Aetna Insurance Co. — Judgment (L.) in action tried at Toronto with six other actions by the same plaintiffs against different insurance companies, brought to recover $2,000, the amount secured by defendant's policy of insurance against loss of goods by fire, issued to plaintiff Barrie, with loss, if any, payable to plaintiff Alexander. The plaintiff Barrie is a merchant doing business in the Town of Peterborough, and defendants alleged that owing to misrepresentation as to amount of the loss the policy is void, under the 15th statutory condition, and that the policy is also void by reason of misrepresentation by plaintiff Barrie, as to the value of his stock at the time of the loss of the policy, which is therefore void under the first statutory condition because of misrepresentation of a circumstance material to be made known to defendants to enable them to judge of the risk to be undertaken. The value of the goods destroyed was alleged to be $6,851.36. Held, that the charge of fraud failed, and that the plaintiff is entitled to recover under the general law the (actual market value of the goods destroyed, or the diminution of that value resulting from the fire in the case of damage. The plaintiff Barrie, and his advisers, have, however, misconceived his duty after the fire. Under the general law, and also R. S. O., ch. 203, sec. 145, sub-sec. 2, it was his duty to secure as soon as practicable the insured property from further damage, and separate the damaged goods from those uninjured, and to notify the insurer of the separation. He failed to do this. Moreover, instead of making a careful, detailed estimate of the loss in the gentlemen's furnishing department, as he might easily have done, he took the opinion of a number of persons who made a cursory examination as to the percentage of damage it had sustained. The same course was pursued in regard to the whole stock, and although he took stock after the fire, and before his sale began, his stock book shows no indication whatever that the slightest effort was made by him to ascertain the details of his loss. Upon the evidence these shortcomings were due to incorrect and injudicious advice and he has not been guilty of fraud, but the result is that it is difficult to ascertain the real loss; but after a careful analysis of the evidence and finding as to the loss in detail, the plaintiffs are entitled to recover a total sum of $4525, with costs of action. G Tate Blackstock, K.C., and R. McKay, for plaintiffs; S. H. Blake, K.C., and L. G. McCarthy, for defendants.

HE WANTS OUT.

Young Kimball, Who Was Sent to the Reformatory From Peterborough.

Chief Rossel when he opened his mail this morning came across a rather amusing communication. It was from Eric Kimball at present serving an indifinate length of time in the Penetang Reformatory. Young Kimball was sent up last winter for stealing money from the Crown Hotel. He is 13 or 14 years of age and his letter which is given strictly as written by him is very funny, indeed. It is as appended; Penatanguishene, Reformatory For Boys, Oct. 27th, 1901.

Mr. Chief Rossel, Peterborough, Police station.

Dear sir,—I now take the pleasure in writing a few lines to let you know I am getting along at the present time. We have not had school for two weeks as our teacher is sick.

We had snow here on the 17th of this month, but we are now having fine weather at the present time. My trade is school in the morning and tailor shop in the afternoon, but I have not been working very much lately.

We play football, lacrosse, baseball and many other games.

I would like you to try and get me out if you can. I will be here a year on February 19th. I have been here 8 months and 8 days, and I would like for you to try and get me out. I will promise that I will never take anything that does not belong to me, and when I get out I am going to work with a farmer or at home.

If you see any of my family tell them to send me a neckerchief, pair of mitts, and to send them with the other things that I wrote for in a previous letter.

How are things getting along in the town?? I would like to be home soon.

All of the English church boys have been confirmed, and I have to do what is right. I chum with Jessy Airris ever since I have been here.

For our breakfast we get bread and coffee, for dinner, potatoes, meat, bread and water, for supper, bread and coffee, and every other night we get corn meal and milk.

I think this is all for this time, so good-bye. Answer soon.

ERIC KIMBALL.

Jessie Airris referred to in the above epistle was sentenced some time last winter to a term in the Reformatory for stealing money from the Y.M.C.A.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the executive and members of the first team of the Rugby Club will be held to-morrow evening to discuss the London-Peterborough game question.

There have been no new developments in Rugby circles during the past day and the locals are awaiting the action of the executive at Toronto.

The Toronto Telegram says: — "Peterborough is raising a holler against the arrangement of the O. R. F. U. finals in the intermediate series. The union decided that Peterborough should play home and home games with the London team for the championship, and the eastern town thinks this is most unfair, as they were sent to Ottawa once this year, while London has not been any farther away than Sarnia. Last year Peterborough travelled 270 miles and London only covered 230 miles. Peterborough asks the O.R.F.U. to give them a sudden death contest for the championship at Peterborough, as last year they had to play a sudden death game at London, even after a protest against the London club had been allowed. It looks as though Peterborough had the best of the argument. Certainly the union ought not to send the eastern team away west to London."

CURLIANA.

Members of the Granite Curling Club, are reminded of the annual meeting which takes place at eight o'clock, in the rink parlours, this evening.

EARL OF MORAY.

The Oft-Repeated Claim of a Scotch Peer —Title of Nobility Around Which Is a Web of Romance.

Lying dead in his least important seat of Doune Lodge, near Stirling, is Edmund Archibald Stuart, fifteenth Earl of Moray, Lord Doune, St. Colme and Abernethy and Lord Stuart of Castle Stuart.

The words quoted in the title of this article refer to a claim the deceased earl used to make at every meeting of the Scottish peers, when "I, the Earl of Moray," used to declare that the Right Hon. Walter John Francis, Earl of Mar and Kelie, cannot be called or admitted to vote in this election of peers next in order to the Earl of Caithness and prior in order to me, the Earl of Moray.

This declaration, "I, the Earl of Moray," has been heard in Holyrood House again and again for many years. The origin of the claim is to be found in the fact that the original earl, the great Regent Moray, was created Earl of Moray by Queen Mary two years before the creation of the title of the Earl of Mar. The claim, however, has always been disputed, and the Earl of Mar still retains his prior position on the roll of peers of Scotland.

There is no title of nobility, either in England or Scotland, around which a greater web of romance has been woven than that of the earldom of Moray. The mere fact that they are Stuarts with the royal but irregular blood of the great Scottish house in their veins would alone invest the scions of this great house with historic interest — an interest which they share with other Stuarts, now represented by the Marquis of Bute, the Earl of Galloway, the Earl of Castle Stuart and other noble lines.

But the earldom of Moray is peculiar in the manner of its descent. The first earl, the Regent, was murdered by Hamilton, of Bothwellhaugh, and the earldom descended, not to any direct issue, but to his son-in-law, known as the Bonnie Earl of Moray, who was murdered in his turn. The third earl healed the feud by marrying the daughter of his father's murderer. And then we come to the singular fact that a second son and afterwards two brothers succeeded as fifth, sixth and seventh earls, from which point the succession continues in the direct line to Francis, the ninth earl.

From this point the earldom descended to George Philip, fourteenth earl, and then, all the intervening members of the family who could have succeeded to the title having died, it reverted back to the nobleman now deceased, who had descended from the ninth earl, and who was the eldest son of a country parson holding a living of £158 a year.

The new Earl of Moray was already fifty-five years of age; he had been married for fifteen years to the daughter of a clergyman of Clapham, and he was suddenly raised from a position almost of indigence to one of the highest in the Scottish peerage, to a seat in the House of Lords, to the ownership of Donibristle, in Fifeshire; of Castle Stuart, in Inverness-shire; of Dornaway Castle, in Elginshire, and of Doune Lodge, in Perthshire, together with vast territories in all of these counties and a large part of the fashionable quarter of the city of Edinburgh.

It is difficult to imagine a greater change in the fortunes of a family than that which was effected by the failure of the direct line of the Earls of Moray. Such things have, of course, frequently happened in many noble families, and they supply some of the most romantic episodes of the peerage. But here was the son of a simple English clergyman raised at once to nobility and wealth, while his brothers and his sister received patents of precedence as sons and a daughter of an earl.

Unhappily, fortune did not come to the Earl of Moray with both hands full. At the time when he succeeded to the title and estates he was suffering from an incurable disease. There is something pathetic in the fact that the inheritor of the glories of the Scottish monarchy, of historic associations with Mary Stuart and Darnley, and of titles which go back to the time of David I. and Robert Bruce, should be fated to end his life in a condition of pitiful splendor.

"I, the Earl of Moray!" has been the proud title of more than twenty persons since the old Celtic lordship was instituted, but there are very few of them whose lives need be envied by even the humblest in the land. — London Daily Mail.

A Fortune in a Stamp.

Among the stamps recently sold in London by Messrs. Puttich & Simpson one rare specimen was disposed of for the high figure of $1,135, which is among the best prices ever realized in a public saleroom for any one stamp. This particular gem is the first issue of Roumania used for the Provinces of Moldavia in 1854, blue on blue paper, with the arms of the province and the value 81 paras, equal to about 14 cents in our money. In the possession of the firm which had the sale in charge is another copy of this rare stamp. It is in unused condition and is expected to bring upward of $2,000 when offered for sale. Stamps of still greater value are believed to be in the hands of Messrs. Puttich & Simpson.

A LAND OF SURPRISES.

Australian Deserts Become Lake Basins and Fertile Fields.

Mr. John Young, an ex-Mayor of Sydney, N. S. W., and Mr. G. R. Parkes, a namesake, but no relative of the late post-Premier of that colony, have recently been in Canada.

Mr. Young told a Toronto reporter that Australia was surprising even the oldest inhabitants by the development of new fields and new industries. In fact Australia, from its animals to its gold fields, was the land where everything was the opposite of the rest of the world, and where the unexpected was constantly happening. In 1885 explorers reported a part of the country as an uninhabitable desert; to-day that desert was one of the finest sections of New South Wales. Forty years ago a party of famous explorers perished from lack of water in what was now a most fertile township. A few years ago the work of driving the cattle overland from Northern Queensland to the markets in the South was attended with loss and hardship, owing to the scarcity of water. The Government started in to bore artesian wells, and now along that desert route there were fresh water lakes twenty miles along, while in other places the water spouts up to a height of 40 feet.

The result was, said Mr. Young, that the whole character of the country was changing, and rainfall was expected in some districts where rain had never fallen before. Australia was still the land of gold, the production per year in the different States running about as follows: Queensland, £2,000,000; New South Wales, £1,500,000; South Australia, £1,000,000; Victoria, £2,000,000; Western Australia, £5,000,000 to £8,000,000. The country population was gradually gaining on the towns, which formerly held about one-half the population. Sydney, by the census of this year, had a population of 540,000, and the State a population of 1,500,000. There was a strong tendency to collectivism, or Socialism, in Australia, the success of Government ownership of railways, tramways, and other public utilities urging them on to further acquirement of franchises. The tramways of Sydney, which were operated upon the most modern electric system, returned to the State a dividend of about 12 per cent. per year.

Merrill Challenges the World.

Merrill, the druggist, of Brantford, offers $1000 reward to anyone who will make a better cure for constipation than Merrill's System Tonic. This medicine is not a cathartic, but a positive and pleasant to take cure for habitual constipation. In this way it cures dyspepsia, impure blood and nervous troubles. 50 doses price 50 cents, at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

NEW COLORINGS.

Sequin Gowns No Longer Such Favorites as Formerly.

Darker colorings are now in request for autumn wear. There are delightful shades of brown which combine well with touches of the new pinks and blues and even look well with dahlia and heliotrope. Brown is also very pretty with creamy white vests and yellowish lace, and the latter is especially effective when threaded with turquoise or black velvet.

Self colored materials are all the style, and anything figured, with the exception of foulards and like thin materials, is very much passe.

Sequin gowns are no longer in high favor. With the present fad for delicate effects, they are considered too glaring and hard. Even their most fond admirers must admit that they often startled rather than pleased.

A very elegant Parisian tea gown is shown in the cut. It is of mauve chiffon over taffeta of the same shade. The front is of velvet spotted ivory white net, and it is trimmed with three bands composed of three narrow mauve velvet ribbons, held together by appliqued figures of black lace. The bottom of the train is ornamented by four chiffon ruffles, and at the lower edges of the elbow sleeves there are two wide ruffles of lace. A unique arrangement in the gown is presented by the decolletage, which is cut in an upward point, held suspended to a narrow collar composed of one of the velvet ribbons. The girdle which is worn with this gown is of massive silver studded with amethysts.

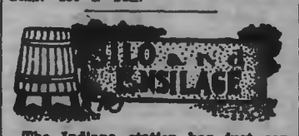
PARISIAN TEA GOWN.

In This Locality.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefitted and cured by their use? Certainly not. One pill a dose. 25c a box.



The Indiana station has just constructed a silo that holds about sixty-five tons, says C. S. Plumb of the Purdue experiment station. It is 12 feet in diameter and 28 feet high. Studs 16 and 12 feet long of 2 by 4 pine were placed vertically end to end, long and short alternating to break joints and 17 inches from center to center on a circular brick foundation two layers deep. No. 1 pine fencing 1 inch by 6 inches by 16 feet was then resawed to make boards a half inch by 6 inches by 16 feet and these dressed to make them lay true. These were then nailed around the inside against the studs, forming a circle, two men bending them into place and nailing on. First one layer was nailed up for a space, then tarred paper was laid over this layer, and this was followed by another layer of half inch stuff, breaking joints with that underneath. Four doors were left at convenient intervals, the width between studs and about 18 inches high. Boards and tarred paper may be laid in these doorways, the ends lapping against the studs when the silo is filled. No roof is provided or necessary. Such a silo is strong and inexpensive and will preserve the contents in good condition. This one cost, without boarding the outside of the studs, slightly under $60, not including labor.

Curing Good Silage.

It appears that the curing of good, sweet silage is a chemical process induced by the life action of the living plant cells, says L. W. Lighty in National Stockman. The experience of siloists will, I believe, sustain this. When we have a very dry season and the corn is wilted and withered, with some leaves scorched, or when the corn is frosted, thus not having the life processes all in full vigor, we nearly always have poor silage. If we have vigorous growing, brittle, bright green, thrifty plants in the full vigor of life just at the joint where all life processes are in their greatest activity, the reproduction of its kind, the perfecting of the seed—I say if we have these conditions when storing the silage we almost invariably have splendid, sweet silage from top to bottom.

Whole Corn Silage.

In most sections corn for the silo is cut into one-half to three-quarter inch lengths by running through a feed cutter. It is elevated at once to the silo, carefully spread and in some cases tramped down, says Farm and Home. A few dairymen and feeders have had much success in putting whole corn into the silo. If this is done, the corn must be cut a little greener, so that it will pack more completely. Mr. Hodson of southern Wisconsin has had excellent results with whole corn silage.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

LIBERTY.

What man is there so bold that he dared say,
"Thus and thus only would I have the sun!"
Yet whether lying calm and unafraid,
Clasping the earth in love or throwing back
The smoke of heaven from waves of sweetbrier,
Or whether, frightened by loud winds,
It hears the trade and navies of the world
To cede of war or stern activity,
Or whether, lashed by tempests, it gives way
To elemental fury, howls and roars
All off its rocky barriers, its wild lust
Of pain drinks the blood of living things
And mourns its wrecks o'er leagues of desolate shore,
Always it is the sun, and men bow down
Before his vast and varied majesty.

So all in vain will tomorrow men cause
To cut the metes and bounds of liberty,
For freedom is its own eternal law.
It makes its own conditions and in storm
Or calm alike fulfills the unerring will.
Let us not then despair if when it lies
Still as a sleeping lion, while a swarm
Of gnatlike evils hovers round its head,
Men doubt it when in mad, disjointed times
It flashes the torch of terror and its cry
Shrills o'er the quaking spots red in the flame
Of riot and war we see its awful form
Rise by the seafield where the crimson sea
Rings down its grooves the knell of shuddering kings.

For always in thine eyes, O Liberty,
Shines that high light whereby the world is saved,
And, though thou slay us, we will trust in thee!
—John Hay.

THE APACHE

A STORY OF TWO CHILDREN AND AN INDIAN.

Not every Apache can get his fill of blood before sun up and his fill of mescal before noon. Yet Coyote That Bites had managed to achieve both those delightful ends, and of all the happy savages on the Colorado desert he was the most riotously, tumultuously happy. With what keen delight he had drawn his sharp blade across the throats of Jose Sanchez and his wife after he had stolen into their wagon in the gray dawn, and what thrills of joy shot through his breast when he silenced the yells of their two little children with the butt end of their father's own rifle! And then, when he had taken what gold was in the Mexican's bag, what mescal was in his demijohn, and had strapped Jose's rather loose fitting cartridge belt about his sun brown belly, with what fierce pleasure he strode away from the scene of his bloody work and with the Mexican's rifle on his shoulder had wandered far within the dry arroyo, sipping from the demijohn the stupefying juice of the agave from time to time until he felt that he was growing drowsy!

Then he had dragged his uncertain way along until he had come to the railroad track. He stared stupidly at the bright steel rails and looked up at the humming wires in an awed sort of way. He would like to lie there behind the rocks, he thought, until some one should come along the track and then try a shot at him with his newly acquired weapon. The demijohn was growing light, and the rifle was growing heavy. Well, it was getting toward noon and rather warm even for an Apache, and he would lie down in the shade of the rocks over there and rest.

The humming of the wires is a soothing sound, and no sooner had his head touched the earth than sleep took a mighty hold upon him and wiped out his realizing sense of joy, as sleep has a way of doing with everybody that has anything to be joyful for. And as he lay, with the rifle by his side and his unspeakably hideous face turned up toward the blue that arched the desert.

It was quiet there and restful—no sound save the music of the wires. Stay; there were other sounds, but they came some time after Coyote That Bites had thrown himself upon the sand and gone off to the land of Nod. They came faintly at first and mingled with the murmurings of the wires. Surely they were the voices of children.

Had the red beast been awake he might have imagined that they were the haunting voices of the wee Mexican children whose blood he had so ruthlessly shed that morning, but he heard them not. They were very far from being ghostly voices anyway, those tones that now piped forth so merrily as Dube and Gay trudged down the line. They were walking to the scoop out along the roadbed, not on the track, for that was forbidden.

There were other things that were forbidden, too, and one of them was straying so far away from the station, but Dube was "taking good care" of his three-year-old sister, and in the pride of his six full years he was equal to the care of half a dozen such as Gay.

"'F on'y had sum matches to build a fire wiv," sighed Dube, "I'd burn off vose prickles jus' like ve Injuns does."

"O-oh!" came suddenly from under Gay's sunbonnet. "Wot's dat?"

"W'y, it's a jug!" And Dube left the "toonies" and started toward the pile of rocks where lay the Coyote's demijohn and where also lay the Coyote himself.

The two trudged up the little slope, and Dube grasped the handle of the demijohn, only to let it drop again and spring back quickly with Gay in his arms, for he had caught sight of the Coyote, and he was smitten with a sudden desire to go home.

But he saw the Indian did not move, and so he suddenly became very brave. He was certainly sound asleep and no more to be feared than papa when he lay on the lounge in his midday repose. Then, too, Dube was quite sure he was a "worky" Injun, like the Yaquis, who shoveled and picked on the railroad, and so his mind became wholly at ease.

The Coyote's cartridge belt, which had been so loosely strapped, had fallen off and lay by his side. There were a hundred very interesting bits of brass sticking in it, and the children soon had these scattered all about in the sand by the snoring Coyote. In the scramble for her share of the innocent toys Gay let one of them drop on the Coyote's leg. Perhaps the mescal's influence was on the wane, for a big brown knee was thrust quickly up from the sand and a big brown hand clutched the ugly knife at the Coyote's side, but the hand fell and the noble red man snored on.

Dube tried on the cartridge belt and became an Indian, all but the indispensable knife, and he concluded to borrow that from the sleeper, whose handle had lost their grip on the buckhorn handle.

"It's bigger'n mommie's butcher knife, ain't it, Gay?" the young savage asked as he grasped the handle of the devilish looking blade. "Now, you 'tand over vere, and I'll get 'hind vis wock. Ven you tum along, I'll jump out and kill you."

Gay demurred.

"Oh, it's on'y make b'leve. Vese kind o' Injuns don't kill nobody." And he stuck a contemptuous finger toward the innocent Coyote. "It's on'y 'Paches 'at kills, an' vey's none yound here, mommie says. I'm a 'Pache, so you better look out."

It was a dubious sport for Gay, and when it came to the killing part she screamed lustily.

"You've woked him up an' 'poiled it all," said Dube in a tone of accusation. "Now he'll want his knife."

Sure enough, the Coyote That Bites did shake his brown legs and arms quite vigorously, but the last two big swallows of mescal held him down. So, after turning over and burying his hatchetlike face in the sand, he lay quiet again.

When he had thus turned over, was brought into view the rifle, which had been concealed by his dirty blanket. Dube eyed the weapon with covetous eyes. He could not withstand the temptation of feeling it all over, standing it up on its butt and trying to shoulder it, but this last feat he could hardly accomplish. Just what it was that kept his fingers off the hammer and trigger and prevented a sound that would surely have brought the Coyote to his feet with a yell, I am sure I cannot tell, but Dube played with that fascinating weapon nearly an hour, while Gay poured sand over the cartridges, hiding nearly all of them from view.

By this time the sun's rays were on the long slant, and the children were very hungry. By this time, too, the Apache was growing restless, for the mescal had nearly lost its grip upon him. A train thundering by, or, much less, a "swift" brushing against his black foot, a spider dropping on his leg, or even a big fly buzzing at his ear—any of these would have set his demon force into play again.

But the children could not wait for such demonstrations as these, though why it did not occur to Dube that the Coyote's ear needed tickling with a grease wood twig the Lord only knows. The wind was up, and the wires were murmuring louder than ever. The wee ones had sported in the black shadows long enough—had played with the fangs of the deadly serpent until they were tired and their stomachs were empty. So they set off on a trot for home.

Just as they turned the bend and came in sight of the low roof of the station a "dust devil" swept by the rocks where lay the Coyote That Bites. He jumped to his feet, grasped his empty sheath, gave a mad whoop and started about in feverish rage. There was his knife, half covered by the sand, and there was his rifle, far from his side. Here was the cartridge belt empty, and all about him in the sand were countless little footprints.

A bewildered look stole over his face, but it passed away when his eyes rested on the empty demijohn. The expression that replaced it was one of demoniacal ferocity, and the lust of slaughter lay heavily upon him. But the cartridges—where were they? He saw Gay's mound of sand and, kicking it, gave a grunt of delight to see the brazen capsules that were scattered right and left by his foot.

He picked them all up, grunting over each one. Filling the belt and grasping his rifle, he started off in the direction in which the small footprints led. Like a bloodhound, he chased along the track. His eyes scanned the plain at every turn, and his breath was hot and strong. But when he turned the big curve and saw the station he knew that he was late—too late—and he gave a grunt of disgust and was off like the wind over a side trail that led toward the sunset.

In the low roofed station house the mother crooned to tired little Gay, lying so soft and limp in her arms. She looked out over the desert, saw the sun touching the tips of the saguaro giant cacti with purple dots, saw the prickly pear shrubs holding their grotesque arms above the great sweep of sand that ran down to the low horizon and felt the inspiration of the scene, as she had often felt it before, for the desert has a beauty that is all its own. She knew that other women in the great cities and in the cool, green valleys might pity her in that desolate spot, but she felt that she needed not their pity. Dube came and leaned his head against her arm where she sat, and little Gay nestled down with a tired sigh. Yes, there was much, she thought, for which to be thankful.

And in truth there was.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The stomach is the vital center of the body. It is the organ from which all other organs are fed. A weak stomach means a weak man. There never was a strong man with a weak stomach. What is called "weak stomach" is in general a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, which prevents the proper digestion of the food which is taken into the stomach, and so reduces the nutrition of the body. When all food is taken away the body starves. When the food eaten is only digested and assimilated in part it only nourishes the body in part, and so the body is partly starved. And this starvation is felt in every organ of the body dependent on the blood which is made from food.

The great variety of the cures performed by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its remarkable power to heal diseases of the stomach and allied organs. It cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote, but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. "Weak" heart, lungs, kidneys and weakness of other organs is cured with the cure of the weak stomach.

Mr. Thomas A. Swarts, Box 103, Sub-Station C., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I was taken very sick with severe headache, then cramps in the stomach, and food would not digest, then kidney and liver troubles, and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. The more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I had become so poorly I could only walk in the house by the aid of a chair, and I got so thin I had given up the thinking that I could not be cured. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself.' The first bottle relieved me so I thought I would get another, and after I had taken eight bottles I was weighed and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) lbs. in about six weeks. I have done more hard work in the past eleven months than I did in two years before, and I am as sound and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."

HEALTH DISEASE

Powley's Liquified Ozone

Health is but the evidence of a uniform and natural condition of all the body's organs. A healthy man is like a well regulated piece of machinery, every part working in harmony. When the uniformity gets broken, when something goes wrong, you suffer disease. Powley's Liquified Ozone restores the uniform action of all the body's organs. It makes them work for each others benefit. In that way it makes health. Powley's Liquified Ozone is splendid for invalids, or people who suffer from run down systems. Systems where the uniformity of organ action does not exist are diseased.

Read Mr. Hogan's statement:

Gentlemen: I am much pleased to inform you that I have taken your Ozone with splendid results, having felt quite broken up at the time I started with a severe attack of La Grippe and general run down system. Before I had finished the bottle I felt quite a new man. I have also used it among my children with like result.

I believe it to be a most valuable remedy and have much pleasure in recommending its use for young and old. You are at liberty to publish this if you so desire.

(Signed) JOSEPH J. HOGAN, 164 Wellington St., Montreal, P. Q.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is oxygen in stable liquid form. It adds this great health giving element to the blood, purifying it and making sound flesh and strength. It is the greatest preparation of the kind. A great deal more efficacious than drugs or stimulants.

SILAGE AND DRY FODDER.

A New York Dairyman Warns of Whole Reliance Hereby.

I have used ensilage corn for the last 12 years and prefer it to corn fodder principally because the cows like it better, says A. H. Cooley in American Agriculturist. It is more palatable and, I think, easier digested. It makes a grand thing to mix the ground feed with and is just damp enough to hold the other feed, which causes the cows to chew the whole mass, thus getting the saliva well mixed with the fine feed as well as the coarse stuff, so that they get more value from the ground feed, which costs the most money.

I have obtained good results from nicely cured corn fodder early in the season before it gets hard or dried out too much, but unless it is dampened it is of no account to feed other grain with, and I think the silage cheaper and better.

I would not cut hay that cattle would eat clean without cutting. I have cut straw when out of silage to make a vehicle to feed the ground feed upon, and when dampened and well mixed with a good ration of grain it makes a good substitute for silage. When I have a good supply of silage, I need but little hay and no straw, but in case of shortage either hay or straw can be used to good advantage when cut and fed with ground feed. I never feed ground feed alone and do not think cutting hay or straw would add anything to its palatability unless some grain is added.

As to the comparative cost of harvesting corn I have no figures to go by, but would just as soon put the corn into the silo as cure the fodder, then haul, store and cut before feeding, as I should have to do to get my cows to eat it all as they do silage. I much prefer the silage plan to the old plan of husking and grinding. I feel very sure I can put the corn in the silo much cheaper, but not sure I get the full feeding value of the grain, but think I do not lose more than the cost of grinding. One point I am perfectly satisfied upon, and that is I should not feed cornstalks or corn fodder whole upon any account. The cost of cutting does not compare with the loss of fodder. I even cut the green corn fodder and feed it in the manger with the grain ration and think it pays.

A Surgeon's Blunder.

Artery Severed While Undergoing an Operation—No Longer Necessary to Use the Knife for Piles.

Saturday's paper contains the account of an accident whereby a young lady lost her life. While undergoing an operation, the surgeon's knife slipped, an artery was severed, and before the surgeon knew the result of his error the patient was in a dying condition.

Every surgical operation is attended with great risk to life as well as being a severe strain on the nervous system and an expensive method of treatment. Doctors formerly recommended an operation as the only cure for piles but that day is past, since Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven its absolute control over every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

Physicians who are considerate of the well being of their patients do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and only those having a mania for operations claim that cruel method as the proper treatment. By promptly stopping the distressing itching and burning Dr. Chase's Ointment brings quick and lasting relief.

Rev. S. A. Buprau, Methodist minister, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states, "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stool. At this very severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared, and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man today and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation and many years of suffering. It is with the greatest pleasure and with a thankful heart that I give this testimonial, knowing that Dr. Chase's Ointment has done so much for me. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has been endorsed by more people, including doctors and professional men than any similar preparation the world has ever known. It is the standard ointment the world over, and positively the only actual cure for piles. 60 cts. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

They were good friends, but they are no no longer. It all came about through a mistake. One of the women had an old fashioned harp which had been handed down from her ancestors, and, meeting a friend one day, the latter asked:

Effect of Thunder on Fish.

Of the army of 40,000 fishermen that occasionally or regularly wet lines in the waters contiguous to New York 35,000 never think of going a-fishing after two or three days of thunder and lightning. They know better. The other 5,000, hopeful and imaginative, with nothing better to do, take a chance at it anyway and come home with fisherman's luck. The highest authorities among bay men tell me that thunder drives the fish into deep water offshore and that vivid lightning so disturbs their sleep that they take a day or two off for rest and recuperation. Thus it happens that on the third day after a hard storm with fulmination and pyrotechnics the catch is phenomenal, whereas on the first or second day after there is no sport except sailing o'er the bounding billows or greasing on a ground swell.

Sickness and Superstition.

For the cure of epilepsy, or the falling sickness, numerous are the charms that have been invented. A very common remedy among the poor people about London and particularly in Essex was to cut the tip of a black cat's tail in order to procure three drops of blood, which are to be taken in a spoonful of milk and repeated three days successively. If the patient was informed of the composition, it lost its efficacy. The patients also were to creep head foremost down some three pairs of stairs three times a day for three successive days.

AN ENCOURAGING REPORT.

Local Example of Sugar Beet Excellence—What Mr. Shuttleworth Says.

Some time last spring a number of sample packages of sugar beets were given out to the farmers of the Peterborough District in order that it might be ascertained what quality of sugar beet could be grown in this neighbourhood.

Since that time those who had received the seed carefully observed the instructions they received, and now that the first crop of sugar beets ever grown around here has been taken in, every person will be anxious to know how the beets compared with those grown in other sections.

The following communication from M. E. Shuttleworth, father of Prof. Shuttleworth, who made the tests, will speak for itself, and will be of much interest to all concerned

Guelph, October 28, 1901.

Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald,

Dear Sir, — Thinking that you might want to know how the beets from Peterborough turned out in sugar, I am pleased to be able to tell you that they go from 14 to 19 per cent. of sugar. So far as beets have been analyzed Peterborough has given the highest percentage of sugar.

—Deer hunting will commence on the 1st of November and every man carries a rifle in the back woods during the season from the 1st to the 15th of November is required by law to secure a license.

John Chinaman and his neighbour the Jap are a pair of wily experts in their knowledge of tea adulteration. "Salada" Black or Uncoloured Ceylon Green Tea is playing havoc with their nefarious occupation, because they are pure and healthful.

—Men have been engaged for some time in straightening the C. P. R. track in the vicinity of Maberly, between Havelock and Sharbot Lake. The work was completed last week. It constitutes part of the plan for straightening some of the worst curves on this line.

—Mr. George Fitzgerald this morning took a cold water bath rather suddenly. He went down to English's boat house to get his canoe in order to take it back north and in the act of getting out of the boat house he lost his balance and fell in the water. He went north nevertheless.

—Alnwick township council have taken a step forward and passed a by-law, which will come into force on May 1st, 1902, abolishing the old statute labour system. All statute labour after that date will be commuted at the rate of fifty cents for each day's labour.

—Arrangements have been made by Mr. C. C. Creelman, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, for 800 meetings of the various institutes during the coming winter season. Last year there were but 740. There will also be 200 meetings of the women's institutes, compared with 30 last year.

THE FUTURE.

Editor Examiner:

I notice with pleasure your bold pronouncement that Peterborough is to be a large city, and your demand that the people should realize this and prepare for it. Our growth will depend upon our ability to develope our natural resources. No continuance of the old policy of locking up our water powers must be allowed. Nor should our Government stand in the way of a trade developement, which will not only prosper us, but must increase the revenue of the Government.

The customs returns at Peterborough today are ten times what they were 25 years ago, all because of our increased manufactures. If the water powers were given free to those who will develope them, the Government will make a good investment—dog in the manger policy pays nobody. Once this town is established as a manufacturing centre, all the power available will be in demand.

And now on another subject—the lift lock will be completed next year, then the trade of all the Kawartha Lakes may come here. What provision is being made for dockage facilities? The quarries and forests of the north call for plenty of room. The river should be dredged to the Cereal Company's Mills, so that barges could unload at the mills. The entire river front should be and esplanade suitable for the coming trade. Let the council be up and doing, for with their best efforts the demand will be here before they are ready.

"THE RIGHT OF WAY."

This is the title of a book by Gilbert Parker, published by the Copp-Clark Publishing Company, Limited. It deals with the habitant conditions of Quebec, and like all of his books dealing therewith, the local colouring is vivid. As a picture of rural life it cannot be surpassed, and the wonder is that such a fascinating story could be woven with the simple materials the author uses. The story involves a psychological study, and Charley Steele, the brilliant but dissipated barrister in his exciting experiences, is a most interesting character. He combines brilliant intellect, and a strong mental equipment with a weak and in some respects repulsive moral character, but with a large store of underlying native good. His triumphs as a barrister in Montreal, his marriage, his mysterious disappearance from his usual haunts, his life in a remote wilderness community, his entire separation from his old life, his association with Rose Evanturel, a beautiful character, and the influence of that association in developing a moral consciousness in Charley Steele and waking the love instinct, are depicted in a very clever manner. The book is full of interest from cover to cover, and is a valuable contribution to the folk-lore of the Arcadian communities that abounded in old Quebec.

GET COMFORT.

There is little comfort in life when a person is afflicted with pain. Donald Babcock, farmer, Harrowsmith, Ont., was a sufferer from rheumatism for years. When advised to take Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure he did so, and two bottles of this wonderful preparation, with two boxes of Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. He has not had a twinge of pain since, and attends to his duties regularly. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian Church Held Their Annual Dinner — Other News.

Mrs. Hugil and Mrs. Dr. Ford left this morning for St. Catharines, where they will spend a few days.

Mrs. Waddell of Quebec, is visiting her son, Mr. J. B. Waddell, manager of the Union Bank here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh spent Monday at Stony Lake, closing up their cottage for the winter.

Miss Annie Emery of Peterborough, has been visiting at Mr. John Hendren's for the past few days.

Miss May Edgar was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson, on Sunday.

On Saturday the Norwood High and Model School Football Team drove to Warkworth, and played a friendly game with the team of that town. Both teams worked hard for victory, but the game resulted in a tie.

On Friday morning last fire broke out in the house of Mr. J. Ruttan, on King street, the cause being a defective chimney. The flames spread rapidly, and although help was soon at hand the house was burned to the ground, but most of the furniture was saved. There was no insurance, and the loss is estimated at between $600 and $800.

Rev. Mr. Hoskins, the new Baptist minister, is moving to town this week, and will occupy one of Mrs. Wm. Finlay's houses on Queen street.

The dinner given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church on Friday evening last was a decided success in every way. Dinner was served from 6 to 8 o'clock, and the four large tables were almost continuously filled. After all had partaken of the good things provided by the ladies they repaired to the church, where a splendid entertainment was given. Addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Taylor, Norwood, and Rev. D. Thompson, of Hastings. The musical part of the programme, which was a rare treat was supplied by Messrs. Crane, Main, Milne and Dawson, of Peterborough. The solos of Messrs. Milne and Dawson were especially appreciated, and we are sure should they again visit Norwood, they will meet with a warm reception. The proceeds of the dinner amounted to $78, and that along with a little collected from the young men present, was sufficient to clear off the church debt.

Another old resident has passed away in the person of the late Robt. Watson, who died at his home on Peterborough street on Wednesday last. The deceased was in his 71st year, and has lived in Norwood for many years. He was a harness maker by trade, and worked at that business until a few years ago. The funeral took place on Friday at 2.30 o'clock, and the remains were interred in the Norwood cemetery.

PRISONER IN THE BOX

Rice, as a Witness, Tells of Mr. Boyd's Shooting.

SAYS HE DID NOT SHOOT HIM

Tale of the Third Bank Burglar Told in Court—Constable Boyd, He Says, Shot the Prisoner Jones—Doctors Testify for the Defence—The Trial About Over—Evidence Is All In.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—The first witness called at the opening of the court yesterday morning was William Hyde, who keeps a grocery store at the corner of Gerrard and Sumach streets, where the tragedy occurred. As the hack containing the prisoners and constables passed the corner he saw a man run away from the vehicle and down Sumach street. Thinking that one of the prisoners had escaped, he gave chase, following the fugitive as far as Sumach Place, when he saw the last of him. He came back and found Boyd dying in the hack. Hyde heard two shots fired inside the vehicle.

Court Crier Kemp was employed as the subject of a demonstration by Dr. John Caven, as to the course of the bullet through the brain of Constable Boyd. Dr. Newton Powell was called and examined as to injuries received by the dead prisoner Jones. Mr. Robinette elicited from him an admission that the fatal wound may have been received while in a sitting posture. Dr. Peter's evidence differed in no important detail from that given by Dr. Powell. Cross-examined, he also admitted that Jones might have been shot while sitting. Dr. Ross testified that the wound received by Boyd was necessarily fatal. Policemen Page and Steele also gave unimportant evidence, and Miss Maclaren, a nurse at the General Hospital, testified that no revolver was found in the pockets of Boyd when he was admitted to the institution.

When the court resumed at 2 o'clock Sergt. Archer and Detective Forrest testified as to the revolvers in the case. There were seven exploded shells in the cylinders of the two Colts' revolvers thrown into the hack. Stewart's 38-calibre revolver had four exploded cartridges and one unexploded, making 11 shots fired altogether. Forrest described the bullet mark he found on the front seat of the cab, and said it could not be made from a shot from the inside of the vehicle. County Constable Burns, a close friend of the dead officer, said Boyd occasionally carried a revolver.

This closed the Crown's case, and Mr. Robinette asked that Stewart Buchanan, 428 Sumach street, and W. J. Callow, whose names were on the back of the indictment be called by the Crown. "I do not propose to call these men, My Lord, unless I must. I do not desire their evidence," said Mr. Guthrie.

Judge Falconbridge had said earlier in the day that the Crown was not bound to call such witnesses, and Mr. Robinette was compelled to examine them on behalf of the defence. During their examination Mr. Guthrie objected that a question put by Mr. Robinette was leading, and this led the judge to say, "I will allow Mr. Robinette a little latitude, because the witnesses' names are on the back of the indictment."

"Fred Lee Rice," called Mr. Robinette, and the prisoner stepped from the dock into the witness box, closely followed by Constable McIlwain, who had him in charge. Rice looked straight at Mr. Robinette, and, in reply to the latter's question, he said: "I was born in Champagne, Ill., 27 years ago, and have lived there all my life. I was educated there in the State University, and my parents, who are of English descent, are still there. My father is a native of Virginia, and my mother of Virginia. Prior to 1897 I was in business at Champagne, being secretary and manager of a telephone company, and was interested to the extent of $7,500. After 18 months, the company passed into the hands of a receiver, the treasurer having decamped with all the money. In 1897 I went to Denver, Colorado, and was arrested for forgery at Cripple Creek. For this I received three years in the State Penitentiary, and served about two-thirds of the term. I received my liberty in 1899, and up to the time I received my sentence from Judge Macdougall it was the only time that I had been arrested."

Rice then related all the occurrences in connection with his arrest, his conviction and his 21 years' sentence to Kingston Penitentiary. Continuing, he was asked about the fatal ride to the jail, and the package that was thrust into the hack.

"Did you have any knowledge from any source that that package was coming?"

"None whatever."

"Did you have any connection with it?"

"No, sir."

"Did Jones or Rutledge ever speak to you about it?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever have any communication with any one outside?"

"No, sir."

Rice was here asked to step down, and was handcuffed by County Constable Stewart to Detective Forrest and Constable McIlwain, to show that with the cuffs used in the cab the prisoners could use their hands and arms freely.

Continuing his story, Rice gave this version of the shooting: "When the package came into the window Rutledge and Stewart made a grab for it. Rutledge's left shoulder was against Stewart's right, both facing south when Rutledge's hat fell out of the window. Boyd had hold of my right hand. Jones shoved himself back on the seat, afraid of being hit. I had not done anything so far. Boyd put his foot on my breast and drew a revolver from his hip pocket and fired at Jones. I threw up my hand and another shot came somewhere from my right and struck Boyd."

"Jones said to me. 'Take this. I'm hit,' at the same time, giving revolver to me. I did not have one when Boyd was shot. I did not point a revolver at Stewart, although I had it in my hand. Stewart then said, 'I give up; get out.' Rutledge led the way out, having two revolvers in his hands; told me afterwards that he took one from Stewart." When Rice was questioned as to the shooting outside the hack, he said that he fired too low to kill.

Mr. Guthrie opened his cross-examination of Rice by asking him if he did not get into some serious trouble around his home.

"Did you go to South America because you forged your father's name for $50?"

"No, sir. I went there for the benefit of my health," was the reply.

"Did you not rob your uncle of several hundred dollars by forging his name on the Champagne National Bank?"

"No, sir."

"Was your first forgery in Colorado?"

"Yes, sir."

Continuing, Mr. Guthrie asked Rice when he and his pals planned the raid on Canada. He also showed Rice some sheets giving the population of towns in Canada, the number of banks and the time at which trains departed. Rice claimed that the list was gotten up for business purposes, but for what business he would not say. Rice was also questioned closely about his ability to handle revolvers, and also about his connection with the other two men. His story relating to the actual shooting was unshaken.

In reply to Mr. Robinette Rice said it was not till he got out of the carriage that he decided to escape. He had every opportunity to shoot County Constable Stewart and Motorman Kohlmeyer, but did not take advantage of it.

Drs. Godfrey, Spence, McConnell and Smuck were called and gave it as their opinion that Jones was shot as described by Rice, while sitting inside the hack. The court adjourned at 5.30 p. m., till 10 o'clock this morning.

AFTER THE PRINTING.

We have read Mr. Mabee's book on Mr. Whitney's leadership, but we have not, says the Hamilton Times, had the pleasure of perusing the one which he decided not to issue, after he had gone through the country and found out that the Conservatives had no use for such a leader as the man from Morrisburg. In his affidavit, published in another column, Mr. Mabee discloses Mr. Whitney's plan for getting the Tory campaign book published free of charge. The party leader "thought it could be arranged with the Southam Publishing Syndicate to publish the book without any charge being made for it, as in the event of the Conservatives coming into power in Ontario, this Syndicate would have a monopoly of all the Government printing." So that's the little game, is it? We know now why the Spectator outraged public decency by calling Sir Oliver Mowat a sanctimonious little hypocrite, why it treated Hon. A. S. Hardy as a malefactor fit for the penitentiary, and why it pursues Hon. G. W. Ross with the vilest abuse. Its eagle eye is fixed on the Government printing. It has a more or less distinct understanding with Mr. Whitney that when, if ever, that gentleman becomes Premier of Ontario, a monopoly of the Government printing shall be given to the Spectator. The Liberal Government has the printing done by contract, and the firm which gets it to do must put in the lowest tender, in fair competition. But that would not be the case under Mr. Whitney's regime. In consideration of the "Southam Syndicate," alias the Spectator, supplying campaign literature for the Tories free of charge, the Government printing would go to the Spectator without tender. It is the old Tory trick of making the public pay the party's election expenses. At first glance, it looks like a "long shot" for the Spec. to risk the cost of the Whitney-Mabee pamphlet, but no doubt it remembered the good old days when it used to get fourteen times the regular price for printing immigration pamphlets for the Dominion Government. Whitney and the Spec. are a pretty pair.

THE CONSERVATIVE SPLIT.

Mr. Mabee Tells of What He Learned While on His Recent Tour.

Editor of the Star,—Since Mr. Whitney came to Toronto on Friday night and tried to patch up the dissensions in the Conservative ranks for a short time longer, the public may as well know one time as another that the issue of the campaign document on the 16th, was but the first link in a chain of events that, as I stated in Tuesday's Star, will surely follow.

As a result of a conference of Conservatives held a few months ago, when the Toronto World and the Ontario Tory were clamouring for a convention, I was asked by some of the peacemakers to call on Mr. Whitney and endeavour to point out to him in a forcible manner the results of his mistakes. I met Mr. Whitney later in the Conservatives' headquarters, and urged the necessity of giving the country Conservatives a voice in the management of party affairs. I explained to him that by advocating the destruction of our present institutions, without suggesting a manner in which they could be erected more substantially, he was greatly injuring Conservative chances. I suggested that he should mingle more with the rank and file, pay less attention to the members of the House of Commons and more to his co-workers and candidates. I told him it was conceded by all that the party could not win in its present condition. He became wild and excited, and stamped his cane and feet on the floor. He said he would run the party to suit himself. I told him everyone knew pretty well where it would go, and left the room.

When the result of the interview was made known, other Conservatives were called into the Conference, and it was decided that Conservative interests would be sacrificed if a convention was not called. Mr. W. F. Maclean and Dr. Nesbitt were considered to be the ablest leaders of the party in Ontario. I had already sounded a number of candidates and members of the Executive, and then went West, when I called on many of those who would attend a convention. I also called on Carscallen of Hamilton, Kribs, of South Waterloo, Joe Downey, of Guelph, Wardell of South Wentworth, Jessop, of Lincoln, Sutherland of South Oxford, Stewart of Alisa Craig, Hanna, of Sarnia, and Charters of Brampton, all of whom are candidates. Of the forty-nine who freely expressed themselves on the choice of a leader, seven were for Whitney, nineteen for W. F. Maclean, eighteen for Dr. Nesbitt, and five for Mr. Foy. Mr. W. F. Maclean, and Dr. Beattie Nesbitt were very popular among the candidates and members of the Executive.

During this time the pamphlet containing the true situation and which it was expected would aid the success of the convention, was under construction and the proofs were being diligently corrected in the Conservative headquarters. It was agreed that the pamphlet showing how Whitney wrecked the party was to be issued the middle of October, that ten days later the Conservative headquarters were to be closed down, and a call for a new convention sent out signed by a number of prominent Conservatives, none of whom, singly, would take the responsibility.

I have documentary evidence, including a letter signed by a prominent officer of the Conservative Association, showing that the matter contained in the book prepared for Mr. Whitney was read and approved by Mr. Whitney and other Conservative leaders. So much was the book approved of that some of the best editorial articles appearing in the Mail and Empire were copied in their entirety from the book.

FRAUD IN MARKING PACKAGES.

Specific Instructions Issued With Regard to Fruit Marks Act.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Prof. Robertson, Agricultural Commissioner, has issued specific instructions and explanations in connection with the operation of the Fruit Marks Act. According to reports received by Mr. MacKinnon, chief of the fruit division, the inspectors at Montreal have discovered some cases of fraud in the marking of packages. The responsible parties were duly notified, and the packages themselves were branded "Falsely marked." The packers run the risk of being fined a dollar a package, but the inspectors at the outset are disposed to be lenient, and have confined themselves to warning such persons of the defects found in the marking of their fruit packages, and explaining that a prosecution would follow on a repetition of the case.

The Donaldson liner Marina, which sailed from Montreal last week, carried a car of Keefer pears from Mr. Murray Pettit, of Winona, in cold storage for Glasgow. Some of the cases were opened at Montreal, and the fruit found to be in splendid shape. On her previous trip, the Marina carried a lot of fruit, which was landed in excellent condition. The thermograph record showed that the fruit was carried at an average temperature of 39 degrees, with a variation of not more than two degrees during a run of eleven days.

CHEESE SHIPMENTS LOWER THAN IN PAST TWO YEARS.

More Butter was Also Shipped in 1899 Than in This Year—Mr. Flavelle Comments.

Cheese Shipped

Since May 1st this year	1,380,545
In same period last year	1,704,323
In same period in 1899	1,580,378

Butter Shipped

Since May 1st this year	331,530
During same period last year	232,835
During same period in 1899	409,487

The above table shows the number of pounds of cheese and butter shipped from Montreal up to Oct. 12 in this and the two preceeding years. It will no doubt be a surprise to most dairymen.

Not many of them expected that to this date, more cheese was sent from Montreal both last year and in 1899 than this year. Much less did they suppose that the shipments of butter in 1899 were nearly 25 per cent. greater than in the corresponding period this year. Yet that is the case.

When this fact was brought to the notice of Mr. W. Flavelle he said:—"That seems strange and it is difficult to tell exactly what it is. I think though that the low price has kept the cheese in this country. It has been made but it is being held in hope of a rise. Prices have been so much lower than last year—last year the English buyers paid more than cheese was worth and they lost money. You remember what I told you on the close of last season on that point. They are not going to do the same this year.

Canadian exporters have likely hoped that the market would go up, and kept their cheese in stock. I know that when we asked for space in Montreal, we were told that not a great deal was available. I think the warehouses must contain a great deal of cheese for it is impossible to think that there has not been as much made this year as in 1899 or 1900. There has been more sold here and in Peterborough. With regard to butter, it is likely that not so much has been made as was in 1899. You know that was the year in which Prof. Robertson put so much energy into getting factories established and there was a great and widespread activity in butter-making. That energy has been some, what relaxed and the factories have not kept up the heavy manufacture of butter. I do not think it is possible that the total dairy products of Ontario have fallen off this year. I am of the opinion that when the final shipments are made they will be so heavy as to justify the statement that the goods were being held for higher prices. Whether they will come or not remains to be seen.—Lindsay Watchman-Warder.

LOCAL LIVE STOCK.

H. P. Kennedy.

There has been considerable live stock moving the past few weeks, though prices, as a rule, have been lower.

The cattle that are offering, as a rule, are light, and for this class of stock prices are low.

Choice butchers' cattle, steers and heifers, weighing 1060 to 1150 lbs. each are scarce and firm at $3.75 to $4.25 per cwt. Heavy feeding steers weighing 1000 to 1150 bring 3c to 3 1-2c per lb., while light steers and heifers and old cows are very plentiful, and sell down as low as 2c per lb.

Sheep and Lambs are a very dull sale.

Sheep, 2 1-2c to 3c per pound.

Lambs, 3 3-4c to 4c per pound, live weight.

The live hog market is lower and prospects are for still lower prices. This week's prices are 5 3-4c to 6c per lb., weighed off cars, unfed and unwatered.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Oct. 29th.—Live stock shipments from Montreal for the week ending October 26th were 2,474 cattle and 1,626 sheep. From Boston they were 1,926 cattle, 1,675 sheep and 11,522 quarters of beef. From New York, 602 cattle, 200 sheep and 6,825 quarters of beef. From Baltimore, 1,234 cattle, 1,600 sheep, and from Newport News 300 cattle.

In the British live stock market prices show some improvement. Canadian cattle selling at 11c to 11 1-2c for choice, and 10c to 10 3-4c for medium, with sheep steadier at 10 1-2 to 11 1-2c. The choice Americans sold at 12 1-2c.

In the western Canadian market the trade in export cattle has been dull, which has no doubt been due to the bad condition of the foreign markets of late, and as the quality of the offerings has not improved any, there has been little inducement to exporters to operate, consequently the tendency of the prices has been downward, and since this day week they show a sharp decline, the top price being $4.20 per 100 pounds.

In the local cattle market the butchers' demand for choice beeves remains good, but the sale of common stock was slow, the supply of that sort being considerably in excess of the demand. Choice cattle sold at 4c to 4 1-4c, good at 3 1-2c to 4c, fair at 3c to 3-3c, and lower grades at 1 1-4c to 2 3-4c per pound. There was an easier feeling in the market for sheep and lambs, owing to the increased offerings, and prices were fully 1-4c per pound lower than on last Thursday. The demand was good, and an active trade was done. Sheep sold at 2 1-2c to 3c, and lambs at 3c to 3 3-4c per pound. Calves met with a good demand, and prices ranged from $3 to $12 each. There was no further change in the market for live hogs. The supply was only fair, for which the demand was good, and sales were made at 5 3-4c to 6 1-4c per pound, weighed off cars.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

CHEESE.—Montreal, Oct. 29th. — It was reported to-day that a better feeling prevaded the market, but so far as any change in price was concerned, it was not perceptible. Quotations for Quebecs are 8 5-8c to 8 3-4c; Townships, 8 3-4c to 8 7-8c; Ontarios, 8c to 9 1-4c. Receipts reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 6,125 boxes besides 552 for export.

BUTTER.—Montreal, Oct. 29th. — The market is alive, but steady. There is nothing new in the situation, and buyers have no trouble in purchasing at yesterday's prices, viz., 22c to 22 1-2c for finest qualities of choice, fresh-made creameries, outside pet brands. Receipts reported on the Board of Trade to-day were 879 packages, besides 123 for exports.

EGGS.—Montreal, Oct. 29th. — The British and European Produce Company writes, under date of October 19th, regarding the Liverpool market, as follows; Canadian fresh eggs, selected stock, 16 pounds, 7s 10d to 8s per dozen eggs; ordinary stock, 15 pounds, Canadian glycerined, 7s; ordinary, 15 pound, Canadian pickled, 6s 6d per 10 dozen. Demand is improving, and Irish are scarce and dear. Continentals being also higher. Arrivals previous week were 5,774 cases. Holders in the country are being granted as high as 17c, f.o.b., and down to 15c, according to quality. For strictly fresh selected stock dealers can get as high as 20c to 22c, and for cold storage selected, 17c to 20c. Fresh arrivals, straight, bring 17 1-2c to 18 1-2c; No. 1, candled, 18c; Montreal limed, 16c; western limed, 14c to 14 1-2c; No. 2 candled, 11 1-2c to 12c. Receipts reported on the Board of Trade to-day amounted to 1,889, of which 1,443 were for export.

BOUND FOR THE LEVANT.

A Naval Demonstration by France to Stir Up Turkey—Instructed to Seize a Customs House.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The entire French Mediterranean squadron left yesterday afternoon, says the Toulon correspondent of The Figaro. While one division put in at Salins-d'Hyeries, another, composed of three battleships and two cruisers, under the command of Admiral Caillarde, proceeded to the Levant. Two thousand troops will be added to this force. Admiral Caillarde's orders are that, if complete satisfaction is not immediately given by the Ottoman Government to all the claims of France, he shall seize the customs house of the port nearest his squadron. It is believed his destination is the Island of Mitylene. The island commands the entrance to the Dardanelles and the Gulf of Smyrna.

Several morning papers confirm The Figaro's Toulon advices.

Rumors to the same effect were current in Paris late last evening, but the Foreign Office professed to know nothing about the matter.

ACCEPTED CHALLENGE

National Review Gives the Buller "Spatch-Cocked" Despatch.

NOW ASKS FOR THE ORIGINAL

That Published, Which Is Claimed to Be the Essential Terms of the Despatch, Was Obtained From a Civilian—Information as to the Lack of Co-operation Between the Generals.

London, Oct. 31.—The National Review gives the essential terms of the "Spatch-cocked" despatch of Sir Redvers Buller to General Sir George White, when in command of the beleagured British garrison at Ladysmith. According to this authority the message ran as follows:

"I have been repulsed. You will burn your ciphers and destroy all your ammunition. You will then make the best terms you can with the Boers after I have fortified myself on the Tugela."

General Buller, in the speech which led to his dismissal from the command of the first army corps challenged The National Review to publish the completed despatch and to explain how it was obtained, declaring that he would then publish a certified copy of the original and allow the public to judge the matter.

The editor of The National Review now explains that he got the despatch from a civilian who was in Ladysmith at the time and who said there was nothing secret about it.

He asserts also that he understands that both General Buller and General White have officially asked permission to publish the authorized version, and he cannot conceive why permission has been withheld.

The same informant, giving an alleged explanation of the fact that there was no co-operation between General Buller and General White during the battle of Colenso, says General White was informed that the attack was fixed for Dec. 17, but General Buller commenced the attack Dec. 15, to the dismay of General White, who had not completed his preparations.

Imaginary and Misleading.

London, Oct. 31.—The Morning Leader characterizes The National Review's version of General Buller's despatch to Sir George White as "imaginary and misleading."

Regan's hand was broken from a blow from a constable's baton, and a dozen men, women and children were trampled on or clubbed.

Bill to Regulate Strikes.

Madrid, Oct. 31.—The Minister of the Interior, Senor Moret, proposes to regulate strikes by legislation, and to that end he has introduced a bill in the Cortes legalizing ordinary strikes if from four to fifteen days' notice is given to the authorities. Strikes stopping the works of an entire town or tending to produce a lack of necessaries will be illegal, and the leaders in such strikes will be punished by imprisonment. Similar conditions will govern the employers coalitions.

New Zealand's Labor Laws.

London, Oct. 31.—A despatch to The Times from Wellington, N. Z., says the Upper House of the New Zealand Legislature has affirmed the principle that either party to an industrial dispute may go past the Conciliation Boards direct to the Arbitration Court. The fact that this motion was carried by both houses against the Government is regarded as significant of a change of feeling in regard to labor legislation.

Cold Settled on the Kidneys.

Few people realize what a vast proportion of serious illnesses arise from cold settling on some delicate organ of the body. The kidneys and liver, as well as the lungs, are very easily affected by sudden changes of temperature, and the results are often suddenly fatal. There is scarcely a man who is subject to exposure to dampness and cold but will be interested in the following letter. It is a common experience with farmers, teamsters, railroad men and laborers to have a cold settle on the kidneys and throw these organs, as well as the whole digestive system, out of order. There is usually backache, pains in the sides and limbs, deposits in the urine, pain and scalding with urination and irregularity of the bowels.

Mr. Thomas A. Embree, general merchant, a highly respected citizen of Springhill, N.B., was completely laid up with kidney disease, lumbago and pains in the back. He was unable to attend to business, and his sufferings were only temporarily relieved by physicians. In the following letter he tells of his remarkable recovery brought about by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Mr. Embree writes:—"As the result of a severe cold settling on the kidneys I contracted kidney disease, which lingered for years, causing me much suffering from terrible pains in the back. For some time I was entirely unable to work, and though I tried several physicians I could only obtain slight temporary relief.

"Having heard of the merits of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on many similar cases, I began to use them, and after using seven boxes was completely cured. The cure is due entirely to the use of this grand medicine, which has since cured several persons to whom I recommended them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

So many thousands of cases of serious kidney disease have been cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills that they have come to be considered an absolute cure for all kidney derangements. They are purely vegetable in composition, prompt and pleasant in action, and thorough and far-reaching in their effects. They are endorsed by doctors, lawyers, ministers and others, and are beyond doubt the most efficacious treatment obtainable for diseases of the kidneys and liver. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box: at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MISS GRANT REMEMBERED.

She was Presented With an Address and a Ring Last Night

At the conclusion of the regular prayer meeting and choir practice in connection with St. Andrew's church last night Miss Grant, who, for sometime has held the position of organist, was presented with an address and a ring as a token of esteem from the members of the choir and the young men of the church.

The address was read by Mr. Thos. Anderson, and the presentation of the ring was made by Miss Carruthers. The address was as follows:

Dear Miss Grant:

On behalf of your many friends assembled here to-night I would remind you of the fact that while acting as organist and choir leader of this church you have greatly endeared yourself to us as members of the choir and as members of the Young Men's Guild. We regret to learn, that in order to further pursue the study of your profession, you find it necessary to sever your connection with the church, but trust in your new sphere of life you will find that further success which your energy and ability deserve.

We cannot let you leave us, however, without expressing in some tangible form our appreciation of your services whilst in our midst, and to that end we would ask your acceptance of this ring, together with our most sincere and hearty wishes for the welfare of your mother and yourself.

Signed on behalf of the Choir and Guild.

THOS. G. ANDERSON,
F. T. SOLLITT.

Peterborough, 30th October, 1901.

Miss Grant made a suitable reply expressing her apppreciation of the honour done her, and assuring them that she would long remember her stay in Peterborough.

During her residence in Peterborough, Miss Grant has made many friends through the courtesy with which she ever responded to the many demands made upon her abilities as a musician. The standard to which she aspired was a high one and her position in the musical world of the Province is conceded to be amongst the foremost artists of Ontario.

MR. W. G. MORROW WILL PRESIDE

Over the Affairs of the Granite Curling Club.

The Annual Meeting was Held Last Evening When Officers Were Elected.

The Granite Curling Club met last night at the rink for reorganization purposes with President Jeffries in the chair, and arrangements were made for an active canvas for new members. An energetic set of officers was elected and if the plans for the season are followed up as suggested the Granites should flourish like the proverbial green bay tree, this winter. The Club has been most unfortunate during the last several years in losing a number of its best players every winter, and consequently the work of keeping the membership up to the mark each season entails a lot of arduous work. As a great many members of the Bowling Club intend joining the ranks of the curlers this winter the task of securing new members will be made much easier.

The following officers were elected for the season:

President—Mr. W. G. Morrow.
Vice-President—Mr. H. R. H. Kenner.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. Duncan Walker.
Chaplain—Rev. W. L. Armitage.
Executive Committee—Messrs. G. E. Whiten, W. D. Parker and J. Jeffries.
Representatives to O.C.A. — Mr. E. B. Edwards and Dr. Boucher.

The meeting adjourned until the evening of November 22nd, when skips will be chosen and rinks selected.

PERFECTLY SATISFIED

With the New Mud Lake Bridge—Inspected by the Government Engineer.

Dominion Government Engineer J. McCallum, of Ottawa, was in Peterborough yesterday for the purpose of inspecting the work done on the new Mud Lake Bridge before the amount of the grant made by the Laurier Government was paid over to the county. He was driven out to Chemong accompanied by Warden Fitzgerald, County Councillor William Anderson, chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee; J. E. Belcher, County Engineer, and Mr. McDiarmid, of the firm of McDiarmid & Bogue, contractors.

The Government official expressed his thorough satisfaction with the manner in which the work had been performed and warmly complimented the contractors. He had never before seen a work of the kind, which indeed stands unique in the engineering world to-day.

THE BOYS THAT BLOW.

The Bugle Band Met on Monday Night—It is Flourishing.

The bugle band held their regular weekly practice on Monday evening last, and with but two exceptions the roll call was squared. The boys are maintaining the same interest in the band as taken previous to the trip to Toronto, and are practising hard at new, up-to-date and lively marches for next season's parades. The harmonious working of the band, coupled with the present progress made, will see them gazetted next spring as one of the finest bugle and drum corps in line.

Applications are continuously being made to the bugle major for positions in the band, but have to be refused, owing to lack of instruments. The membership at the present time comprises ten buglers and five drummers, rather a slim aggregation for a regiment of such strength and distinction. A regiment to be alive, active and up-to-date must support a bugle band of a size in proportion to the regiment and capable of being heard from the first to the last company on parade, as there is no music "outside of the bagpipes," that makes a soldier cut loose and step out as does the thrilling, breezy marches of a bugle and drum band.

At the close of the practice the boys decided on obtaining quarters more centrally located, for the winter months, where they may at any time enjoy a sociable evening and keep up a more continuous practice than where they are at present. A committee was appointed to look after the interests of the band.

The officers appointed for the ensuing year are:

Hon. Pres.—Major Miller.
Pres.—Capt. Adjutant Walker.
Vice-Pres.—Quartermaster Sergt. Brundrett.
Sec.—Bugler Williams.
Treas.—Drummer Thornton.

Members are requested to bring in their uniform on Monday evening next, when the regular practice will be held.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Oct. 31.—We look for improvements in the market to-day, although in the early trading prices are likely to be somewhat lower. The important influence at the present time is the satisfactory progress toward a final settlement of the Nor. Pac. dispute, the announcement of which will prove a bearish factor of more than ordinary importance. On any recession we advise the purchase of Un. Pac., Sou. P., Nor. Pac. preferred, St. Paul and the coalers. We look for a further rally in copper and P.O., and it will pay to buy Atch. and steel stocks on any declines.—Town topics.

Senator Clark says no cut in copper anticipated. Cotton receipts continue enormous. More gold imports expected next week. Cotton market strong. Regular dividend on Penna expected tomorrow. Price current says, rain needed. Corn average poor quality.—H. F. Company.

New York, Oct. 31.—Joseph, irresistibly bullish, thus Mr. Morgan describes himself, and characterizes the situation. Nor. Pac. affairs are fast reaching a comprehensive settlement. It will be well to keep long of St. Paul, Pacifics, and get some coalers. Coppers look better. Sharp, but irregular movements expected in A.C.P. Big interests acquiring in J.C. Vanderbilts, Po., and tractions may be taken for flyers.

FROM LABOUR TO REST.

Death of Monsignor Laurent, V.G., Lindsay—Brief Sketch of a Busy, Useful and Holy Life.

The death occurred at St. Mary's Presbytery, Lindsay, at 11.30 o'clock this morning of Rt. Rev. Monsignor Laurent, V. G., after an illness of about twelve days of bronchitis. Monsignor Laurent, it was known for the past few days, was very low so that his demise therefore was hardly unexpected. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning next.

The late Right Rev. Monsignor Laurent, V. G., was born on the 16th of April, 1825, in New Nantes, Brittany France. He studied at his native town for some years before coming to America. At Baltimore, Maryland, he continued his theological studies and afterwards came to Toronto, where in 1858 he was consecrated to the priesthood, the ceremony having been preformed by the late Bishop Charbonelle. His first year as a parish priest was at Oshawa. He was subsequently translated to Maidstone, Essex County. He was appointed in 1863 parish priest at Amherstburg, where he remained for 12 years, during which time he established the Assumption College at Sandwich, which is confined to the direction of the Basilian Fathers, and is now one of the leading Catholic educational institutions of Western Ontario. After the appointment of Bishop Jamot as Vicor Apostolic of Northern Canada Monsignor Laurent accompanied him to that district, and was appointed parish priest at Sault Ste. Marie. Subsequently, when Bishop Jamot was consecrated Bishop of Peterborough, he went in 1882 to Bracebridge While here he was elevated to the responsible office of Vicar-General of the Diocese. In February, 1884, he was transferred to Lindsay, where he has laboured since, doing excellent and faithful work, and only the future will reveal the good to be placed to the credit of his ministrations. Then Lordships Bishops Dowling and O'Connor on assuming the crozier, appointed him their Vicar-General. But greater honours and greater evidences of recognition of his distinguished services to the Church were to follow. In 1896 His Holiness Pope Leo XIII elevated him to the dignity of Appellate to His Holiness.

The deceased hierarch will be remembered with affection and regret by the Bishop and clergy of this Diocese, who have best known his scholarly attainments, his piety and zeal for the advancement and cause of religion, and his cheering and unaffected geniality of soul, which made personal association so delightful, and made him beloved by all who came within the circle of his personal influence. Kindly memories of him will also dwell with the worshippers at St. Peter's cathedral, who have shared his ministrations of the sacred offices and listened to the simple and earnest eloquence of his discourses. He will be regretted throughout the whole Church, and especially in the Diocese of Peterborough, in which he has laboured ever since it was erected. His scholarship, zeal and piety have long made him a marked man, on whose shoulders, had he lived, it would have been no surprise to see the purple of the episcopal vestments fall.

HALLOWE'EN.

Allhallow Eve or Hallowe'en was formerly the occasion of many curious customs throughout Great Britain and Ireland. It was sometimes called "nutcrack night" in the north of England, from the practice of throwing nuts into the fire. Burns says: "Burning the nuts is a favourite charm. They name the lad and lass to each particular nut as they lay them in the fire, and accordingly as they burn quietly together, or start from beside one another, the course and issue of the courtship will be." He also mentions the custom of Scotch women of pulling cabbages; they must go out hand in hand blindfolded and pull the first cabbage they come to; its being big or little, straight or crooked, is prophetic of the grand object of their spells — a husband. If any earth stuck to the roots, that was a fortune; and the taste of the custock (the heart of the stem) was indicative of the natural temper and disposition. In certain parts of Perthshire, bonfires were lit in every village. When the first was consumed, the ashes were carefully collected in the form of a circle; then a stone was put, in the fire for each person in the several families interested in the charm, and if any stone was moved out of its place or injured before next morning, the person it represented was supposed not to live twelve months from that day. This same custom was also observed in North Wales.

Modern children approve entirely and enthusiastically of Hallowe'en and have their own way of celebrating the occasion. There is, of course, more fun than superstition about their pet practices. The Hallowe'en verses handed down from generation to generation, are almost without number.

One of the oldest is the "Shooting Star":

If I a shooting star can see,
And before it falls count 'one, two, three,'
I'll find my love in the nearest tree,
For I hunt him, and he hunts me.

The venturesome little girls who make a trip round the barn on this night repeat:—

Three times around the barn we go,
In order our true loves to know;
Unless old maids we're going to be
Some bright young chap we'll surely see.

Perhaps the oldest and most nearly universal plan is simply to gaze for a long time in a mirror.

On Hallowe'en night you must look in the glass.
If you look long enough your true love will pass.

In parts of the country where the sunflower is still blooming late in October one by one, while the watcher says slowly:—

Sunflower, sunflower tell to me
Who my true love is to be.
Is he rich, poor, tall or fat?
Sunflower, sunflower, tell me that!

Of course, there is no prophecy in this case, unless the pulling off of the the last petal fall on the word "rich" or "poor," or "tall" or "fat," but the experimenter is at liberty to destroy as many sunflowers as she pleases.

But the best fun of all, as every child knows, is simply ducking for apples without regard to lovers or charms. And the next best fun is to have a good big cake for supper containing, perhaps, a ring, a button, and a piece of money.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams intends going up to Toronto at 4.45 this afternoon for the purpose of laying Peterborough's case before the O.R.F.U. Executive regarding the finals between Peterborough and London.

The members of the executive and the members of the first team will meet at 7.30 o'clock this evening in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of discussing this important matter. The principal question to be discussed is —Should the O.R.F.U. Executive decide that a sudden death game be played in Toronto, is it preferable to have home and home games with London?

IN LONDON.

Last night's London News contains a lot of football gossip which will be interesting to the Peterboroughs. The News says:—

"Why shouldn't Peterborough come to London?

"Football is a game for spectators as well as players, and so far this year London people have not had a chance of witnessing a contest worthy of the name—the match with Sarnia being nothing better than an exhibition. And because of Toronto's defaulting to Peterborough and doing the latter place out of a game, London must pay the piper. This would be a nice how-do-you-do. Had Toronto not defaulted, Peterborough would not have squealed, as the O.R.F.U. had given them the best end of the deal. Now Peterborough would hold London responsible for Toronto's inability to deliver the goods, and the Telegram would back them up.

"If the O.R.F.U. does anything of the sort it will strangle sports in the west. London is entitled to fair play, and will demand it.

"It has not yet been decided whether the Peterborough team will play here next Saturday or not. The matter will be decided upon at a meeting of the executive of the O. R. F. U. to be held at Toronto to-night.

"The Peterborough people say they will not play in London under any conditions.

"The president of the Peterborough team, Mr. McWilliams, was telegraphed to in regard to the matter yesterday, and he stated they would endeavour to get a sudden death game in Peterborough, but the O. R. F. U. will never allow such a one-sided business to be given to Peterborough.

"Mr. C. H. Christie will represent London at the O.R.F.U. meeting to-night.

"His instructions are to agree to no such proposal on the part of Peterborough.

"Home and home games are what London wants and is entitled to, and they will stand for nothing else.

"Gordon Crawford, the fast inside man of the Argonaut team, has been transferred to the London branch of the Bank of Toronto. This is a lucky thing for London, as he has signified his willingness to don a local uniform. He will be a tower of strength to the team."

Squandered a Fortune.

How often we hear the expression, notwithstanding the fact that those who use it are perhaps spending their money foolishly in medicines which only give relief without removing the cause. Merrill's System Tonic cures heart, stomach, kidney, nerve and liver troubles — because by purifying the blood, regulating the bowels and toning each of these organs the cause of disease is removed. Price 50c per bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

A Good Move.

In the present scarcity of houses and the certainty that in the near future there will be a demand far beyond the present supply, we notice with pleasure that Mr. Dumble is putting lots on the market at prices and terms that will enable men of small means to buy and build. For instance lots that he sells at $200 may be paid for in quarterly payments of $6.66 each. So that in 10 years the lot will be paid for, and the purchaser is enabled to put his money into a house. This is giving the poor man a chance to get for himself a home and get rid of the landlord.

WM. LECH & SONS

413 GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH.

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOUR?

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — The report published in your last night's issue of Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, regarding the circumstances, so far as known, of the death of an illegitimate child, suggests the question of responsibility to the end that our Christian civilization may not be discredited. The circumstances indicate that in the case of this infant, as in the case of thousands of infants born in wedlock, who perish miserably every day in wretched homes, its life would have been spared if it had had proper care and nourishment. Somebody, in some way, is morally, if not legally, responsible for the death of this child. It is the duty of a Christian community, not to speak of a state, to see that its prospective citizens, no matter how born, or of what condition or colour, so far as is possible, are surrounded with conditions that will make for their physical and moral welfare, and contribute to their growing up useful and moral, not burdensome and immoral, citizens. The organization of the Children's Aid Society has this as its chief reason for existence. To rescue children from homes where they are ill-treated is only one side of its function. Its more important function is to rescue children from homes where vicious environments and examples constitute the risk of the children housed there, growing up to recruit the ranks of the vicious and criminal classes. If it is necessary and right to do this, as undoubted it is, with the children born in wedlock, is it not much more called for, in the case of illegitimate children, who from the circumstances of their birth and training, are much more liable to be "neglected and dependent?" A child born without the pale of wedlock is the same in the eyes of the Power who permits it to become a living soul, as any other child. It is born to the same responsibility; it has the same share in the Divine plan of redemption; it is subject to the same rewards and punishments in respect of moral well and wrong doing. It is born to the same responsibility to the state; the laws protect it. The state does not by the act of evading responsibility for the care of its neglected infant life, withdraw its right to demand on the part of the grown-up child obedience to the laws of the land, nor withhold punishment if, even through the neglect to provide preventive measures, and rescue it from contaminating surroundings, the child becomes vicious, criminal, and a law breaker. A child entering the race of life handicapped by the bar sinister, is so much more the deserving ward of society and the state—so much the more the true object of that Christian charity patterned upon the Divine Charity that received and absolved the repentant Magdalen. He came "not to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance." It may be a regulation of the Children's Aid Society that illegitimate children are not to be admitted to the Shelter because such an act of Christian charity will encourage illegitimacy. What a monstrous doctrine! It would be just as justifiable to refuse shelter to other children because that act of Christian charity would encourage parents to ill-treat their children, and to contaminate them with the example of vicious lives. It is not our part to judge; our duty is plain, and we impiously arrogate the functions of the Power that defined our duty when we contract it by Pharisaic limitations. I am thoroughly in sympathy with the concluding paragraph of Dr. Bingham's report, previously referred to:

"One may say too, in conclusion, that in this town we have, under diversified names, all the outward observances of civilization and Christianity ably and zealously conducted by both men and women. All this is praiseworthy, but somehow the result is not satisfactory, for when a poor women appeals at the door of charity for a night's lodging, she is refused, and must lie all night in the police cells, and when a child is born out of wedlock it must die. The public can draw its own conclusions."

Yours truly,
BROADVIEW.

FATALITIES OF A DAY

An Old Lady Partially Eaten by Hogs Near Botany.

BOY KILLED BY A STREET CAR

A Little Son of Mr. H. L. Walker of Guelph Fatally Burned—A Man Dies at Ottawa After Vaccination—Winnipeg Law Clerk Found Dead —Terrible Double Tragedy in Toronto.

Ridgetown, Ont., Oct. 31.—A sad and fatal accident occurred near Botany about ten o'clock Tuesday morning. Mrs. James Robertson, an elderly lady, went to the pasture to salt the sheep, and while doing so, it is supposed, was knocked down by a ram. While lying on the ground the unfortunate woman was attacked by a drove of hogs. It is not known whether the sheep or hogs killed her, but when found by a neighbor about 5 o'clock, she was terribly torn, one arm being entirely eaten off and the other nearly so, great holes were eaten in her sides and her lungs were also torn out. The accident happened too far from the house for cries to be heard. Deceased was 84 years of age.

Boy Courted Death.

St. Catharines, Oct. 31.—Willie Montonio, an 8-year-old boy, living in Merritton, was crushed under the wheels of car No. 16 on the street railway at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and life was extinct before he could be released from the trucks. The accident occurred at Merritton on the main street, and a dozen people were eye witnesses to the fatality. The boy was playing on the track, and, as the car approached around a corner, an older brother pulled him out of danger. As his brother let go the little fellow laughed and rushed back on the track. The car was by that time within a length of the reckless boy, and although an effort was made to stop it, the momentum was too much, and the boy was beneath the wheels.

Fatally Burned.

Guelph, Oct. 31.—Mr. H. L. Walker's little seven-year-old son Hallie, had gone to bed, but had got up again in his nightshirt and had been standing in front of a lighted grate on Tuesday night. No one was in the room at the time, and in some way his clothing took fire. Before the flames were extinguished he had received injuries which, it is feared, will result in his death.

Died After Vaccination.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—John McLaughlin, 18 years old, dropped dead yesterday on Sapper's Bridge, while looking at a boat in the canal. He was a woodworker and always enjoyed good health. A few days ago he was vaccinated, and this is thought to have affected his heart. Three physicians tried to save his life, but failed.

Found Dead.

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—At Gretna yesterday afternoon H. R. Wilson, a law clerk, employed in the office of Cameron & Phillips, was found dead. Deceased had been drinking and no inquest will be held.

A FAMILY TRAGEDY.

Husband Hanged Himself While Wife Lay Dead in Bed.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—John Armstrong hanged himself in the cellar of his home at 54 Defoe street yesterday afternoon and his wife, Jane, was found dead in bed. It was plainly evident that the man had suicided, but the cause of the woman's death will be sought when a post-mortem is made to-day.

Armstrong was about 55 years of age and his wife apparently 10 years younger. They had been married for over 20 years and according to the stories of those who knew them well, they were remarkably fond of each other. The surmise is that when Armstrong went home he found his wife dead and in the intensity of his grief went down to the cellar and ended his existence. Both had been drinking heavily since the Duke's visit.

Schley's Generosity.

Washington, Oct. 31.—At the inquiry yesterday Admiral Schley was allowed to explain that Admiral Sampson declined to receive the first report because it did mention the presence of the New York.

"I felt that the victory at that time," said Admiral Schley, "was big enough for all, and I made this change out of generosity, and because I knew if the New York had been present she would have done as good work as anybody else."

Committed for Trial.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—Hansen, the self-confessed Westmount murderer, was formally committed for trial at the November term of the Court of King's Bench yesterday. While he still pleaded guilty to all that he has confessed, the law reads so that a plea of "not guilty" must be entered at his trial, with all the chances of an ordinary prisoner.

Nearing the End.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The cross-examination of Admiral Schley was continued throughout the session of the Court of Inquiry yesterday. The progress made was exceedingly slow. Practically the whole day was consumed in questioning the Admiral about the cruise from Cienfuegos to Santiago, and the motives and influences that governed him in turning back after his squadron had arrived in the vicinity of the latter port. This latter branch of the cross-examination had not been concluded when the court adjourned.

WILD WEST SHOW WRECK.

One Hundred and Ten Horses Killed in the Collision.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 30.—One hundred and ten of the ring horses of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show were crushed to death in a railroad wreck near Lexington at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Among the horses killed was "Old Pap," Col. Cody's favorite saddle horse. He says his loss is $60,000. The accident was the result of a head-on collision.

Sentenced to 15 Years.

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 30.— Sapper Gill of the Royal Engineers, who a couple of weeks ago shot Gunner Clinnick of the R.G.A. while shooting at Gunner Mahoney of the same regiment, was yesterday found guilty of manslaughter, and was sentenced by Judge Drake to fifteen years in the penitentiary. He is only 21 years of age.

Young Lad Shoots Himself.

Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—The young son of Peter Manson, a farmer, living at Rabitt Lake, a few miles from Rat Portage, shot himself fatally yesterday. He was taking a loaded gun down from the wall, when by some means it went off and the charge entered the abdomen. The boy lived about half an hour.

A Daily Nuisance.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later the disease extends to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucous, stoppage of the nostrils, irritation in throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging, and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often give temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh, is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These Tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalyptol and similar cleansing antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth, in this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire alimentary canal.

If desired, they can also be dissolved in water and used as a douche, in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche—a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use internally of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche.

Dr. Bement states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching and local applications, and further says that probably the best and certainly the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are contained in this tablet."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at fifty cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist, and if he is honest he will tell you there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the market.

Why Care if the Baby is Mearny:

Muggins is not handsome, and he knows it. When his first baby was born, he asked, "Does it look like me?"

Of course they replied in the affirmative.

"Well," said he, with a sigh, "break it to my wife gently."—London Tit-Bits.

GREAT MEN IN DISGUISE.

Some of the Amusing Adventures Encountered Incog—Some Excellent Tales Told by the Late Rev. H. R. Haweis.

The late Rev. H. R. Haweis, the highly-gifted and popular incumbent of St. James', Marylebone, used to tell an amusing story of a strange old couple who for many months were regular attendants at his church.

Plainly dressed and insignificant in appearance, they were quite content to take obscure seats at the back of the gallery, until by accident it was discovered that the modest and retiring couple were the rich and eccentric Duke of — and his wife.

When on the Sunday following the discovery of their rank they took their usual seats at the back of the gallery, one of the officers of the church went to them and, with a profound bow, begged to be allowed to conduct "their graces" to a more suitable part of the church.

The detected Duke looked for a moment at his wife with dismay on his face, and then, saying: "Come on, Sarah; they've found us out," walked out of the church with her, and never entered its doors again.

Of all the Royalties of Europe not one loves more to escape from the circumstances of his rank than the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Austro-Hungary; and his happiest days are spent in long, solitary rambles in the country, dressed like a peasant, and fraternizing with casual pedestrians and wayside innkeepers.

One day last summer he was hobnobbing with the host of a small inn on the road between Neustadt and Oldenburg, when a well-to-do tradesman of the latter town drove up and bidding him keep an eye on his horse, entered the inn for refreshment. When he emerged a few minutes later, he gave a small coin, a krone, to the young man who was dutifully holding the reins, and who equally dutifully thanked him.

A few weeks later the tradesman was walking along the Ringstrasse, in Vienna, when a Royal equipage dashed past with an escort of cavalry. Of the two occupants of the Imperial carriage he recognized one as his Emperor, Francis Joseph, and the other, to his amazement and consternation, was the peasant to whom he had offered a krone for holding his horse.

M. Casimir-Perier, when he was President of the French Republic, took a great delight in dressing as an ouvrier or as a clerk, and escaping from the ceremonial of his daily life for long bicycle rides in the country. On one occasion he was cycling near Pontsur-Seine when he halted at a small wayside inn and asked for luncheon.

"I have nothing in the house," the landlady said: "but the best thing you can do is to ride to the butcher in the village you passed through a mile down the road and bring back a kilogramme of steak."

This was an adventure after the President's own heart; and mounting his bicycle again he quickly returned with an appetizing steak, and was soon eating one of the most enjoyable meals of his life.

One of the best of these stories is told of M. Le Royer, when he was President of the French Senate. When, during one vacation, he was traveling with M. Lepere, the French "Home Secretary," in Italy, the President amused himself by posing as his companion's valet.

Whenever the travelers alighted at an hotel M. Royer would explain to the manager that his master was a man of high station, Minister of the Interior, in fact; and he would busy himself in seeing to the rooms, looking after the luggage, and generally discharging the duties of a zealous servant.

As a very natural consequence M. Lepere was treated with the utmost deference at attention, while M. Royer had to be content with the attention due to his assumed character; but when the bills were presented, and the President escaped for four francs a day, while the Minister had to pay twenty, the "valet" felt amply rewarded for his amiable deception.

Christening Under Difficulties.

A good story is told by a well-known clergyman, at present in the diocese of Christ Church, New Zealand. Some time ago he was in charge of a large and scattered parish, parts of which he visited at rare intervals in a small steam launch. Sometimes whole families of children were found to be unchristened, and the reverend gentleman had his hands full of clerical work of this and kindred sorts. At one visit a settler invited the minister up to baptize his children, but when he arrived no children could be found, and the ceremony had to be postponed till next time.

On his next visit the settler was in waiting on the bank and before the clergyman had time to land burst out: "Come on; I've got 'em."

"Got what?" gasped the priest.

"Got the children," was the reply.

The clergyman followed the settler to his house, and there, shut up in hencoops, were the young hopefuls, who were brought out one at a time and duly christened.

The Buddhist Oath.

The Buddhist swears "In the presence of Buddha," and says, "If I speak false, or if by coloring the truth others are led astray, then may the three holy existencies, Buddha, Dhamma and Pro Sanga, together with the devotees of the Twenty-two Firmaments, punish me and also my migratory soul." The Hindoo law says: "Let the judge swear by his veracity, the soldier by his horse or weapons, the merchant by his cattle, grain, gold or other possessions, and the servile man by imprecating curses upon his own hand." When the gentoo of India swears, he touches the foot of a Brahman, and when a Brahman swears he touches the hand of another of his caste.

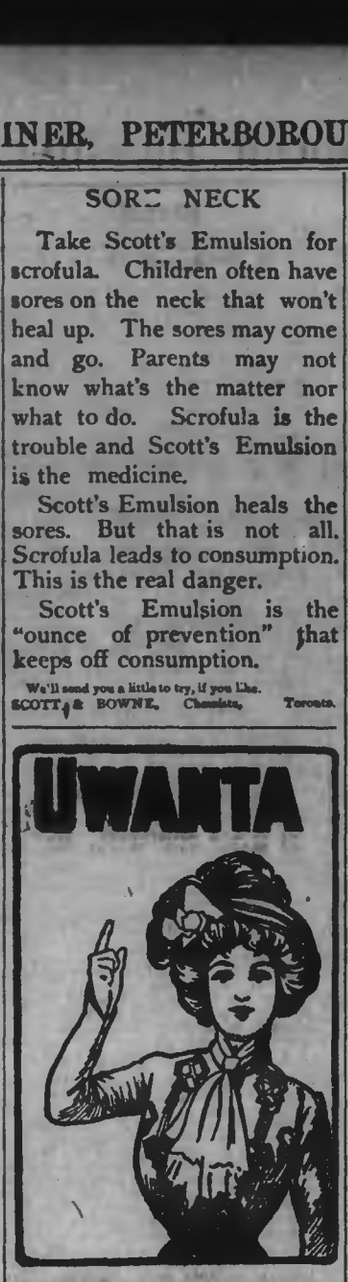
SORE NECK

Take Scott's Emulsion for scrofula. Children often have sores on the neck that won't heal up. The sores may come and go. Parents may not know what's the matter nor what to do. Scrofula is the trouble and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine.

Scott's Emulsion heals the sores. But that is not all. Scrofula leads to consumption. This is the real danger.

Scott's Emulsion is the "ounce of prevention" that keeps off consumption.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.



The proper location for a dairy stable is one of the most important considerations in the construction of the most important adjunct to the dairy business, says a correspondent of Hoard's Dairyman. To be able to start right it is necessary to consider the subject from different standpoints. Fresh air and a plentiful supply of pure water, good drainage, protection from cold winds, plenty of sunshine and convenience in regard to feeding arrangements are the essential features to be considered.

Fresh air and drainage may be provided by selecting an elevation. Protection from cold winds is secured by planting a tree belt along the northern exposure, but it is not always easy to combine with a location of this nature the proper water supply, which is a very essential feature. Generally speaking, the elevation also assists in providing a water supply, as the pumping should be done by wind power. A rise of ground naturally gives an uninterrupted wind approach, as the derrick may be high enough to lift the wind above the tree windbreak. In no case should the water supply be poor, limited or inconvenient.

In addition to the tree belt a high board fence should inclose a breathing space. This fence should be well constructed and the joints between the boards battened tight. If, in addition to this, a shed roof is provided opening to the south, winter yard conditions will be about as good as they can be made, provided of course that the ground is supplied with proper drainage. The filthy, miry condition of so many barnyards is sufficient excuse for laying so much stress on the importance of this feature. The abomination that is permitted to exist year after year in connection with farm barns and stables is little short of criminal.

Lining For Silo.

When a lining is to be put in a silo, it is well to use a good quality of paper, as a saving here may mean a large loss in silage. The silage will not eat out the paper, but as common building paper will take up moisture and so easily break from any movement of the walls of the silo for this reason the acid proof paper, which is stronger and impervious to moisture, is better for a lining.

A Valuable Guernsey.

Last year Nerius was awarded first premium at Toronto, St. John and Halifax, first premium in his class and first of any age. Mr. Brow's herd was founded on an importation made direct from Guernsey in 1886 and further augmented by purchases from the herd of the late Sir John Abbott of Quebec and from New York. There was sold from Eastview farm to an Ontario breeder in 1895 nine head, and in that year and in subsequent years they were never beaten in the show ring.

Fire! Fire!!

When that cry sounds how people rush to help and sympathize! And when some fireman rescues a woman from the flames, the streets echo with applauding shouts.

And yet if that woman had perished in the flames it is possible that she would have suffered less than she suffers almost daily from the inflammation which disease has lighted in the delicate womanly organism.

That fire of inflammation can be put out. The gnawing ulcer can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes womanly regularity and dries enfeebling drains, but it heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I suffered for four years with what four physicians pronounced ulceration and prolapsus of the uterus," writes Mrs. Ada Brooks, of Kirbyville, Taney Co., Missouri. "Also inflammation of bladder and urethra. My case was chronic and complicated. Had several good physicians, but kept getting worse. Had been confined to my bed five months when I wrote to you. I received your reply very soon and then dismissed my physician and began taking Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took eight bottles of his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and began to get better at once. In two months I could sit up in a chair, and kept getting better. In four months could do all my house work, including washing and sewing."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DEAD MARCH.

Sung by Australian Colonials Before the Duke of Cornwall.

An extraordinary military revolt occurred at Wellington, New Zealand, during the visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall.

Among the troops drawn from the country to take part in the welcoming celebrations at the seat of Maoriland's Government were nearly a thousand mounted infantry, who, "after their duty done," were sent into camp in an adjoining park.

To quote The Sydney Daily Telegraph: "The place was in a shocking state, nearly knee-deep with mud and surface water. No forage was supplied for the horses and the commissariat was a mockery. Then the men had to sleep on the wet ground.

"The headquarters staff was so busy attending levees and parading about in brilliant uniforms that they completely forgot this bogged contingent, which was left entirely without orders, hungry and perishing in the cold that night.

"The men, after a vain search for the caterer, became disgusted and mutinous and left the quagmire and came into town. They interviewed the newspapers and walked the streets in skeleton army of protest, in a body, with pieces of unquestionable-looking meat hung on a pole. They paraded in the vicinity of Government House, where the Duke of Cornwall and York was holding a levee, and commenced singing the 'Dead March.'

"There was much consternation in officialdom this morning and vast quantities of food and forage suddenly materialized at the camp by daybreak. Shortly afterwards the commandant of the forces appeared. He first had the officers brought before him and lectured them in vigorous terms about what had taken place, and then he had the men paraded and told them that they were 'infernal curs,' 'infernal cowards,' and had spoilt everything military by such behavior when the son of the King was in the city.

"By this time the commandant, in a white heat of anger bawled out 'Press men, clear!' Then he resumed his extraordinary address. He next directed the names of the principal offenders to be taken, but the men when questioned simply laughed in the officers' faces.

"The incident created much excitement and gave a decided fillip to the festivities, which were beginning to drag in consequence of the continuous rain."

Just 400 Years After.

In 1492 Columbus discovered America. In 1892, just 400 years later, Merrill, a Brantford druggist, discovered Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. In five years the sale of a quarter of million bottles has proved that Four T's never fails to cure a cough in 24 hours and a cold in two days. Large bottles 25c at Ormond & Walsh's drugstore.

Australia Wants a Navy.

A Sydney correspondent says that Sir John Forrest, the Minister for Defence, is engaged in drafting a federal naval policy. He announces the eventual formation of an absolutely Australian navy, which he looks upon as being speedily necessary. The existing system of paying Great Britain for her naval defence he deems unsatisfying to the aspirations of the commonwealth. Meanwhile he proposes to maintain local brigades and to encourage the seafaring elements on the coast.

Old Age Pension Reduced.

An Australian correspondent says the colony of Victoria spent £225,000 on old age pensions last year. The Government proposes to reduce the maximum payment from 10 shillings to 7 shillings per month. The revenue of the colony shows a surplus of £135,849 over expenditure.

A GALWAY RESIDENT.

Mrs. Daniel Reid Passed Away at the Age of Seventy Years.

It is with feelings of deep regret that we record the death on Thursday, of one of Galway's oldest and most respected settlers in the person of Mrs. Daniel Reid. Deceased was born in May, 1821, in the village of Eskaton, County of Limerick, Ireland. With two of her cousins she immigrated to Canada in the year 1845, and made her home at Gore's Landing where she remained about one year. It was at that place that she became acquainted with Mr. Daniel Reid, whom she married the following year. They both moved to the Township of Otonabee and settled on a farm near what is now known as Indian River station. Not being satisfied with their surroundings, they removed to the Township of Galway in the spring of 1858 and settled on lot No. 2, concession 15, where they resided continuously until the time of her death. Mr. Reid, who still survives her, feels very keenly the loss of a most devoted partner. Notwithstanding the difficulties and hardships connected with clearing a bush farm, she bore it all with Christian fortitute. It must be remembered that when the first settlers came to Galway the Bobcaygeon road was but little more than a trail. There was no market for timber, and little market in fact for anything else. Notwithstanding all this Mr. and Mrs. Reid succeeded in making for themselves a comfortable home.

Deceased possessed rare qualities, which endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. She will not easily be forgotten.

All that is mortal of Mrs. Reid was taken to the Roman Catholic Cemetry in Galway last Saturday morning, followed by a very large number of friends.

The only members of the family besides her husband who survive to mourn her loss are Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. Wm. Clark, Mrs. James McGrath, daughters, and Mr. D. Reid, a son, all of Galway.

Mr. Reid, the bereaved husband, is also in his declining years, and has the sympathy of the entire community in his sad bereavement.

GALWAY NOTES.

Rev. F. J. O'Leary's beautiful and up-to-date residence is now completed. It is heated with a furnace and has all modern appliances. It is expected that he will be able to move into it on All Saint's Day. The dwelling commands a splendid view as it is built directly opposite the church on a beautifully elevated plot of ground donated by Mr. Thomas Buckley.

GET COMFORT.

There is little comfort in life when a person is afflicted with pain. Donald Babcock, farmer, Harrowsmith, Ont., was a sufferer from rheumatism for years. When advised to take Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure he did so, and two bottles of this wonderful preparation, with two boxes of Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. He has not had a twinge of pain since, and attends to his duties regularly. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

DOURO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The death of Johanna Elizabeth, the beloved wife of Mr. Frank Daly of Rochester, N. Y., and daughter of Mr. H. P. Crowley of this place, took place on Thursday, Oct. 17th whilst Mrs. Daly was on a visit to her parents. The funeral, which took place on Sunday was very largely attended.

Mr. Martin Torpey is at present the guest of his brother, Mr. W. J. Torpey.

Miss Lillie O'Brien who has been visiting friends and relatives in Buffalo and Rochester, returned home last week.

Misses Kennealty, Callaghan and Kelly, of Norwood, spent Sunday in Douro.

Mr. John Fitzpatrick of Missouri, is renewing old acquaintances in this district.

JOHN KING'S GOOD LUCK.

Peterborough Lakes Again to the Front.

The Toronto Star's Fish Prize Captured by a Belmont Young Man—Many Competitors.

The $10 split bamboo fishing rod which the Toronto Daily Star offered to the disciple of Izaak Walton who landed the heaviest small-mouthed black bass during the season will next year whip a line in Belmont Lake, and the man who handles it will be John King, a farmer's lad.

Six pounds and four ounces!

That's what this king from Belmont's depths weighed when John King dropped him on the scales. No skimp weight fish was this prize-winner, but a full plump six pounds four ounces. The weight went up in the air when the fish was laid in the scoop. It never quivered. Six pounds four and a quarter ounces most fishermen would have labelled him, but down Belmont way they give brimming measure, though the rocky soil does begrudge a bountiful crop.

It was Belmont Lake against all Canada, and Belmont Lake won, with the famous Muskoka Lakes a nose—or, to be more accurate, an ounce—away at the finish.

Belmont Lake won against Mud Lake, Muskoka Lake, Crow Lake, Nottawasaga River, Sparrow Lake, and even a lake with a name longer than any three-pound bass, Koshshechemogabog Lake, had to "go away back and sit down" when John King of Belmont Lake showed what he held in the line of fish.

John King, the farmer's lad, won against holidaying professional men from Toronto, from moneyed men from Buffalo, from men of leisure from way down south, and even an angler of the fair sex who wooed a 3 pounds 3 ounces fish from Muskoka waters.

King is a chunky young man of 22 years, bronzed with the sun, and as alert looking as any city boy.

His fishing outfit consists of a 13-foot lancewood rod, a silk line, and a multiplying bass reel. When the prize-winner walked off with the live minnow at the end of that silk line in his mouth, he wasn't checked by a rude jerk. He felt a steady pull on the barb, and no matter how hard he pulled or how fast he darted back and forth, never was able to get enough slack to enable him to break the line. That slender lancewood rod bent like a whip, but King had battled with big fish before, and he stayed right with his lordship and landed him in the skiff after a ten-minute struggle.

Belmont Lake is four miles north of Havelock, and Havelock is in Belmont township in Peterborough County, 103 miles east of Toronto. King lives on the shores of the lake, near the southern end. The lake is six miles long and three-quarters of a mile broad.

SGT. HALL'S PICTURE

Sergeant Adam Hall, who went with the Peterborough section on the second Canadian contingent to South Africa, this week received a photograph of which he is very proud, it being the only one of the kind in Canada. The picture is that of a group of invalid soldiers, and it was taken at Dover on Aug. 11th, 1900. It contains 68 Colonials, including Sgt. Hall, the Mayor and Warden of Dover, and Lieut. Satow, who was in charge of the party. The group sat for the picture in the pleasure gardens at Dover, just below the great fortress.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

EVERY MAN IS GOING

All Available Infantry at Aldershot for South Africa.

PRINCE ARTHUR GOES WITH THEM

A Single Regiment of Regular Cavalry, 21st Lancers, Left in the United Kingdom—Mr. John Morley, M.P., on the War—Gen. Buller's Straight Denial and His Popularity.

Aldershot, Eng., Nov. 1.—It is understood that as a result of the conclusion arrived at by the Cabinet Monday, every available effective infantryman here will be sent to the front in South Africa between now and Christmas. The departure of the cavalry brigade from Aldershot will leave only a single regiment of regular cavalry, the 21st Lancers, in the United Kingdom. Prince Arthur of Connaught, nephew of King Edward, who is a second lieutenant in the 7th Hussars, goes with his regiment to South Africa.

JOHN MORLEY ON THE WAR.

He Says It Is Drifting Into Extermination of the Boers.

London, Nov. 1.—John Morley, M. P., addressing his constituents yesterday at Arbroath, said: "The Government are aggravating the essential mischief of the situation in South Africa by their management of the concentration camps. The death rate of children, measure it as you will, is hideous, excessive and appalling. The policy of devastation has been admitted to be a mistake.

"I wonder what Lord Palmerston would have said of a Government justifying themselves by saying that Russia in Poland and Austria in Bosnia had done something like the same. The war has entirely changed in character and is drifting into a war of extermination of a people fighting for their own land.

"The policy of unconditional surrender and submission means extermination and annihilation. The present attitude of the Government is one of sullen desperation. There is nothing worse than mettle in a blind horse.

"The King will, perhaps, at no distant date, have to seek other Ministers with a better insight and a more pliant mind in face of the dangerous and complex situation which confronts the country."

Gen. Buller's Denial.

London, Nov. 1.—General Buller, speaking yesterday to a reporter of The London Evening News, regarding the telegram to General White, attributed to him by The National Review, said:

"That is not my telegram."

Gen. Buller threatens to blossom into a British Boulanger. He does not appear to court privacy or to discountenance demonstrations. He attended a theatre in London Wednesday evening, and when recognized was cheered. He rose to his feet and bowed his acknowledgement. Outside the building Gen. Buller was mobbed by cheering crowds, and the police had to be called in to clear the streets.

Holland and the War.

London, Nov. 1.—The Brussels correspondent of The Times says Dr. Kuyper, the Dutch Premier, declared in the Second Chamber of the States-General yesterday that the Government had done all it was able to do to secure peace in South Africa.

Another Canadian Killed.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—A cable was received at the Militia Department late yesterday afternoon, stating that Sergt. J. E. Pemberton, Canadian Scout, was killed in action at Erspassabrasken on Oct. 27. Next of kin is given as Prof. Pemberton of Halifax.

BYE-ELECTIONS IN QUEBEC.

Returns From Vaudreuil, Quebec, and Drummondville Counties.

Vaudreuil, Que., Nov. 1.—Bye-election for Legislature for Vaudreuil County resulted in the election of Dr. Pilon, Liberal. He has 60 majority, with one poll to hear from.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—The result of the voting in Quebec County gives Delage (Liberal) a majority of 554, with two or three parishes to hear from.

Drummondville, Quebec, Nov. 1. — The bye-election to fill the seat in the Legislature for Drummond, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Watts, took place yesterday and resulted in the return of J. Laferty, Government candidate, by a majority of 775, with two polls yet to be heard from.

Tragedy at Alexandria.

Alexandria, Ont., Nov. 1.— The husband dead in bed, and the wife lying in an unconscious stupor on the floor. This was the scene which confronted Constable Hall when he forced his way into the residence of Alex. J. McDonald. A coal stove burning briskly with no pipes attached was standing in the middle of the entrance of the hall. Coal gas penetrated the whole building, and was sufficient evidence as to the cause of death. Both husband and wife were fully dressed. Mrs. McDonald was found between the stove and a sofa standing near the wall. She was still living, though unconscious, and Dr. McMillan, who was summoned, applied restoratives. It is expected that she will recover. Mr. McDonald was lying on a bed in a room north of the stove. There was little or no signs of a struggle. He had evidently been dead some hours. The affair has caused much comment here, as it seems inexplicable why people should light a stove without pipes attached in a house with all the windows and doors securely closed. The late Mr. McDonald was a painter by trade, but was forced to give up that work some years ago owing to his losing his eyesight. Since that time he ran a grocery at the station.

Accident to Mr. Bickerdike, M.P.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Word was received yesterday of a serious accident which befel Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M. P., this week, while hunting near Fort Coulonge. Mr. Bickerdike was knocked down by a falling tree and suffered a fracture of one of his legs. He was conveyed to Fort Coulonge, where he is at present.

Burned Child Dies.

Guelph, Nov. 1.—The death occurred yesterday morning of a young son of Mr. L. H. Walker, from injuries the child received the previous night by his clothing taking fire, as reported yesterday.

Won't Exclude Press.

City of Mexico, Nov. 1.—The session yesterday morning finally resulted in the admission of the members of the press to the sessions of the Pan-American Congress.

Killed by a Train.

Halifax, Nov. 1. — Mrs. James Smith was struck by a train on the railway crossing at Merigomish yesterday morning and instantly killed.

LIVERPOOL HAS THE PLAGUE.

Six Deaths Have Occurred Since Sept. 3—Four Cases at Glasgow—Authorities Everywhere Aroused.

Liverpool, Nov. 1.—At a meeting of the Municipal Council yesterday, Dr. Clarke, chairman of the Sanitary Committee of the port, made an official statement with reference to the plague, and gave details as to each case under suspicion.

Six persons in all have died since Sept. 3, whose malady showed symptoms of the plague. There are several suspected cases in the hospital, though the precise number has not been given out. Additional inspectors will be appointed, and other precautions taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

The nature of the official report has reassured the public and allayed apprehension. Although two of those who have died were in Glasgow in August, nothing is known to connect them with the plague there.

Four Cases in Glasgow.

Glasgow, Nov. 1.—The bubonic plague has reappeared here during the week. Four suspected cases were removed from the Central Station Hotel, belonging to the Caledonian Railway, and one died yesterday. The hotal has been closed, and all guests have been warned to leave by noon to-day.

To Investigate It.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The United States consul at Liverpool has cabled to the State Department that two cases of bubonic plague and a few other suspicious cases have developed in a hospital in Liverpool. Surgeon-General Wyman has cabled Assistant-Surgeon Thomas, who did similar work in the outbreak at Glasgow some months ago, to proceed immediately to Liverpool, and investigate the outbreak and keep the Government advised of the situation.

Rome, Nov. 1.—The port of Liverpool, England, has been declared infected with the bubonic plague. Arrivals from Liverpool at Italian ports will undergo the customary disinfection.

Bordeaux, France, Nov. 1.—Ministerial instructions have been received here to disinfect all vessels arriving at Bordeaux from Liverpool.

FRANCE VACCILATING.

Despatch of Fleet Confirmed Only to Be Recalled to Toulon.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The officials of the French Foreign Office confirm the report that a division of the French Mediterranean fleet, composed of three battleships and two cruisers, under the command of Admiral Caillard, has proceeded from Toulon to the Levant to make a naval demonstration against Turkey.

Squadron Returns to Toulon.

Paris, Nov. 1.—Late last night the following despatch was received from Toulon:

"The complete Mediterranean squadron returned to Toulon this evening and anchored in the roadstead."

If the despatch be correct it would imply that the Government has received news from Constantinople since morning, which has not yet been divulged and which has induced a change of plan.

To Sail at a Moment's Notice.

Paris, Nov. 1.—A despatch from Toulon to The Figaro confirms the report of the return of the entire squadron, and adds that Admiral Caillard's division is still held in readiness to sail at a moment's notice.

REACHED PORT IN A GALE.

Ophir's Passage Across the Atlantic Was Tempestuous.

London, Nov. 1.—The royal yacht Ophir and the escorting war ships encountered the full force of the severe easterly gale blowing yesterday over the Channel, and were obliged to abandon their intention to put into Portland Roads, which was a great disappointment to the crowds lining the coast.

Anchored Off Yarmouth.

Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, Nov. 1.—The Ophir and the fleet anchored off Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, at 4 p. m. yesterday.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra left London by special train at 5 p. m. for Portsmouth.

The children of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York are with Their Majesties.

Was a Canadian Girl.

Buffalo, Nov. 1.—Miss Mabel Freeman, 26 years old, died at the General Hospital early yesterday morning under peculiar circumstances. She was brought to that institution from the Pan-American Exposition the night before in an unconscious condition. She did not regain consciousness and died at 3 o'clock. The surgeons believe that morphine poisoning caused her death.

Coroner Wilson was notified. He ordered the surgeons to perform an autopsy on the body of the woman to ascertain the cause of death.

Miss Freeman has relatives living in Canada. Her brother, Albert Freeman, lives in Kilbin, Brant County. He was notified of her death. The body will in all probability be removed to Canada for burial.

Captured the Whale.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—The whale 40 feet long that made its appearance in Montreal harbor Wednesday morning and swam up near Victoria bridge got into shallow water and was stranded. Engineer Nelson of the Harbor Board captured it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

By dubbing the Hon. G. W. Ross the "War Horse" does the Mail and Empire mean to convey the idea that the Ontario Premier is as bad a politican as Sir Charles Tupper who also bore the "War Horse" title?

Most persons when they practice the habit of looking through a cylindical glass tube closed at one end can succeed in seeing snakes and sea-serpents. Montreal is more advanced they have taken to seeing whales there.

Many American newspapers and technical periodicals have commented favourably on the mineral exhibit of the Province of Ontario at the Pan-American Exhibition. As an advertisement for the Province it has, the Globe thinks, fully justified the expenditure.

In the course of a recent speech Mr. J. P. Whitney advised his hearers when the election for the Provincial Legislature comes off to "appoint in in every polling sub-division a committee of two or three athletic young men determined to keep their eyes open." What, asks the Ottawa Free Press, does this mean? Does Mr. Whitney propose to have heelers ready to commit acts of violence at the polling booths?

"Hon. J. R. Stratton's Ontario tour has been one of continual successes," says the Drayton Times. "His unimpeachable integrity as a business man makes his speeches have peculiar weight with the masses. Never were the affairs of the Province better managed than under Hon. G. W. Ross, and the important portfolio of Provincial Secretary has now at its head one of the ablest men that ever was in the Ontario cabinet. We think the masses will see to it that this same man stays there."

The necessity of Canada possessing some arrangement for furnishing telegraphic news is shown time after time by the character of the rubbish newspapers having contracts with the Associated Press have to accept as news. For instance the readers of daily journals were on Thursday electified by the tremendously important intelligence that one Schwab, the president of a steel conspiracy to rob the public by keeping up prices, had tried to play golf. That may interest United States readers of newspapers, but what does the average Canadian care whether Schwab plays golf or marbles? The necessity of paying telegraphic rates on such rot is a fraud on newspapers publishers.

The treatment received by the Czolgosz family is hardly creditable to the United States people. The conduct of the unfortunate father and brother has been above reproach, trying as their position has been. They have done what they could to aid the law and discover if there existed a plot against the President. They deserve sympathy; they receive persecution. Not only have they been discharged by their employers, but threats were made against them should they attempt to give the son and brother's body burial. Even crematory officials boasted that they would not cremate it. That is heathenish, bestial. The law has taken the life of the criminal. Let that end it. Surely the unfortunate relatives of the assassin will suffer enough. Yet the United States people send missionaries to China and India!—Brantford Expositor.

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY AND MR. MABEE.

Under the above heading the Toronto Star thus deals with a facsimile reproduction of the circular letter of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, of Toronto, chairman of the Committee on Organization and a member of the Finance Committee of the Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association. In this circular Dr. Nesbitt recommends Conservative candidates and friends interested in the success of the Conservative party to buy a pamphlet which, Mr. Mabee says is the one he wrote for the Conservative party, the one which Mr. Whitney is said to have "approved." This circular is type written on Conservative Association letter paper and is as follows:—

To candidates and friends interested in the success of the Conservative party:

"It has been felt that in the past the campaign literature issued prior to elections has not been of such a nature as to ensure its being read by the masses of the voters, and that, however useful it may have been to speakers and to those taking an active part in campaign work, it was for this reason of little use in influencing voters. This year it has been decided to publish a book in attractive and readable form, so that the salient points at issue between the parties shall be graphically put before the people. The work has been undertaken by the Mail Job Printing Company, who have patriotically agreed to take the financial risk of the publication. The book is now in a forward state of preparation and will be issued in ample time for the campaign. The matter which the book will contain has been approved by Mr. Whitney and other leading men of the party, and I would respectfully urge you to order at once for your constituency, as large a number as you may deem necessary, feeling assured that no expenditure of money will bring better results in votes.

Very truly yours,
BEATTIE NESBITT,
Chairman Committee re Organization.

Concerning this circular the Star says:

"The fac-simile of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt's circular letter to Conservative candidates and others throughout the Province, which we publish to-day, rather upsets the claim that Mr. Whitney rejected the material that Mr. Mabee submitted for the use of the party. It seems pretty clear that Mabee, before he soured on the party—as he says because he found it in a state of internal war—wrote a book for the Conservative party, which the Mail "patriotically consented to publish," and which, as Dr. Beatie Nesbitt says in his letter, "Mr. Whitney approved." The book is represented by the doctor as under way and soon to be ready.

"It is not ready yet, though. Why? Is it becuse Mr. Whitney would not consent to the publication of such a book?

"As to that we have on our table a copy of this Conservative Mabee book, in a rough, incomplete state, but although not finished it shows that the Conservative party went so far with the work as to spend hundreds of dollars on it in the way of engravings, typesetting and printing, and could probably have had the work finished in a week if something had not happened. What happened? Did Mr. Whitney see it in this late stage and reject it because it was abusive? Surely he would be consulted earlier than that—surely hundreds of dollars would not have been spent on the work before consulting the party leader. Besides, Mabee claims that the first man seen by him was Mr. Whitney, himself, who passed him on to other party managers. So far as we know this has not been denied.

"It is impossible to think that hundreds of dollars were spent in preparing a campaign book without the knowledge of Mr. Whitney, and that Dr. Nesbitt was sending out circulars saying that Mr. Whitney approved a book which he had not approved, had not seen, and which, it is alleged, he rejected on sight.

"What did happen then to cause this almost completed book to proceed no further?

"The reason probably was the rebellion of Mabee and the discovery that he was fomenting rebellion in the party against Mr. Whitney, going about taking a poll as to the leadership, in which Mr. Whitney got the worst of it, and in which Mr. Maclean Dr. Nesbitt and other early risers got the best of it.

"At all events, the Conservative Mabee book died a very late death. It was carried almost—if not quite—to completion. Its cover was printed in two colours, the back representing Mr. Ross and Satan in Hades, surrounded by red flames, the former asking the latter for pointers, and the latter acknowledging that he can teach his visitor nothing.

"This book was being issued anonymously in aid of the Conservative party, not in Mabee's name, and the book which he has issued over his own name is mild as milk compared with this production, which the Conservatives had nearly ready for circulation, and on which hundreds of dollars of somebody's good money was spent.

"The conclusion therefore is irresistible that Mabee's book, representing the members of the Government as thieves running away from the Parliament Buildings with bags of treasure on their backs and making personal allegations of the most unwarranted kind, was accepted by the Conservative party and modified but little, had a large sum of money expended on it, when a general quarrel ensued, and Mabee produced a book in his own name, denouncing his former associates.

"Probably if this second literary effort of this young Conservative litterateur, had not sprung so quickly on the market, the other book would now be circulating in all the constituencies. Mabee has thus "scooped" his former friends, and they have a huge pile of unfinished and now useless campaign books on their hands, and a campaign fund hundreds of dollars smaller than it used to be.

"The Conservative party will excuse us, if after seeing to what an advanced state their party had carried this Mabee volume, we fail to grieve as they do over the second Mabee volume. They brought this man Mabee into the game, and he has given them the worst of it. This is not the fault of the Liberal party. If he is a bad man they should have found it out sooner. As to the book, the people are reading it, and can judge of its contents themselves."

Is it not probable that Mr. Whitney rejected the book on the high moral ground that it was written in language too violent respecting his opponents, when it was submitted to him in the manuscript. If the manuscript was not submitted to Mr. Whitney by Dr. Nesbitt and the other managers, it argues but little respect for the party leader. If he was thus ignored that fact furnishes corroborative evidence of the discontent with Mr. Whitney's leadership which Mr. Mabee says prevailed so largely.

A Sour Stomach

Is Often the Real Cause of a Sour Temper.

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition, is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Johnston wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a fact which none may dispute that a sunny disposition more often results from a healthy digestion than from any other cause.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gases, which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves, and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues," but how quickly all these disappear when appetite and digestion are restored!

Laxative medicines only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels and have no effect upon actual digestion of food.

The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate.

The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach trouble is because they contain in a pleasant concentrated tablet form all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says, "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life, should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself, and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigour to their daily use.

"From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal.

"I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction, which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous, but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

CARE OF THE CHURN.

Should Be Thoroughly Scalded After Each Churning.

One fruitful source of trouble is the churn. An unclean churn is sure to turn out bad butter, although it may appear all right when fresh, says Creamery Journal. The germs are there and will get in their work, and the butter will "go off" in flavor in a short time. A blind man should be able to tell when the churn is kept clean. There is an odor which gives it away, and if he has also lost his sense of smell he can still distinguish, if he has the tactile sense, that of touch, decently developed. If he can neither see, smell nor feel, he is out of place in a creamery, and so it follows that any one fit to run a creamery can tell whether the churn is clean.

One trouble is that the churn is not always scalded the last thing. It needs to be left scalding hot, so it will dry quickly. If cold water is even poured in and used for rinsing after it is thoroughly cleaned and is not scalded afterward, the churn becomes musty and fit for the propagation of mold germs. Hot weather, dampness, lack of air circulation and lack of light favor bad flavors and bad odors, and the creamery man who succeeds is the one who guards against them, while he who makes firsts, seconds and thirds goes on and wonders what is the matter. Hot water, the scrub brush and steam are the three guardian angels of the churn to drive away filth. Scald by conducting steam into the churn with the churn partially closed, not tight enough to spring the wood, but tight enough to force it into every crevice. Use discretion. Do not continue steaming long enough to shrink and open the joints.

For twenty-four years Vapo-Cresolene has been extensively used for all forms of throat and bronchial troubles. All Druggists.

MR. ROSS AT OTTAWA

Plans for the Development of Ontario Discussed.

WORK TO BE DONE IN BRITAIN

The Premier's Words Have Ring of Sincerity in Them for the Advancement of This Province—How He Would Help His Government's Constituency—New Quarters for Imp. Institute Exhibits.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Hon. Geo. W. Ross spent considerable time yesterday in discussing with members of the Dominion Government certain matters that will be of practical advantage to Ontario, and in which the authorities here will doubtless willingly co-operate. The Ontario Premier had a long interview with the Minister of the Interior in regard to adopting an immigration policy that would attract more agricultural laborers to Canada. The whole question was thoroughly discussed, and Mr. Ross is well satisfied with Mr. Sifton's desire to deal with it in a broad and comprehensive spirit. The class of immigrants wanted, of course, are those who are particularly disposed to engaged in agriculture, whether they be from Great Britain, the United States, Germany or Scandinavia. Naturally it is Mr. Ross' desire that New Ontario shall get the benefit of any movement of this kind, as well as old Ontario. The Premier hopes to ascertain during the coming winter the extent of the demand for agricultural labor in Ontario.

Mr Ross also met Hon. Sydney Fisher and discussed with him the matter of the permanent exhibition at the Imperial Institute in London, to which Ontario contributes. The Premier also urged upon the Minister of Agriculture the importance to Ontario, as well as to the whole of Canada, of presenting to the people of Great Britain in as striking a manner as possible, the variety and extent of the natural resources of Ontario, and particularly its manufactures and raw materials. This could only be satisfactorily accomplished, Mr. Ross thought, by finding quarters more convenient to the business men of London. Mr. Fisher informed Mr. Ross that he was already making some move in that direction, which would improve the existing condition of things. Mr. Ross laid special emphasis upon the importance of having the food products of Ontario, and particularly its fruits, exhibited in a way that would attract more fully the attention of the people of Great Britain.

Settlement of New Ontario.

In a newspaper interview Mr. Ross dwelt at some length upon the Ontario Government's desire to settle New Ontario and to secure Mr. Sifton's co-operation in so doing. "We have," said he, "in this region at least twelve million acres of good agricultural land, capable of supporting an immense population. It is a part of the Province which will one day add no small proportion to Canada's natural wealth. Our Government surveying parties have been over it, and we are satisfied as to its adaptability to farming. All it needs is settlers, and these it will be our endeavor to provide. Ontario contributes no small share to the large annual expenditure on immigration, and so we should have no hesitation in looking for our proportion of the returns. There is no reason under the sun why Ontario's sons should be moving to the prairies when they can avail themselves of splendid opportunities for successful farming in the northwestern portion of their own Province. That is the way the case presents itself to my mind. We have already spent some money in making known the splendid resources of this country, and I think a few years will show that the outlay has been made to good advantage. At any rate, we are bound to lay the matter fairly before the public, with the full assurance that our efforts are not to prove fruitless. Means of communication are being opened up through New Ontario, and before long there will be in operation a branch line of the Canadian Pacific Railway up to Lac Seul. Here is a district capable of yielding a handsome return to those who want to enter it. The railway company has given its promise that it will shortly provide transportation facilities. Lac Seul is a grand body of water that lies on the old route of communication with James Bay by way of the Albany River. We will spend some money on locks, and should with a very moderate outlay be able to provide a through waterway down to the main line of travel east and west. The waterway is there to our hands already. It has been traveled by the Indians for centuries on their way in and out from the great northern sea, and would need but little attention here and there to give settlers what they need—cheap transportation for their grain and other products to the markets of the world. It is a great problem we are facing in the development of this rich quarter of Canada. Its tilling will mean wonderful things for the whole Dominion, and particularly for the Ottawa Valley, through which it must have access to the business centres of the great world beyond. The Ontario Government fully realizes the importance of the question we have in hand. It is something worthy our people's most careful thought. Ontario shall make the most of the rich endowments that have been dealt to us by nature with such lavish hand. My chief concern is for the Province in which we live. We cannot spare to Manitoba and the Territories the best of our hardy sons. We need them to make the most of our home lands. We have in New Ontario the most fertile soil, well watered, and in parts wooded. Let us make these facts known."

Ontario Mines Act.

The Conservative press have represented Mr. Ross as coming to Ottawa to discuss the Ontario Mines Act with the Minister of Justice. This is altogether fallacious. It was long ago settled between the Dominion and Ontario Governments that the act in question should form the subject of a conference to the Supreme Court, and there is no need for further discussion in regard to it. During the day Mr. Ross visited the Normal School, and was pleased to observe many evidences of its progress and popularity. This morning he will go to Montreal, and will leave that city by the evening train for Toronto.

J. M'MILLAN, EX-M.P., DEAD.

Represented South Huron From 1887 to 1900 Without a Break.

Seaforth, Nov. 1.—Mr. John McMillan, ex-M. P., for South Huron, died at his residence in the Township of Hullett yesterday morning. The announcement of Mr. McMillan's death was a severe shock to the community. An affection of the stomach was the immediate cause of death. He was 77 years of age. He came to Canada from Scotland in 1848, settling on a farm in the Township of Hullett, in the same neighborhood where he has ever since resided. When he came to Huron there was little cleared land and he settled in the bush and did his full share towards converting the dense forests into fruitful farms. For several years he has been one of the most extensive farmers and stock raisers in this part of Canada.

From his first settlement he took a leading position among his fellows and has filled many positions of trust, municipally and otherwise. He was reeve of his own Township of Hullett for 15 years and resigned that position to become a member of the Dominion Parliament. He first represented Centre Huron and after the reconstruction of the constituencies he sat for South Huron from 1887 until the general election of 1900. He was a man of great natural ability. He leaves a widow, two sons and one daughter.

GET COMFORT.

There is little comfort in life when a person is afflicted with pain. Donald Babcock, farmer, Harrowsmith, Ont., was a sufferer from rheumatism for years. When advised to take Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure he did so, and two bottles of this wonderful preparation, with two boxes of Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. He has not had a twinge of pain since, and attends to his duties regularly. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Funeral of Late Mr. Massey.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—With all due respect, the remains of the late Walter E. H. Massey were laid to rest yesterday afternoon in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The funeral was one of the largest that has taken place in Toronto for a long time, and was a telling tribute to the memory of the man who was followed to the grave by so many people. Thousands of people were present at the obsequies, many coming from outside places to bear their tribute of respect to the departed.

Among those present were: Hon. James Sutherland, representing the Dominion Government; Hon. Richard Harcourt, Minister of Education; Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands; Hon. F. R. Latchford, Minister of Public Works; Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, representing the Ontario Government.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

Great Sale of Good Books.

Now's the time for book lovers to indulge their fancy at a small cost. The Peterborough Bookstore is offering about two hundred volumes of copyright books, including best works of fiction by writers of repute. The regular $1.25 edition for only 75c. each. This is an unusual chance to stock up your libraries. Prices were never more truly attractive. A chance came our way to buy a lot of Catholic prayer books, excellent sample copies in good order, which we can afford to sell at one-quarter off regular prices. The attention of parents is called to a remarkable offer in children's toy books. They are firmly bound in heavy boards and pictorially embellished, all to be sacrificed at half price. NOT MUCH DAMAGE.

Hallowe'en Passed off Very Quietly—The Small Boy's Night.

Hallow E'en passed off last night in a comparatively quiet manner, there being little of the old-time hilarity. The small boy was around in the early part of the night with his window tapper and pea shooter, but his fun did not last long, and he retired only a little later than ordinarily. The usual number of social gatherings were in evidence throughout the town.

Of course there was the customary amount of paltry damage to fences and gates, but nothing of any moment has been reported to the police. Mr. G. W. Green reports that his wagon has been taken, and as yet he has obtained no trace of it. The The Street Railway Co's ties on the north end of George street were piled on the pavement for a considerable distance, evidently for the purpose of obstructing bicyclists.

On the whole, the boys behaved themselves very well and the police had very little trouble.

ARRESTED IN BRACEBRIDGE.

Harry Doonan Formerly of Hastings Charged With Perjury.

P. C. Stewart left this morning for Bracebridge to bring back with him Harry Doonan, who was arrested on the strength of a warrant sworn out by one Scriver, of Hastings, charging the prisoner with perjury.

The case arises out of the seduction action of Scriver vs. Richardson, which was tried at the recent assizes here. Doonan, who until recently was a resident of Hastings, from where the parties in the seduction action come, was one of the principal witnesses for the defence, and in his endeavour to break down the character of Miss Scriver, the plaintiff's daughter, it is alleged he swore what he knew to be false.

OLD TIME HALLOWE'EN.

Bible Club Held Its First Social Last Night—Was Successful.

The A.R.M. Bible Club's first social evening took the form of an old time Hallowe'en celebration, held in the club room at the Y.M.C.A. This new organization in connection with the association was formed early this month, its object being to unite in Bible study along club lines—all the members of the association senior department who are not in the regular classes. Last evening a good sized company of young men attended the social, the interest in which was a good indication for the future of the club. Mr. Merrill occupied the chair and had charge of a programme which had many novel features. One was an impromptu debate of a most amusing character, the participants being elected by popular vote. The joke competition gave every one present a part, those who laughed while they were reading were fined—the treasurer reports good returns. McNaughton was the entertainer of the evening, and, by the way, officiated ably in the office of bard for the evening. Messrs. Watson, Stocker and Frowde pleased every one with their songs. Mr. Thewlis played accompaniments. Mr. Frowde's reading on the "New Cure for Rheumatism" was a humorous hit.

During the evening refreshments of a Hallowe'en variety were served and thoroughly enjoyed.

To Play Home and Home Games With London.

Trinity College School Anxious for a Game To-morrow—Other Notes.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the executive of the Ontario Rugby Union was held in the Rossin House, Toronto, last night for the purpose of discussing amongst other things the matter of the finals between London and Peterborough. The Peterborough club was represented by Mr. R. F. McWilliams, whilst the London club was represented by Mr. Christie. After considerable discussion, the executive ordered the Peterborough and London teams to play home and home games, the first of which will be played in London on the King's birthday, and the return game here on Nov. 16th. This is the best possible arrangement that could be made, and it behooves every member of the locals to turn out to practice from this time forward so as to be in the pink of condition when the decisive moment comes.

Trinity College School telephoned to-day about a game in Port Hope to-morrow. An effort will be made to send a team down.

LADIES' GOLF.

Two matches of special interest have been played during the past week, bringing the autumn tournaments to an end. On Tuesday Mrs. T. F. Matthews defeated Miss Annie Kingan and carried off the President's prize. The finals for the Stratton Cup were played yesterday by Mrs. Campbell and Miss Archer. Mrs. Campbell won, making the ladies' record score for 18 holes—107.

All the tournaments have been most successful, a marked improvement being noticed in all the scores.

CANOEING.

The Toronto Telegram says: "Mr. Walter English, vice-commodore of the American Canoe Association, passed through the city on his way from Boston, where he has been attending a meeting of the A. C. A. Mr. English says the outlook for next year is very bright, and that Chatham, Cape Cod, will be an ideal spot for next year's meet. He also states that the people around the Hub are canoe crazy, and on the Charles River, in a stretch of a mile and a half, there are over 6,000 canoes.

The Hamilton Herald accuses us of being a lot of bad losers and kickers, but when it really comes to downright scientific kicking Tigertown has the modern well-fed army mule beaten by several boat lengths."

THE PADDLE.

Mr. Walter J. English, Rear Commodore of the American Canoe Association, who was present at the complimentary dinner to the executive of the Association held in Boston on Oct. 26th, has shown the Examiner a copy of the beautiful menu card used on the occasion. On the title page is a trophy of the flags of the different clubs represented in the association, each skilfully hand painted in the club colours, and under each the date when the club was honoured with the Commodoreship of the Association. Peterborough Boat Club's flag, a black band on a crimson field, bears under it two dates—1883, the year Lt. Col. Edwards was Commodore, and 1889, the year Col. H. C. Rogers held the position. There are only three out of the twenty clubs besides Peterborough that have had the honour of furnishing a Commodore twice. The menu card is a handsome souvenir, which Mr. English, who is an enthusiastic canoeist, values very highly.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

In the Time Table of the C. P. R.—Local Earlier.

Commencing at noon on Sunday, November 3rd, some changes of importance will come into effect with regard to the local time table of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Some of the changes are not material, but that of the local from Toronto which will arrive in Peterborough at 7.29, will be a welcome change.

The full list of changes is as follows: The early morning train formerly leaving here for Toronto at 5.10 a.m., and arriving in Toronto at 7.15, will leave Peterborough at 5.15, and arrive in Toronto at 7.25. The local leaving here at 7.08 a.m., and arriving in Toronto at 9.25 a.m., will now leave at 7.12, and arrive in Toronto at 9.35. The Toronto noon train will arrive here at 11.38 a.m. The local from Toronto will leave that city now at 5 p. m., instead of 5.15 p.m., and will arrive here at 7.29 p.m., instead of 7 minutes past 8. The midnight leaves at about the same time, there being but one minute difference.

The change in the time of the local will be appreciated in many ways. Very often speakers at public meetings arrive in town on this train, and no delay will now be experienced in this regard. Again, hockey teams from the west which used to arrive in town on the local, generally kept the spectators waiting for a considerable time, but now this will be to a great extent overcome.

"How shall I ensure my tea purchases to be always satisfactory," used to be an unanswerable conundrum, before the advent of "Salada" Ceylon Tea, Black or Green. Never any trouble now. "Salada" Green Tea is grown specially for Japan tea drinkers.

At Home.

The at home which was given yesterday evening by the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church, was very largely attended by the members of the congregation and their friends. Refreshments were served and a programme quite in keeping with the nature of the occasion was run off.

An Elegant Display.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy has a display of meat that is attracting notice to-day. Mr. Kennedy's premises are such that his stock shows off to great advantage, and his long rows of choice beef hanging uniformly from the racks, together with forty freshly slaughtered lambs, is a sight worth seeing. Mr. Kennedy is booming the meat market business these days, and has a decidedly complete stock for to-morrow's trade.

The first meeting of the Knickerbocker Club will be held this evening in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. A good deal of informal enjoyment, it is expected, will be furnished through the medium of the club this winter. Evening gowns and dress suits are prohibited and the informality of the fortnightly dances will constitute one of their chief charms.

Rev. D. O. Crossley went to Belleville this afternoon to take part this evening in a Jubilee celebration at the Tabernacle church, when the mortgage on said church is to be burned in the presence of the congregation. Mr. Crossley is invited to this celebration because of the important part he took in paying off the debt resting on the church when he was sent to that charge as pastor some years ago.

HUNTING THE WILY RACOON.

St. Mary's has Organized a Coon Hunters' Club.

Chasing the Ring-Tailed Denizen of the Corn-Fields is Highly Exciting Sport.

In view of the fact that coon-hunting has sprung into sudden prominence as a pastime amongst a number of Peterborough sportsmen, the appended article in reference to the fun, from the St. Mary's Journal will be read with interest:

"Chasing the ring-tailed denizen of the corn patch by the light of a full October moon is a fascinating sport. That's how a good many country boys are spending their evenings now.

A number of the younger sons of farmers near St. Marys have organized a coon hunters' club, and are having heaps of fun. If the Duke of York had not been in such a hurry to get back home he would likely have received an invitation from the club to take part in a genuine old-fashioned coon hunt. He missed a rare and exciting evening's sport; besides, he'd have come in for a share of the spoils, which consist of coon skins, coon oil and roast coon.

The essentials for a successful coon hunt, so the president of the local club informs the Journal, are a full moon, a corn patch, and a dog with a nose for coons. Of course, all the boys engaged in the chase are enthusiasts on coon hunting or they would be at home in bed. A good coon dog is a rare animal nowadays, and the youth with such a canine is likely to stand high in the estimation of his fellows at that season. The dog may be very "ornery," a mongrel, yellow-coloured pup, but if he has a nose for coons he'll get more pats than kicks, more caressings than scoldings, at least while the coon-hunting season is on.

On account of the introduction of silos, coons are not so plentiful in this section as formerly, yet there are seasons when the woods are full of them, and this is said to be one of that kind.

There are several tame coons in St. Marys that have become household pets. A colony of young coons was captured last spring up the Thames by some boys who were out fishing, and these have been domesticated.

Some years ago a St. Marys man had a tame coon that would follow him and come to his call as readily as a dog. When the coon was a year old its owner took the animal out to a cornfield one evening when the moon was full, with a small bell strapped to its neck. The bell clanked among the corn shocks for a few minutes after which it went away rapidly in the direction of the woods. Following as fast as he could the man reached the foot of a large basswood stump in time to see the tame coon go into a hole inside. Half a minute later a snarling noise came from the interior. Then a big coon emerged from the top and began to scramble down the rough bark. It was promptly shot. The tame coon nosed his game over with evident pleasure, nipping at its neck and shaking the body the way a dog does a woodchuck. Before winter came on that tame coon's owner had three sides of a fair-sized stable covered with pegged out coon skins. Fortunately the man moved away from here during the winter or there would have been no coon hunting to-day in the region round about St. Marys.

The old settler in Ed. Mott's book, "Pike County Folks," told some good hunting stories, but he had no use for coons. A maxim of his was that "anyone ez-ll hunt coons 'll steal chickens from a blind nigger." He started one of his famous reminiscences with the following. "They ain't a brush lot nor scrub oak clearin' fur twenty miles 'round yer that ain't more'n bilin' over with rabbits, an' squir'ls is thicker'n seeds in a cowcumber. Yit, b'gosh, ev'ry other feller you see with a gun is goin' out arter them pesky thieves of the valley—the ring-tailed coon! A huntin' coons, when they mowt be a havin' giniwine sport 'mong the squir'ls an' rabbits. B'gosh, boys, it makes—me—sick!"

Think of it! A bright, frosty night a full moon, a dog that knows just the hold to get when a coon drops, all the best youthful story-tellers of the neighbourhood in the company. Besides, when a fellow's out after coons he does all the hunting himself. If he's after bear the chances are that a good share of the hunting will be done by the bear.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freed's New York Offices.

TOPICS.

New York, Nov. 1st.

The London markets are closed today and there are no quotations from that centre.

In anticipation of a disappointing bank statement, with the gold exports and the fact that the week will be broken by the holiday on Tuesday, the best that can be looked for at the present moment is a professional market of moderate changes in prices.

The Northern Pacific-Burlington matter is still under consideration, and no time can be fixed for the announcement of a settlement, but good progress is being made, and later on it will prove a big bull card.

The action of the treasury in resuming the purchase of bonds, will help the money market in some measure, and is a favourable factor.

The change in the character of the copper litigation is regarded as favourable and the bears in amalgamated are likely to be less aggressive.

We are bullish on Brt., Manhattan and the Vanderbilt stocks, People's Gas, St. Paul's and .PP., but we do not look for any upward movement in them just yet. They should be bought on any declines.

The cut in sugar prices by Arbuckle is likely to result in lower prices, but it is a dangerous time and a bad market in which to sell anything short.

No export of precious metal likely until Wednesday.

Market is narrow, but stocks may be safely bought on dips of 1-2 to 1 per cent. Keep long of Coalers, Vanderbilts, Pacifics, and take little others.

Definitely stated that President Roosevelt will not advocate drastic measures.

Buying of Chesapeake on reported soft coal combination in its district. Sugar officials say no profit in refinery at present. Advance orders for steels heaviest on record. People's Gas declares regular 1 1-2 quarterly to-day.

New York, Nov. 1st.

"The saving by concentration illustrated in modern business." The general tendency of the times in business of all kinds, including railroading, as well as the modern method of concentration of great interests, which by such system save both in cost of operating, and by the maintenance departments thus being enabled to secure supplies of all kinds at more favourable prices owing to their ability to buy in quantities.

"Community of interest" is the modern method of business, and in the industrial world, created the so called trusts.

Concentration of railway interests that has been going on for the past two years enables them not only to maintain rates, but to operate the properties for much less cost.

"A penny saved is a penny earned" and these methods are already showing effectively in the net income of earnings.

Many unnecessary departments can in this wise be abolished.

One general department of any particular class doing the work for many, done by independent departments of similar kind.

The same applies to the great industrials. One line of ads. now suffices for a complete choir of producers, thus welded together, where before each one was compelled to exploit his own goods. This merely illustrates one of the various many different ways where money is saved.

The larger a purchase order, the better figures a buyer can obtain. This applies to both commercial business and railroading. It has been a potent factor in the advance of American securities, and is still working towards that end. It has given our foreign trade tremendous impetus, pushing American productions steadily ahead in the struggle for the trade of the world.

"Modern in every way the policy of concentration." Merely is a mile post on the road of improvement, illustrating the progress of the human race.

Copper weakened shortly after the opening on report that H. J. Grant and others had joined in suits against the amalgamated association. To stock holders of Boston and Montana, A. R. was heavy also. The other industrials were quiet and strong. Manhattan was very strong. Pennas buying of C. & O. was in evidence, and St. Paul and other grangers were strong, while M. R. was inclined to heaviness. The Vanderbilts and coalers were in good demand. Fluctuations in balance of list were featureless, and with narrow limits. We anticipate a better market after election.

To-morrow's letter, "Big rise imminent after October."

THE LATE MONSIGNOR LAURENT

St. Mary's Congregation Bereaved in Lindsay.

Lindsay Post.

A wave of intense sorrow swept over the hearts of our Roman Catholic citizens this morning when the sad news was made public that their beloved pastor, Monsignor Laurent, was no more, having succumbed to the attack of bronchitis from which he had been suffering for about ten days. The sorrow expressed by all members of St. Mary's congregation was shared in by our citizens generally, all of whom respected and admired the good priest as a faithful shepherd and an outspoken opponent of everything evil.

In the death of Monsignor Laurent the town loses a citizen who always took a deep interest in its affairs, and whose sound advice was often sought upon public matters. St. Mary's parish loses a devoted priest, whose concern for the souls of his flock was constant, and who never wearied of well-doing during the seventeen years he had been in charge of the parish. A capable administrator and financier, he extinguished a heavy debt without imposing any additional burthens on his people and at the same time carried out costly improvements.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—A jolly hunting party from Havelock passed through yesterday to Wilberforce, in which vicinity they will make their headquarters. Following were the members: Messrs. R. J. Carson, W. Webb, W. Reynolds, Havelock, and Dr. Temple, of Toronto.

—The regular meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., will be held this evening in their hall, Simcoe street. Several candidates will be initated. Bro. G. W. Strong, Chief Organizer, will be present and address the meeting.

—We are pleased to note that Mr. A. F. Saunders has returned from Toronto, where he was called on account of the recent illness of his father. While there he arranged for a course of high class concerts to be presented in the opera house, beginning early in December and ending in April next. The superior merit of the attractions and the very moderate prices, should assure the management of filling the house at every performance.

HAD THEY BUT KNOWN.

Editor Examiner:

Dear sir,—The King's Daughters have asked me to say that had they heard of the distressing case reported by Dr. Bingham, resulting in the death of a child from want of care, they would have attended to it promptly. Any one knowing the King's Daughters and their work in the past will appreciate the sensitiveness prompting them to seek this explanation. Neither limitations, nor rules, nor stipulations, nor the multifarious stumbling-blocks of charity clog their work. I make this part of my statement gratuitously. The sweetness of charity is not soured in their making. God bless them and incline the King's Sons to do as His Daughters do. No true man spends his time upon himself. With regard to Miss Clarke's reference to the unfortunate women who spent Sunday in the Police Station. I can only say with many others that the system which provides for boarders of the "respectable" class should label itself so, and not as if it were doing the Lord's work, viz., taking care of the poor. The Lord nowhere advises the keeping of a lodging house for pay in His blessed name. As for Miss Clarke, we all know her willingness and value in charitable work, and it is well for the Y.W.C.A. that they can put her forward as their apologist.

Yours, etc.,

P. B. P.

P.S. The death of the little child and the case of the poor woman will not have been in vain if the people of this town are aroused to a real sense of their duty. P.B.P.

OPEN BRANCHES IN ENGLAND.

Slater Shoe Company Decides on Expansion.

Mr. Chas. E. Slater Outlines the Plan to Invade Great Britain.

"They don't appreciate Canadians sufficiently in England, we are all Americans," said Mr. Chas. E. Slater, president and general manager of the Slater Shoe Co., yesterday, as he chatted freely about his business trip to European centres. He has only lately returned from a trip to London and Paris, made with the object of extending the Company's foreign business, with the result that he is convinced that the only way to permanently secure a share of the British trade is to open a series of Slater Shoe Stores, on the same special system of selling and advertising to the consumer direct, as has made the Slater Shoe so well known and popular in Canada. He spent about six weeks in investigating the shoe trade and noted the tremendous trade of the London Shoe Co., and of dozens of others who have as many as from 75 to 300 retail branches in different parts of the Kingdom. The English companies do their boot and shoe business largely on the multiple system; that is, a firm like Manfield, or Lilley & Skinner own many branches, but selling all kinds of boots instead of one special make or kind. There are no English manufacturers specializing like The Slater Shoe Company, making Goodyear welted goods alone, which are bound to replace the hand made shoe, as soon as their merits become properly known to the public.

"It is hard to realize the possibilities of the immense business there is to be done over there," said Mr. Slater, "and we would be foolish not to take advantage of the opportunity. We can land goods in England in less time, and for considerably less cost for transportation than we can in British Columbia, and just think for a moment of the difference in population." The Canadian field is limited, as is well shown by the export leather business. The tanners of Canada shipped nine million pounds of sole leather to England last year. The English manufacturer is fast losing ground in his own country. There is no duty on boots and shoes going into England, and this, coupled with the Government rebate to manufacturers in Canada, of 99 per cent. on foreign material used in manufacture for export, made it plain sailing for his company. This rebate applies to Bermuda and Australia as well as in other countries with which Mr. Slater arranged for agencies while in London, which is, of course, the centre of the shipping trade of the world.

Trade conditions, in boots and shoes especially, were very different from those in Canada. As a rule the stores were smaller, as also were the stocks carried. There the retailers carry a mass of all kinds of stuff, packed into one shop, as well as displaying so many different kinds of goods in the windows (using almost every inch of space,) that it is bewildering to purchasers. No extensive advertising was done by the retailers. Asked if a factory might be successfully operated in England on a basis similar to the one here, Mr. Slater said, the conditions were such, that in his opinion it would be out of the question for a good many years to come.

The labour unions work to the disadvantage of the English manufacturer when taking into consideration the increase in imports. For instance, the workmen are prohibited from making more than a specified number of boots per day, and are very arbitrary on the question of the introduction of new and improved machinery. Plenty of workmen were idle, and he believed that general decadence had set in throughout the manufacturing industries. To use his own words, "there are rafts of American and German goods of all kinds elbowing the English-made goods out of business." He was compelled to smile at the utter lack of appreciation of Canadian industry. Whatever prestige American business men had gained in the English market reflected to the credit of Canadians, because the average Britisher did not discriminate at all between Canadians and Americans.

In Paris, too, he saw an opening for Canadian shoes, but all that and the many elements of the opening of branches were details that would follow in due course.

The nucleus was formed; the initiatory stages were completed for the Slater branches in England, and he felt confident of a great success awaiting their efforts.

A Good Move.

In the present scarcity of houses and the certainty that in the near future there will be a demand far beyond the present supply, we notice with pleasure that Mr. Dumble is putting lots on the market at prices and terms that will enable men of small means to buy and build. For instance lots that he sells at $200 may be paid for in quarterly payments of $6.66 each. So that in 10 years the lot will be paid for, and the purchaser is enabled to put his money into a house. This is giving the poor man a chance to get for himself a home and get rid of the landlord.

Mothers should see the double knitted Scotch fingering stocking made by the Port Hope Knitting Works. You cannot get this quality anywhere else. It's duration of wear is wonderful.

Light From Liquid Gas.

Important scientific advances have been made by Walter Scott Strowger, the inventor, in studying the nature of his new liquid gas. He has, it is reported, succeeded in liquefying it at pleasure and in producing it by cold chemical process. It is claimed he can also compress it so that a quantity can be placed in a bottle, and by placing a pipe with a gas burner on top the tap may be turned and a brilliant light will result, as from the regular gas of commerce.

TWILIGHT.

The day is done, and from the east, afar,
Night's shadow comes apace; the rose
Breathes out her vesper fragrance like a sigh,
And yonder, godlike, gleams the evening star.
Silence is here, save just enough of sound
To make its presence felt; there is no stir—
A robin's lullaby, a cricket's chirr—
No moving air in all the trees around.

Thus would I have life's busy journey end,
With shadows sweeter than the glare of day,
With meads soft and in the dappled sky
Star after star, as here and there a friend
Strides forth to bless the pilgrims old and gray,
That, like the twilight, puts his burdens by.

SOME VERY QUEER BATHS.

Mud, Wine, Milk, Honey, Eggs and Even Gold Have Been Used.

The mud baths at St. Amand-les-Eaux enjoy a considerable vogue. The mud or "moor" is composed of a peaty, boggy turf and, although the period of immersion varies from half an hour to five hours, can be easily at the conclusion of the bath removed from the skin. The mud bath treatment is by no means a novel fad, having been in use in the fourteenth century.

For the wealthy the wine bath is recommended. A recent circular sets forth its efficacy and for such as are "run down" recommends a twenty minutes' stay in a bath containing 100 liters of malvoisie, which can be used a hundred times without losing its invigorating properties, "for," says the circular, "after the 100 baths the malvoisie may be distilled, and the result will be found to be a delicious brandy."

A devotee to milk baths was Beau Brummel, who when a prisoner for debt at Caen used to have a certain quantity left at the jail every morning for that purpose. The idea did not, however, originate with this modern sybarite, for we read that the Roman empress Poppoea immersed herself daily in asses' milk and that when she traveled she was accompanied by 500 asses to supply milk for her lacteal ablutions.

Even stranger fads, however, are on record. Marie Antoinette was wont to bathe in a decoction of wild thyme, laurel and marjoram, made more invigorating by the addition of sea salt, while Isabel of Bavaria immersed her fair body in a distillation of chickweed, which was in her opinion a sovereign specific for the skin. The honey from roses, melon juice and the milky extract from green barley were likewise employed by old time beauties.

John Law of Mississippi scheme fame, who was a notable beau in the early eighteenth century, was a great believer in the yolk of eggs, 100 of which were added to his daily bath, which was made aromatic by certain carefully prepared scents and essences. At times, however, he discarded this for a tub of veal broth, thus anticipating in a way the present whim that recommends the application of a thin layer of veal as a beautifier for the complexion.

Then there are baths taken without any reference to hygiene, mere freaks of eccentricity. Such a one was that endured by Mlle. de St. Aubin, afterward known as the Comtesse de Genlis, who to outwardly express her humility insisted upon having a bath in the water that had been previously employed in laving twenty beggars, a repulsive act that might have cost her dear.

Far different the footbath indulged in by the French novelist Frederick Soulie. On one occasion he received in payment of one of his novels—it was the first volume of 'Les Memoires du Diable"—10,000 francs, all in louis d'or. Beside himself with joy, he returned home and, emptying the flood of gold into a footbath, sat with his naked feet immersed therein for over half an hour, placidly smoking the while the largest of Havanas.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second. 556 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

ARTISTIC BOOKBINDING.

How the "Tooling" Is Done on the Leather Covers.

Strange as it may seem to the ordinary reader, it is nevertheless a fact that there is no such thing as set or ready made designs for decorating leather bindings and covers—that is, when the artist who does the tooling on these fine bindings begins to work he has no drawn design to go by. Each workman invents his own design as he proceeds with his task. Of course it sometimes happens that a book has to be tooled exactly like another book except for the title, but as a general thing the artist follows his own fancy in designing the book in one of several general styles of tooling, all the details being left to his own judgment.

"Tooling," which is the technical term for the really artistic art of bookbinding, is done in the following way: After the pages have been sewed together, their edges trimmed and gilded, the pasteboard cover put on and the leather sides and back put in place, the book is given to the "tooler," who clamps it firmly into position in a vise very much like that used by carpenters. After the book is firmly in position, sizing is put on the part to be tooled, and over this sheets of gold leaf are spread. Then the artist, or "tooler," takes a small type in the form of a flower, letter, scroll or whatever figure he wants, and, after heating it to a certain temperature, he presses it down firmly on the gold leaf, thus actually burning the gold into the leather.

Behind each workman is a set of shelves containing all the different types or stamps in use. Under the place where each tool belongs is a print of the type or stamps in use. Under the place where each tool belongs is a print of the type itself made on white paper, pasted up not only to mark the place where each tool should be, but also to enable the worker to make a ready selection of type and to prevent mistakes. Necessarily there are a great many of these types and a large range of designs, for they represent not only the alphabet in every style of letter, but also every known flower in its conventionalized form, as well as various sorts and sizes of scrolls and conventional designs. This makes it an easier matter for the artist to design the cover of a book while he is actually engaged at work on it than at first seems possible.

After the design is burned into the leather the paper is pasted into the boards, and then, in the case of the one-half and three-fourths bindings, the book is finished and ready to be packed and shipped to its destination.

Nowadays it is no longer good form to have the edges of the pages gilded on all three sides. That style is now very much behind the times and affects a book's value. Moreover, the price of a book deteriorates very materially the minute its pages are cut. Whether this is the result of the germ theory of contagion or not it is undeniably true that the up to date young man would as soon think of giving a book with torn and dirty pages to a young woman as he would of presenting to her a book with the pages already cut. Of course this has naturally led to a marked change in the style of gilding. It is almost a necessity to have the top of the pages gilded, for unless this were done the book would soon become soiled from the dust settling on it and, sifting down on the leaves, make them dirty and gritty to the touch. For this reason most of the fine books have only the upper edges of their pages gilded. This allows the dust to settle on the top, whence it can be brushed off readily and yet makes it possible for the pages to be cut by the purchaser.

Complicated Ailments.

A Remarkable Case of Kidney and Liver Disorders and Extreme Nervousness Cured by the Combined Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food.

The strongest combination in medicines that one can well imagine is the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. The kidney-liver pills regulate and invigorate the liver, kidneys and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and thoroughly builds up the system.

Mr. Walter Booth, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states:—"I was troubled for some years with kidney and liver disease, and pains in my back, and my stomach was so bad I could not eat hearty food, and had difficulty in keeping any food on my stomach. I was so nervous that I could scarcely take a drink of water without spilling much of it, my hand trembled so, and I lost flesh until my weight fell from 155 to 138 pounds.

"Hearing of a similar case that was cured by Dr. Chase's Remedies, I commenced by taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Pills, six boxes of which entirely cured my kidney and liver troubles. I then began Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for my nervousness. It strengthened my stomach and whole system, and I gained in flesh. I cannot speak in terms of too great praise for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food, for besides curing me, they did my father, who is an old man, a great deal of good. I have every confidence in recommending these remedies."

Mr. J. J. Ward, J .P., certifies that he knows Mr. Walter Booth, and that this statement of his cure is perfectly correct.

As a spring restorative Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unrivalled. If the bowels are constipated and the kidneys and liver sluggish and inactive, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills can be used to advantage, along with the Nerve Food. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Brain Work Rarely Kills.

So untrue is it that college students break down from the stress of study on the brain that, other things being equal, the hardest students enjoy the best health. Where one young man, if any, ruins his health by wrestling with mathematical and psychological problems or with the enigmas of Greek and Latin syntax, bad habits, the strain and excitement of athletic contests, cigars, wine drinking and other forms of dissipation and heavy eating at late hours, undermine the health of hundreds. The two little fingers of dissipation are often heavier than the loins of Euclid. Professor Pierce of Harvard demonstrated this some forty years ago by tables of longevity, which showed that the greatest mortality for the first ten years after graduation is found among those who lagged behind in scholarship while in college.—Professor William Mathews in Saturday Evening Post.

DEEP SEA CURRENTS.

MYSTERIES OF THE OCEAN THAT HAVE PUZZLED THE SCIENTISTS.

A Theory as to the Origin and Cause of the Gulf and Other Streams—Are They the Product of Immense Submarine Geysers?

For more than a century scientists and philosophers have been vainly trying to discover the origin and cause of the mysterious current in the Atlantic ocean called the gulf stream. Why so called is not apparent, as nothing in the gulf of Mexico is in its composition. There have been many theories, which have been abandoned, some perfectly absurd, such as its being caused by the earth in its revolution on its axis, for if it had the power to draw this stream at the rate of five miles an hour from the coast of Florida it would draw all the water from the east coasts of North and South America at the same velocity. The prevailing theory is that the northeast trade winds drive a current into the Caribbean sea and, aided by the feeble equatorial stream, heap up the water in the gulf of Mexico, thence rushing around the south of Florida from the source of the gulf stream. But there is no such a heaping of the waters in that gulf. The waters there are sluggish, and there is no perceptible current leading toward the gulf stream or anywhere else.

This theory has been accepted for want of a better, but those who favor it are not entirely satisfied with it. The gulf stream is an independent body of water, having no connection with the water around or behind the point where it emerges. It is warmer and of a deeper blue than the surrounding seas and gushes forth from the starting point off Cape Sable at the rate of from five to six knots an hour, with a temperature of about 80 degrees, lessening gradually as it proceeds on its journey of thousands of miles across the Atlantic ocean, warming the western shores of Europe.

Having seen the fallacy of the theories concerning the gulf stream, we will turn our attention to the great Pacific current, identical in all respects with its sister current of the Atlantic and concerning which there are no theories to contend with.

It starts spontaneously from a spot a few miles from the south end of the island of Formosa, in the Banshee channel, following the coast of Formosa northeasterly, past and through the Loochoo islands, skirting the coast of Japan; thence turns eastward on its long journey across the wide Pacific, warming the coast of America from Puget sound to Mexico. Its dark blue waters are in striking contrast to the surrounding seas, giving it the name of Murra Suar, or black water. It is an independent stream where no combination of winds or currents can possibly cause the mighty rush of warm blue water with a velocity of from five to six knots an hour from the start.

In its characteristics of heat, color and direction it resembles the gulf stream in every particular, and the origin of the two streams must be the same, whatever they may be, which I shall endeavor to show later on. There is another ocean current similar in all respects to the other two, with the exception that it runs in an exactly opposite direction. Starting from the vicinity of the south end of the island of Madagascar, it runs southwesterly around the Cape of Good Hope, where it disappears off Cape Lagullas. As a current, probably part of it is diverted into a steady set of the eastern current, caused by the prevailing westerly winds in that region. No scientists, so far as I am aware, have attempted to account for this current. Having now proved beyond refutation that all theories advanced as to the cause of ocean currents are groundless, it remains to be proved what the true cause is.

It must be admitted that the currents have a similar origin, as they are identical in every respect as regards color, heat and velocity, springing forth in the same manner spontaneously from the earth in some mysterious way. There is no place on the surface of the earth where the water can be heated to furnish the heat contained in these streams that gush forth from the depths of the sea; consequently the forces must be subterranean and can only be accounted for by large bodies of clear, blue water from the ocean forcing its way into the depths of the earth under its crust, where it burrows a channel of its own to the surface again, having received its warmth on the way by contact with the internal heat of the lower regions of the earth, forced on by continual pressure from behind.

That there are orifices in the earth's crust cannot be denied, also what becomes of the vast volume of water that cannot be computed which is constantly running at the rate of from four to six knots an hour from the Atlantic ocean, through the strait of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean sea. The numerous rivers, too, are continually flowing in, and yet the sea remains at the same level. Evaporation cannot account for it, for what is evaporated is formed into clouds and is precipitated again into the sea by the medium of storms and frequent rains.

The water must enter the earth from the ocean through these apertures on an incline as it gushes forth in these three mighty currents and cannot be discovered by soundings; consequently these three mighty currents are nothing more or less than immense geysers.—Captain B. F. Sherburne in Cleveland Marine Record.

THE DAIRYMAID

Every person acquainted with the Babcock test has been frequently confronted with the question, "What makes the milk test vary?" says F. S. Cooley of the Massachusetts station. Popular prejudice is prone to jump at the conclusion that anything so variable is worthless. A knowledge of the principles of the Babcock test, extended experience in its practical workings and close comparisons of its results with exact chemical analysis have convinced every one who has taken the trouble to investigate these matters that the test is thoroughly reliable and practical and that causes of variation must be sought elsewhere.

Milk itself is not so uniform as is often supposed and is subject to wide differences in composition. Fat, the most valuable constituent of milk, is the most variable. The casein and sugar of milk vary only within narrow limits, but the fat is subject to wide variations. Among the more common causes of differing percentages of fat in milk are:

Breed.—Jersey, Guernsey and Devon milk usually contain larger percentages of fat than Holstein or Ayrshire.

Individual.—There is often a wider difference in the fat content of the milk of two Jersey cows or two Holstein cows than between the averages of the two breeds. Each cow has a normal quality of milk born with her, and, while external conditions may vary the proportion of fat somewhat from time to time, her milk has a constant tendency to return to its normal fat content, which is retained with much constancy through life.

Lactation.—Fresh cows generally yield milk with less fat than when in a more advanced stage of lactation. This variation often amounts to more than 1 per cent increase from the first month after calving to the last month before drying off.

Age.—Young heifers usually yield a poorer milk during the first lactation period than during the fourth and fifth, when they reach maturity. Again, old cows in the decline of life have been observed to give a milk poorer in fat than when in their prime.

Feed.—Though always the first thing the farmer thinks of when his milk varies, feed appears to have only a very slight effect on its quality. A vast amount of information has been piling up on this question, and it generally points to the conclusion that feed has only a minor influence on the fat content of milk. Indeed Professor Hills' results indicate that its influence is exactly the opposite of the popular notion. He finds that the richer the feed the poorer the milk.

The Hessian Fly.

A correspondent of The National Stockman tells how he avoids trouble from the Hessian in the wheatfields. He prepares his ground for sowing and then waits until he sees the fly about. Then he drills in his wheat. As the flies all swarm at once and only last four days they have all perished before his wheat is up, and he suffers no damage and averages much better crops than his neighbors. We do not know whether this habit of all coming out at once and perishing in four days is true everywhere or peculiar to them in Ohio. We never saw or heard it mentioned before, but if true it should be generally known.

A Useful Climbing Shrub.

Lycium chinense (Chinese Matrimony vine) is a graceful climbing shrub which is very useful for covering rocks, stumps of trees or anything else where a tall growing vine is not required. Neither the leaves nor flowers are particularly ornamental, but the graceful habit of the plant commends it, together with the fact that in the autumn the bright scarlet fruit gives it a very attractive appearance. There is a variety, macrocarpum, which is an improvement on the ordinary form in that the fruit is larger and hence more conspicuous.

No one needs to be told to try to cure a cough. But any one will be glad to be told of a means of cure which will be thorough and lasting. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine which can be confidently relied on to cure diseases of the organs of respiration. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis and bleeding of the lungs. It cures when nothing else will cure, and the local physician says: "There is nothing more that we can do."

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

The dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious medicines, will sometimes try and sell a substitute when the "Discovery" is asked for. No substitute medicine will satisfy the sick like "Golden Medical Discovery." It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Two years ago a severe cough started on me and I was also bothered with catarrh," writes Mr. F. Skjod, of Dannevand, Chicago Co., Minn. "I could not sleep nights, as the cough was worse at night. I tried several cough medicines, but to no avail, until a year ago, when I got so bad I could not breathe through my nose at times. I then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and at the same time using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, I am a well man. I can thank Dr. Pierce for my good health, and will recommend his medicines to any one suffering from the same trouble."

COL. SCOBELL.

Career of the Man Who Was Recently Promoted in South Africa.

Lieut.-Col. H. J. Scobell has been promoted to the brevet rank of Colonel, in recognition of his success in the capture of Lotter's commando, and of his excellent services during the last three months in Cape Colony. In conjunction with Colonel Gorringe he was the first officer to do away with the encumbrance of wheeled transport and use pack mules only as the means of conveyance for his impediments. In July last, when Scobell's column consisted of half the 9th Lancers and Lukin's Cape Mounted Rifles, it effected a capture at Long Kloof of twenty-five men from Scheeper's commando, while a month before this in the Barkly East district the same column, with the loss of only one man, captured twenty prisoners, one one hundred and sixty-six horses, thirteen thousand rounds of ammunition, besides much of the miscellaneous material which Kritzinger had looted from Jamestown. On July 16 Lord Kitchener telegraphed a most complimentary messagge to this column, congratulating them on their consistent success.

Colonel Scobell went out to South Africa with his regiment, the 2nd Dragoons (Royal Scots Greys), as a Major early in the war, and commanded a squadron during Lord Roberts' initial advance. Recently he was promoted Lieut.-Colonel and posted to the command of the 5th (Royal Irish) Lancers. As a bold, enterprising and resourceful column commander, says The Times, he stands out amongst the many younger soldiers whom the present peculiar nature of the war has brought into prominence.

Tearing Down Famous Places.

In the work of improving the squalid places of London many houses with a history are being destroyed. Kingsgate street, Holborn, is about to be "improved" and its ancient landmarks destroyed. It was in Kingsgate street that the immortal Mrs. Gamp lodged, over the bird fancier's, next door but one to the celebrated mutton pie shop and directly opposite to the original cat's meat warehouse, and there it was that Mr. Pecksniff, looking "as pale as a muffin," knocked at her window with a cabman's whip. "Phiz's" picture of the famous scene shows a squalid little street, but Dickens, who for "The Man in the Street" is still in force, has given it a celebrity which it will take any new street, however fine, many years to acquire.

Just 400 Years After.

In 1492 Columbus discovered America. In 1892, just 400 years later, Merrill, a Brantford druggist, discovered Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. In five years the sale of a quarter of million bottles has proved that Four T's never fails to cure a cough in 24 hours and a cold in two days. Large bottles 25c at Ormond & Walsh's drugstore.

Apples for Horses.

In an Ohio paper we find a statement from a farmer who says that one season colts died without apparent cause until post mortem examination showed stomach and intestines to be filled with worms, says The American Agriculturist. In the fall a mess of sweet apples was given to those left alive, and the next day worms were passed in considerable numbers, and as the apples were continued in the feed the colts grew into thrifty yearlings that finally sold at good prices. Although we never had occasion to try this remedy, we do not doubt that it is a good one, nor do we doubt that beets or mangels and perhaps other roots would have equally good results.

CHARGE TO THE JURY

Is All That Remains Before Rice's Fate Is Sealed.

VERDICT LIKELY GIVEN TO-DAY

Counsels for the Prisoner and the Crown Addressed the Jury on Thursday—Mr. Robinette Was Eloquent and Persuasive for the Prisoner, and Mr. Guthrie for the Crown Eminently Fair.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The Rice murder case will be concluded to-day when Chief Justice Falconbridge delivers his charge to the jury. It was believed by many yesterday that the trial would have been finished early last evening, but His Lordship did not deem it in the interests of justice that he should instruct the jury till the opening of the court this morning. As the case draws to a close, the public interest increases.

When the case was resumed at 10 o'clock the Misses Blanche and Mamie Boyd, daughters of the murdered constable, were called to convince the jury that the constable carried no revolver on the day of the tragedy, and so could not have shot Jones, as contended by the defence.

Constable Walter Stewart was recalled and denied positively that either Rutledge or Jones shot Boyd.

Would you have seen either of the two, if they had shot him? asked Mr. Guthrie.

Yes.

Did Boyd draw a pistol in the hack?

No.

Then, having heard the evidence yesterday, let me ask you, who did it?

"I object," said Mr. Robinette. "This evidence is merely rebuttal, and that question cannot be answered."

The objection is sustained, said His Lordship, and, with these words, the evidence in the trial ended.

Mr. Robinette spoke for nearly four hours and went into all the facts of the case at great length. In opening he observed that the case is the most important that in this country in times of peace twelve men could be called upon to decide. The responsibility upon him who defends, upon the Crown counsel, who prosecutes, is of the most serious weight. It is the duty of the Crown to present the facts of the case; nothing is to be withheld, because on this earth there can be no reversion of the death sentence. He then went on and spoke of the notoriety the case had obtained and repeated the history of it from the date of the arrest in Chicago. "Five men," said Mr. Robinette, "were in the hack on the fatal drive to the jail. Three are in eternity. two are in court, and on the evidence of these two you will be asked to decide this case. If you find that Fred Lee Rice did not fire the shot that killed Boyd, or if there is so much doubt about it, then you should not convict him of murder."

If you find that there was no concert or arrangement among the prisoners to escape, no plan; if some foolish would-be friend thought he was doing a kindness to the three men under the heavy strain of a long trial, two of them Americans, the other a Canadian; if Rice knew nothing of the coming in of these revolvers, if he did not grab them first, but Rutledge did; if he made up his mind to escape only after he left the cab, after Jones and Boyd had been shot, and had no set plan to escape, then he should be a free man until long after grey has covered his head. He will never cross the threshold of his comfortable home in Champagne, Ill., until years after his father and mother have gone to their long rest. Yesterday a letter came from that aged father and mother saying that every day of this trial they and their friends are one their knees praying for the boy. On Sunday I stood outside the Penitentiary at Kingston looking over the white walls—600 persons behind those walls, and yet not a sound came to me. It was as silent as a tomb. I thought of our own Mount Pleasant Cemetery that we call "The City of the Dead," and I thought, here, too, is "a city of the dead." No one there can feel the touch of a mother's hand, or hear the tones of a father's voice. Fred Lee Rice is destined to live there until he is 49 years old. In conclusion, Mr. Robinette exhorted the jurors to find, in the words of the late Sir John Thompson, when the latter announced the result of the Cabinet's consideration of the application of commutation of the life sentence in the case of McWherill, "We have decided to be on the right side."

Mr. Guthrie was brief. In opening, he said the prisoner had been ably defended by counsel, who had made an eloquent appeal for mercy and pity. My learned friend has pictured to you in pathetic language the home of the young man in the box. But did this young man consider his parents in their old age? If there is to be pity and sympathy in the case go up to that little house on Wellesley street, where there was a happy family. It is blasted by the hand of the man in the box. A more diabolical crime has never been committed in the City of Toronto, one done in the broad light of day. Mr. Guthrie then went on and reviewed the evidence from the Crown's standpoint, closing with an exhortation to the jurors to sway neither to the right or left, but to do their duty. It was 4.25 o'clock when Chief Justice Falconbridge adjourned the trial till this morning at 10 o'clock.

SCARCITY OF WORKMEN.

Industries in Northern Ontario Affected —Wages Have Gone up.

The scarcity of men in northern Ontario is having a noticeable effect on the industrial enterprises and lumber operations there. Mr. Angus McLeod, M.P., Bracebridge, a large lumber operator, who called at the Parliament buildings to-day, says the cut of pine this fall will be about one-quarter less than last year, which was about the average. This is partly due to the scarcity of men and partly to the decision of the lumbermen not to force the market. Wages have gone up and now range from $24 to $30 a month for woodsmen.

Mr. McLeod is a director of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company, who are building a large mill at Webbwood. He says 250 men are now working on the construction of the mill and other buildings, but many more would have been employed had they been available. "In efact we could not have got them without importing them and that would not be lawful," said Mr. McLeod.

The danger of smallpox was a great menace, Mr. McLeod declared, and tended to disorganize many camps. He was in favour of the enforcement of the recent sanitary regulations, and said his own firm had arranged to have a doctor visit their camps every week.

A lump of arrowroot tied in a thick cotton rag and boiled with linens, and cottons imparts an odor to them that is pleasing.

It is said children's or any clothing can be made noninflammable by rinsing them after washing in a solution of alum and water and that if they then come in contact with flame they will only smolder.

Wood pulp is said to make an excellent water dressing for wounds, for the reason that it absorbs a large quantity and holds it well, evaporation being slow. It also retains heat well, so that it is serviceable for both cold and hot poultices.

Mr. Maxwell Holds Burrard.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—In the Supreme Court yesterday morning judgment was delivered in the Beauharnois, Two Mountains and Burrard election appeals, based on the preliminary judgments. The results of the court's decision is that the election trials proceed against Mr. Loye and Mr. Ethier, Liberal members for Beauharnois and Two Mountains respectively, but Mr. Maxwell, Liberal member for Burrard, is confirmed in his seat.

In This Locality.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose. 25c a box.

FRENCH PROFANITY.

The Experience of a Man Who Tried to Learn It.

Herman Knickerbocker Viele, author of "The Inn of the Silver Moon," gives an amusing account of his efforts to acquire French profanity. Upon his first visit to the land of the lively Gaul he was provided with a vocabulary that served its purpose only so long as things went well. When things went ill, he found himself without a natural outlet for his feelings. Accordingly he set to work to find out what Frenchmen say when they are "mad."

The first experiment was at a restaurant, when from a neighboring table he overheard a slight dispute between the waiter and a guest. The guest had ordered a small bottle of red wine, and the waiter had brought a large bottle of white wine.

"I do not want it," said the guest.

"I am sorry," said the waiter, "but monsieur must drink it, for, unfortunately, the cork is drawn."

Mr. Viele waited breathless for the explosion.

"This," said the Frenchman, bringing his hand down with violence to the table, "is very extraordinary!" C'est bien extraordinaire—no more—and the waiter quailed before it. The traveler made a note of the expression and uses it still when much provoked, but he waited several days for another lesson.

This came on the top of an omnibus. All the seats were taken, but a stout man insisted upon climbing up. At first he contented himself with wabbling from one pair of feet to another, but presently he attempted to insert himself between a slender person and his wife. The slender one bore this in silence until a more vigorous wriggle on the part of the intruder knocked off his hat. Then, goaded past endurance, he exclaimed, "Monsieur ees not polite!" The stout man climbed down abashed by merited rebuke, and the traveler made another note.

This was not encouraging, but Mr. Viele did not give up hope till one day he nearly was run down by a cab, and, having no "cuss word" at hand, he raised his cane and gave the offender a sharp rap on the shoulders. It was a rash act, that might have brought trouble, but apprehension faded before the joy of promised knowledge. The cabman lashed his horse and, going, turned across his shoulder to make a face.

"Soiled pig!" he called back angrily.

The novelist gives these as his reasons for believing the French unequal to the demands of golf.

The World Needs Nerve.

Needs it in business, in the study, in the household. Irritability, weakness, lack of strength—the blue feeling—why they just tell you that you lack nerve. You'll use Ferrozone? My! What an appetite you'll get. How quickly the colour will return to your cheeks, how buoyant you will feel. Work, of course you'll work, for you'll enjoy it. That is, if you will use Ferrozone. It gives nerve, strength, muscular endurance and invigorates the brain splendidly. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Breaking Range Horses.

Farmers are getting hold of a good many range horses from the great sales in the west, nearly all of them unbroken, says National Stockman. There seems to be an idea prevalent that the way to break a range horse is to thoroughly exhaust him or half kill him. Nothing of the sort. He should be broken just as if he were a native colt, making due allowance for his greater fear of human beings, his strangeness to restraint and his greater strength and activity. The range horse is not often vicious. He is simply wild and ignorant.

LAKEHURST.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss L. A. Simpson, the school teacher, is proving herself very competent in her profession and is well liked by both scholars and parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weir have just returned from an extensive tour in the Northwest and Manitoba, lasting about a month. They saw their two sons, who are doing well out there. Other relatives and friends were visited and a most enjoyable time was spent. Still they were glad to see Lakehurst again, and are quite contented to remain.

Mrs. R. Shaw is improving in health as the weeks go by.

Miss Edna Shearer contemplates going to Peterborough for a few months to acquire the art of dressmaking.

The annual missionary meeting of the Methodist church was held last Sunday evening. A very large crowd was present, filling the edifice. The pastor conducted the services, preaching from Exodus xiv, 15, and made a vigorous appeal for support for this glorious work. The response was hearty and generous. The proceeds were fifty per cent. ahead of the offerings of any previous year.

Our cheesemaker, Mr. Sharpe, had a good summer at the factory. He retains his reputation as a first-class cheesemaker, for he invariably gets his product in first-class selections.

Archie and Jas. Wilson are doing a large business in hogs this season. About 60 fine porkers grace their yards and buildings just now.

Mr. Robert Shaw's house is greatly improved in its external appearance by the additions lately made. The cement walk outside is an up-to-date idea.

COLLUSION BY RICE

The Jury Thus Find That the Prisoner Was Guilty of Murder.

HAS STILL A CHANCE FOR LIFE

Chief Justice Falconbridge Granted a Reserve Case—Mr. Robinette Allowed to Take His Case to the Court of Appeal—Here the Peculiar Finding of the Jury Will Be Argued.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—After listening to Chief Justice Falconbridge's charge and talking over the evidence in the case for over four hours yesterday, the jury in the case of Fred Lee Rice, which had been in progress for four days, returned to court and announced their finding. It was exactly 4 o'clock when Sheriff Mowat brought the twelve men in, and Thomas Shortiss, their foreman, in answer to the usual question from Clerk Nichol, said:

"We disagree on the first count, but we find the prisoner guilty on the second count."

There were very few in the courtroom who heard or understood the full effect of the verdict. Rice apparently did not, for he leaned over the railing and consulted Mr. Robinette's partner, Mr. Godfrey, regarding the outcome of the case. Many were relieved, however, when His Lordship broke the stillness which reigned over the crowd and courtroom by asking:

Is there no prospect of agreeing as to whether the prisoner fired the shot?

"None, my Lord," replied Mr. Shortiss.

Then Mr. Robinette arose and put forth a forcible argument with a view to having the pronouncing of the death sentence postponed. He said: "My Lord, I move that judgment be stayed on the verdict as found, and ask you to reserve a case for the Court of Appeal on the ground that there has been no concert, no collusion, no common design shown to exist between the three prisoners prior to the firing of the shot that killed Constable Boyd." Mr. Robinette urged that even if the three prisoners separately made up their minds to escape when the pistols came into the hack, the prisoner Rice could not be convicted of conspiracy, and went on and cited several cases dealing with the point at issue, and was right in the midst of what looked like a lengthy and complicated argument when His Lordship interrupted him by saying:

"Pardon me, I think there ought to be a case reserved. I entirely agree with your argument, and even if the application had not been made, I had made up my mind to grant a reserved case.

Mr. Guthrie took no part, except to say that he admitted the force of Mr. Robinette's argument.

His Lordship was about to direct that a case be stated, when Mr. Robinette urged that a second objection to the effect that there had been a mistrial, owing to the fact that no direct verdict was returned on the principal fact be included."

"Yes," said the court, "and on any other grounds that seem tenable." Mr. Robinette was advised to submit his case to the Crown prosecutor and thence to His Lordship, who will send it on to the Court of Appeal. Thus the trial of Fred Lee Rice ended. The jury in the case was discharged till Monday at 11 a. m.

The effect of the verdict returned by the jury is that Rice was found guilty of murder, and had not the reserved case been granted by His Lordship, the prisoner would have been sentenced to be hanged. It is a source of great satisfaction to Mr. Robinette, who has put forth every effort in connection with the case, to know that he still has a chance to save his client from the gallows. Providing the Court of Appeals does not grant the application to have the verdict set aside or grant a new trial, the prisoner's counsel intends to take the whole matter to the Supreme Court at Ottawa. Mr. Robinette is confident that the verdict will be set aside on the ground that there was no conspiracy between the three men up to the time the fatal shot was fired. Chief Justice Falconbridge charged the jury particularly on this point yesterday, agreeing with the theory of the defence, and the argument in the Court of Appeal will probably be confined to what followed the shooting.

The closing scenes in the trial were impressive. His Lordship delivered his charge at the opening of the court, bearing somewhat against the prisoner, and the jury retired at 11.45 a.m. to consider their verdict. The court was then adjourned till 2 p.m., but His Lordship did not take his seat on the bench till 3.45 p. m., when he was summoned to give the jury some advice. He was accompanied by Judge McGuire of the Yukon. The foreman explained that there was a difference of opinion among the jurors as to what constituted collusion in the second count in the indictment. Mr. Robinette was appealed to, but no objection was offered, and His Lordship reproduced what he had said earlier in the day as nearly as possible in his own phraseology.

He said: If you find that Rice did not fire the fatal shot, or if you find doubt about it, then you must consider the second branch of the case. When you come out of the jury room I will ask you: Was the fatal shot that killed Boyd fired by the hand of the prisoner at the bar? If you say "Yes," that's the end of it. If you say "No," then consider the position of the people in the cab. You must not push the doctrine of conspiracy too far against the prisoner. I am bound to tell you that there is no evidence of a conspiracy to the time the parcel came into the hack. The Crown is bound to prove that and has not done so. The jurors retired again, and in 15 minutes it was announced to the crowded courtroom that they had agreed. When the verdict was given Rice was the most unconcerned man present. He looked straight at his counsel. Mr. Robinette, until Mr. Godfrey enlightened him regarding the jury's findings.

In charging the jury at the opening of the court His Lordship emphasized the fact that the American citizenship of the prisoner was no element in the case. Neither was it an element in the case that there are homes in either Toronto or Champaign, Ill., which have suffered or will suffer as a result of the crime and the verdict.

"The crime," said His Lordship "has been described as a diabolical one. One can hardly realize that an escape should be attempted with so little apparent chance of success, and the crime which occurred as a result was therefore made the more repulsive. Still, even this, must not influence the jury." The judge then went on and dealt minutely with the theories of the Crown and defense, and in conclusion, said: "Now, I leave the matter in your hands, gentlemen. May the Supreme Ruler guide and direct you to a correct decision on the evidence."

Mr. Robinette immediately arose, and took exception to one or two points in the judge's charge. He asked that the jury be reminded that Stewart did not actually see the shot fired, and that Stewart's evidence was not infallible. The jury was accordingly recalled and instructed on these points.

A CANADIAN KILLED

Col. Benson One Among 230 Casualties at Brakenlaagte.

A SEVERE LOSS TO BRITISH ARMS

Lord Kitchener Speaks Very Highly of the Dead Canadian Officer—Col. Benson's Record in Canada and Elsewhere—Col. Habershon's Camp—Longer Captured With 70 Boers—War News.

London, Nov. 2.—Lord Kitchener has reported to the War Office a disaster to the British near Bethel, eastern Transvaal, in which two guns were lost, several officers killed or wounded, and 54 men were killed and 160 wounded.

Lord Kitchener's Despatch.

"I have just heard of a severe attack made on the rear guard of Colonel Benson's column, when about 20 miles northeast of Bethel, near Brakenlaagte, during a thick mist.

"The strength of the enemy is reported to be a thousand. They rushed two guns with the rear guard, but it is uncertain whether they were able to remove them.

"I fear our casualties were heavy. Colonel Benson was wounded, but not severely. A relieving column will reach him this morning."

Later Lord Kitchener telegraphed as follows:

"Colonel Barter, who marched from the constabulary line yesterday, reached Benson's column this morning (Friday) unopposed."

He reports that Col. Benson died of his wounds.

"The casualties are the following:

"Killed—Colonel E. Guinness.

"Major F. D. Murray.

"Captains M. W. Lindsay and F. T. Thorold.

"Lieuts. E. V. I. Brooke and R. E. Shepherd.

"Second Lieut. A. J. Corlett.

"Died of his wounds, Captain Eyre Lloyd."

Lord Kitchener then gives the names of 13 other officers who were wounded, most of them severely, and announces that 54 non-commissioned officers and men were killed and 160 wounded, adding that four of the latter have since died of their wounds.

The despatch then adds:

"I assume that the two guns have been recovered and the enemy has withdrawn, but I have no further details.

"I deeply regret the loss of Colonel Benson and the officers and men who fell with him. In Benson, the service loses a gallant and most capable officer, who invariably led his column with marked success and judgment.

"The fighting was at very close quarters, and maintained with great determination by both sides. The enemy suffered heavily, but I have not yet received a reliable estimate.

"The Boers retired east."

Col. Benson had been for some time operating in the vicinity of Bethel, which is northeast of Standerton. He surprised a Boer laager Oct. 22, near Trichardsfontein, taking 37 prisoners. Three days later, according to Lord Kitchener's report at the time, after a long night march, the commandoes under Groebler and Erasmus heavily attacked Benson's rear guard and flanks at Yzarvarkfontein, but were easily driven away."

Whether this was the attack which proved so disastrous or whether the Boers, who had been repulsed, took advantage of the mist to renew the attack is still unexplained. Lord Kitchener does not give the date of the Bethel engagement.

Who Colonel Benson Is.

Colonel Frederick William Benson is a Canadian, having been born in St. Catharines, Aug. 2, 1849. He is a son of the late Hon. J. R. Benson of St. Catharines, a member of the Dominion Senate, and a brother of James Benson, now a prominent barrister of the Garden City. His mother was a daughter of the late James Ingersoll of Ingersoll. He married Caroline, eldest daughter of Sir George E. Cooper, Bart.

Col. Benson was educated at the old Grantham Academy, St. Catharines, and Upper Canada College, Toronto, and received his military training at the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, England. He served as a volunteer during the Fenian raid in 1866, and joined the 21st Hussars Imperial [illegible] 1869. A BROKEN RAIL

On the Main Line of the Grand Trunk Railway—Narrow Escape.

Sergeant Hall returned last night from Kingston, where he has been for a day or two on business. Sergt. Hall relates the circumstances of a very narrow escape that the passengers on the Montreal express, due, had on the G.T.R. main line yesterday afternoon. Not far distant from the first station east of [illegible] a country lad who was driving [illegible] cows home for the night, noticed the light engine take a sudden tilt as it passed a certain spot on the road. He accordingly proceeded to inspect the rail had been made considerably worse by the passing over it of the flying light engine. The boy knew that the Montreal express would be along in a few minutes, and that it was necessary for him to flag the train. This he did by standing on the track and pointing to the rails in a manner to indicate to the engine driver that something was wrong. The express was brought to a standstill, and the passengers got out and looked at the dangerous rail they were about to pass over. After some little time it was bolstered up sufficiently strong for the express to pass slowly over, and go on her way.

The promptitude of the boy is very commendable and should be suitably recognized.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir, — I notice by this morning's paper that some persons have taken upon themselves the responsibility of proclaiming that Saturday next, the King's Birthday, will not be a holiday, as I think it should be according to the interpretation of the statutes. In other words, Saturday, November 9th, the first holiday of our noble King since he ascended the throne, will be ignored entirely by the business men of Peterborough. This is what the item in question would have us understand.

I cannot believe that the merchants of Peterborough are unanimous in this, and I question very much whether such action on the part of an alleged meeting will pass unchallenged. There is, I understand, a retail merchants' association in town which I think is a splendid organization and can regulate all matters of material benefit, but that the Retail Merchants Association as a body consulted on this matter? It was not; no meeting was called whatever. Again who constitutes the Executive of the Association? They held a meeting, so it is alleged, and took this action but in the absence of report of the meeting that [illegible] fore me I see no names [illegible] Why is this? Have they not the courage of their convictions to [illegible] their names be published? [illegible] Mr. Editor, that the whole [illegible] ure is an overstep[illegible] on the part [illegible]

[illegible] Liceu[illegible]

[illegible] matter of any [illegible] King [illegible] position Act, within the [illegible] and the [illegible] forwarded to me [illegible] case will be treated with [illegible] and upon, personality.

License Inspector West Peterborough.

STUDIOUS GIRLS.

School Days are Dangerous Periods With Our Girls.

A Chicago Girl Relates Her Experience.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham is inclined to the belief that our girls are pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality, — often it is never recovered.

The dawn of womanhood is always a danger period and it is made doubly so by over exertion in study or work.

All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; her advice is freely and cheerfully given, and her address is Lynn, Mass.

The case of Miss Anna Oeftering, whose portrait we publish herewith, is a fair example of over estimation of physical endurance. Read her experience, and how she was cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MISS ANNA OEFTERING,
President of the Young Ladies Sodality, St. Alphonse Society, of Chicago.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—To be a well woman once more seems little short of perfect happiness. For two years I suffered intensely with nervousness brought on by falling of the womb and general weakness of the female organs. I had leucorrhœa which sapped my strength, and although the doctors said an operation would be necessary I felt too weak to think of undergoing such an ordeal. One of my classmates who had suffered afflictions and been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it, and I was only too glad to do so. I thought there was little hope for me, but was happily disappointed in finding that I soon began to feel better and stronger. I used 15 bottles before I was entirely well, but it was worth one hundred dollars a bottle to me, for it brought me new life and perfect health. Accept a grateful woman's thanks."—ANNA OEFTERING, 1244 Seminary Place, Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life; with it she can go through with courage and safety the work she must accomplish, and fortify her physical well being so that her future life may be insured against sickness and suffering.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I thought I would write and tell you what your medicines have done for me. I suffered with pains in my stomach nearly all the time for one year; had no color in my lips or face and I felt dull all the time. I tried the doctor, but he did me no good. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I am now well. Your medicines have done me so much good that I cannot praise them enough."—MISS MABEL CLARK, Starkey, N.Y. (April 10, 1901.)

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be well.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

A BIT OF A GRAFTER.

The Mail and Empire talks a good deal, says the Brockville Recorder, about the Peterborough Water Power with which Hon. Mr. Stratton has shown he has no connection. Yet the paper on which the Mail and Empire is printed is made by the biggest graft in the shape of a water power any Government ever gave to its friends. If the Government would cancel the Riordon lease on the Welland canal, given by the Conservative Government, and compel that company to pay what the Mail and Empire says the Peterborough Company ought to pay, the editorial columns of that journal would be bluer than the tint of the paper on which it is printed. The public know a good deal about the Mail and Empire's grafting proclivities, and its big trouble now is, that under present conditions its chance for getting snaps from the Government has dwindled to a vanishing point. Its patriotism to principle is like that of the printing house in Toronto and Hamilton, that was to have all the Government printing if by any means Mr. Whitney could succeed in defeating the present administration. But the public see through this undying devotion to principle at an upset price.

MR. WHITNEY'S OBSTRUCTIVENESS.

The Brantford Expositor points out that Mr. Whitney opposed the creation of a Minister of Agriculture; opposed the establishment of the Algoma Pioneer Farm, the Western Dairy School, and the fruit-spraying experiments; opposed many of the grants intended to make the Agricultural [illegible] efficient; opposed the [illegible] Association; opposed the appointment of a Provincial Entomologist; opposed the appointment of a Provincial Auditor; and opposed many of the wisest and most progressive measures to be found on the provincial statutes.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

The United States may boast and with justice of being a great and porgressive country materially, but it can't boast of being in a satisfactory and civilized condition politically and morally. The future of a country is indeed a matter for apprehension, when one of its grave and reverend seigniors—a senator—can give utterance, with the applause of his hearers, to such a sentiment as the following, which Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, recently gave utterance to in speaking of President Roosevelt inviting one Booker, a negro, to dinner. The Senator said:

A thousand negroes must be killed to offset the influence of that dinner.

If Senator Tillman was not in a condition suggesting the absence of any necessity of adopting the mutual complaint of the governors of North and South Carolina, respecting the length of "time between drinks," then cold blooded beastiality in inciting to murder is as bad an act of anarchy and infinitely more dangerous to the state and the United States than the crime of Czolgosz. Anarchy, in the form of lynchings and mob law is a disgrace to any country, claiming the slightest title to civilization, even when the authorities make an effort to suppress them. But when they are winked at and openly enjoined by a man of the supposed prominence and influence of a senator, and applauded by half of seventy-five million people, it is time to hang out the danger signal—that signal is already displayed—the red flag of anarchy represented as well by lynchings and burnings as by the dead of a half-crazed Polack.

Cured After Years of Pile Torture.

James Kenton, Memphis, Tenn., says: "I suffered the tortures of itching piles for years, and not even mercurial ointment would relieve me. One 50 cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure cured me entirely." All druggists sell it. Book, "Piles, Causes and Cure," mailed free, Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich.

CHOOSING A LEADER.

That was a very interesting canvass that the Conservative organisers carried out in the glad springtime of the present year, when Mr. Mabee, in making a round of the province, secured the votes of Conservative candidates as to their choice for the leadership of the party in Ontario. He reports that forty-nine candidates in all voted, the poll resulting as follows:

For Mr. W. F. Maclean 13
For Dr. Beattie Nesbitt 18
For Mr. J. P. Whitney... 7
For Mr. J. J. Foy... 5

The result is not without its surprises.—Toronto Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Great Britain's commercial policy is Free Trade; Germany's is trammelled trade—protection. Yet we read that manufacturing industries in Great Britain are in a flourishing and prosperous condition, while in Germany the opposite condition prevails. Is the co-existence of Free Trade and industrial prosperity and protection and industrial dullness cause and effect or mere coincidences? "The proof of the pudding is in the eating" is not a bad old proverb to recall to mind in this connection.

Mr. Whitney is said by his organ to have declined with thanks a pamphlet offered by Mr. Mabee, lampooning Mr. Ross. Mr. Mabee, on the other hand, says he received every encouragement from the Opposition leader. Be that as it may, we feel assured, says the Brantford Expositor, that the Conservative organs are not justified in declaring that Mr. Whitney turned Mr. Mabee down because of any special consideration he has for the feelings of the members of the Ross Government. Has he not charged them, in connection with the Algoma Central road, of being guilty of a gigantic robbery and a phenomenal steal? Has he not declared that in other respects they have been guilty of acts which, if committed in private life, would consign them to jail? Language of reckless denunciation and vituperation has been repeatedly resorted to without any justification whatever and without a scintilla of evidence with which to support the most sweeping charges. In this respect there is no greater sinner against the amenities of public life than the present leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition.

It may not be, perhaps, the best thing to do to raise or suggest any discussion as to the relative loyalty of any sections of the community; but it may be perhaps interesting, if not useful, to indicate the position of certain Conservative journals, which are always parading their own loyalty and that of the party they represent, and disparaging and minimizing that of their opponents. The Toronto World, ultra-Conservative and ultra-loyal, when its own journalistic or party purposes are to be served, says, in discussing the making of the King's birthday a holiday—"We think we have done enough in the loyalty line this year," and other Conservative journals are leading the opposition to making the King's birthday a holiday. Does the World think that loyalty is a portable sentiment that can be put on and off at will like a coat or hat? It may be such for those whose loyalty is allowed to exhibit itself only on special occasions and in such a manner that it may be seen of men. Genuine loyalty, either personal or imperial, is not paraded. It is an every day possession, and evidenced more by acts than words. There are thousands of loyal men in the Empire who never raised a cheer for the Queen, nor sang a line of God Save the Queen. There are thousands who parade their loyalty and, like the Pharisee of old, thank God that they are not disloyal as others are; but when some personal or interested motive is to be served, will be as disloyal and disrespectful in assertion as a Boer or a Fenian.

CONSUMPTION

Right food—right medicine—right time—these three things are of the utmost importance to the consumptive. Right food and right medicine—these are contained in Scott's Emulsion of pure cod-liver oil. Right time is at first sign of disease. Right time is now.

Scott's Emulsion always helps, often cures. Ordinary food helps feed. Fresh air helps cure. Scott's Emulsion does both. Begin early.

THE SHORT APPLE CROP.

New York, Oct. 30.—The apple famine, which dealers have predicted for several months, is now said to be an assured fact, says The Tribune. Ever since the unfavourable apple weather in the spring buyers and growers have anticipated a short crop, and now the local dealers announce that the situation is even worse than anticipated. One dealer is quoted as estimating the crop at 23,000,000 barrels, as against 48,000,000 barrels last year, and 70,000,000 the year previous.

A Daily Nuisance.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later the disease extends to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucous, stoppage of the nostrils, irritation in throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging, and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often give temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh, is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These Tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalyptol and similar cleansing antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth, in this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire ailmentary canal.

If desired, they can also be dissolved in water and used as a douche, in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche—a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use internally of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche.

Dr. Bement states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching and local applications, and further says that probably the best and certainly the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are contained in this tablet."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at fifty cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist, and if he is honest he will tell you there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the market.

The Report Was Incorrect.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The despatch from Toulon announcing the return of Admiral Caillard's division of the French Mediterranean squadron to that port proves to be incorrect. The officials of the Foreign Office yesterday stated the admiral had not returned. The admiral is now on his way to Turkish waters.

Li Hung Chang Sick.

Pekin, Nov. 1.—Li Hung Chang's foreign physicians to-night pronounced his condition grave. He has had hemorrhages for the last two days. His death would probably affect the negotiations as to Manchuria, which he has been conducting with M. Paul Lessar, Russian Minister to China.

The Spanish Chamber of Deputies has passed the bill prohibiting the free coinage of silver.

In This Locality.

The medicine dealers in this place say there is no preparation in the market to-day that has anything like such an enormous sale as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Would this extraordinary demand for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills continue and gradually increase if people were not being benefitted and cured by their use? Certainly not. One pill a dose. 25c a box.

DR. M'KAY, MPP., AGAIN

For Fifth Time South Oxford Liberals' Unanimous Choice.

A WELL-ATTENDED CONVENTION

One Hundred and Seventy-Six Delegates Entitled to Vote Attended at Mount Elgin—The Doctor's Speech Shows How Liberalism in Ontario Is Worth the Honestest Support.

Woodstock, Nov. 2.—For the fifth time the Liberals of South Oxford, assembled yesterday in convention at Mount Elgin, nominated Dr. McKay of Ingersoll as their candidate for the Provincial House. The convention was a large and very enthusiastic one, every part of the riding, in the centre of which the little village of Mount Elgin stands, being well represented. On the credentials of the different delegates being examined it was found that 176 were entitled to vote on the nomination. President Justus Miller, Mayor of the Town of Ingersoll, was in the chair.

The nomination of a candidate was at once proceeded with, and the following names were placed before the gathering: Dr. McKay, M. P. P., Messrs. J. B. Jackson, K. C., M. L. Buchanan, Lieut.-Col. Hegler, Mayor Miller, Jas. Elliott, W. Elliott, Stephen Noxon, W. Dowler, K. C., M. S. Schell, Wm. Schell, John Sheehan, R. W. Hawkins, Capt. Thomas A. Brown, Richard Seldon, J. E. Ferguson, T. R. Mayberry. All withdrew with the exception of Dr. McKay, whose nomination was made unanimous.

The member for the riding on rising was given an ovation. He had a keen sense, he told his hearers, of the honor which had been done him once again. They had as much reason to be proud of the Liberal party in Ontario politics as in Dominion. Liberalism had been the means of affecting every great reform in the history of the country. The Government at Toronto, which had retained power for thirty years, had done so by grappling courageously with every great problem that presented itself. It deserved particular credit for the attention it had paid to cold-storage and for its action in bringing to the notice of the Imperial authorities the advisability of establishing remount stations in Canada. The Ross Government was not throwing away land in Northern Ontario, as had been charged against it, but had more than obtained value for what it had given. Dr. McKay concluded by showing the absurdity of the charge that the Administration was a "corporation" Government.

Mr. Donald Sutherland, the Conservative candidate, is a member of the County Council, and as a young man has many friends throughout the riding. He is making an active canvass, but there is no doubt about the result.

Resolutions were passed before the convention dispersed yesterday, expressing complete confidence in both the Ross and Laurier Administrations.

Resented the Comment.

A well known savings institution has a unique system of receiving deposits. People who patronize the bank first take their money to a receiving teller and then pass along to another clerk whose business it is to verify the entry in the handbooks and deliver them to the proper owners. "John Jones," he will call out, for example. When John Jones answers, the clerk asks him how much his deposit was, and upon receiving a correct reply hands over the book.

One day a little irascible looking Irishman was one of the depositors in line. "How much?" queried the clerk when the Celt had answered to his name. "Wan dollar," returned the depositor. "Vera Little," sung out the clerk, reaching for the next book. "It is, begob!" shouted the little man, turning back. "It's a dom sight more than yes would have to save yerself if yes had a wife and tin childer to support."

It was not until the indignant depositor had marched through the doorway that the astonished clerk tumbled to the combination of circumstances which had aroused his ire.

Sadness Explained.

In Liverpool recently a sentimental young lady was on the Cunard steamship quay when she saw a young girl sitting on a trunk in an attitude of utter dejection and despair.

"Poor thing!" thought the romantic lady. "She is probably alone and a stranger. Her pale cheeks and great, sad eyes tell of a broken heart and a yearning for sympathy." So she went over to the traveler to win her confidence.

"Crossed in love?" she asked sympathetically.

"No," replied the girl, with a sigh, "crossed in the Servia, and an awfully rough passage too."

Two Warnings.

Losing flesh is one and a hacking cough is another. If they come together the warning is a loud and hard one. Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work in just these cases. It prevents consumption.

PUBLIC HEALTH REGULATIONS.

What the Canadian Authorities Are Doing to "Scotch" Bubonic—A Glasgow Barmaid Has the Plague.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Dr. Montizambert, Director-General of Canadian Public Health, is ordering the enforcement of strict regulations to prevent the introduction into Canada of the bubonic plague, which has now made its appearance at Glasgow. All steamship companies are required to furnish the quarantine officers at Canadian ports with a record of the temperature of every passenger within the previous 24 hours. It is believed that the indication of a rising temperature will furnish the ship's medical officers with the means of detecting the disease before it developes very far. The special regulations against bubonic plague, which were called into operation last year, will again be enforced. The department here think these steps fully justified, and is confident that with care Canadian ports will continue to show clean bills of health.

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.

The Greatest Case in the History of Modern Medicine is Completed by Another Sworn Statement.

THE OTTAWA FREE PRESS SUSTAINED.

A Prominent Ottawa Man Confirms Under Oath Every Statement Made by This Paper in the Original Story Published Nearly Seven Years Ago.

(From the Ottawa Free Press.)

Some seven years ago the Free Press published a graphic account of a remarkable case here in Ottawa.

A man named George Kent had been cured of Bright's Disease after the doctors had given him up to die, and the Free Press reporter, after a most thorough investigation, published the whole story in detail, giving credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills for the most miraculous cure.

The following sworn statement was given by Mr. Kent in order to substantiate the almost incredible statement made by the paper in its account of the case:—

(Sworn Statement, Feb. 16th, 1895.)

I, George Henry Kent, resident at 114 Cambridge street, Ottawa, and employed as a printer in the British American Bank Note Printing Company, in the said City of Ottawa, do solemnly declare that I consider it a duty to myself and to my fellowmen generally to make a declaration as to the efficiency of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

1. That I found them in my terrible case of Bright's Disease, from which I suffered for almost one year, of the greatest medical value. I can say confidently and assure anyone interested, or a sufferer, that I positively owe my life and present excellent health to the results brought about by their use. I was taken sick and confined to my bed on December 28th, 1893, and was successfully treated for La Grippe, then Pleurisy, followed by Kidney Troubles, and latterly Bright's Disease. I lost the use of all my limbs; my entire body became swollen to a terrible size, and my skin became as hard as and similar to leather, the pores all having closed up, and I suffered the most agonizing pain. I was subject to periodical spells of utter prostration and insensibility, to a state of absolute coma. I was also a victim of dangerous convulsions in which my facial expression and other muscles would become severely contorted and tense.

2. My regular physician attended to me, and, though medical consultations were held over my case by two city doctors, nothing could be done. My case grew gradually worse and latterly I was given up as hopeless. My wife, friends and neighbors were certain from what they saw and were told by the visiting doctors that I would die in a very short time.

3. My wife was casually reading a newspaper about this time, and saw a description of a similar case, in which a patient gave testimony of the relief and cure that had been effected on him by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I started to take them right away, and from the first pill I discovered a change for the better. After the first box I was wonderfully improved, and at the end of the fourth I was sure I was to get well again. I continued taking them until the seventeenth box, and I can now positively declare that I am perfectly cured and able to do a day's work with any of my comrades in the shop, and Dodd's Kidney Pills undoubtedly cured me, because from starting to take them I took no other medicine whatever.

AND I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the ACT RESPECTING EXTRA JUDICIAL OATHS.

Declared before me at the City of Ottawa, in the County of Carleton, this 16th day of February, 1895.

G. H. KENT

(Sgd.) CHAS. A. BLANCHET.
A Commissioner, etc.

The Free Press in the article published in 1895 stated most positively that Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else were entitled to the credit of having saved the dying man's life, and this was most emphatically endorsed by Mr. Kent in his sworn statement. The Free Press also said without qualification that the cure of Mr. Kent was an absolute and permanent one. And while Mr. Kent could not make a sworn statement as to the future, he stated that he felt he was permanently cured.

Notwithstanding this there were many who could not believe that a man with one foot in the grave as Mr. Kent was could get a lasting cure.

It occurred to the Free Press the other day that it would be interesting to enquire now, after the lapse of nearly seven years as to how Mr. Kent was feeling.

He had removed to 408 Gilmour street, and at that address a Free Press reporter found him.

After reminding Mr. Kent of the article and the affidavit the newspaper man asked him point blank—

"Have you lost any time from your regular work since you were cured of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills in 1895?"

"Not a minute," answered Mr. Kent promptly.

"Have you since had the slightest symptoms of your old kidney trouble or anything like it?"

"Not the slightest," he said.

"You are sure that Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else saved your life and restored you to your present good health?"

"Absolutely sure. Why my wife and I are grateful to Dodd's Kidney Pills that we have christened our little girl, born in December, of 1896, by the name of 'Dodds.' This shows you better than anything I can tell you to what we attribute my recovery. I owe my life to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"Would you be willing in order to confirm our story published in 1895 to make another sworn statement?" asked the scribe.

"If it would do you any good I have no objection," answered Mr. Kent. "The Free Press was certainly well within the truth in every statement they published about my case."

Mr. Kent, at the request of the Free Press has given the following sworn statement:

SWORN STATEMENT, OCT. 3, 1901.

I, GEORGE HENRY KENT, resident at 408 Gilmour street, in the City of Ottawa, and employed as a printer at the American Bank Note Company, in the said City of Ottawa, do solemnly declare:—

1. That on February 16th, 1895, I, George Henry Kent, then resident at 114 Cambridge Street, Ottawa, did appear before Charles A. Blanchet, Commissioner, etc., and before him on that date did make a solemn declaration regarding my recovery from Bright's Disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills and setting forth the facts of my case and its cure.

2. That in the declaration I set forth that I believe that I was absolutely and permanently cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills after the doctors had given me up to die.

3. That I am now absolutely certain that Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else saved my life and I hereby unhesitatingly reaffirm every statement made in my declaration made before Mr. Blanchet on February 16th, 1895.

4. That I have never since that date had the slightest symptom of the return of the Bright's Disease or any Kidney Trouble, having enjoyed unremitting good health and having worked steadily and without interruption, full time, at my regular employment as a printer every working day from the day Dodd's Kidney Pills sent me back to work to the date of this declaration.

5. That in evidence of our gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills for having saved my life, my wife and I have christened a little daughter born to us in December of 1896 by the name of "Dodds."

6. That I have recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to many people in this city and elsewhere, who having heard of my wonderful escape from death by their use have called on me or written to me enquiring about them; and having followed many of these cases closely, I know of no case where they have been used according to directions that has not been cured, and I know positively of my own personal knowledge of several extreme cases where Dodd's Kidney Pills have effected satisfactory and permanent cures.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of "The Canada Evidence Act, 1893."

(Sgd.) G. H. KENT.

(Sgd.) A. W. FRASER,
A Notary Public in and for Ontario.

Nothing could be more convincing than this plain declaration made by Mr. Kent and the Free Press is pleased to be able to present such a complete and emphatic confirmation of our article of 1895.

The Kent case must therefore go on record as the most wonderful cure ever heard of in this city or province. Every detail of which has been carefully substantiated by sworn evidence.

To Dodd's Kidney Pills is due all the credit for having rescued and restored this dying man, and after all hope had been abandoned and the cold waters of the river of death were lapping his feet.

BALLINGTON BOOTH
COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

Cured by Powleys' Liquified Ozone

the New Oxygen Preparation.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is liquid oxygen. It is a preparation for building up the system. It gives nourishment to the blood, makes the stomach perform its work properly and causes a general healthy condition of all the tissues—in that way destroys all disease germs. Brig. Gen. Fielding, one of the most distinguished leaders of the Volunteer movement in America, was cured of stomach trouble by it. Read his letter:

BRIGADIER-GENERAL EDWARD FIELDING TERRITORIAL COMMANDER

The Volunteers of America

INCORPORATED NOV. 6, 1896.

NOTE NEW ADDRESS
HOWLAND BLOCK,

ROOM 16-17
CHICAGO.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that for several weeks past we have used Powley's Liquified Ozone in our family, and can especially recommend it for disorders of the stomach, such as indigestion and dyspepsia. I have been troubled myself with indigestion, severe nervous headaches, and other distresses which accompany that ailment. I find that by taking Powley's Liquified Ozone after meals it has stopped the indigestion, I have no more headaches and it has toned my stomach until it is most healthy. I can heartily recommend it to all suffering from stomach disorders, as I find it will cure the most obstinate case. Powley's Liquified Ozone is a wonderful remedy.

Yours very sincerely,
E. FIELDING.

The Scope of Powley's Liquified Ozone

is broad because it is oxygen. Its uses are just as many as those Nature makes of Oxygen. It's Nature's greatest health giving element, curing system ailments and disorders of the various organs of the system. It is for people who have work to do and can't do it properly because they suffer from system weak ness. Its value is shown in thousands of ways. It helps men and women who are ailing. It forms sound flesh and blood.

Crushed Shells for Poultry.

Oyster and clam shells are easily broken when heated in a stove. They do not answer as well when ground as when pounded, the rough, irregular pieces being preferred. The small shells on the seashore are now collected and sold for poultry, and as they need no preparation, being in excellent form for use, they are used by a large number of poultrymen. Where shells cannot be obtained pounded bones, old mortar, burned limestone, chalk or wall plaster may be used.

COLDS

A cold partly suspends animation, the spirits droop, langour displaces energy; this is the effect of a cold on the stomach, liver and nervous system—numbed vitality.

The use of Dr. Humphreys' Specific "Seventy-Seven" restores the numbed vitals, makes the blood tingle, relieves the congestion, arouses the sluggish liver, permits the liver to cleanse itself, and "breaks up" the cold.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Contractors are all Rushing Their Work Along.

THE SEVERAL INDUSTRIES.

Each Week Marks Marvellous Advances in the Progress Towards Completion.

The weekly progress which is being made in the building operations in connection with Peterborough's many new industries is positively amazing and where all the labouring men and skilled artisans have sprung from so suddenly is hard to say. Little armies of men are swarming like ants on the works at Nassau, dam No. 5, the the lift lock, the Central Milling Company's premises, and the buildings of the Quaker Oats Company and the Cordage Company. The contractors on all of these works are putting forth every effort to get as far advanced as possible before the snow comes, and consequently the end of each week marks a marvellous advance.

THE CORDAGE COMPANY.

Down at the Cordage Company's Works, the foundations are nearly all in and a very fair idea can be gained of the general plan of the premises. The roof has already been placed in position on the north and east side of the "preparation" building, and the west wall of the spinning department, 270 feet long, is one story in height, where the foundation was not even laid a week ago. The "preparation" building is now far enough advanced to allow the carpenters to begin work on the interior and the flooring is now being laid.

CENTRAL MILLING COMPANY.

Notwithstanding the great scarcity of labour, the erection of the new buildings for the Central Milling company is proceeding quite rapidly, and the indications are that the mill will be fully completed by December first, which is the date specified in the contract.

The new structure which is the undertaking of a new company, will be a leading addition to Peterborough's industries. The mill and elevator will be situated at the corner of George and Dalhousie streets, opposite B. F. Ackerman's harness factory, and alongside the C.P.R. railroad. The location is a most desirable one and the building promises to be a very substantial structure. The mill itself will be 40 x 50 feet, and the stone foundations for this portion of the work is about completed. The erection of the mill will be pushed forward with all possible energy, the contractors for which are Messrs. Finnie & Gordon.

THE CEREAL WORKS.

The Quaker Oats people are altering the whole face of the landscape down around the river bank. The old Dixon Company raceway, which has been a land mark for so many years, has been wiped out of existence from Hunter street north to Murray street, and as the row of tall poplar trees and the dense shrubbery which bordered it on the west side have been removed, the place wears a most unfamiliar aspect. As the stone is coming in faster the work on the buildings is progressing comparatively, and the east wall has now been raised to the same heighth as the others, the work being greatly facilitated by the fact that a track has been laid along the river bank allowing the stone to be run in just beside the wall.

THE LIFT LOCK.

The work at the lift lock is also going ahead at a satisfactory rate and the construction of the power house at Nassau, by the Canadian general Electric Company, is being pushed along as fast as is possible under the circumstances. Both of these places until recently had to contend against the scarcity of labour, but now the demand has to some extent been met.

PERSONALS.

Mr. G. J. Sherry, Norwood, is in town to-day.

Mrs. Samuel Munro and Master Gordon have returned to Montreal.

Mrs. R. H. Bradburn has been visiting her parents in Lindsay for the last few days.

Mr. H. S. Carpenter, of the T.V.C., who has been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, is recovering.

Mrs. G. Stanley Harte, who has been the guest of Mrs. Dalton for the past six months, has returned to her home in Buffalo.

Mr. Robert Cottrell, who has been confined to the Nicholls Hospital for the past month with typhoid fever, it is expected will be out in a few days.

Great success attended the first meeting of the Knickerbocker Club last evening. There were about fifty present and the evening passed off most enjoyably. It is understood that the membership list has almost reached its limit already.

John McMillan, of Centre Huron, who represented that constituency in the Dominion Parliament for a number of years, passed away this week after a brief illness. The deceased gentleman will be remembered by many from around Peterborough, he having addressed meetings in the interest of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough a few years ago.

TWO YEARS' RETIREMENT.

What James Elves got in the Police Court Yesterday Afternoon.

James Elves, after several remands, during which time he was a resident of Castle Nesbitt, has at last been tried, found guilty and sentenced.

The charge against Elves was that he did on the 4th day of September, 1900, unlawfully steal and carry away one gold watch, two gold rings, one silver watch, one gold watch-chain, and a gold nugget, the property of Mrs. Ensign, of town. He travelled around Peterborough some years ago as a piano tuner, but did very little at his business. Since the articles were stolen from Mrs. Ensign, Elves has kept away from Peterborough but a warrant has been out for his arrest in the meanwhile. He came over from the States to see the "Dook" and was run down by the Toronto police.

Magistrate Dumble found him guilty and sentenced him to two years less one day in the Central Prison.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

The general impression is that the decision of the O.R.F.U. executive, that home and home games should be played between the London and Peterborough teams was the best arrangement that Peterborough could expect. The first game will be played one week from to-day in London and the return game one week later here. In the meantime it behooves every man on the Peterborough team to turn out to practice regularly and keep in condition for the final struggle. The London 15 is in excellent condition and has been strengthened by the addition of Gordon Crawford, who has been moved to that place. The locals will practice this afternoon. It had been intended that they would go to Trinity College School, Port Hope, for a practice match, but this had to be declared off at the last minute.

The Rugby man will practice on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings in the drill shed, and on Tuesday afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds.

HOCKEY.

The local hockeyists are beginning to talk business and the organization meeting of the Peterborough club will be called in the course of a week or two. The management has not been asleep to the interests of the club but have been quietly looking over the situation. The Peterborough rink will, it is understood, be allowed in the association for this season on conditions which the management are agreed to undertake. A strong team will be placed on the ice and an effort made to bring one of the championships this way.

THEY WILL KEEP OPEN.

The Local Merchants and the King's Birthday.

The Executive of the Retail Merchants' Association had a Meeting Yesterday.

There has been considerable uncertainty in the minds of many as to whether or not Saturday would be observed as a public holiday, it being the King's Birthday, although as a matter of fact, according to the statute, it is a legal holiday.

Peterborough has a Retail Merchants' Association, and although nothing has been heard of it of late, it is, perhaps, because there has been nothing for it to do. Now, however, they have an opportunity of representing the views of the merchants of the town, and they have taken advantage of this opportunity.

At a meeting of the Executive of the Retail Merchants' Association, which was held yesterday afternoon, it was unanimously decided to keep open their places of business on Saturday next, and not observe the King's birthday as a holiday.

What the effect of this action on the part of the association will be, and on the public generally, it is hard to say, but it would be well for the council on Monday night to either ratify or repudiate the action of the merchants in regard to the matter in order that the observance of the day or the non-observance of the day might be universal.

FROM GOLD LAKE.

A Carrier Pigeon Brings Word From the North Country.

When the Gold Lake Hunt Club left this week for their lodge at Gold Lake for a few weeks hunting, they took with them several of Mr. Dixon Jewett's well-known carrier pigeons. For the past few days word from the Gold Lake party has been expected, but it was not until Mr. Harold Snowden of the Snowden House, went to the loft at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, that a message of any kind had been received.

Pigeon No. 9 was there, having come in from Gold Lake with a note rolled into a very small space and tied to one of the tail feathers. The note was opened and read as follows:

"Gold Lake, Nov. 1, '01. — Dear Dick, — Sam had toothache; now better. Brownie followed us out but left us yesterday. Water very rough. Hunters not in yet; think they have deer. Pigeon leaves at 1.05 p.m.; wind right against it. G. M. Roger."

Sam, the gentleman referred to in the note, is Mr. Sam Ray of course, Brownie, who followed the party, is a faithful dog owned by one of the party.

DECORATION DAY.

The Local Oddfellows Have Definitely Fixed the Day for the Future.

Decoration Day has been definitely fixed by Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges of Oddfellows for the third Thursday in June. Now that the date is a fixture, everybody will be looking forward to it. Next year it is hoped that the event will be even more successful than ever.

Arrangements are going on quietly for the organization of a Lodge of the Daughters of Rebekah in Peterborough in connection with the local lodges of Oddfellows.

OCTOBER WEATHER NOTES.

It is a long time since we had a month with such a light rainfall as last October. There were light rain falls on 8 days to the total amount of only 85-100ths of an inch. Between 3 and 4 inches is the average monthly rainfall. The fall rains this year have been missing. The first snow flurries were seen on the 17th. The highest temperature was on the 20th, 71 degrees. The coldest weather was experienced on the 25th, 24 degrees. First below 32 deg., freezing point, on the 3rd of the month. The latter half of the month was particularly fine. Trees were generally defoliated by the 15th.

RECEIVED THEIR REWARD.

Work of the Royal Canadian Humane Association.

Mr. S. LaPlante and Mr. D. Hobbins Will Receive Suitable Recognition for Their Efforts.

Mr. J. H. Roper, town, acting on behalf of the Royal Canadian Humane Association has succeeded in securing suitable recognition from the Society for the promptitude and personal risk displayed by Cizara de Laplant and Dennis Robbins, both of town, in saving two of their fellow creatures from drowning.

It will be remembered that on the 4th of September last young Mr. Laplant upon hearing the cries of Vernon Spillsbury, who was struggling in the waters of the Little Lake, ran to his assistance, and dived down into the waters underneath the logs, and brought him to shore in the nick of time.

On August 17th, 1901, Dennis Hobbins in a much similar manner saved Norman Brand from drowning in a mill pond to the west of the town.

Both these cases came to the notice of the Royal Canadian Humane Association, who forwarded the necessary applications to be filled out, and yesterday Mr. J. H. Roper received the parchment certificates that these two Peterborough citizens will receive for their heroism. Mr. Leplante's reads as follows:

"Royal Canadian Humane Association, instituted 1874. For the purpose of rewarding persons who with promptitude and at personal risk, save or make strenuous efforts to save, the lives of others.

"Patron—His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada.

"The committee on awards, having considered certain cases laid before it and reported thereon, the Royal Canadian Humane Association have unanimously resolved that Cizara de Laplante is justly entitled to this Honourary Testimonial of the Association inscribed on parchment, which is hereby awarded to him for promptitude and courage in saving Vernon Spillsbury from drowning in the Little Lake on September, 4th, 1901.

"Adam Brown, president; Henry McLaren, treasurer; C. A. Powis, Secretary."

Mr. Hobbins' testimonial is similar in reading except ng where it is stated that the parchment was presented to him "for presence of mind, promptitude and courage in saving Norman Brand from drowning in a mill pond at Peterborough on 17th August, 1901, and for his successful efforts in resuscitating the rescued."

It is understood that the presentation of these testimonials will take place on Monday evening next at the regular meeting of the town council.

The Mountebank.

The theatrical event of the season will be the appearance here on Tuesday evening next, November 5th, of Mr. Edouard D'Oize, in the famous comedy drama, "The Mountebank." The scenes of the piece are laid in France, showing the palaces, archways and interiors of the homes of Royal families. The period of the play is during the great Napoleon's exile to Elba, when the ancient nobility were flocking back to their native land to claim the estates and titles bequeathed to them by their ancestors. The piece is beautifully costumed and all the scenery necessary for the complete production is carried. Mr. D'Oize needs no introduction to the public as he is continently renowned as an artist of the highest order. He is supported by a company composed of experienced artists and one of the strongest that has ever played through this territory. Mr. Joseph Troxler, famous New Orleans comedian, appears in the role of Fanfaronade, the clown, and keeps the audience bubbling over with merriment from the rise to the final fall of the curtain. In presenting "The Mountebank" to the public, nothing has been left undone, regardless of expense, in order to make the production one long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to spend two and a half hours of solid enjoyment before the footlights with Mr. D'Oize and his excellent company. Prices, 25c, 35c, and 50c. Plan of hall at G.T.R. up-town ticket office.

CANADIAN ORDER FORESTERS.

Visit of High Chief Ranger Elliott and Other High Court Officers.

The local Courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters are on the qui vive in anticipation of an important visit to Peterborough of the three principal High Court officers, viz.: Bros. Robert Elliott, High Chief Ranger; Bro. Thos. White, High Secretary; and Bro. Ernest Gartung, Superintendent of Organization. Committees have been appointed from each of the three Courts to arrange for the suitable reception of the distinguished visitors. Arrangements were completed last night at the regular meeting of Court Peterborough for holding a general mass meeting of Foresters on Wednesday evening, 6th inst., in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, to be addressed by the High Court Officers. Mr. W. G. Strong, Chief Organizer, has been in town for the past two weeks engaged in recruiting new members and this official visit of the High Court officers will no doubt result in helping to swell the membership in Peterborough.

KILLED IN ACTION.

John Pemberton Formerly of Millbrook Meets Death in South Africa.

The Toronto papers of yesterday contained the following despatch from Ottawa—

"The following cablegram from the casualty department, Cape Town, reached the Militia Department to-day:—"Please inform Professor Pemberton, Halifax, that Sergt. J. G. Pemberton, Canadian Scouts, was killed in action at Eerstesfabricken, 27th October."

The fate that Sergt. Pemberton met on active service in South Africa will be keenly felt here amongst his friends, for he was known to many persons in Peterborough. He was the second son of Prof. Pemberton, who, for a number of years was bandmaster at Millbrook, and followed the profession of music teaching in that village. About six years ago the family moved to Halifax, where the deceased was very successful in a large wholesale house. He made frequent trips back to his old home at Millbrook, and generally took a run down to Peterborough to renew old acquaintences. John, who would be now about 24 years of age, was of a venturesome nature, and followed the Second Canadian Contingent to South Africa. He did not enlist until some time after arriving at Cape Town. He was a general favorite, a good hearted fellow, and hosts of friends in Millbrook and Peterborough will be grieved to learn of his untimely end.

THE ONLY ONE.

3rd Dragoons the Only Regiment That did not Parade.

Capt. Cockburn, who has been spending a while in Peterborough, and who left yesterday for Quebec, from where he will sail for England to join his regiment, for a young man has seen a considerable amount of soldiering and expects to see a great deal more during the next few years. During the recent tour of His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall, through Canada, Capt. Cockburn had, during a part of that time, the honour of acting as one of the Aides de Camp to Lieut.-General O'Grady-Grady. He had, therefore, an excellent opportunity of seeing the various regiments that paraded before His Royal Highness. "The 3rd Dragoons," said Capt. Cockburn, "was the only cavalry regiment in Canada that did not parade before the Duke; it was certainly unfortunate. The Capt., it will be remembered, was, previous to his going to England a few years ago, the efficient adjutant of the Dragoons, and he takes a deep interest in his old corps yet. He will return to Canada again in about four years, he expects.

YOUNG MAN'S GRAFT.

He Answered an Advertisement in a Local Paper—Reply he got.

Last week the following item appeared in the columns of the local press, and created considerable anxiety amongst the young men of town:—

HEIRESS, ONLY 22, WITH $100,000 worth of coal mines, timber lands, plantations and money wants husband's protection and care. Address, Susie B., Drawer H., Chicago, Ill.—3d 97.

Many were very curious to know what the outcome of the matter would be if it were followed up. The advertisement was rec'd in good faith and paid for in the usual manner, and sure enough it had its victims. A local gentleman, who is in a position to embark on the matrimonial sea, but who may not have had serious intentions in view, answered the "ad" and received the following reply:—

Chicago, Oct. 30th, 1901.

Dear sir,—Your answer to the ladies' "ad" just received. The lady is interested in forming your acquaintance with a view to marriage. As a member of Harmony League she expects me to furnish you with her personal description, financial and social standing, excluding name and address, which I will do on receipt of 20c for postage, printing, etc., after which you can decide if you wish to be placed in communication with her direct. I will also send descriptions and particulars of a few more marriageable women that may interest you. When you write, state name of personal you answered. Your letters are held in confidence.

Yours very truly,
JULIA CARR.

Also enclosed in the letter was the following additional note:—

The young lady received so many replies that we take this way to weed out the insincere and "riff-raff" of society, leaving a practical number. We believe those who would not invest 20c for particulars do not mean business, so we drop them and give our attention to those who do.

The gentleman who is manipulating this end of the affair intends sending the necessary amount, and as the deal progresses the correspondence will be given in these columns for the benefit all the young men of the town.

THE FEDERATION OF LABOUR.

Local Branch Holds Another Open Meeting.

MEMBERSHIP ROLL GROWING

The Organization is now Over 400 Strong in Peterborough—Addresses Last Night.

An open meeting of the local branch of the Federation of Labour was held last evening, and previous to the general public being invited in, about fifty new candidates were initiated making the total membership over four hundred.

In opening the meeting, Mr. Wm. Henry, the president, after welcoming those present, stated that it seemed only the other day since five workingmen had met last June and formed themselves into a Union, raising the money amongst themselves to procure a charter. With this small beginning the branch had grown by leaps and bounds until the membership was now over 400.

Mr. Henry introduced the speakers of the evening in the appended order:

MR. J. J. HARTLEY.

Mr. J. J. Hartley in opening, congratulated the union on the progress made since its organization. It seemed only a few days ago since the formation of the union and it was most surprising to learn of the large membership roll. The workmen of Peterborough had his hearty sympathy in their union. He was sure if they were staunch and stood by one another they would have one of the most successful unions in the country. Some fourteen years ago the bricklayers and masons formed a union, and the speaker had the honour of being the president. For many years the members were the only labourers who had a nine hour day. He had never asked one of his men to work longer. Weak kneed people were found in every organisation and some of the bricklayers had fallen from the ranks and worked for ten hours a day. He had no word to say against capital, as capital made work for the labourer. Capital, however, sometimes tried to grind down the workingman, and as he understood it, it was in cases of this kind that the union interfered. The workingman had no longer to take a back seat in regards to matters of education, and had become the bone and sinew of the country. He hoped the efforts of the union would be successful, as he thought it was to the advantage of all that fair wages should be paid. It benefitted the merchants and every other class of citizen where good wages were paid to the labourers. It was, he was sure, to the advantage of every workingman, to identify himself with the union. If ever it laid in his power to do anything for the labouring men he would do his best to lend his assistance. In conclusion he urged all the members to stand firm by the principles of the union.

The chairman congratulated Mr. Hartley on his address, remarking that few contractors would care to face an audience of labourers, and speak so freely.

MR. R. F. McWILLIAMS.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams stated that he was present in the place of his father, who had been invited to speak before the members. He joined with Mr. Hartley in congratulating the Union on its prosperity, and in the course of his remarks stated that labour unions had accomplished a great deal for the workingmen by fixing standards of wages, etc. Strikes were to be deplored, however as it meant the upsetting of the economic conditions of the whole country. They were however necessary at times, but he believed that legislation would be enacted, as in New Zealand, which would effectively regulate differences between capital and labour. Canada was a young country and was in a position to profit by the experiences in labour matters of the older countries in their development.

MR. W. RENFIELD.

Mr. W. Renfield stated that there was no organization in which he took so much interest as the Federation of Labour. He trusted that all the new members who had joined during the evening, understood the extent of their obligation. He hoped all would stand together for their rights and assured all strangers to the town who had joined that they were just as welcome in the Union as the older residents of Peterborough. The speaker commented warmly on Mr. Hartley's remarks, and mentioned the fact that he had heard him urging an applicant for labour to join the Union. This was what few contractors would do. In connection with the labour question Mr. Renfield asserted that no labouring man could live honestly and pay his way on one dollar a day. It therefore behooved all to stand together in the endeavour to get a fair day's pay for a fair day's work.

REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

Rev. J. C. Davidson addressed himself to explaining the aims and objects of the Federation of Labour, and warned the members against unduly rising in arms, instancing the great troubles caused through the big American steel strike. The effect of large strikes in England had been, almost invariably, to throw the trade from England to Germany, as in the latter country labour was much cheaper. The result was that the strikers were thrown out of work. The hands seen on the banner were not fighting hands or clutching hands but friendly hands, standing for brotherly kindness and consideration. One of the great benefits of the Union, in the speaker's opinion, was the fact that the members were placed in a position of acquiring great knowledge at their meetings concerning the labour question, and in fact of all live questions of the day.

Mr. Jas. Graham was called upon for a few remarks, but excused himself on the ground that he came to listen and learn.

MAJOR MILLER.

Major Miller expressed his great pleasure at seeing so many present anxious to see the cause of the workingman prosper. In the course of a few brief remarks Major Miller reminded the members of the power which they held in their hands through their vote, and asked that every candidate for municipal or other honours be pledged to legislate in favour of the workingman. The nine hours' movement also received the speaker's attention and he urged that the town ask permission of the Legislature to have the power given them to insert a clause in municipal contracts calling for a day of nine hours and a stipulated rate of wages. The success of the working classes lay in organizing and reading. Under these conditions the combinations and encroachments of capital could be resisted.

FIRES CAUSED BY NAILS.

Particularly Guarded Against by Firms That Handle Cotton.

"Speaking of insurance matters," said a listener, "I suppose the plain, old fashioned nail has caused more fires in the big establishments where machinery is used in many and complicated ways than any other little thing in existence. The only thing needed is for it to come in contact with some other hard material with sufficient force to cause a spark and heat generation. Nails have really produced a heavy per cent of the cotton fires of the country. During recent years, on account of steps taken by the owners and conductors of the larger cotton and byproduct plants at the instance of insurance men, the nail has not been such a prolific producer of fires.

"A way has been found, for instance, in cotton gins, cotton mills and in plants where cottonseed are put through manufacturing processes, of extracting nails and other weighty and flinty substances that may find lodgment in these inflammable products. Gravity is the natural force used. Nails and rocks and materials of this kind are heavier than cotton and its byproducts, and they have a tendency to force their way to the bottom of the heap. By allowing these products to pass over a rolling belt arrangement these heavier materials filter toward the bottom and are finally extracted, so that when the cotton or the cottonseed passes through the grind in the various manufacturing processes there is but little danger from fire so far as these things are concerned."

About Writing One's Name.

People who sign their letters with wild flourishes or initials only and give no address offer one of the worst of compliments to their correspondent by egotistically assuming that their handwriting must be of such familiar importance to him or that they and their affairs are so present to his mind that further identification is unnecessary. Having their signature cut from the end of a letter and the address from its heading pasted on the envelope which incloses a reply is a bad compliment which many persons bring upon themselves by an unpardonable illegibility. It is a singular fact that accidental misspelling or mispronunciation of one's name generally constitutes a greater affront and is provocative of more annoyance than a studied insult.

Brotherly Help.

"Sis will be down in a minute," said her little brother.

"I'm so glad," replied Mr. De Trop. "She wasn't at home the last time I called."

"Oh, yes she was, but wouldn't come down."

"How do you know she'll come down this time then?"

"'Cause I told her you was another fellow."

The Earliest Lens.

The earliest known lens is one made of rock crystal unearthed by Layard at Nineveh. This lens, the age of which is to be measured by thousands of years, now lies in the British museum with its surface as bright as when it left the maker's hands. By the side of it are very recent specimens of lens which have been ruined by exposure to London's fogs and smoke.

A COLUMBUS STATUE.

The Story of a Brass Founder's Transformation of Gambrinus.

A story is told of a brass founder who was one day visited by a friend acting as agent for one of the cities of Central America. The agent asked what it would cost to cast a statue of Christopher Columbus for the public square of the city. The amount was far in excess of the sum which the man had at his disposal. He was about leaving in despair of being able to secure the statue when the brass founder said:

"Come back in the junk yard and let us see what can be found there."

He went back, and the brass founder showed him a colossal statue of Gambrinus, recently removed from the front of a large brewing establishment. Under his feet rested a beer keg, in his hand was a large and overflowing schooner, his beard was long and shaggy, and about his brows was wreathed a garland of barley and hops.

"Why, this will never do," said the commission merchant. "I want a statue of Columbus."

"Wait until I have touched this one up. Come back in about a week and see what you think of it. If it suits you, you can have it for the amount you have at your disposal."

As soon as the visitor had gone the brass founder set two men at work on the figure of Gambrinus. They removed the beer keg from under his right foot and placed there an anchor and a coil of rope, from his hand they removed the goblet and substituted a globe, with the continents traced on it; from his brow they took the wreath of barley and hops and substituted a wreath of laurel and then proceeded to trim up his whiskers. The finishing touch consisted in putting at the base of the statue "Cristoforo Colombo."

When the commission merchant came, he was delighted with the figure and, purchasing it, shipped it to the Central American city, where it adorns the public square and is looked upon with veneration by the citizens of that town.

PALE YOUNG GIRLS.

How They May Gain Bright Eyes and Rosy Cheeks.

The Story of a Young Girl who Suffered From Headaches, Dizziness and Fainting Spells—Her Health Became so bad That She was Forced to Give up School.

Miss Catharine McLellan is a young lady well known in Charlottetown, P.E.I., and greatly esteemed among her acquaintances. Like so many other young ladies throughout the land, Miss McLellan fell a victim to anaemia, or poorness of blood, and although several medicines were tried, she found nothing to help her until she began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Miss McLellan tells the story of her illness, as follows: "I am now eighteen years of age, and for a considerable time suffered much from anaemia. My blood had almost turned to water, and I was very weak and pale; in fact could not undergo the least exertion. My appetite failed me; I suffered from headaches; if I stopped I would become dizzy, and frequently I suffered from fainting spells. I tried several kinds of medicines and doctors prescribed for me, but instead of getting better I was gradually growing weaker, and eventually had to discontinue going to school. About this time I read the testimonial of a girl whose condition was similar to mine, who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I then decided to try these pills, and have every reason to be gratified that I did so, as they have completely restored my health. Every one of the symptoms that had made my life so miserable have disappeared, and I am now enjoying as good health as any girl of my age could wish, and I shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Miss McLellan further stated that while she was not desirous of publicity in matters of this kind, she nevertheless felt that her experience, if known might be the means of bringing health to some other sufferer, and it is this very praiseworthy motive that has induced her to give the above statement for publication.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood, and give tone to the nerves. It is because of this that they bring bright eyes, rosy cheeks and light footsteps to girls (who have been weary, pale and listless and had begun to feel that life was a burden. Pale and anaemic girls everywhere should give these pills a fair trial, as they are certain to restore health and strength. See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers or sent postpaid at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Slave to a Pillow.

There is in this city a young man who sleeps on a pillow that is one foot square and only four inches thick, a pillow that resembles a pancake. He has used it ever since he was a baby. When, at the age of twelve, he entered St. Paul's school, he took it all the way to New Hampshire with him, and when he entered Harvard he took it to Cambridge also. Starting on his wedding journey, he carried it in his suit case. When he went abroad, the pillow went along. And now, when he is twenty-five, he is more attached to the tiny thing than ever and will take it on the briefest tripe—on trips of a day, say, to New York or on trips over night to the country houses of his friends. He says that he has not once slept on anything but this pillow since he was seven years old.

Tendency of Catarrh is to Spread.

Just a slight matter at first, and because slight, neglected; but the seed sown brings forth a dangerous harvest, Consumption, which is the harvest of death. The immediate effect of Catarrhozone is magical, so prompt and efficient. Cure is certain and permanent if you use Catarrhozone. Price $1. BEAVERS' DIPLOMACY.

Caused War on Muskrats Because of Valuable Aid.

Charles Nicholas, an Indian guide of Kineo, Moosehead lake, to whom the habits of bird and beast were always an open book, tells the following little story, which he declared was true and which is certainly good enough to be true:

Near the head of Spencer bay is an extensive marsh, where in the summer time deer are wont to feed and frolic, where in the fall the lordly moose come from off the mountain to mate and where, at all seasons of the year, muskrats innumerable have dwelt. Not so far away is a smaller marsh, where for many years a colony of beavers has lived in cosy houses built close by the water's edge. These two little communities never exchanged calls, but lived and prospered in happy exclusion.

The going out of the ice from the lake one season was followed by an almost unprecedented rise of water and the two marshes in Spencer bay, the large one and the little one, were completely covered. Now, the muskrats did not mind the flood a bit. Driven from one hole, they sought another farther back, and when there weren't any more holes these happy go lucky vagrants set up housekeeping in a huge pile of driftwood, never losing a meal or a wink of sleep.

But with the beaver it was different. These industrious property owners suffered severely, and when the waters of Moosehead lake at last receded the ruins of the beavers' lodges went with them. The beavers did not sit and sulk; neither did they for a moment think of building again on the same old site. They sought higher ground, where the floods of another spring could not reach them, and so it came about one fine morning when the muskrats came down on to the marsh to play they found the beaver there before them.

It was a large marsh, as has been stated before, but it was not large enough for both muskrat and beaver. War was at once declared, and the war ended in the breaking up of the muskrat colony and the scattering of the rats all along the shores of Spencer bay.

Two miles from the marsh and on the farther side of the bay was a clump of poplar trees, which the beavers selected as the best material available for their new homes. All day and all night they sawed, until finally they had floating on the lake and compactly rafted several hundred logs for up to date beaver houses. And then the troubles of these busy but unscrupulous little builders began.

They could not even stir the raft of logs from shore, to say nothing of towing it two miles across Spencer bay to the marsh.

Every beaver in the colony was summoned to the task. Young and old, big and little, weak and strong, they pushed and pulled, but they could not budge that raft of timber.

Then the head of the beaver colony called the other beavers together on the raft and laid before them this remarkable proposition: If the muskrats would lend a helping hand and tow that raft up Spencer bay, they (the beavers) would permit them to return to the big marsh, where they might live without fear of molestation. The rest of the beavers agreed, and the muskrats, when appealed to, also agreed, and the following morning, before the waters of the bay roughened up, the deer and the squirrels and the gulls beheld with amazement beavers and muskrats, shoulder to shoulder, pushing a raft of logs before them up Spencer bay.

The beams are built, and the beavers are in them, and all about are muskrat holes, and muskrats in them too. And beaver and rat, who are at war everywhere else in northern Maine, are living together in peace on the big marsh at the head of Spencer bay.

Hampshire Sheep.

The Hampshire sheep is said to have been created or developed to what it now is by crossing the Southdown upon the old Hampshire, with a possible infusion of the Cotswold. They have the blackest face and legs of any of the Downs sheep. When well grown, under good care the rams are liable to weigh 300 pounds and the ewes 200 pounds. They are among the most hardy sheep, at least of the large breeds, and appear to enjoy facing a wind or storm on the top of some hill rather than to seek shelter. They mature early and fatten readily, while the flesh as lamb or mutton is not in any way inferior to the Southdowns.

DYNAMITE AND MINERS.

Long Immunity From Accident Results in Contempt of Danger.

"After a miner had handled dynamite for eight or ten years without a serious mishap it is a good idea to put him to doing something else about the works," said a gentleman of this city who has had a great deal of experience with high explosives. "The chances are a hundred to one that his long immunity from accident has given him such a contempt for danger that he is an unconscious menace to everybody on the premises. He will do things that not only imperil his own life, but the lives of all his comrades. To give you an illustration, once I had an old Cornishman at work at a mine in which I was interested and had intrusted him with a general supervision of all the blasting. He had been handling dynamite for twenty years or more and was justly regarded as an expert. During that entire period he had never had an accident worth speaking of, and by degrees the care and vigilance that were responsible for his excellent record had worn away until he was beginning to entertain the delusion, common to old hands, that the danger of the stuff was very much exaggerated.

"One day I was passing through a cut where some blasting had been going on and noticed the old Cornishman hammering a drill into what seemed to be a boring in the rock. I asked him what he was doing, and he told me coolly there was a cartridge in the hole that had failed to explode and he was 'just knockin' out the tamp in' to reprime it.' I was horrified, for at every blow he was liable to explode the dynamite, and I ordered him sternly to stop and never repeat such a performance. The proper method would have been to have drilled a new hole near by and exploded the first charge with a second blast. He obeyed sullenly, grumbling to himself, and less than a month afterward was blown up while doing exactly the same thing. He lost his left arm at the shoulder, his left eye and part of his left ear. He also lost his contempt for dynamite, and when he finally emerged from the hospital I gave him back his former job. I never had a more scrupulously careful employee than he was from that time on. It seems a brutal thing to say, but there is nothing that does an old dynamite hand as much good as to get blown up once or twice."

Paine's Celery Compound

Cures and Gives You New Life When Everything Else Fails.

IT IS THE POPULAR MEDICINE IN THE HOMES OF THE WEALTHY AND THOSE IN HUMBLER CIRCUMSTANCES.

Beware of Substitutes and Imitations.

Are you ailing, rundown, or suffering from some dangerous disease? If you are, allow us with candour and an honest interest in your welfare, to direct your attention to Paine's Celery Compound, the medicine that "makes sick people well."

The wonderful record of cures wrought for sick and diseased people in our Dominion, is the best and strongest proof of the health-restoring virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. It has cured the most desperate and obstinate cases of disease even after sufferers were pronounced incurable.

The use of one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound will, in all cases banish the doubts of the unbelieving. The testing of one bottle will prove to all sufferers that there are virtues in the wondrous medicine possessed by no other remedy—virtues that banish suffering and misery.

The immense popularity of Paine's Celery Compound has induced unscrupulous people to put up vile and worthless imitations of the great health-restorer. Dishonest dealers for the sake of large profits resort to substituting and recommending the "something just as good." At all times beware of imitations and substitutes. See that the name PAINE'S and the Stalk of Celery appear on each bottle.

Read the strong testimony of Mr. G. W. Parks, of Inglisville, N. S., cured by Paine's Celery Compound after failures with other medicines:

"While at sea I was taken sick, which compelled me to abandon my work and seek home and rest. I consulted the doctors who pronounced it slow fever or typhoid. I suffered severely from night sweats, and from cold chills during the day. Added to this, I was extremely nervous, which weakened me and reduced my flesh until I was a mere skeleton. This continued until last winter, when my wife and friends began to despair of my recovery, as the medicines I took produced no good, and I was growing worse. Through the influence of Rev. C. M. Tyler, I was induced to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial. I can truly say it worked wonders. The first bottle gave me great relief, and five bottles completely cured me."

What the Dairy Cow Needs.

Vaseline and sulphur, mixed, is recommended for cowpox. The heifer should be in milk when about two years old. Lard and sulphur, four parts of the former and one of the latter, will kill lice on cattle; spray the stables with a solution of carbolic acid, say one part of acid to 50 parts of warm water. The dilution method of separating cream is especially recommended when the milk comes from the strippers, but a better plan is not to use much milk. Better not feed rye to cows. Do not forget to salt the cow.—Epitomist.

Squandered a Fortune.

How often we hear the expression, notwithstanding the fact that those who use it are perhaps spending their money foolishly in medicines which only give relief without removing the cause. Merrill's System Tonic cures heart, stomach, kidney, nerve and liver troubles — because by purifying the blood, regulating the bowels and toning each of these organs the cause of disease is removed. Price 50c per bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

CHEAP STATUETTES.

HOW THEY ARE MADE, HARDENED, FINISHED AND COLORED.

Italians From Tuscany Excel the World In Their Production—The Demand For These Casts That Comes From Our Schools.

While it is not difficult to secure good American workmen for carrying out schemes of interior decorations, it is impossible yet to get native born men capable of modeling statuettes and busts such as are sold on the street corners and in many of the art shops. All the workmen employed in factories that produce these are Italians, chiefly from Tuscany. This is equally true of those who follow this trade in Germany and France. The Tuscans appear to have a natural ability for that sort of work that has given them the monopoly of it.

The great majority of these busts and statuettes are copied directly from the originals wherever they happen to be, and then the molds are made from that copy and sent to all parts of the world, the statues being cast in the place where they are to be sold. In the larger shops in New York city, however, a certain amount of original work is done in order to keep pace with the popular demand for representations of the hero of the hour. A great many of our most distinguished poets, authors and statesmen whose busts are exposed for sale on the street corners never sat for these portraits. Some workman modeled the head after a photograph and occasionally has produced such good work that it is almost a pity the sculptor's name should remain unknown.

The chief purchasers of these casts from the larger makers are the high schools all over the country. They demand, of course, not only classical subjects and copies of ancient bas-reliefs and architectural details, but also busts of famous men and women from every period of the world's history. Such a wide range of subjects is covered by this demand that seven and eight thousand titles are included in some of the catalogues issued. The factories where these figures are turned out exhibit in their showrooms an assortment and confusion of time, place and nature bewildering to look at.

The process of casting these statuettes is a comparatively simple one when the mold is once completed. The material used, plaster of paris, is cheap, and a very excellent quality is produced in this country. When the statuette comes out, it is pure white and covered with ridges made by the different sections of the mold. These ridges are carefully removed, and then the cast is placed in an oven heated at about 180 degrees. After it has been baked for a certain length of time it is plunged into a solution of stearic acid and kept there until thoroughly saturated. Then, when it has dried, the yellow color is gained by applying to the surface a solution of beeswax, turpentine and coloring matter. This color will not wash off, and, of course, any shade can be produced at will.

"The demand for nude statues in the art schools is growing less every year," said one of the largest makers of these casts. "That is because people are realizing more and more that artists must draw from the human figure itself if they wish to understand the human form. We get more orders now for draped figures in the art schools and for busts in the high schools. Until very recently the busts of most of the celebrated Americans which we sell had been made in Italy from photographs sent over from this country, and many mistakes occurred in matters of detail, like the cut of the coats and collars. We are trying to do these now in a more modern and characteristic way and occasionally have been furnished with photographs by their families."

The statuettes which are carried about the streets wrapped in harmonious yellow tissue paper or are displayed on the sidewalks or on the steps of unoccupied houses are made by quite a different set of manufacturers. The larger dealers do not sell to these street peddlers at all. The peddlers have their own little workrooms, which furnish them with their stock at a much lower rate than the regular dealers charge. No originals are made in these stellers, and most of the molds are gained by taking them from a cast bought from some other firm. The stearic acid bath is left out of the process, and consequently the color of these cheaper works washes off.

The peddlers of these statuettes stand in about the same relation to sculptors and sculpture that the hand organ players do to music and musicians. They reflect fairly accurately the popular taste, and, according to their testimony, it is the Tanagra figurines that in the long run sell the best of all their stock. From time to time there is a market for the bust of some particular man, and those sales are always temporary. Grotesque figures are always in demand and copies of the various models of Venus with which the public are familiar. Rows of Cupids and of monks' heads, winged Victories and busts of Wagner come and go as popular favorites, but the Tanagra figurines have a steady sale that insures their presence in the stock of nearly every street peddler.

COST OF KEEPING CLEAN.

"Did you ever stop to think about how much it costs to keep a man clean, to keep in what the world would call a presentable condition?" asked a rather fastidious gentleman yesterday, who also has an eye to the economical side of life.

"It is no small thing when you come to think about it, and independent of the things a man is required to buy during the year the bill will run up to a rather neat sum. A man is forced to buy many things which are never counted in the cost of living when he foots up the bill at the end of the year, and yet they tell in the aggregate when it comes to his bank account and his income generally. But I was thinking of the plain, ordinary proposition of keeping oneself clean. Take, for instance, the matter of laundry. The average cost to a single man is at least 50 cents a week, and frequently the bill runs much above this figure. Clean clothes on this basis will cost $26 a year. Then there is a fellow's barber bill, the cost of shaves, shampoos, hair cuts and shines and baths, and all these things tend to run the bill up.

"Supposing that a man will take two shaves every week—and this is the average—this would make a total of 104 shaves during the year, and at the minimum price of 10 cents for each shave it would amount at the end of the year to $10.40. Baths, on an average of one each week and at a cost of 25 cents for each bath, would cost $13 a year. If he averages two shines a week at the minimum of 5 cents for each shine, the bill will amount to $5.20 for a year. One hair cut a month at the rate of 25 cents and one shampoo at the same rate would amount to $6.

"Taking these things and allowing for tips and things of that sort, it will be seen that a man will spend probably $75 every year in keeping clean, and when you come to think of this amount it will really clothe the average fellow who makes no effort to keep up with the changes which mark the course of fashion. As a matter of fact, there are a great many men who do not spend this much for clothes during the year. It may be safely estimated that the average man does not spend so much in clothing himself. So on this basis the average man spends more in actually keeping his body and his clothes clean than he does for the things which clothe his body, and these things manage to keep his bank account down to that extent."

No one needs to be told to try to cure a cough. But any one will be glad to be told of a means of cure which will be thorough and lasting. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine which can be confidently relied on to cure diseases of the organs of respiration. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis and bleeding of the lungs. It cures when nothing else will cure, and the local physician says: "There is nothing more that we can do."

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

The dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious medicines, will sometimes try and sell a substitute when the "Discovery" is asked for. No substitute medicine will satisfy the sick like "Golden Medical Discovery." It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Two years ago a severe cough started on me and I was also bothered with catarrh," writes Mr. P. Skipel, of Dauphin, Chicago Co., Miss. "I could not sleep nights, as the cough was worse at night. I tried several cough medicines, but to no avail, until a year ago, when I got so bad I could not breathe through my nose at times. I then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and at the same time using Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, I am a well man. I can thank Dr. Pierce for my good health, and will recommend his medicines to any one suffering from the same trouble."

PICKINGS FROM FICTION.

Yo' can't cuss yo' way to glory. No, sah, yo' can't do it.—"Petrel."

Men are born to hardship. It is the alloy which gives firmness to their metal. —"When the Land Was Young."

Professional saints are very tiresome people. Amateur sinners are much more interesting.—"Casting the Nets."

It is a miserable thing to linger on the threshold. The daring spirits pass across and close the door.—"Sister Teresa."

The people who help us most are those who make light of our achievements and have faith in our possibilities.—"Sir Christopher."

What is the good of it—what will it bring her? No woman yet has possessed a wonderful head who did not pay for it at some time with her heart.—"A Woman Alone."

There's nothing like marrying a man if you want to know him better. Only it limits your acquaintance with other people afterward, you know.—"A Little Gray Sheep."

As a rule, the men whom men draw and the women who women depict are nearer the truth, for it is a blessed law of nature that men and women shall view one another through the eyes of the imagination.—"A Point of Honor."

Just 400 Years After.

In 1492 Columbus discovered America. In 1892, just 400 years later, Merrill, a Brantford druggist, discovered Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. In five years the sale of a quarter of million bottles has proved that Four T's never fails to cure a cough in 24 hours and a cold in two days. Large bottles 25c at Ormond & Walsh's drugstore.

Ingenuous Pat.

A parish priest, going his rounds one July day in a little Irish village, met a farmer whom he knew well, but who was a Protestant and not a member of his flock.

Says Pat, "Af ye plase, yer riverince, would ye be so koind as to pray for a wee drop o' rain come Sunday next, for sorra a thing'll grow in me little garden wid the present hate of the weather?"

"I'm sorry to hear it," said the priest kindly, "but why do you not ask your own clergyman, Pat?"

"Ah, shure, yer riverince," replied Pat, "and what for would I be axin' him to pray for rain wid thim cocks o' hay a-standin' on his lawn?"

One Purpose.

"Father," said the young son of the eminent medical and scientific authority, "if all the diseases come from germs, as you say they do, what good do germs do? Wasn't it a mistake to create them?"

"Why—er—germs, Lionel," replied the paternal ancestor, "may be said to serve the—er—purpose of— You are rather young, however, to understand such things fully, but I may mention that I am to write an article on that subject next month for one of the magazines, for which they pay me $500."

His Recommendation.

Lady—I am going to give a ball, and I want you to polish this floor. Do you thoroughly understand your business?

Polisher—Well, madam, you inquire at the major's up the street. On his ballroom floor the last party he gave six people broke their legs before 12 o'clock, and an old gentleman broke his neck down the stairs. It was I, madam, who polished that floor and staircase.

Military Orthography.

A British soldier recently sent a letter to the war office containing a word that baffled the imagination of every clerk and official to whom the puzzle was submitted. The mysterious word was spelled "yfe." It was repeated several times and seemed indeed to be the main subject of his communication. At length it occurred to one of the clerks to consult the hall porter, a grizzled veteran quite unhampered by board school accomplishments.

"Can you tell us the meaning of this word, Simpson?" asked the brilliant clerk.

"I should think I could," replied the veteran, with mild contempt. "Y-f-e spells wife, of course. What else could it spell, sir?"

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

Wintering Trotters.

Trotters in winter quarters should be given about one-half the feed supplied during the training season. Carrots and bran mash occasionally, good, clean hay and oats twice a day are the most desirable feeds. Let the horses run out of doors every day, and in any event keep the animals from laying on fat, for this must all be worked off when the training season opens.

Worse Than Being Sandbagged

A person who feels a clutch on the throat and chest is in a bad condition. A few doses of Four T's, the great guaranteed cough cure, relieves this "grip" and loosens the cough. In two days the patient is well. Get a bottle to-day from Ormond & Walsh, and avoid congestion.

Had Her Doubts.

A poor old wornout Maine woman, dying at sunset, is reminded by her pastor that, at all events, she will now enter on her well earned rest. "No," she replies; "it will be just my luck to have the resurrection come tomorrow morning."

A Rapid Course.

"Dere ain't no doubt about it," said Meandering Mike—"education pays."

"I s'pose you're speakin' from experience," responded Plodding Pete contemptuously.

"I am. I went t'roo one o' de biggest colleges in de country—while de students was asleep."

HOURGLASSES.

They Have Not Fallen Out of Style by a Long Shot.

"Most people think that hourglasses went out of style years ago," said a clerk in a Twenty-third street store, "along with perukes and knee breeches, but as a matter of fact we have more calls for them today than we have had at any time within the last ten years. That this renewed popularity of the hourglass augurs its universal acceptance as a timepiece by the coming generation I am not prepared to say, but if such a renaissance were to become assured it would be no more surprising than some of the other recent fads based on a revivll of lost customs. Anyway a brief study of the hourglass will do nobody harm. There are thousands in this generation who have not the slightest idea what an hourglass looks like, and it won't hurt them to broaden their education a little along certain lines.

"Of the hourglasses sold at present the three minute glass is by the lead. This glass is used almost exclusively to measure time in boiling eggs, and its usefulness naturally places its sales a little in advance of the more sentimental varieties. Next come the five, ten and fifteen minute and full hour glasses, which are bought chiefly by musicians for piano practice and by lodges and secret societies.

"The sand used in an hourglass is the very finest that the world affords. The western coast of Italy furnishes most of it, as it has done for ages past. The cost of hourglasses is regulated by the ornamentation of the frames. A glass set in a plain rosewood case can be bought for $1, while a mahogany frame comes to $1.50 or $2. Of course, the price can be brought up still higher by fancy carving and decoration. Swell lodges sometimes go to this extra expense, but most people are satisfied with the cheaper grades."

Care in Dressing Poultry.

Poorly dressed poultry is not wanted on the markets of any city. It will, indeed, sell—always sell, but it brings no profit. There are in the cities two classes of buyers—the buyers of first-class goods and the buyers of the poor and cheap. The latter class is the one that takes the poorly dressed poultry. Most of the buyers of this poor stock make a business of it. They stand around waiting till the commission men are anxious to get rid of the poor stuff left and then buy. The result is they always get concessions. Our readers can see that the profits on this kind of business are small. Such birds should be eaten at home or disposed of locally.

(Lt. Robert Johnston, 45th Regiment)

CHAPTER VIII.

The climate of Halifax is so subject to sudden fluctuations reaching extremes that it is almost impossible to clothe yourself to suit the weather. One Sunday in particular I remember, in the early morning it was as balmy as the spring. It then became cloudy and rained, while we were coming from Divine service. Not content with this, it made another change to a cold, frosty, afternoon. Then it hailed, merging into snow, and at night the wind arose and gave us a perfect north-west blizzard. For one week after we landed it rained every other day. The grounds on which we were encamped were only used for exhibition purposes once, and having been cultivated before, they were in a most wretched state with mud. The troughs for watering our horses were placed near the street, and the camp ground, as it gradually sloped from the north and west toward our stables, carried all the waste of water from them, and that accumulating from the frequent rains, down to our stables. I have seen the water a foot deep between two of our stables that ran parallel to each other, and our non-commissioned officers were so unreasonably, so inhuman, as to command men to lead two horses through this mud and water, which more than once was almost as high as the boot-tops. You may best imagine the condition of the grounds, which was naturally loose after it was flooded with water, and two or three hundred horses slunked through it both ways, three or four times a day. If you undertook to mount, a non-com. officer, with a little cap, somewhat resembling a butter pat, artistically hung above his right ear and exposing the empty side of his head, would impertinently thunder out, "Come down off that horse! Who the h—l gave you the order to mount?" This was the manner in which we were often addressed by our non-coms., who were, as a general thing in our troop, nothing more than a consumated bluff. In organising the troop cavalrymen had the preference over an infantry man, and as a result the former invariably were appointed non-commissioned officers. This worked very well till we were assembled for instruction, which was more like infantry than cavalry drill, when our non-coms. soon discovered the awful truth that they knew nothing. They did not know how to shoulder arms, and they handled the rifle as though it were a saw-log or a rail-road tie. You may smile and remark with incredulity such a condition of affairs is impossible, the author is exaggerating, but if you won't believe me ask anyone who attended the drill at the Armouries in Quebec, and they will tell you that our troop sergeant-major, and every other sergeant took their places in the ranks, and a plain private, who was supposed to know nothing, instructed them all in the manual and firing exercises. This would have been terribly humiliating to most people, but our gentlemen never lost an iota of their pomposity or self-esteem. We had another sergeant who advertised himself as a rough-rider by wearing a gault spur on his right arm. He certainly was what he represented himself to be, though not what he claimed to be, and you would never dispute the fact if you saw him on horse-back. He would wobble about in the saddle like some old dummy soldier, and although you would laugh till you'd cry, you'd feel sorry for the poor fellow, the way he pounded his ribs with his elbows when his horse assumed a gait faster than a walk. Could you call such men anything but fakes? Notwithstanding all this, like some of our officers, they would still persist in bullying and bossing us about as though we belonged to some other species of the animal kingdom, perhaps or canine or chimpanzee. Indeed, we had one officer with us who invariably, with a tone of derision, addressed us "Volunteers! Dog-shooters!" and he would curse us and blaspheme about as regularly as he appeared on parade. Such treatment is simply barbarous. It's heathenish, and an officer who resorts to it has sunk so deep in the mire of depravity that he discloses his natural base nature and no longer can command the respect of his men. Such conduct might be permissable in a lion-tamer or a snake-charmer, but never in a military officer, who should seek to win and retain the confidence, good-will and respect of those under his command. But they are only human, and humanity is prone to err, so for a time we will leave them alone. However, their critics are likewise human and not so readily disposed to forgive as Higher Powers, and their deeds must be pictured impartially like our own, whether it be favourable or adverse. I am aware I shall be branded as a mean reprobate, for a good soldier is not supposed to say a word unfavourably criticising his superior. Le tthis be as it may, I intend to speak the truth without fear or favour, and let the people draw their own conclusions. I don't want anybody for a moment to presume I delight to so mutilate my superiors' reputation, I sincerely regret that such a thing is possible, and I conjecture many have refrained from speaking so plainly because they fear to receive the name "Poor Soldier."

The first morning after we arrived in the city D and E Batteries set sail on the S.S. Laurentian for South Africa. We were ordered out as an escort, dismounted, and paraded to the Armouries about nine o'clock. The morning was quite mild, and a dense fog enveloped the city. The streets were intensely muddy. The Hon. the Minister of Militia, Gen. Hutton and other dignitaries addressed the boys in the drill hall previous to their departure. It seemed a long time before the massive doors swung open, and the brave boys marched out with steady tread to the martial air of "Soldiers of the Queen."

For a time a death-like silence prevailed, and indeed this characterized the scene as a general thing, all along the line of march to the docks. At intervals there would be an outburst of lusty cheers, which broke the oppressive monotony. At the entrance to the dockyard the Leinster Regiment and the Garrison Artillery formed a guard, and prevented everybody from entering except those who provided themselves with the necessary ticket, granting them that privilege. There was much dissatisfaction and bitter comment regarding this reputed tyrannical action of the authorities. Many had relatives going away, and not being aware of this preliminary, were deprived of their lawful right of bidding them what might be a last farewell. To make matters worse, the vessel was invisible from the street, owing to the heavy fog. Dr. Borden, the estimable Minister of Militia, was amongst those denied admission. It is said of the Honourable gentleman that he endeavored to influence the guard and thus ignore regulation by telling them who he was, thinking by so doing his prestage and position would persuade the guard to admit him. But all was in vain. The guard informed him they couldn't tell whether he was the Minister of Militia or an anarchist. He had not complied with the regulations, and failing to provide himself with the requisite ticket of admission, like the most obscure pauper in the land, must remain outside the gates. It reminds me of a story I heard, the facts of which are said to have taken place during the American Civil War. In the Southern Army there was a rather pompous admiral, who thought because he was a man of rank he could leave and enter camp at his pleasure. But Sambo convinced him he was resting under a vain delusion, and the poor fellow, like the worthy Minister of Militia, learned from experience how inflexible are the rules of the army. On this particular night he was outside the lines, and as he approached the sentry's post received the challenge—"Halt! Who goes there?" The admiral made no response, but still approached the sentry. Again rang out the challenge with a little more animation infused—"Halt! Who comes here?" The naval gentleman began to think the sentry meant business, and not knowing what the countersign was, began to remonstrate with him. Thinking to disclose his indentity, he spoke in a clear voice, "Oh, you knew me." "No, don't knew nobody," replied the sentry. "Give me the countersign." When the sentry failed to recognize the voice the Admiral again remarked, "Oh, of course you know me. I'm Admiral De Horsey." "I don't care," ejaculated the the old confederate, "If you were Admiral DeDonkey you couldn't get in here," and so the haughty Admiral had to go into camp as a defaulter.

The old confederate soldier exercised more forbearance than one of our 1st Contingent boys who was doing the same duty at the front. When he was posted he received his instructions if anything approached his post during the night, he must say "Halt! Who comes there?" three times, and then shoot. All went well till a late hour, when something approached his place of duty, and thinking to simplify matters, for safety's sake and perform duty with greater despatch, he rattled out, without a pause, "Halt! Who comes there three times then shoot!" and when the report of his rifle had died away, a transport mule lay a corpse within a few paces of the sentry's post. Why didn't it knew enough to halt or give the countersign? The guard at the gate was right. The prescribed rules of the army should not bend a hair's-breadth, nor a sentry waver in his duty even if it were His Imperial Majesty who approached his post.

While all this was being enacted outside the walls, the boys were embarking for the south. The fog was so dense that it entirely obscured our view of the vessel for a time, but as it cleared we caught a glimpse of the boys in khaki, on the decks of the old Laurentian, perhaps better known as rolling Polly. We gave them three rousing British cheers and a tiger, after which we returned to barracks in a drizzling rain, and left them alone in their glory.

HELD BOTHA 36 HOURS

Details of His Attack of Col. Benson's Column.

THE CAPTURED GUNS SAVED

Botha and the Boers Suffered Most—Boer Losses Reported at Between 300 and 400—Praise for Our Scouts—Sergt. Sellwood and Others Doing Good Work Northeast of Pretoria.

Pretoria, Nov. 3.—Further details have been received regarding the attack by the Boers under Commandant-General Louis Botha last week upon Col. Benson's column near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal.

It appears that General Botha, who had been joined by another big commando, aggregating 1,000 men, attacked Col. Benson's rear guard on Oct. 30 on the march and captured two guns, but was unable to retain them.

Col. Benson fell mortally wounded early in the fight.

Major Wools Sampson took command, collected the convoy and took up a position for defence about 500 yards from the entrenchments prepared by the Boers. The captured guns were so situated that neither side could touch them.

The Boers made desperate efforts to overwhelm the British force, charging repeatedly right up to the British lines and being driven back each time with heavy loss.

The defence was stubbornly and successfully maintained through the whole of the following day and the succeeding night, until Col. Barter, who had marched all night from Bushman's Kop, brought relief in the morning of Nov. 1.

The Boers then retired. Their losses are estimated as between 300 and 400.

Col. Benson did not long survive.

Not only did Gen. Botha direct the attack, as already cabled, but he personally shared in the fighting.

Twelve Officers Killed.

London, Nov. 4—Lord Kitchener reports that three additional officers were killed and that two more were wounded during the attack recently made on the rear guard of Col. Benson's column, near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal.

Not a Canadian Colonel.

St. Catharines, Ont., Nov. 4.—The Col. Benson mentioned in Lord Kitchener's despatches as having been killed near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal, South Africa, is not the Col. Benson who formerly lived here. Charles I. Benson, when seen Saturday, stated his brother had been in London for the last nine months. He had been chief staff officer to Gen. Kelly-Kenny, and returned to England with that officer. He has since that time held a commission in the War Office. Mr. Benson had a letter from his brother, dated London, last week.

Dewet Active.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Boers under Dewet have raided and cleaned out the principal British remount station in South Africa, despatches from a trustworthy quarter there report. The station is within four hours of Cape Town by the railway. Six thousand relief horses were kept there. The Boers took away all the animals they needed, after having killed the rest.

From Boer Sources.

Brussels, Nov. 4.— Boers here in close touch with South Africa declare that the recent disaster to Col. Benson's column was the forerunner of a vigorous campaign, the season being favorable for swift concentration of commandoes and severe blows against located British columns. Commandant Grobler, who it is believed participated in the Bethel fight, is considered a second Delarey.

PRAISE FOR CANADIANS.

Sergeant Sellwood With a Colt Gun Saved the Day to British in a Perilous Position.

Pretoria, Nov. 3.—The chief part in the recent operations to the northeast of the Pretoria district has been taken by the Canadian scouts, who have been ably assisted by the Australians.

About a week ago an advance guard, with a 15-pounder and Colt gun came upon a hidden Boer force in a perilous position for the British. The day was saved by the coolness of Sergt. Sellwood of the Canadians, who, with a Colt gun at close quarters swept the firing line of the Boers. The Boers retreated when the gun continued to shell them and lost heavily.

On a subsequent occasion, when seventeen Boers were killed or wounded and fifty-four captured, the same column had made an extended night march. With the Canadians in the vanguard, they rushed the Boers at dawn. The burghers had a pompom, which Commandant Muller saved by clearing from his laager at the first surprise, leaving part of his force still sleeping. The British found that the Boers were taking advantage of the season for growing some crops.

Among the prisoners taken at Muller's laager were a number of train wreckers, one of which was captured with a Martini exploding mechanism and dynamite in his possession. The leader of this party was Jack Hinton. The prisoners taken state that Hinton regularly employed them in the work of attacking train convoys, and that they were remunerated according to the results. In the attack referred to Hinton, himself, escaped, but Ryan, his chief assistant, was caught. According to the military authorities, his gang numbered about fifty. Some of them are what are called renegade English, Irish and Scotch. The remainder are Americans, foreigners and Boers. The day before he was captured, Major Wolmarans came into the British lines under a flag of truce to obtain lint for his wounded.

Col. Kekewich's capture of the laager of Commandant Van Albert, with seventy-five unwounded and four wounded prisoners, including Commandant Klopper, occurred northeast of Rustenburg, and was the result of clever night marches by the British columns, which lasted over two nights. More fighting is reported to have taken place east of here, but the details have not arrived.

PRO-BOERS ROUGHLY USED.

Attempted to Hold a Meeting, But Were Dispersed.

London, Nov. 4.—A riotous scene occurred yesterday in Peckham, a suburb of London. A small gathering of the local branch of the Democratic League undertook to hold a meeting to protest against the war in South Africa. The manifestants started in procession for the place of meeting, but before they arrived there they were hooted, buffeted and dispersed. A crowd estimated at 20,000 gathered to oppose them. There were many ugly rushes, and the police were hardly able to protect the struggling pro-Boers from the fury of the populace. After considerable fighting, during which a man was stabbed, the pro-Boers were removed under police protection. The victorious crowd then held a jingo meeting and sang "Rule Britannia."

PROBABLY FATALLY SCALDED.

Canadian Sailor Receives Frightful Injuries on Steamer Northeastern.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—Michael Donovan, a Canadian, aged 42 years, a fireman on the lake-ocean freighter, Northeastern, which lay at Smith's coal dock, because of low water, was probably fatally scalded while at work in the firehold of the boat Saturday night. He was taken to the Marine Hospital Sunday morning, and even the old doctors there turned away with terror at the sight of Donovan's fearful burns.

Donovan was cleaning out the boiler flue, when it suddenly gave way under the steam pressure. The scalding vapor enveloped him, and, screaming with pain, he sank down on the floor. He was taken from the room by a fellow fireman, and the ambulance from the Marine Hospital brought him to that institution Sunday morning. His head, body, arms and legs are frightfully scalded, and little hope is entertained of his recovery.

Two Young Men Drowned.

Quebec, Nov. 4.—A despatch received here yesterday from Pentecost, on the Labrador coast, says that information has reached there that four schooners were recently wrecked at Blanc Sablon, and one at Tete a la Baleine, but fortunately no lives were lost in any of the disasters. The despatch also states that two young men, Edmond Blais, son of Mr. Alfred Blais, and Alph. Blais, son of Mrs. Alphonse Blais, a widow, aged 17 and 16 years respectively, were drowned at Esquimaux Point Saturday while hunting, their boat having capsized. Their bodies have not yet been recovered.

Killed by His Playmate.

Montreal, Nov. 4.—Saturday at St. Liboire, near St. Hyacinthe, Wilfrid Antoine Mageau asked leave from his parents to visit another lad named Leon Grise. The request was complied with. Mageau asked his young companion if his father had a gun with which they could shoot some partridges. Young Grise having replied in the affirmative, the gun was soon secured. As the gun appeared to be unloaded, young Grise proceeded to examine it, when it exploded in the face of young Mageau, whose head was blown to pieces.

Lost Near Port Stanley.

Dunkirk, N.Y., Nov. 4.—A bottle containing the following message was found on the beach near here yesterday: "Drifting helplessly in row boat near Port Stanley. Both oars gone. Good-bye. Notify — Baker, St. Thomas, Ont. (Signed) Henry Baker." The authorities have communicated with the Mayor of St. Thomas to see if they can throw any light on the subject.

Canadian Indians at War.

Winnipeg, Nov. 4.—A report has reached here that hostilities have broken out between two Indian tribes in the vicinity of Tpgash, in the Yukon territory. An ancient grudge is said to exist between the tribes in question, and the smaller one, fearing annihilation, has sought protection from the Government police authorities.

Killed by a Train.

Winnipeg, Nov. 4.—George Durham, a Canadian Northern section foreman, slipped from a train at Portage la Prairie on Saturday afternoon and was horribly mangled beneath the wheels. He was a married man and leaves a widow and two daughters.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Czolgosz is dead, but he has left behind him an unspeakable name.

At the Pan-American Exposition, Ontario's exhibits of poultry captured $1,100 in prizes, with an exhibit of 1,000 birds, while the whole United States only got $100 in prizes, with 1,900 exhibits. Cock-a-doodle-doo!

The Toronto Collegiate Institute Board of Trustees have had themselves photographed at the people's expense, and the ratepayers are "kicking." Why kick? Cheek like that displayed by the Trustees should be preserved as a curiosity.

The right of the Ontario Legislature to pass the Act placed on the Statute Book last session, empowering municipalities to pass bylaws prohibiting trading stamps, has been submitted to the Court of Appeal, the highest Provincial Court. The argument will likely be heard this week.

Canada will be represented for the first time in the matter of leather at the Shoe and Leather Exposition at Islington, which opens on Nov. 4th. With Canadian boot and shoe factories established in the Old Country, and with Canadian leather on the British market we have evidence of the advance of this country in industrial enterprise.

It begins to look as if, in the solider articles of exhibit at least, the Pan-American Exposition would not have been so attractive, but for Ontario's exhibit. Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Aggriculture, reports that this Province ruled the roost in the matter of poultry. Ontario exhibited 1,000 birds, the United States altogether, 1,900. Ontario captured $1,100 in prizes, and the United States only $100. Our triumphs besides in cheese, fruit, dairy products and stock, how that this province, under the Agricultural Department administered by Hon. John Dryden, has achieved a prominent position, which is in the front rank of agricultural countries. No unprejudiced person will deny that the Ontario Agricultural College has accomplished a great work in stimulating agricultural improvement, and in developing the advanced methods that permit Ontario to achieve a walk-over in any competition she enters with other countries.

DID GLADSTONE SEE AHEAD?

Was his Action Respecting South African Pusillanimity, Magnanimity or Prevision.

Mr. Gladstone has been criticised for making peace with the Boers after Majuba, though Lord Randolph Churchill, after a visit to Africa, was man enough to confess that Mr. Gladstone had taken the right course. The Springfield Republican quotes from a British military expert who shows from the protraction of the Boer war that Mr. Gladstone made the wisest possible decision in 1881 when he decided to leave the Boers their country, even after the British defeat at Majuba. A war for the conquest of the Boer republics would have been disastrous because at that time the railroads in South Africa, upon which the British army of invasion is now entirely dependent, did not exist, because nowhere near so large a force could then have been sent from England, and because twenty years ago a long and costly war would not have been popular with the British people. At that time no gold fields had been discovered and the imperialistic spirit had not yet caught the public fancy. Mr. Gladstone undoubtedly was moved by magnanimity in his course, but Col. Hanna believes now that he was also moved by simple prudence to avoid being entrapped in a military morass.

DON'T PROPHESY

Till After the Event is the Safest Way to do.

The London Chronicle.

A leading article in yesterday's Daily Chronicle referred to the incorrect forecast made almost universally a couple of years ago with reference to South Africa. Fifty years ago, at the time of the great exhibition of 1851, there was more than the pious hope that there would hardly be any more wars. And just about the same time Messrs. Cobden, Bright and Charles Villiers predicted that in another ten years nearly every foreign nation would have adopted free trade. Rather over twenty years ago Sir Garnet Wolseley made a famous prophecy about the Union Jack for-ever flying over the Transvaal. Just twenty years ago, Lord Beaconsfield, in his "London, the Key of India," speech, predicted anarchy in Afghanistan in case we handed over Kandahar to the recently deceased highly successful Ameer, Abdur Rahman. At the time of the outbreak of the American civil war Mr. Seward prophesied that the "rebellion" would be over in seventy days. It's just as well to delay your prophecy until you know, and prophecy is out of date.

If the Chronicle had taken a fancy to revive Canadian prophetic utterances it might have recalled the several prophecies of Sir Charles Tupper respecting the way in which he was to wipe the Liberal party out of existance, in the sense of Parliamentary representation. It might have recalled the prophecies made in advance of every general election since 1872 that Mowat would go, that Hardy would be turned down, and the later predictions that the Ross Government will go under. The Chronicle is right; it is best to wait till after the event. It is much more satisfying to declare, "I told you so," than to apologize for predictions that have absolutely refused to come true. The thought that is fathered by the wish, has most times to be content with being still-born.

McCarthy Held the Knife.

Halifax, Nov. 4.—The coroner's jury on the death of Charles McCaulay, brought in a verdict Saturday night as follows: "That deceased, Charles McCauley, came to his death by a wound in the arm from a knife in the hands of John A. McCarthy." McCarthy is held for preliminary examination.

The Last Rail.

London, Nov. 4.—The last rails of the line connecting Moscow with Vladivostock, according to a despatch from St. Petersburg to the Daily Mail, will be laid to-day.

A Sour Stomach

Is Often the Real Cause of a Sour Temper.

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition, is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Johnston wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a fact which none may dispute that a sunny disposition more often results from a healthy digestion than from any other cause.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gases, which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves, and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues," but how quickly all these disappear when appetite and digestion are restored!

Laxative medicines only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels and have no affect upon actual digestion of food.

The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate.

The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach trouble is because they contain in a pleasant concentrated tablet form all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says, "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life, should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself, and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigour to their daily use.

"From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal. "I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction, which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous, but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,-92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

TRIED TO KILL TZE HSI.

Attempt to Assassinate China's Empress Dowager Near Honan.

Pekin, Nov. 3.—While the Empress Dowager was embarking to cross the river to-day before entering Ho Nan an assassin attempted to murder her, and killed an attendant with a spear before he was cut down.

The court has left Ho Nan en route for Pekin.

Tze Hsi, Empress Dowager of China, is one of the most noted women in the world. She has been likened to Catherine of Russia, a child of poor parents who rose to the greatest power in the empire. She is the maternal aunt of the Emperor Kwang Su. At an early age she was sold as a slave by her parents on account of their poverty. She became the property of a famous general, who, charmed by her beauty, adopted her and offered her as a present to the Emperor Hsien Feng. The Emperor made her his secondary wife, and on her bearing him a son, the future Emperor Tung Chih, she was raised to the first rank. On the death of Tung Chih she became Regent of the Empire, administering its affairs for fifteen years with more vigor than any of her predecessors. She is said to have put out of existence her own sister, the present Emperor's mother; the Marquis Tseng, Prince Chun and many others who stood in her way, though these rumors have been denied. During the minority of Kwang Su she reigned until 1889. In September, 1898, she virtually deposed Kwang Su because of his desire for reform, but subsequently allowed him to issue rescripts. Her baleful influence and acts did much to bring about the Boxer rebellion, which was followed by her flight with the court when the allies drew near to Pekin.

Pekin, Nov. 3.—The condition of Li Hung Chang, who has been seriously ill, shows improvement. His physicians diagnose the malady as ulceration of the stomach, and the hemorrhages have been severe. Stoll, a third-class electrician on the receiving ship Columbia, lying at the New York navy yards, for foul abuse of the late President McKinley.

On the day of President McKinley's death, Stoll, in the company of a number of sailors, is charged with having declared with an obscene oath that the President should have been shot long ago, and to have added other foul and profane expressions of the same tenor.

VANDALS AT BUFFALO

They Do $80,000 Damage at the Closing of Pan-American.

MONEY LOSS ABOUT $3.000.000

Notwithstanding Financial Deficit the Exposition Will Be of Great Value Commercially in the Future—Over 8,000,000 of People Visited the Show in the Six Months of Its Existence.

Buffalo, Nov. 4.—The Pan-American Exposition ended at 12 o'clock Saturday night. At midnight President John G. Milburn pressed an electric button and the lights in the now famous electric tower were dim for the last time. Slowly, one by one, the lights on post and pinnacle and tower faded away. A corps of buglers standing in the tower sounded "taps," and one of the greatest glories of the Exposition, the electrical illumination, passed away, and the Exposition was ended.

The Exposition has not been a financial success, but the benefits derived from it will of great value to the commercial interests of the country. The financial loss will be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. The loss will fall upon the holders of the common stock, the holders of second mortgage bonds, and the contractors who erected the buildings. Two hundred and ten thousand shares of common stock were sold at $10 a share. The stock was subscribed for by the citizens of Buffalo and the Niagara frontier in small lots of from one share to 100, so that this loss of $2,100,000 will not be seriously felt by any one. The first mortgage bond, amounting to $2,500,000, will be paid in full. Congress is likely to be appealed to for a grant of $2,000,000.

The total number of admissions for the six months was close to 8,000,000. An average of 2,000,000 a month had been figured on by the Exposition officials.

The great snow storm of last April was a severe blow to the Exposition. An immense amount of work was undone, and work on the grounds and buildings was delayed for a week. Strenuous efforts were made to make up for the lost time, but on May 1 a vast amount of work remained undone, and the formal opening of the Exposition was postponed until May 20.

The lamentable tragedy in the Temple of Music, which robbed the nation of a beloved President, was another blow to the Pan-American. The attendance had been increasing steadily up to the date of the assassination of President McKinley. The gates were closed for two days, and when they re-opened there was a drop of 12 per cent. in the attendance, and no improvement followed.

The Government exhibit, which is a beautiful and instructive collection, will be at once shipped to Charleston.

A large crowd attended the Exposition Saturday. The exhibit buildings were jammed during the afternoon, and there was considerable petty thieving of exhibits by souvenir fiends. The fruit and wine exhibits in the horticultural building suffered the most loss from the depredations of the crowd, and it finally became necessary to turn the people out of the building and lock the doors.

There was a veritable riot on the Midway Saturday evening. The disorder started from a quarrel between an intoxicated man and a waiter. The crowd took the part of the stranger and wrecked the place, smashing chairs, tables and windows. A stream of water from a fire hose finally put the mob to rout.

The closing hours of the Pan-American were marked by scenes of the most disgraceful vandalism. Crowds were there apparently for no other purpose than to destroy and steal. What they couldn't carry away they smashed and the police force was inadequate to cope with the vandals.

Giant palms, valued all the way up to $100, were slashed and destroyed. Valuable cacti were carried away or ruined and other splendid specimens of plants used for the decoration of the beautiful walks of the memorable Rainbow City, were stolen. Hardly an electric bulb in the gardens in front of the electric tower was left; the ruffians knocked arms and legs off statuary all over the grounds, while in some instances large corners of buildings were crushed in. Opposite the Mystery of Man group of statuary on Sunday morning early officials saw clearly that the glory of the fair had indeed departed. A great number of black crayon figures were chalked on the walls, of which this is a sample: A large bottle, presumably of whiskey, with a label, "Killed by Old Rye."

One admission is made by officials, which is satisfactory to the outside public: There were no foreigners guilty of these acts of vandalism; they were simply due to the roughest element of Buffalo.

The officials estimate the damage done by hoodlums to be $80,000. It is to be regretted that the Fair should have gone out in a seance of disorder, as the closing ceremonies were certainly of a most impressive character.

Cardinal Moran's Menacing Address

London, Nov. 4.—Cardinal Moran's menacing address, delivered recently in Sydney on the subject of the anti-Catholic clause in the royal declaration, has caused a decidedly uncomfortable sensation in the Colonial Office, where the full text of the speech was received last week. Other utterances of like character are reaching Mr. Chamberlain both from Australia and Canada. The latter are especially biting and insistent. As a matter of fact, the situation between the Government and the Catholic subjects of the Crown is so acute as to threaten an open rupture.

WON AT LAST.

Although Many Times Attacked, This Enemy has Always Refused to Surrender—A Short and Decisive Engagement Ends the Struggle.

Down at Ruisseau le Blanc lives Dame Colette Arseneau.

This good lady has for years been engaged in a struggle painful and almost pathetic.

On her side she has shown great courage and untiring perseverence. Everything that she could think of or hear of, she summoned to her assistance.

But despite all her efforts, her determined foe—Dyspepsia— showed no signs of giving up.

While she was growing weaker and weaker, her tormentor seemed to be growing stronger and stronger. Life was scarcely worth living for the poor woman, yet she managed to keep up the fight.

At last, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, the greatest known remedy for all stomach complaints, were suggested.

From the first, the tide of battle turned in the lady's favour.

Her pain decreased, while her strength grew greater. Rapidly and surely did these wonderful Tablets conquer the Dyspepsia, and restore her digestive organs to their natural health and vigour. She is now at last victorious over her old enemy, and has made the following written statement:—

"For years I have suffered with Dyspepsia. I tried many medicines, but all were useless. I used four boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I am happy to say I am cured."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are an infallible remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach or Bloating.

The Stomach and digestive organs need rest, and an opportunity to regain their natural vigour. The large, white Tablets digest the food every particle of it—without aid from these organs, thus furnishing the required rest.

The Liver and Bowels need stimulating and regulating. The small, brown Tablets do this most satisfactorily.

Taken together these constitute the very best remedy for all derangements of the organs of digestion. (All in one box, 50c.)

Where Men Congregate.

Each Sunday the Men's Meeting at the Y.M.C.A. grows in interest and despite fine weather tempting men to remain out of doors, still a large number congregated in association hall yesterday to hear Mr. M. A. Sorsoliel speak on the character of Lot. He was listened to with deepest attention while he drew many lessons resulting from Lot's choice to live in Sodom. Mr. G. W. Mulligan sang "Let us atand up for Jesus," and "The bird with a broken pinion." The effect of both was excellent. Next Sunday a prominent business man will lead a discussion on the character of Saul.

A Treat in Store.

St. Andrew's Day is to be celebrated in an appropriate and adequate manner this year. As St. Andrew's Day falls on a Saturday, the celebration will be held on Friday evening, the 29th inst., instead of the 30th. The arrangements are in the hands of an enthusiastic committee, who are determined to have a grand celebration of the anniversary so dear to all Scottish hearts. The "clachan aplors" is to take the form of a Scottish "At Home," for which a patriotic programme of a versatile character is being prepared. It will embrace vocal and instrumental music, addresses and readings, Scotch dancing, etc. A specially interesting feature will be an exhibition by Prof. Sheet's dancing class, in full Highland and other costumes, similar to the "Kermiss" which he gave last April, and which proved such a decided hit. Further particulars will be awaited with interest by all.

CHURCH CHIMES.

At St. Paul's Church yesterday morning, a quartette composed of Messrs. Crane, Dawson, Milne and Mein rendered a selection very pleasingly. In the evening the choir sang "Awake and Sing," the solo being taken in excellent style by Mr. Milne.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The Quarterly meeting service yesterday morning was well attended and a very large number remained to the Communion service after the preaching. The pastor conducted the services throughout.

In the evening the monthly Song Sermon was given by Mr. Crossley, and so great was the crowd that many were turned away unable to gain admission to the church. Every spot where a chair could be placed was occupied. Every draw seat was utilized, and many stood up during the service at the door. The singing was conducted by the pastor and fifty young girls from the Sunday School, and was specially attractive. Four numbers were given during the sermon, besides a special number during the offertory, and a solo nicely sung by Miss Minnie Cuncannon. Mr. Crossley announced, that at the next Song Sermon a month hence, the gentlemen of the choir would do the singing.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH WAS RE-OPENED.

Special Services Were Held Yesterday.

IMPROVEMENTS NOTICEABLE.

The Work was Done by Local Artists and it is a Credit to Those Concerned.

The re-opening of St. John's church, after elaborate interior decoration, was an epoch in the history of this venerable, but still beautiful, structure. Of commanding situation, literally a church set on a hill, its light has not been hid in either a moral or material sense. A view from its grounds and, especially, its tower, dominates the whole town, and as the whole town can be seen from this lofty point of view, so from nearly all parts of the town its massive square tower, tapestried with clinging ivy, is a landmark.. It was fitting that its interior should correspond in beauty and fitting adornment, and so far the past few weeks the work of decoration and improvement has been going on, and being completed, the re-opening took place yesterday. While to the eye this has not been very eleborate, much more has been done than meets the eye, to contribute to the comfort and convenience of the worshippers. The interior has been subjected, however, to thorough renovation. The seats have been carefully cleaned and re-varnished, and the walls and pillars have been re-tinted anew. The body of the wall is a shade of fawn relieved by a deeper shade outlining the window arches. A band of stencilling in line with the base of the arches extends around the circuit of the walls. A dado of a deeper shade than the main area of wall extends around the church below the level of the window sills. This is surmounted with a line of stencilling much more ornate than the band above mentioned. This and the stencilling on the walls of the nave is perhaps rather ornate—though that may be a matter of taste—to correspond with the tasteful simplicity that prevails elsewhere. The stencilling on the bevel of the underside of the arches connecting the pillars forming the aisles, might some think have been dispensed with without detracting from good effect. The walls of the chancel are done in rich maroon picked out with gilding. This is not a catalogue of the improvements, but what strikes the casual view of one who has become familiar with the former appearance of St. John's. The general effect is very pleasing and the architect, Mr. J. E. Belcher, the artist, Mr. John Watson, those who otherwise assisted and the congregation have reason to be well pleased with the great general improvement in the beautiful church of St. John's. It may be interesting to note the coincidence in the matter of weather, upon the dedication day of the church on All Saint's Day, 1882 and the opening weather yesterday. On both occasions the weather was unseasonably fine and yesterday the services at 8 a.m., 11 a.m., and 7 p.m. were very largely attended and if one may thus refer to a religious service, highly successful.

Before the sermon, Rev. J. C. Davidson expressed his sense of the honour that was done to the congregation by the presence of the Mayor and other officials and leading citizens, and by a delegation from the American Federation of Labour, uniting with them in the re-opening of St. John's. The work of renovation and decoration had been entirely designed and carried out by Peterborough talent under the superintendance of their old benefactor, Mr. John Belcher. Both the designing and execution had been the work of a Peterborough artist, Mr. J. Watson, who had brought the greatest skill and patience to bear upon the work. Many other improvements had been effected not visible to the eye which would be of material benefit.

Rev. J. C. Davidson took his text from Psalms 46—4. "There is a river the streams whereof shall make glad the City of God."

He began by picturing the beauty and resistless strength of a river which was frequently introduced in the Bible as the channel of God's grace, beautiful, fertilising and resistlessly powerful. To-day God offers to man not only salvation but also the richness and beauty of life. These and many other blessings come to him from God's river. After speaking of its water, the speaker went on to deal with the subject of its channel and more particularly with one of its greatest streams, the church of God in its relation to the community through which it flows. The object of the church was to glorify God and make good the city, a work entrusted to her by her divine Founder. "As my Father hath sent me even so send I you." This was the source of the river, which it overflowed with blessing, one country after another until it flowed on and reached our age, and was rolling about us now with the purpose of making good the city. If it did not bring strength and gladness it was the fault of those who did not develop the power within their reach. Get into connection with the river yourself and help to apply it to the needs of the city. He then went on to speak of the church in its broader aspect and of the position and mission of St. John's, as being only one among many churches. He did not expect the active support of all but he submitted that the peculiar position in history of St. John's called for the kindly feeling and interest of all citizens. Begun within six years of the town's first settlement, and completed in its present size (except the chancel), when the population was under 400 St. John's stands as one of Peterborough's historic buildings, and a monument to the faith and enterprise of the men who erected what must have towered as a cathedral in the little village in the back woods. It was able to hold every man, woman and child in the settlement.

The preacher went on to draw a vivid picture of the church seventy years ago, and mentioned the names of many of the citizens of that day. It was a coincidence that both in the ancient days and on this occasion, the services were being led by an orchestra, but the age was a widely different one, and the church and its equipment, as sketched by the speaker, showed very little resemblance to St. John's of the present day, and though the banks may have a different complexion still the river was the same as flowed down through these olden times to us, and linking men now to those who had done their work and gone to their reward.

Rev. Mr. Davidson closed his sermon with the hope that more advisers and liberal leaders and supporters might be given to St. John's in the future, who, while preserving intact her old heritage, would design and carry out new methods fitted to a new age, whereby the river might make glad the city.

Amongst the old citizens referred to by Mr. Davidson's sermon, were Captain Rubidge, one of the chief founders of the church, William Claxton, who played a flute in the old orchestra, and John Darous, the worthy editor of "The Backwoodsman," Peterborough's first newspaper, who led the choir.

He is Superintending the Work on the Spanish River Mill.

Mr. William Irwin, who is superintending the construction of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company, was in town on Saturday evening. Mr. Irwin says that the work is progressing as rapidly as possible. Two hundred and fifty men have been employed during the year, and considerable advance has been made, although the company does not expect to begin operations until early next fall. Arrangements havve been made for taking out a quantity of pulp wood this winter with which to operate the mill. THE RE-DEDICATION OF CHRIST CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt Opens a New Church at Omemee.

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD.

The Dedicatory Prayers Which Were Offered—Offertory Amounted to $160 for the Day.

Sunday, November 3rd, 1901, was a red-letter day in the history of Christ Church. The old church has been removed from the old churchyard to the Rectory lot, a large basement has been built, new windows of Cathedral glass have been put in, the interior of the church has been entirely renovated and the church itself has been bricked; all this new work, the result of much labour and self-denial on the part of the congregation, was dedicated by prayers to the service of Almighty God. The chancel was artistically decorated with flowers and palms; the whole church had a festive appearance. The singing was hearty and the choir, assisted by Mrs. Morris, of Alliston, acquitted itself creditably indeed. Hymns, Psalms and prayers were all specially selected and prepared for the occasion, and the sermon invited the worshippers to take a retrospect of the past, to trace the good hand of the Lord in all His dealings with them individually and as a congregation.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, and former Rector of Omemee and Emily, officiated and preached both morning and evening. As he was instrumental in bringing about the moving and renovating of the church, the wardens and members of church honoured him by asking him to open and re-dedicate the new church.

The service began with the singing of Hymn 334 "O God our help in ages past." The opening sentences were: "Except the Lord build the house their labour is in vain that build it. Our help is in the name of the Lord, Who hath made Heaven and earth. The glorious Majesty of the Lord our God be upon us. Prosper thou the work of our hand upon us, O, prosper thou our handiwork."

Then followed the regular office of Morning Prayer, the special Psalms were 103, 121, 138, and the special lessons: Joshua xxiii, and St. Matthew xvi; 13-28. The choir rendered the Anthem "O give thanks unto the Lord." After the collect for the day, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt said the following dedicatory prayers:

"O, most blessed Saviour, who by Thy gracious presence at the feasts of dedication didst approve and honour these and such like religious services, be pleased so as to possess our souls by Thy presence, that we may be living temples, holy and acceptable with Thee, and being cleansed from all carnal and corrupt affections may be devoutly given to serve Thee in good works, Who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen."

"O, most gracious Lord, we acknowledge that we are not worthy to offer unto Thee anything belonging to us, yet we beseech Thee of Thy great goodness graciously to accept the dedication of this church to Thy service and to prosper this our undertaking. Receive the prayers and intercessions of all Thy servants who either now or hereafter entering into this Thine house, shall call upon Thee; and by Thy grace prepare our hearts to serve Thee with reverence and godly fear. Fill us, we beseech Thee, with a deep sense of our unworthiness, that so approaching to Thy holy sanctuary with lowliness and devotion, and coming before Thee with pure hearts, with bodies undefiled and minds sanctified, we may always render a service acceptable to Thee through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

"O, God, without Whom nothing is strong, nothing is holy, sanctify and build up these walls to Thy honour and glory. Let the light of Thy holy presence ever shine upon them and may Thy Holy Church, built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ Himself being the Chief Cornerstone, fitly framed together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, grow into an holy temple, to the Lord. Amen."

Then followed the Hymn 285, "The church 's one foundation is Jesus Christ our Lord."

After this Rev. Mr. Langfeldt ascended the pulpit, which is a memorial gift of the children of the Cottingham family, on whose estate both church and rectory are built. In dedicating the pulpit the reverend gentleman said the following prayer from the pulpit:

"Blessed be Thy name, O Lord, that it hath pleased Thee to put into the hearts of Thy servants to erect this pulpit in Thy honour and worship and to the memory of two of Thy departed saints. Bless, O Lord, them, their families and their substance, and accept this work of their hands. Remember them concerning this, wipe not out this kindness that they have showed for the House of God and the officers thereof; and grant that all who shall enjoy the benefit of this pious work, may show forth their thankfulness by making a right use of the same to the glory of Thy holy name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

After the prayer, Mr. Langfeldt delivered an address which dealt chiefly with the past history of the church.

The sermon being ended and the offertory sentence given out, Mrs. Morris sang in sweet voice, the sacred solo, "Ashamed of Jesus!" After the offertory, the clergyman standing at the altar, said the following prayers:

"O Lord, Heavenly Father, we would meekly beseech Thee favourably to accept for the beautifying of Thy earthly temple, this house now presented unto Thee. Thine, O Lord, be the glory, in all our works for Thee. Grant, most gracious Lord, that what we now faithfully offer unto Thee in the uprightness of our hearts, may be religiously preserved from all profane and secular uses, and may ever continue in that holy service whereunto it is now dedicated through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

"O Eternal God, almighty in power, of Majesty incomprehensible, Whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, much less the walls of temples made with hands, and Who yet has been pleased to promise the especial Presence in whatever place even two or three are gathered together to offer up their supplications, and their praise to Thee, vouchsafe, O Lord, to be present with us who are now gathered together with all humility to dedicate this pulpit to Thy glory and the beautifying of Thy house. Accept, O Lord, this memorial and offering at the hands of Thy servants, and bless it that it may tend to Thy glory, and that they who shall preach therefrom may never preach anything but Christ and Him crucified, for the sake of the same Jesus, our Saviour and Redeemer. Amen.

After this the Apostolic Blessing was given and the service was ended.

The offertory was very liberal. The church was filled, about 400 being present.

To commemorate the new epoch in the history of Christ church, some members of the church had placed into the church a memorial tablet, containing the following inscription:

"To commemorate the removmoving and renovating of Christ Church, Omemee, during the Rectorship of Rev. Ernest Alwin Langfeldt, M.A., August, 1901."

In the afternoon a Sunday school service was held, a large gathering of children and parents as well as friends, being present. Mr. Langfeldt gave an address on II Tim. iii, 15. The children then presented their offering, which amounted to $60. Since the offering made in July, 1901, when $218 were given by the children, such substantial facts of faith are indeed reliable evidences of the loyalty and earnestness of the children of Christ church, and indicate far better the spiritual condition of the school than anything else.

At the evening service the church could not seat all who wished to come. About 600 were in the church and more than 100 had to go away. It was the regular offices of evening prayer, the special Psalms being 122 and 125. The Lessons were Deut. viii and Eph. v, 1-21. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached from the text, Eph. v, 16, "Redeeming the time." After his sermon he said a few words of farewell to the people, as this was the last time he preached to them while being in charge of the parish. He thanked the people for the many evidences of kindness he and his had had during their sojourn in Omemee, and he assured them that happy were the associations that connected him and his family with the dear little village and its people. He wished them God's richest blessings, and he prayed that at the last day no one might be found missing when the Lord would make up His jewels. Mr. Langfeldt also, on behalf of the incoming Rector, Rev. J. H. Tinney, and the wardens and members of the congregation, and personally thanked most heartily the pastor and members of the Presbyterian church who so very kindly had permitted them to use their house of God for their services. He assured them that the already existing bonds of brotherly respect and esteem would be strengthened between the two congregations by this Christian act. He wished also to thank all and everyone who by presence had expressed their interest in and sympathy with the members of the Church of England, and he could assure them that the Church of England in Omemee is and would be in hearty co-operation with anything designed to glorify God.

After the sermon, Mrs. Morris, who was born on the spot where the Rectory now stands, a daughter of the late Squire Cottingham, sang a sacred solo, "Father in Heaven."

After the offertory the congregation was dismissed with prayer and the blessing.

The offertories of the day amounted to about $160.

The members of the Church of England are to be congratulated upon the auspicious occasion, and we wish them most heartily God's richest blessing upon their progress and prosperity.

PROVIDENT SAVINGS LIFE.

We are pleased to see by the columns of the "Standard" and the "Weekly Underwriter," that after a long, minute and exhaustive examination, invited by the company itself, the Government insurance officials find the Provident Savings Life in a sound, healthy and prosperous condition. The fact that the company has fully met the unusually severe and searching tests to which it was subjected, will be a cause for gratification to its many policy-holders in Peterborough and elsewhere, and also to the local representative, Mr. M. W. Matchett.

SAD FATALITY IN DUMMER.

Mr. Silas Jenkins Meets a Sudden Death.

It Occurred on Monday Last—Deceased was Sixty-six Years of Age.

A runaway accident, which resulted in the death of one of the pioneers of Dummer, occurred between seven and eight o'clock on Monday morning on the boundary line between Asphodel and Dummer. Mr. Silas Jenkins was driving to Mr. J. Dalton's, where he had a job of plastering to do, and while going along the boundary near the 2nd con. of Dummer some obstacle on the roadside caused the animal to shy; Mr. Jenkins was thrown out, and sustained serious internal injuries. He managed to make his way to John Dalton's residence, about a mile distant from where the accident occurred, where he was given every attention, but his wounds gradually became more agitated, and he died about 4.30 in the afternoon. He did not seem to realize the serious nature of his injuries and refused to allow a doctor to be called to see him. Mr. C. J. Searight, undertaker, was sent for, and the body was removed to the home of his son, Mr. Frank Jenkins, who resides on the 6th concession of Dummer, from whence the funeral took place at two o'clock p.m. Wednesday to the Norwood cemetery. Deceased was nearly 66 years of age.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Nov. 2nd.—A big rise imminent after election. Every indication now points to a probability of quite a rise in the share markets. It looks as if the market would soon commence, probably after election. Nor. Pac. matters seem to be rapidly coming to a head. All parties so state who are are interested, also that it will be satisfactory to every one. It is now coming to the surface that Chicago and Northwest is also interested. The persistent buying of St. Paul also foreshadows the fact that it will be in the combine. Vanderbilt interests are clearly in the manoeuvres. It is more than likely that these plans are of sufficient scope to include the Eastern Trunk lines. The strength of all the Vanderbilt stocks and Pennsylvania, show that plans are on foot that will vitally benefit these properties. We hazard the opinion that comprehensive plans are under way to so harmonize the business and interests of the great American transportation industries, as will give the shares of all decided upward market impetus. The primary fact which is the basis of this opinion, is that the inside interests of every great American railway system, are the holders of the shares, not the public. The proper stimulation must be given the market to redistribute these vast holdings. Such people usually dispose of stocks at goodly profits. We cannot too strongly reiterate our belief in these outlined facts.

Another dull day. Even the extra dividend on the P. A. failed to stimulate quotations. The stock rose about two points. B.O., Man., and B.R.T. were the most aggressive issues. The undertone of the entire market was extremely strong, though it was sluggish in movement. N. B. Ream says B.O. will sell at 125. The stock has been listed in London. The public seems to be holding aloof until after election when the prices should be higher.

A Good Move.

In the present scarcity of houses and the certainty that in the near future there will be a demand far beyond the present supply, we notice with pleasure that Mr. Dumble is putting lots on the market at prices and terms that will enable men of small means to buy and build. For instance lots that he sells at $200 may be paid for in quarterly payments of $6.66 each. So that in 10 years the lot will be paid for, and the purchaser is enabled to put his money into a house. This is giving the poor man a chance to get for himself a home and get rid of the landlord.

WELCOME TO BRITAIN'S HEIR.

Portsmouth, Eng., Nov. 2.—Yesterday's naval pageant in honor of the return of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York was almost a reproduction of the ceremonial attending their departure. The town and harbor were astir early. Immense crowds assembled along the sea front, and rounds of cheers mingled with the National Anthem and salutes from the harbor ships and land batteries as the royal yacht Victoria and Albert started to meet the Ophir. On board the royal yacht, the King, in the undress uniform of an admiral, stood on the after bridge at the salute, while the Queen and the children of the Duke and Duchess paraded the hurricane deck. The Roads presented a striking spectacle, owing to the great gathering of warships dressed from stem to stern, with their yards manned and their sides lined with their crews. Nelson's old flagship, the Victory, started the salute to Their Majesties, and each ship in turn took it up as the Victoria and Albert moved down The Solent, accompanied by a flotilla of older royal yachts.

Off Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, the Victoria and Albert and the Ophir met and exchanged signals of greeting. At about two o'clock the booming of distant guns announced the approach of the royal vessels, and the naval procession soon hove in sight. As the Victoria and Albert, the Ophir, and two ironclads, steaming in file one after the other, passed down the lines of the fleet, guns, bands and cheers comingled in the welcome to the royal travelers.

As the Victoria and Albert neared the harbor the troops ashore presented arms, and the garrison battery fired a final salute. The bands everywhere struck up "God Save the King," and thousands of bluejackets on board the ships in the harbor repeatedly cheered the royal party.

The demonstrations were renewed as the Ophir entered, her band playing "Home, Sweet Home." The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York occupied a conspicuous position on the upper deck of the yacht, bowing in response to the demonstrations of the thousands of people lining the harbor.

Immediately after the Victoria and Albert and the Ophir were moored at the jetty, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York joined Their Majesties on the former yacht. The children of the Duke and Duchess met the latter at the gangway with joyful exuberance, and they entered the saloon of the yacht, where the King and Queen greeted them affectionately.

Not a Quack Doctor.

Merrill's System Tonic does not eminate from quackery, but is a scientifically prepared and valuable prescription, curing all diseases having their origin in Constipation and weak or vitiated blood. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and regulates the bowels. Sold in 50c bottles, containing 50 doses at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Sales Biggest in Years.

Winnipeg, Nov. 2.—The C. P. R. land department closed Thursday the heaviest month in the history of the company. The sales were heavier by nearly 100,000 acres than any other month for the past ten years, and show a very large increase over any month this year. The sales for the month of October were 150,592.96 acres for $465,655.62; for the previous month the sales were 60,060.46 acres for $197,057.61. For the month of October, 1900, the sales aggregated 18,858.89 acres, for $62,769.54. Up to the present date the sales for 1901 amount to 546,848.42 acres, for $1,824,062.41. This is an increase over the same period for the previous year, the sales for the corresponding month, 382,189.18 acres, for $1,224,159.62.

Took Poison by Mistake.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—"We find that the deceased came to his death on or about Oct. 22, 1901, at his home, 229 Huron street, in this city. We find that death was caused by deceased having accidentally taken a dose of strychnine in mistake for morphine, which the evidence shows he was in the habit of taking to induce sleep. We are of the opinion that there is nothing in the evidence to show that deceased took either drug with suicidal intent."

Such was the verdict returned about midnight last night by Coroner W. A. Young's jury, empanelled to enquire into the death of Police Inspector Robert Armstrong of the Wilton avenue station.

The World Needs Nerve.

Needs it in business, in the study, in the household. Irritability, weakness, lack of strength—the blue feeling—why they just tell you that you lack nerve. You'll use Ferrozone? My! What an appetite you'll get. How quickly the colour will return to your cheeks, how buoyant you will feel. Work, of course you'll work, for you'll enjoy it. That is, if you will use Ferrozone. It gives nerve, strength, muscular endurance and invigorates the brain splendidly. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

A City of Zinc.

Beira, on the coast of Portugese East Africa, is a city of zinc. Every utensil is made of it. If you were to break your leg, you would be taken to the hospital on a stretcher made of zinc, and when you arrived at the zinc building you would be laid on bedding resting on a zinc framework.

A dead man lying in a zinc coffin, the latter resting on settles of the same metal, is not an extraordinary sight. The body is carried to the zinc church, and it may rest in a zinc lined grave if the relatives so desire and are willing to pay.

Zinc seems to be the only cheap material that will withstand for a reasonable length of time the effects of the humid climate, and it is accordingly employed in every possible way.

If it is asthma, bronchitis, croup, or any such trouble, use Vapo-Cresolene. All Druggists.

A WOMAN'S LOVE.

A sentinel angel sitting high in glory
Heard this shrill wail ring out from purgatory:
"Have mercy, mighty angel; hear my story!

"I loved, and, blind with passionate love, I fell.
Love brought me down to death and death to hell,
For God is just, and death for sin is well.

"I do not rage against his high decree
Nor for myself do ask that grace shall be,
But for my love on earth who mourns for me.

"Great Spirit, let me see my love again
And comfort him one hour, and I were fain
To pay a thousand years of fire and pain."

Then said the pitying angel: "Nay! Repent
That wild vow! Look! The dial finger's bent
Down to the last hour of thy punishment!"

But still she wailed: "I pray thee, let me go!
I cannot rise to peace and leave him so.
Oh, let me soothe him in his bitter woe!"

The brazen gates ground suddenly ajar,
And upward, joyous, like a rising star,
She rose and vanished in the ether far.

But soon adown the dying sunset sailing,
And like a wounded bird her pinions trailing,
She fluttered back, with broken hearted wailing.

She sobbed: "I found him by the summer sea
Reclined, his head upon a maiden's knee,
She curled his hair and kissed him. Woe is me!"

She wept: "Now let my punishment begin!
I have been fond and foolish. Let me in
To expiate my sorrow and my sin."

The angel answered: "Nay, sad soul; go higher!
To be deceived in your true heart's desire
Was bitterer than a thousand years of fire!"

Vigorous Womanhood

Made Perfect by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food—A Common Sense Treatment Which Does Exactly What is Claimed of It.

The happiness of every home depends very largely on the health of the wife and mother. If she is nervous, peevish and irritable, worried by the little cares of every day life, and tormented by pains and irregularities that are sure to accompany a rundown system, there can be no happiness in the home for husband and children.

Too many women are victims of nervous exhaustion, and do not know it. They suffer from indigestion dyspepsia, nervous headache and sleeplessness, and drag themselves about the house feeling languid and tired out. The slightest mishap causes them to worry, and they feel gloomy and despondent.

Some women seem to think this a part of women's existence. Not at all. You can be healthy and and vigorous if you follow the advice of Dr. Chase, the famous Receipt Book author. He would not deceive you, and his treatment never disappoints. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is intended for just such cases as are here described.

It is above all a common sense treatment, which is approved of by physicians and laymen alike. By supplying to the thin, watery blood and weak, exhausted nerves the very materials of which nature constructs new nerve cells and new bodily tissue it gradually and certainly reconstructs and revitalizes the weakened and debilitated nervous system, cures nervous headaches and dyspepsia, and permanently overcomes the weaknesses and irregularities from which women suffer so much.

Mrs. Chas. H. Jones, Pierceton, Que., writes:—

"For years I have been a great sufferer with my heart and nerves. I would take shaking spells and a dizzy, swimming feeling would come over me. Night after night I would never close my eyes, and my head would ache as though it would burst. At last I had to keep my bed, and though my doctor attended me from fall until spring, his medicine did not help me.

"I have now taken five boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than I ever believed a medicine could do. Words fail to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure brought about by this treatment."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is immensely popular among women, because it restores them to perfect, vigorous womanhood, and does so by naturally and gradually toning up and invigorating the system, gently regulating the bowels and strengthening the action of the heart. Fifty cents a box; six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanton, Bates & Company, Toronto.

A Good Way.

"Have you ever read the article on how to tell a bad egg?"

"No, I haven't; but my advice would be if you have anything important to tell a bad egg, why, break it gently."

Fully Supplied.

"He says he has no use for a barber."

"I guess that is true. He shaves himself and cuts his own hair, and, I am told, has even got into the habit of talking to himself."

Doesn't Work.

"Cheerfulness is riches."

"Oh, no. If you can't pay a bill, being cheerful about it only makes the other man madder."

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Deplorable.

Mrs. Naggs—I grow to believe more and more in the saying, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

Mrs. Chatterton (wearily)—So do I. About the only bargains Henry takes any interest in in the department store advertisements are those in the grocery department.

Easy.

Applicant—Don't I have to state a cause for asking a divorce out here in Dakota?

Lawyer—Oh, yes; just say you couldn't get one east.

Why She Reserves Him.

My summer girl is mad clear through;
She will not look at me.
I never kissed a girl before,
So it was new to me.

Last night, when parting at the door,
I trembled to my toes;
I meant to kiss her on the mouth,
But kissed her on the nose.

Not a Cheap Perjurer.

Lawyer—Is it possible, Rastus, that you would swear to what you know is not true for fifty cents?

Rastus—No, sah; he gave me a dollah, sah.

Against His Principles.

"If you split some wood I'll give you a good meal," said the housekeeper.

"I'm sorry, lady," replied the hobo sadly, "but I never begin breakfast with a chop."

Signs of Fulltime.

Oh, possum, sweet possum,
You way up in de tree!
My li'l' son,
Go ketch me one,
Bo de gunner'll set me free!

His Reason.

She—You played a very careless game, Jack. Why don't you keep your eye on the ball?

He—I can't keep it on both of you.

The Worst of It.

Mrs. Dukane—The days are growing shorter.

Mr. Dukane—And gas bills are growing longer.

We'll Get There.

For all the wintry weather,
The snowdrifts on the way,
We'll roast the fire together
An' hear the fiddles play!

Discrimination.

"I will now take my leave," said the burglar after he had gone through the poet's house. "It seems to be the only thing worth taking."

In the Boarding School.

"Give me a synonym for success," said the teacher.

"Marriage!" cried the demure little girl in the back seat.

Under.

A dozen loaves, and each like lead,
Fell down upon the baker's head,
And it appeared, from what he said,
That he was somewhat underbred.

Confirmed Habit.

She—Mrs. LaSalle is always changing husbands.

He—Yes. She told me she was wedded to married life.

Seeking For the Right Term.

"A Massachusetts woman has eloped with a man half her age."

"I thought they called that abduction."

My Lady's Hat.

Now in the wind her Gainsborough,
Plume laden, wildly flaps;
Unhandy hats, 'tis plain to me,
Are often headtraps.

Talk.

"To hear some fellows talk," remarked the observer of events and things, "you'd really think they required a No. 14 hat."

An Unnecessary Incumbrance.

Daisy—I have made up my mind to enter society.

Hardhead—What has your mind got to do with it?

The Impecunious Lover.

He loves her for all he is worth, they say,
He loves her far more, does he,
For he sent her a ten dollar present today
And borrowed the price from me.

Usual Way.

Miles—Did Stone's widow collect the insurance on his life?

Giles—No; upon his death.

Acme of Conceit.

"Is he conceited?"

"Conceited! Why, he actually thinks he understands women."

Squandered a Fortune.

How often we hear the expression, notwithstanding the fact that those who use it are perhaps spending their money foolishly in medicines which only give relief without removing the cause. Mcgrill's System Tonic cures heart, stomach, kidney, nerve and liver troubles — because by purifying the blood, regulating the bowels and toning each of these organs the cause of disease is removed. Price 50c per bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Cure of Poll Evil.

Blister the enlargement with cerate of cantharides and repeat the blistering in two weeks if necessary. When the enlargement softens and it is apparent that pus is present, it should be opened and washed out, after which a 10 per cent. solution of protargol should be injected twice daily after cleansing.

Sympathetic Inquiry.

"Yes," said Snaggs in reply to Spiffin's query about his health, "I've been ill with tonsilectis or tonsilytis."

"Well, which is the worse?" asked Spiffins.

THE CIRCUS SAMSON.

TRICKS OF THE STRONG MAN AND HOW THEY ARE MANAGED.

A Good Deal of Humbug in the Feats He Performs—The Knack of Breaking Stones With the Fist—Feats With the Teeth Explained.

"There are tricks in all trades," said the old circus strong man, "but the trade of the circus Hercules is mostly all tricks. Anybody with ordinary strength can do the feats that seem so wonderful when done by these tan bark Samsons. In fact, few of them require any particular muscular exertion, but are accomplished simply by trickery.

"The dumbbells used by the performers are always hollow and weigh much less than the figures marked upon them would indicate. When you see a man pretending to put above his head a bell marked 400 or 500 pounds, you may safely conclude that he is trying to fool you. The very greatest weight ever lifted in this way was 245 pounds, 'Cyclops' accomplishing the feat in Cleveland in 1896. Genuine dumbbells closely resembling the hollow ones are thrown out into the audience for inspection, but these are never the ones used by the strong man or woman.

"Another common feat that arouses wonder is the breaking of stones with the fist. Spectators think that a man who can bring his clinched hand down upon a rock and flake a piece off with one blow must have tremendous muscles, but an ordinary man can do this if he knows how, while, on the other hand, old Samson himself couldn't have done it unless he had been put on to the trick.

"You will notice that the strong man always provides a solid piece of iron or stone upon which to crack his rocks. Now, if he held the stone to be smashed firmly against this support he might pound away at it until doomsday without hurting anything but his fist, but notice closely, and you will see that he holds the small stone a sixteenth of an inch above the support, and when he hits it it's the concussion that breaks it. Any one can do it neatly after a little practice.

"A little more real strength is needed in the feat of lifting a barrel of water and two men with the teeth, but not much. A man of ordinary strength can accomplish it. To begin with, the water barrel, which if genuine would weigh with its contents about 900 pounds, has a false top and bottom and holds only enough water so that a little can be let out of the bunghole to deceive the onlookers. Fastened to the barrel and to the waist of the performer and concealed by a sash which he wears is a rope. This is deftly hitched to the barrel when it is lifted up for him to take the mouthpiece in his teeth.

"The mouthpiece exactly fits his mouth, so that whatever weight comes here is usually sustained by the jaw. Here comes the thrilling moment! Two men lift themselves upon the barrel, and, with two other sturdy fellows to support his back and keep his balance, the strong man slowly lifts the barrel. Bending back, he supports the weight at an angle of about 45 degrees, apparently with his teeth, but actually upon his chest. It's a sensational act; but, as a matter of fact, more strength is required in the men who support him than in the star performer himself. Not more than 200 pounds were ever actually supported by any athlete in this fashion.

"The mouthpiece used in this trick is employed in all acts where the performers appear to hang by their teeth. It is so constructed that when one gets it in his mouth he cannot let go of it until the weight is taken off. So circus folks do not really support their weight or the weight of any other object by their teeth. It is actually on the neck that most of the strain comes, and performers doing this stunt very much gets an abnormal neck development. Nowadays my neck measures sixteen inches, but when I was in the business it was nineteen inches around.

"About the only act that requires real strength is that of supporting a horse on a tester board, but even in this trick the most important needs are nerve and a well trained horse. Bodily strength comes third. I'll never forget to my dying day the first time I tried this. I had rigged up two chairs as strongly as possible in a barn and fastened them to the floor, after which I had put a board across between them to support a teeter, upon which I had trained my pony to walk. When the animal had learned his lesson thoroughly and would ascend the teeter and balance at the word of command, I prepared for the final test.

"In place of the board connecting the chairs I put my own body. Across my chest I put the teeter board. Then, locking my feet firmly in one chair and my arms around the back of the other, I called, 'Romeo!'

"He came from the hall, straight for the teeter. Then my nerve failed me. I cried 'Whoa!' wildly, but Romeo didn't seem to know the meaning of the word. On he came, directly up the incline. There was no backing out. All that I could do was to hang on desperately, and this I did. When Romeo got above my chest, he balanced himself gracefully for awhile—it seemed an hour to me, though it was only a few seconds—then he went off the other side. I had succeeded, and the trick was not so hard as I had feared.

"It appears to the audience as if the man in this act was supporting the weight largely with his neck. Such is not the case, for most of it comes on his arms and legs, and the latter are fastened so that they cannot become loosened. It takes strength, but not extraordinary strength.

"Not unlike this trick, but requiring even less muscular power, is the feat of supporting a lot of people on a board placed across your body while you are bent over backward. This is certainly the easiest way for a man to support his family I know of. Before the athlete bends his body his feet are braced so strongly that they can't slide. Then he bends back and a board is placed across his knees and shoulders, upon which another board is put crosswise for the men to get upon. In this position the bones of the arms and legs support the weight, and as the bone of a healthy human being is pretty strong a number of men may get upon the board without causing the slightest inconvenience. The bones will have to be crushed before anything will give way."

LAW POINTS.

The removal of fixtures and their re-erection in another store under contract do not entitle the contractor to a lien upon them.

Where an agent sells his own and his principal's goods and collects money insufficient to pay for both he must apply it on his principal's debt.

The Carbuncle.

Carbuncles, to which the ancients attributed fantastic properties, were in reality rubies. They served, it was said, to give light to large serpents or dragons whose sight had been enfeebled by age. They bore them constantly between their teeth and laid them down only for eating and drinking. It was even claimed that the carbuncle emitted light in darkness and that the thickest clothing could not stop its rays. Without all the exaggeration of such legends it was believed for a long time that rubies contained luminous rays. The truth is that they have double refraction and send out the red rays with unequaled brilliancy. Traversed in a vacuum by an electric current they are illuminated with a red fire of extreme intensity. The greatest heat does not change their form or their color.

Preferred the Maniac.

President Hayes when about to retire one day from his working room in the capitol asked his messenger if there was any one waiting to see him.

"Only two, and one of them is crazy."

"Send in the sane one," said the president.

A grave looking man was introduced who announced himself as the emperor of the world. The president rang the bell and told the messenger if that was his idea of sanity to send in the maniac.

The Oldest Mountain.

America has been inhabited only 60,000 years, the scientists say, and so it must be regarded as the youngest of continents. But there is consolation in the knowledge that in the Adirondacks we have the oldest mountain in the world.

"Tommy," said the father of a precocious five-year-old at the dinner table, "don't you think that is a pretty big piece of cake for a boy of your size?"

NOTES ON MILKING.

Important Matters For the Consideration of Dairymen.

We keep a daily record of each cow's milk and find it pays in several ways, writes a correspondent of Rural New Yorker. We think many are deterred from this practice because they think it takes too much time. We have a scale with set pointer, so that the empty pails, which all weigh alike, will hang at zero. Then it is but a second's work to weigh and set down the result. For keeping the record we have a roll fastened at both ends to roller similar to rolling pins. The frame has a glass front and a narrow space just wide enough to permit one milking to be set down at a time. The sheet is always clean, as it is not apt to be where a lot of surface is exposed.

With the scale and record we don't guess so much. The cow with the pail full, but only half solid milk, gets credit only for what she really gives. The cow that gives a fair mess and sticks right at it has a show then with the cow that gives a big mess for a month or two and then drops out of sight. We are apt to milk a little faster and cleaner, as we want to keep up or increase her record. If several cows drop, we know that there is something the matter. We note how quickly they are affected by early or late cut hay, or how a cold storm will show a decrease. We find that the cow that can be quickly milked gives most satisfaction. Men are more likely to dry up a slow milking cow and are not apt to milk her quite so clean.

We have found that some men will get much more milk out of certain cows than others. Theoretically every man should milk the same cows, but if you have some slow milkers better let them have all the strippers, or else let them milk bit or miss. More of a dairyman's success depends on the milking than one is likely to think. Some men take good care of their cows up to this the last vital point and then miss. The cow should be at ease, then milked gently, but just as fast as possible. It is good, hard work to milk cows properly and to get the most out of them. We find that when very tired at night's milking we do not get so much milk. Look out for the man with finger nails. He will irritate the cow just enough to make her uncomfortable, and you'll have to stand the loss. Noise of any kind or anything out of the ordinary that excites the cow should be guarded against at milking time.

Wonders of the Heart.

All the blood in the human body passes through the heart in about three minutes. The heart beats 70 times a minute, 4200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, throwing out 2 1-2 ounces of blood a second, 656 lbs. an hour, 7 3-4 tons a day. It is only when supplied with pure, rich blood, that the heart, an organ, 6 inches long, by 4 inches wide, can accomplish this enormous amount of work, and rebuild its own wasted tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective remedy available for heart affections because it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and gives to it that life sustaining quality which is necessary to the health of every organ.

Parental Economy.

"Papa," said Dicky, "all the other boys are going to have torpedoes or firecrackers or something for the Fourth of July. Can't I have anything at all?"

"Dicky," said Mr. Stinjey, beckoning mysteriously, "come with me, and I'll show you something."

He took him out to the summer kitchen and showed him a large package, neatly folded and tied with a string.

"There," he said, "are all the paper bags that have been brought into the house for a whole year from grocery stores and other places. I have had your mother save them for you. Every one of them will make as much noise as a firecracker if you fill it with air and pop it right."

It was not exactly what Dicky had set his heart on, but it was all the Fourth of July he got.

MADAME GAGNON'S BABY

AFTER BEING PUNY AND WEAK, MADE STRONG AND HEALTHY

by Powley's Liquified Ozone

If your child is puny or weak don't consider it a misfortune of birth, but understand that some essential organ in the little one is not working properly. Powley's Liquified Ozone will rectify any abnormal condition in your child. It will make it strong and healthy.

Gentlemen: It is with great pleasure and delight that I testify to the merits of your preparation "Ozone." My four year old baby has been sick and weakly, and unable to walk. She is small for her age. About the first of June I procured a bottle of your remedy, and began giving my baby a few drops at a time. Gradually I increased the dose to a teaspoonful four times a day, and the effect has been simply marvelous. My baby began to gain strength, and in a few weeks tried to walk. Very soon she was able to walk all over the house.

I cheerfully recommend Ozone for weak children, knowing the great effect it has had on my child. I would not be without Ozone in my house, as a family remedy.

(Signed) MADAME GAGNON, 265 Shaw St., Montreal, P. Q.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is Nature's remedy for diseases. It makes all organs of the body work together in harmony. It gives nature a chance to make cures of itself. You probably know that the healing forces of nature are more powerful than all the physic and drugs in the world. Ozone is life.

BUCK VS BULLET.

The army of deer-slayers, or would-be deer-slayers, has been mobilized for the campaign of 1901, and has moved forward against the enemy. For the next fortnight the northern forests will ring with the echoes of the mellow bay of hounds—softened by distance and undergrowth, and the pop of the rifles, discharged by the steady steel sinews of the veteran huntsman, or discharged under the quavering digit of the buck fever acolyte. The result so far as the safety of the deer's life cannot always be foreseen—accidents will happen in every well-regulated hunting party, as well as in families similarly similarly administered, and it is possible that occasionally a deer will receive serious, if not fatal injuries. Whether or not the hunters will be lucky, there is little danger of their being hungry. If one could take a peep into the commissariat outfit of a well-equipped hunting party he would conclude that starvation would be about as difficult a thing to find as a deer sometimes proves itself to be. We wish our Peterborough huntsmen all the luck possible, but with this wish fulfilled, the deer haunches brought home will be about as costly eating as Easter spring lamb. But the hunters will bring back something better than venison—a big store of health and hardened muscle, the bright eye; the elastic step, and also the elastic conscience, especially when round the evening lamp and through the mingled clouds from steaming calorificated Calendonian, and the smoke wreaths from the trusty briars, the tales of deerland are rehearsed. Game Warden Tinsley reports that deer are not decreasing in numbers, but if every hunter who has taken out a license gets a spoil, he will have to revise his report.

The boys had a splendid work out and will practice again this evening in the drill shed. Every first team man is supposed to be present.

LACROSSE.

The Ontario Lacrosse Club of Port Hope, were banquetted at the Ontario House on Hallowe'en night, when a very enjoyable evening was spent. Messrs. R. M. Glover and Jack McCabe, of town, who played with Port Hope this season took in the event. The following concerning the banquet is clipped from the Guide:

"Rolly Glover was first to make a reply, which he did in his usual cool and collected style. He felt it an honour to be a member of the Port Hope Lacrosse Club of 1901, for several reasons. In the first place, he had never played with a more gentlemanly lot of fellows, who had demonstrated that they could play the game on its merits, and had never used any unfair tactics to gain a victory. He also wished to say that never in his experience had he come in contact with a better sporting element than was found in Port Hope, and as to loyal supporters, well, he had never seen anything that could equal the citizens of Port Hope. He closed by extending his sincere thanks to the people of the this town for the kind and considerate treatment accorded during the past season and hoped that next season the Ontarios would land the championship.

"Jack McCabe endorsed every remark made by the preceeding speaker, and said although he had partly made up his mind to drop out of the game for good, still he thought he would have to try one more season to bring the championship east, and when the time came to turn out, he would be ready for business."

ROYAL TOUR IS ENDED

Special Signalling of Train Going to London.

COLONIAL ELEMENT PROMINENT

Precious Freight Carried by a Single Train—A Contrast With February Last—Address Presented by the Colonial Agents—The Reply of the King—Prince Edward's First Appearance.

London, Nov. 4.—Three generations of the royal family in line of primogeniture came from Portsmouth on Saturday by a single train. Extraordinary precautions were required for making assurance of their safety doubly sure. For the 89 miles the track was guarded by several hundreds of plate layers, with flags, and the royal train, running at a high rate of speed, was virtually signalled by hand the whole distance from the coast. All the ordinary traffic was suspended for several hours, and Victoria Station was virtually closed during the busiest portion of the half holiday.

Saturday's pageant offered a fine effect of antithesis to the memorable scene of Queen Victoria's funeral. The assemblage on Saturday was in merry mood, laughing and joking while waiting for the royal cortege, and cheering the King, the Queen and the heir to the throne when the carriages with the scarlet liveries appeared, and the streets were decorated with the gayest colors, in keeping with the joyous occasion. The royal travelers were reinforced at the station by the Duke and the Duchess of Connaught, the Duchess of Argyle, other members of the royal family, and while there were military escorts and 4,000 soldiers lined the route, it was mainly a procession of royal carriages with guards of honor at the station and at Marlborough House, and military bands at several points.

It was the Duke's homecoming and royalty shared in the honors which he had won by rendering a notable service to the Empire. The heir to the throne had been little known and not adequately appreciated before the journey was undertaken; he has proved that he has inherited the King's tact and sagacity, and his hearty reception on Saturday is an earnest of his greatly increased popularity and prestige.

The City of Westminster, having emerged from the humility of Bumbledon, is striving to rival the Gog and Magog Guildhall indignity. It presented an address of welcome at Victoria Station, dividing the time with the representatives of the colonies, and assumed the duty of decorating a portion of the route of the procession. Its intentions in decorative art were perhaps better than the results accomplished. The work was begun at the last moment, and barely completed in time. There were Venetian masts along the upper portion of the route, and one arch with a showy banner. Piccadilly was left to its own devices, and some householders were thrifty and used purple and white hangings left over from February. St. James' street was the handsomest thoroughfare, with an abundance of wreaths, garlands and flowers between the Venetian masts, and an enormous blue banner with the words "Welcome Home" as the most conspicuous device. Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour and Lord Roberts were the conspicuous figures at the reception, and there was no lack of public enthusiasm.

Cheers greeted the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York as they passed on their triumphal return from their world tour through the crowded streets of London. The ceremonies passed off excellently.

The royal train arrived at Victoria Railway station at 12.56 p.m. Immense crowds of people gathered there to welcome the royal party.

All the way to Marlborough House the route was well lined, and several parts were profusely decorated, colonial colors being particularly noticeable.

The agents-general of the colonies presented an address to the King, who handed them a written reply, as follows:

"I thank you for your loyal and dutiful address on the return of my beloved son and daughter-in-law from their visit to the portions of my realms of which you are the representatives. It was not without natural anxiety and hesitation that I sanctioned the departure of the heir-apparent to my throne on a voyage which involved many miles of separation. But it was my earnest desire to give effect to wishes of my late revered mother, and to the aspirations of my loyal subjects in the colonies, of whose devotion and patriotism I have received such signal proof in the splendid service they have rendered to the Empire in South Africa, and I am fully repaid by the complete success which attended the visit, and by the manifestations of devotion and loyalty which the presence of the Duke and Duchess everywhere evoked."

The members of the royal family and their suites rode in open carriages. The King wore a field marshal's uniform, the Duke of Cornwall and York wore the uniform of a rear-admiral, and Prince Edward of York was dressed in sailor clothes.

Prince Edward made his first public appearance during the royal progress from Victoria to Marlborough House. He saluted the crowds with earnestness and gravity, and both his grandfather and father beamed with pride and delight. The boy took himself so seriously that the crowds tittered with amusement.

FRANCE TO THE PORTE.

Explanations Wanted in a Hurry by the French Foreign Minister.

Paris, Nov. 4.—Yesterday morning M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs, telegraphed M. The note will also request satisfaction regarding the rights of France, which are defined in the various capitulations and treaties, and which in some cases have not been respected, and in others have been encroached upon by Turkey.

The total amount of wheat shipped during this period was 10,300,000 bushels. This is greater than the big year of 1899 by two million bushels.

Betting Results in Crime.

London, Nov. 4.—Statistics collected by the National Anti-Gambling League show that 191 bankruptcies and 320 embezzlements in England during the last two years were directly attributable to betting. It further demonstrates that 80 per cent of the robberies of moneys from letters by Postoffice clerks and letter-carriers is due to the same evil.

Brigands still Active.

London, Nov. 4.—"It is reported from Salonika," says the Vienna correspondent of The Daily Express, "that brigands have carried off the mother of the chief of police of Seres in Macedonia, about fifty miles northeast of Salonika, to the same spot where Miss Stone is detained."

BULLER'S HELIOGRAM

London Express Gives Another Version of the Message.

ON AUTHORITY OF DR. MAGUIRE

Halifax and Bermuda Artillerymen to the Number of 500, Especially Selected, Are Ordered to South Africa—Boths Got the Two Brakenlaagte Guns—Speculation on the Great Cost of the War.

London, Neb. 5.—The Daily Express, on the authority of Dr. Miller Maguire, a famous military coach, gives what it alleges to be the authentic version of the heliogram sent by General Buller to General White during the siege of Ladysmith:

It is as follows:

"I have failed. Unable to try again without siege operations, taking a month. Can you hold out so long? If not, I suggest your firing away as much ammunition as possible, and finally making the best terms. If you have anything alternative to suggest, I can remain where I am long as you like."

"Further despatches were exchanged," says The Daily Express, and learning that Sir George White was to hold out, General Buller settled down to prepare to force the Tugela."

Dr. Maguire, through whose hands half of the officers of the British army have passed for duty, professes to have acquired the information without seeking for it some months ago.

ARTILLERYMEN FOR S. A.

500, Especially Selected, Being Sent From Halifax and Bermuda to the Boer Field of War.

Halifax, Nov. 5.—Orders were received from the War Office yesterday to despatch to South Africa five hundred especially selected Royal Artillerymen serving in this garrison, without delay. Capt. Duffus, a Haligonian, will command.

An officer, who, interviewed by your correspondent, said: "We will take with us six of the latest and most improved type of [illegible] and, of course, we will be well equipped with other arms.

"Capt. Duffus will be in command. A number of artillerymen will arrive here Wednesday from Bermuda on the steamer Beta. The men to be taken from Halifax will also be selected.

"The recent reverses in South Africa, together with the little trouble at the War Office relative to the dismissal of Buller and other matters, are not looked upon in too favorable a light. The recent reverses attending British arms in Africa have been the means of intensifying the feeling against the War Office, and the Imperial authorities will take prompt means to bring the war with the Boers to as speedy a termination as possible."

Boers Took the Guns.

Pretoria, Nov. 4.—It is now known that the Boers got away with the two guns captured from Col. Benson's column in the recent engagement near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal.

Cape Town's Christmas Gifts.

Cape Town, Nov. 5.—Cape Town is going to remember the guards in the blockhouse. The whole community is preparing Christmas comforts, and at the present time the movement promises well.

Some idea of the work before the committee in Cape Town will be gathered from the fact that if only one shilling be spent upon each soldier in the field, something like £12-500 will have to be raised during the next two months. Cape Town is going to do its best.

A committee of ladies have been at work for some time, and every week they forward thousands of parcels of necessaries, in the shape of bars of soap, plugs of tobacco, packets of cigarettes, pins, needles, cotton, thread, buttons, tape, laces, towels, socks, shirts, and a score of other useful things that a soldier needs.

Netherlands Accept.

London, Nov. 5.—At yesterday's session of the South African Compensation Commission, Major-General Sir John Ardagh, the representative of the Government, announced that the Netherlands had accepted Great Britain's terms for the settlement of the claims of Dutch subjects for damage as the result of their expulsion from South Africa.

Drowned in the Tugela.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—The following cable has been received at the Militia Department :

Please inform Emily Howell of 111 Jerome avenue, Westmount, Montreal, that Trooper Charles Howell, Imperial Light Horse, was accidentally drowned in the Tugela River on Oct. 17. (Signed) Casualty Department, Cape Town.

EVEN ANXIETY FOR FUTURE.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Makes an Important Announcement at Bristol.

London, Nov. 5.—What is regarded as an important announcement, preparing the people of Great Britain for new taxes and fresh loans, was made last night by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, in a speech at Bristol.

After alluding to the "enormous increase in the ordinary expenditures" of the Government, he reviewed the war taxes, and said that the ever-increasing demand of the National Exchequer gave reasons for careful thought, and even anxiety for the future.

"The cost of the war in South Africa is enormous," said Sir Michael. "It still drags on. It may be, when next year comes, that I may have to ask the people of this country to bear even greater burdens and to make even greater sacrifices."

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach announced that the Government was communicating with the authorities in South Africa with a view to a change of the situation of the concentration camps, and to an amelioration of their conditions.

Real Danger Ahead.

London, Nov. 5.—John Morley, M. P., speaking yesterday at Forfare, Scotland, asserted that the ordinary annual expenditure of the British Government had increased £28,000,000 during the last ten years, or, including the suspension of the sinking fund, £32,000,000. He declared that there was a real danger ahead of the country.

CURES BY CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Scores of Witnesses Testified Therein in Lewis Manslaughter Case.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—The trial of James H. Lewis, the street railway conductor, and Christian Scientist, charged with the manslaughter of his six-year-old boy Roy, occupied the whole of yesterday in the Criminal Assizes, and will be continued this morning with the address of counsel and Chief Justice Falconbridge's charge to the jury. About a score of witnesses were examined yesterday on behalf of the defence, all of whom said they had undergone Christian Science treatment and had been cured. The accused testified of his own cure of catarrh and la grippe, and W. W. Vickers, his counsel, explained at some length the new faith. The case is full of interest to those who profess the Christian Science faith, and who are present in large numbers.

Chief Justice Falconbridge, at the opening of the court yesterday morning, announced that he had decided that it was impossible to state a case without a statement that the prisoner would not apparently admit. An English tribunal, whose judgment he was bound to follow, had held that medicine was a necessary of life. The trial must go on, he said, until the jury had determined on the innocence or guilt of the prisoner, Lewis.

Mr. Vickers secured special permission from the court and reviewed the line of defence to the jury. The text of his address was that Christian Science was a system of religion that combines a system of healing.

Mr. Guthrie, the Crown prosecutor formally objected to the admission of evidence relating to the Christian Science faith. His Lordship overruled the objection, and the prisoner was called as the first witness for the defence.

Lewis claimed that he had been personally cured of a chronic catarrh and la grippe by Christian Science treatment. His son Roy had been previously cured once before when he was very weak with a contagious disease by a demonstrator. He believed Christian Science rendered adisease not "malignantly dangerous."

The Schley Enquiry.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The Schley Court of Inquiry reached the argument stage at the beginning of the afternoon session yesterday. The morning sitting was devoted to listening to Admiral Schley and Capt. Sigsbee, in making corrections of their testimony, which had been given previously, and the introduction by Judge Advocate Lemly of numerous documents bearing upon different phases of the inquiry. The argument of Advocate Hanna was not ended when an adjournment was made.

Mother May Die.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—The murderer, Thorvald Hansen, when he choked the little boy, Eric Marrotte, and bled him to death, reached not only the boy himself whose life he took, but may be responsible for another life within a short time. Ever since the fearful tragedy the heartbroken mother has been suffering from a nervous shock and her life is despaired of.

The King's New Title.

London, Nov. 5.—King Edward, at a meeting of the Privy Council yesterday, signed the proclamation giving him his new title, as follows:

"Edward the Seventh, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions Beyond the Sea, King, Defender of the Faith and Emperor of India.

John Lee, M.P.P. East Kent.

Ridgetown, Nov. 5.—John Lee of Highgate was yesterday elected by acclamation to succeed the late Robert Ferguson as member of the Legislative Assembly for East Kent. The nomination was made by R. P. Wright of Dresden, seconded by James Rutherford of Blenheim. Sheriff Gemmel was returning officer. John Lee is a Liberal.

Lost an Arm.

Comber, Nov. 5.—Jasper Dickinson of Staples, a young man of 30 years, had his left arm taken off by a corn husker while operating the machine at a near-by neighbor's on Saturday. He slipped, and the rollers caught his hand, and his arm was drawn in and horribly mangled. The arm was amputated by the doctors near the shoulder.

THE PROMISE OF DEVELOPMENT.

The Wiarton Canadian, a Conservative journal, claims that Mr. Clergue, of the Soo, has cast in his lot with the Conservative party, for the reason that Mr. Miscampbell, a follower of Mr. Whitney, who has business relations with the Clergue Syndicate, has accepted the Conservative nomination for East Algoma. Does the Conservative organ mean that Mr. Clergue will depart from his rigid attitude of entire abstention from politics for the sake of sharing the scaly chances which an outsider, the rejected of Simcoe, like Mr. Miscampbell, has of being elected in East Algoma as the candidate of a party leader who has insulted the whole north country by sneering at it as "the land of the stunted poplar?" Mr. Clergue is to be credited with having a little business common sense. He is spending and will spend on behalf of the interests he represents something like twenty millions of dollars. He expects to get returns from this immense outlay in the resources of "the land of the stunted poplar." Apart from political consideration altogether, can he expect as much from a party which stands behind a leader who has publicly expressed his contempt for those resources and which with one or two honourable exceptions has solidly supported him in the attitude of hostility to every step of development, as from a Government as solidly supported by a body of followers, in carrying out a policy of developing every acre of our magnificent New Ontario domain, for the benefit of the whole people of the Province?

Without counting upon a single favour from the Liberal Government Mr. Clergue knows that in the application of that Government's energetic policy of development, the conditions will be permitted or created that will give not only Mr. Clergue but every capitalist who wishes to put his or their money in the development of New Ontario, ample opportunity to achieve success. The Liberal Government, has faith in New New Ontario and in its inexhaustible resources. Mr. Whitney as leader of the Conservative Opposition, cannot have much faith in that part of the Province or much hope in its future when he takes the responsibility of decrying its resources upon a public platform in the capital of Ontario and sneeringly describing it as only "the land of the stunted poplar." A Government headed by a leader with such an opinion of the country, who has in the past bitterly opposed the most approved measures of development, would be most likely to neglect it altogether. Or he might possibly take a fancy to distribute it in big slices to his party friends, as another Conservative Government did, at less than a cent an acre—and if it hadn't been for a Liberal Government the sixty-five million acres of New Ontario would have been cut off this Province, divided and annexed to Manitoba and Quebec. Is it reasonable to suppose that Mr. Whitney the leader of a Conservative Government, if the people committed the act of provincial suicide of intrusting the reins of power to him, who has slandered the resources of our north country, would take an active interest in its development?

Mr. Whitney spoke of the land grant to the Algoma Central Railway as a "phenomenal steal," a "heinous crime," a "public robbery." All this because a few acres per mile of "the land of the stunted poplar" which according to his description was useless—and which as a matter of fact was of no use to the Province without access by rail—was granted for the construction of a pioneer and colonization railway. The Liberal Government believed, and in part knew, that the building of this line would open up a wide stretch of country, with resources of inestimable value. The Government felt that millions of acres of land belonging to the Province not worth a button in their inaccessible condition—worthless as even a gold mine in the mountains of the moon—would be made valuable and yield a rich return to the employment of capital and yield large revenues to the province. And the result has justified the Government's public spirit and patriotic confidence in the new country.

What has been the result? A branch of the Algoma Central has been built to the Helen Iron Mine, perhaps the richest deposit of iron ore in the world. The ore from that mine has been smelted, and is at this minute being cast and manufactured in the Clergue Syndicate foundries and machine shops at the Soo into articles to be used in the construction of the extension of the railway. The sequence of cause and effect, the circle of industrial connection, seem more like romance than the vivid reality they are. Less than a year ago the Helen Iron Mine and the country all about it, were in a state of nature, in the same condition as to practical development, it has been in for thousands of years. Now it is connected by rail with Lake Superior, a thriving town with water works and electric light system, appears in the heart of the wilderness. The iron is being removed and smelted, and within two or three months will be in process of conversion into steel rails at the immense steel rail mills at the Soo, now nearing completion. These mills consist of solidly constructed stone buildings over half a mile in length. Rails are needed for the completion of the Algoma Central Railway, and the portion completed is to be made to build the remainder—by bringing the ore needed to the water front, whence it will be conveyed to the smelter, and thence to the steel rail works. Thus in one sense, the Algoma Central Railway is building itself, and is not only contributing to the making of its own rails, but will be employed in the making of steel rails for Government railways, and is the pioneer of a great industry that will make Ontario independent, in the matter of steel rails, of outside sources of supply.

All this has followed the aiding by the Government by land grant, in the construction of this railway. And greater results will follow. In addition to known sources of wealth in the region to be opened and settled by this railway, there is little doubt of the existence of important mineral deposits. It is reported that within the past few days a rich copper mine has been located, on the Algoma Central, only three miles from its line, and forty miles from the Soo. A vein twenty-five feet wide and two miles long has been traced. This discovery is an important one. The extension of electric railways, and increasing use of electricity as a lighting and motive agent are likely to maintain a lively demand for copper.

The great results that have already followed this assistance to the Algoma Central Railway are only a shadow of the great results that will follow. We have had, one might say, personal knowledge of the direct benefits derived by Peterborough. To warrant the erection of great pulp and other mills, the Clergue syndicate needed to be assured of raw materials to make their operation profitable. They needed a railway to reach these supplies, and the Government assisted development by making the land grant, which cost the people nothing but, on the contrary, will make valuable Provincial lands, which but for the building of the line, would have been of no practical use. The company, encouraged by this assistance in building the line, went on with its expansion of industries. The orders for machinery given to the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, brought increased employment to Peterborough mechanics and the same applies to the orders placed with the Canadian General Electric Company. Peterborough workingmen were directly benefitted, if it is a benefit to get increased employment. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been left in the town which would not have been spent here if the land grant had not been made to the Algoma Central Railway.

The benefit of the development represented by these operations will, moreover, be distributed throughout the Province, for it is only by some such development that new settlements and new centres of demand can be created. Every new settler in Northern Ontario is a benefit to older Ontario. A new home needs new ploughs, stoves, furniture, etc. Every plough or stove purchased by a settler means added employment for the factories that produce them, and increased employment for mechanics. Multiply this by thousands of settlers, and we shall have aggregate results of great importance. The more the manufacturers of old Ontario are required to produce, the greater the earnings of workingmen, and the greater their earnings the more they can purchase of the farmers' products. Thus the circle of benefit is completed — the manufacturer, the merchant, the workingmen in towns, and the farmers in the country are benefitted. And the greater the development and settlement the greater the benefit.

In Northern Ontario we have millions of acres of land to be settled, and untold millions of acres rich with resources other than agricultural, to be developed. The more vigorous a policy of opening this country to settlement, and of utilizing its natural resources, the more the country at large will be benefitted. Notwithstanding that Mr. Whitney calls New Ontario "the land of the stunted poplar," it will in the future become a greater and more important part of this Province, than the settled portions of Ontario are now, and with a larger population than the present population of this Province. But in arriving at this condition, old Ontario will not lag behind; the settlement and development of New Ontario will help the older parts of the Province, which by the help of this development and settlement, will progress also and maintain its present lead.

Mr. Whitney may call the grant of land to the Algoma Central a "phenomenal steal," he may sneer at New Ontario as "the land of the stunted poplar," but the wisdom of this grant has been justified by the great results that have already followed. These have shown that it was well worth the while to devote to a great enterprise a part of the illimitable area of lands, useless without railway access. This railway access, partial, as it yet is, has already shown that for the few thousands of acres we have devoted to the building of a railway, there are millions of acres with wealth-producing resources, incapable of calculation.

When the people of East Algoma consider what the railway and its associated industries mean to them; when they see what its relation is to the development of the north country, and the perpetuation of the tremendous industries of the Clergue syndicate; when they consider its relation to the development policy of the Liberal Government, which has already done so much to demonstrate, and promises to do much more to realize upon the rich resources of New Ontario, they will not have very much use for the candidate of a leader, who has so little faith in New tario, that he describes it as a desert so barren that it will not grow even decent-sized poplars. If Mr. Whitney has no faith in New Ontario he won't take steps to develop it, even if he should have the chance to do so.

SUMMER ELECTIONS

Parliament of Ontario Will Run Its Full Legal Time.

NOMINATION OF PREMIER ROSS

Well Liked at Home in West Middlesex—Liberals of the County Choose Him for the Tenth Time—Liberal Prospects Bright and the Party United and Enthusiastic.

Mount Brydges, Nov. 5.—Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario was yesterday nominated as the Liberal standard bearer for West Middlesex. The nomination was proposed by Squire Duftin, who nominated Mr. Ross thirty years ago when he first ran in the constituency, and has nominated him ten times since that memorable campaign. Each time Mr Duftin's nominee has won, and of course he will win again, for no man could lose with such devoted friends as those who cheered him here yesterday. No other name was even mentioned in the convention, and the nomination was enthusiastic. Cordial resolutions were moved and seconded by gentlemen who had cast their first votes for Mr. Ross a quarter of a century ago and amvngthe delegates were men who have watched and cheered Mr. Ross from the day he entered politics.

Mr. D. E. Duftin of Wardsville, one of the oldest Liberals in the riding, nominated Mr. Ross in a happy, if brief speech. He said in closing: "I rise to propose that we give him a regular holster this time, and raise his majority higher than ever before by the hearty co-operation of the whole county. You do not want to hear a speech from me; you cannot expect much from an 82-year-old, and so I shall simply nominate Mr. Ross as our standard-bearer." (Cheers.) The nomination was seconded by Mr. John Waterworth, ex-M.P.P., and was carried by a standing vote with great enthusiasm.

The Premier in accepting it said laughingly that he had some doubts about accepting the nomination, but the manner in which it had been tendered him made him feel it was incumbent on him to accept it. He said further:—I had a good many requests in a quiet way to accept a nomination for other constituencies in Ontario, but my uniform answer has been, "West Middlesex has stood by me for nearly thirty years and I shall stand by West Middlesex as long as I live." There are a good many Liberal constituencies in Ontario, and I would feel honored by representing any of them, and yet I can say with all respect to the Liberals of other parts of Ontario that there is only one constituency that I want to represent, and I do want to represent it. (Hear, hear.) You have made it easy for me to carry elections in Middlesex by unanimity, heartiness and forbearance.

I am glad I am nominated again for the tenth time by my old friend Squire Duftin, who nominated me in my first campaign. I remember the stress and strain of former campaigns and the necessity that every man should do not one man's work, but the work of two or three men. Now it seems a little easier. I have no doubt many of you are ready and able to do two or three men's work, but if each man will do his duty there cannot be any doubt as to what the result will be. It is very pleasant to me to think that with all the ups and downs, the relations between myself and Middlesex have grown in sympathy. It is not due to anything I have done. It is true that I have been a somewhat progressive Liberal. All Liberals are progressive. I have been also, I think, true to the Liberal principles, and in this riding, with the well-known strong Liberal sentiments of the majority of the electors, I do not see how any man could hope to hold the field without being a duly accredited Liberal and without having in him the spirit of true Liberalism. All of these circumstances of course have helped to bind us together, and where we have found in other ridings sometimes dissensions, in West Middlesex there has been uniformly peace and quietness. Since I was first your candidate we have never divided a convention by a ballot. Various persons were nominated, but invariably retired. This again shows me that I owe you perhaps warmer and stronger services than I would under other circumstances, and I am not boasting when I say so far as in me lay I have tried to do justice to the people of West Middlesex.

At present it does not seem the chances for victory for the Conservative party are any better than in former years. Looking over the field—and I am not boasting, it is foolish to boast; it is better for him who puts his armor off than him who puts it on to boast of his achievements; but, speaking candidly, I may say that the Liberal cause in Ontario is prosperous to-day. There is general harmony in our ranks, there is a general spirit of enthusiasm in the party throughout the whole province; we have already put candidates in a majority of the constituencies. The men who bear our standard are worthy men.

Some of our friends said we would not have another session; that we were afraid to meet Parliament; that we were anxious to anticipate the condemnation Parliament would pass on us, and would have an election this fall. I have always taken the ground that unless there is a good constitutional ground for the dissolution of Parliament it should live out its whole term. You elected me for four years. Parliament was elected for four years: it would be unwise, I think, to enter into the turmoil of an election until Parliament expires naturally, unless there is some good reason to the contrary.

I see no good reason—I believe the country has confidence in the Government, and I believe it is more beneficial for the people of Ontario that a general election should be held in summer than in winter. I think it interferes with business less and with the comfort of the people less, and I think it better to call on the elections in summer than in parliament winter weather. This Parliament will run its full time, and it will not last a minute longer if we can help it. You remember last year we brought in a bill providing for the House sitting after the usual period, and that ten days after the business is concluded the House shall be terminated. Some have said that is to prolong our lives. It does not prolong our lives one minute. Parliament expires March 31, and we would not have gone to the electors before June 1 anyway; the object is simply to facilitate the conduct of business.

Mr. Ross then discussed many of the various questions of public policy, and demonstrated by facts and figures that the Government had so administered the trust of the people that the men of this country have no real grievance against the Government.

If You Are Battling Physically or Mentally With Life's Work and Responsibilities Use Energy-Producing

Malt Breakfast Food

Men and women who make Malt Breakfast Food their first dish at the morning meal, avoid the many discomforts that come to those who use oatmeal and other grain foods. Malt Breakfast Food users go forth to the work and duties of the day with a full store of bodily and mental energy so necessary for battling with the worries of business and home responsibilities. The reasons are plain and simple. Malt Breakfast Food is easily digested and quickly assimilated, it is an energy producer, as well as bone, muscle and tissue builder. Oatmeal and other starchy grain foods tax the powers of digestion, use up existing energy, give rise to stomach derangements and skin eruptions, and only a very small proportion of their nutriment can be assimilated. If you are a daily worker depending upon either body or brain power, make Malt Breakfast Food your regular morning dish; health, strength and happiness will be your reward. All Grocers sell Malt Breakfast Food.

If You Have Asthma

Bronchitis, or a Severe Cold on the Chest and Lungs, Doctors Will Point You to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as the Most Effective Treatment.

For every class of disease there is one medicine which stands pre-eminent as being superior to all others. In the case of Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung ailments the recognized treatment is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Doctors do not hesitate to say that when the patient becomes flushed and exasperated in his struggle for breath, wheezes loudly and experiences intense agony in his chest and lungs there is no preparation available that will give such prompt and thorough relief as

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Mrs. G. H. Reid, North Augusta, Ont., says:—"Being troubled with bronchitis and asthma for a long time, have tried several remedies, but all failed to touch the spot, until I tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I get relief from the first bottle. I can highly recommend it to all humanity suffering from throat or lung troubles. And you are at liberty to use this testimony as you see fit."

Mrs. George Budden, Putnamville, Ont., says:—"I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the Asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me any good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy, as he had tried it, and it proved successful. I tried it and it cured me. I am thankful to-day to say I am a well woman through the use of this remedy. I keep it in the house all the time and would not be without it."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is so well known in the homes of Canada that it seems unnecessary to add further comment, but a word of warning may be needed. There are other preparations of linsced and turpentine, imitations of Dr. Chase's. Be sure the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase are on the bottle you buy. Twenty-five cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60c. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $100 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

"Life in the British Navy"

Don't fail to see the "Life in the British Navy," to be given in the Opera House on Friday and Saturday evenings, and Saturday matinee. The Get One Club.

An enthusiastic meeting of association workers was held at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening, with the object of organizing a "Get One Club," in order to add two hundred names to the roll by the first of Dec. A big social event will wind up the effort after the first of December, to which those who have been successful in getting their man will be invited. Mr. Horace Ayers is chairman of the club, which is a sufficient guarantee that this annual membership hustle will be successful.

TO FIND GAS.

A Gentleman Who Wants to Bore in Peterborough—What he Thinks.

Mr. Thomas Fraser, of Norwood, was in town this morning on a rather important mission. Mr. Fraser is the gentleman who bored the Port Hope gas well, that is causing such a sensation at the present time. He thinks that an attempt to bore for gas here would be attended with good results, although it would cost $1,000 to sink the well, and even then they might not be successful in striking a flow of gas. But Mr. Fraser thinks that the chances are good, and would like to get a contract. He would have to bore about 1,000 feet.

Mr. Langfeldt, who was in Omemee. There was a splendid attendance, and the programme proved to be a most enjoyable one. Amongst those who took part in the entertainment were Miss Lizzie Scott, and Miss Florence Butcher, who rendered piano solos, Mr. Joe Halpany in his well-known comic songs, Mr. Milne, Mr. Stocker, who rendered vocal solos, Miss Alberta Whitt, Peterborough's brilliant elocutionist, Mr. Matchett, in his readings, and last, but by no means least, Mr. Charlie Brown, who is always a favourite with his Irish readings. A handsome little sum was realized towards the funds of the Guild.

What Gifts Have You?

A fair turn-out greeted the Rev. Geo. Yule, in his first address to the Charlotte street league. The address was clear and practical and made a deep impression. The reverend gentleman demonstrated that many who possess rare talents allow them to remain dormant and that the greatest work in which any individual might engage was the Christian work. The place of the gifts of singing, speaking, writing, and influence in God's work was shown and an earnest appeal made to the members to exercise their gifts. During the evening Miss Stevens and Mr. Crossley rendered a charming duet.

NO HOLIDAY ON SATURDAY.

The Council Decides it is too Late to Declare One.

MONDAY MAY BE OBSERVED.

The Street Railway Franchise Stands as it did When First Granted—It Will be Held.

The regular meeting of the Town Council last evening was preceded by a pleasing ceremony, consisting in the presentation, through Mr. J. H. Roper, to Mr. Csarl Leplante and Mr. Dennis Hobbins, of certificates from the Royal Canadian Humane Association for their bravery in saving the lives of two boys, an extended account of which appeared in Saturday's issue. Mayor Deane in introducing the gentlemen concerned in the presentation, spoke as follows:—

"Before proceeding with the business of the council, there is a matter of importance and of a pleasing character to be attended to. Mr. J. H. Roper, who is present as the representative of the Canadian Humane Association to present two parchment testimonials to two men who, with commendable courage and presence of mind, risked their own lives to rescue from death by drowning two boys. Mr. Laplante saved a boy from drowning in the Little Lake, where the lad had got into the water among the logs and would have perished but for the timely presence and bravery of Mr. Laplante. Mr. Hobbins performed a similar timely and brave act at Whyte's mill pond, where a boy had fallen into the water and was perishing when Mr. Hobbins, at the risk of his own life, went to the rescue and brought him safely out. We are pleased that the courage of these gentlemen has been brought to the attention of the Association and has been recognized by the Association. The testimonials are not given as rewards; that idea does not enter into the presentation; but such courage as these gentlemen manifested should be recognized to show that, not only those immediately interested, but the whole community as well, appreciate their presence of mind and bravery, and we are pleased to have these presentations take place at our Council meeting."

The presentation was then made by Mr. Roper, who added a few words expressing the hope that the recognition of the bravery of Messrs. Laplante and Hobbins would prove an incentive to others to follow their brave example.

The members present were, His Worship Mayor Deane, and Aldermen Best, Corkery, Batten, Clinkscale, Rush, Shortly and Edgcumbe.

THE STREET RAILWAY DEAL.

The circumstance that the street railway is about to be purchased by an American syndicate and revived and operated, is significant of the fact that Peterborough is attracting attention in the United States as well as Canada by reason of its steady growth and the influx of so many important industries within the last year or so.

The street railway was constructed at a period which was a trifle too early in the history of the town's development and consequently was not self-sustaining, and had to cease operations.

That the time has now arrived when it can be made a paying investment to operate the railway under certain conditions, is evident from the fact that American capital is about to be placed in the concern as the result of a shrewd and careful examination into the present state of affairs in Peterborough business circles.

The council dealt wisely with the matter, last night, when approached by the representatives of the old company, in not demanding their "pound of flesh" in regard to violated provisions of the franchise, which has been restored to the company in the same form as granted in the first place to the Canadian General Electric Company, with the exception of the fact that the company undertakes to run extensions out to Jackson Park, and down to the Locks, and to have the whole line in operation by the first of July next. Amongst the possibilities are a belt line around the town and lines to Lakefield and Chemong.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn went to Toronto this morning and it is understood that the deal will in all probability be closed to-day.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

A deputation from the Sons of England waited on the council, last evening, to ask that the King's Birthday be loyally observed on Saturday in Peterborough. The council thought it was now too late to notify the farmers that there would be no market, and suggested that a petition be circulated asking the Mayor to declare Monday as a holiday. The deputation returned to the lodge rooms, when it was decided that if Saturday could not be observed the Sons of England would not interest themselves in the matter further. As the case stands at present if the people of Peterborough desire to show their loyalty, by having Monday observed as a holiday, a petition to that effect will have to be handed the Mayor to-morrow. It seems odd to many that a petition is necessary, as none was ever required on the occasion of the observation of the Queen's Birthday.

Reeve Adams reported that he had attended a meeting of representatives from the various municipalities in the county for the purpose of discussing the expenditure of an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars for the maintenance of certain roads. The Reeve explained the object of the scheme and reported that no definite action had been taken in the matter.

The matter of fire protection was the subject of considerable discussion in which all the members took part. The question arose over a communication from the town of Peterborough, asking an increase of $75 for fire protection. The council as a whole expressed themselves as against giving such an increase, and it was moved by Councillor Johnston, seconded by Councillor Sheridan, that this council meet the town council with a view of arriving at some definite agreement regarding fire protection, the date and place of meeting to be fixed by the town.

Reeve Adams brought up the matter of the condition of the railway crossing on Sophia street, and upon motion, the C.P.R., will be requested to repair the said crossing in such a manner as may be desired by the council.

Mr. Sheridan said that Mr. Cooney had brought up the matter of the rent of the pound which the village rented from him. They paid $10 rent and Mr. Cooney was taxed $6 taxes. Mr. Sheridan did not think that he should be assessed at all for the lot.

The Value of Promptitude.

On the 30th day of September, 1901, Mr. R. Merriam received a policy of $1000 life insurance in the Great-West Life Assurance Company of Winnipeg. Shortly afterward he was fatally gored by a cow and died on Sabbath, the 6th day of October. Claim papers were forwarded to the head office at Winnipeg on the 28th day of October, and this morning, (Nov. 5th), Mr. R. G. Williamson, of Peterborough, general agent, received a cheque from the Great-West in full settlement of claim. The late Mr. Merriam had been insured in the Great-West only six days. The moral is obvious. 1d1w

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Nov. 5th.—Big men in town—market preparing for upward movement. In our opinion the rise in the share market cannot be much longer delayed. Each day for some time past the floating supply of stocks has been growing smaller, and the insiders steady buyers. The more dull the markets, the longer time it takes to accumulate a line of stocks. We believe the process of securing stocks in a narrow market has about reached completion. The high figures now recorded for non-speculative issues like Lake Shore, Great Northern preferred, Chicago and Northern preferred, and common St. Paul preferred, D. L. & W., would indicate that they have been gathered in by interests, identified with plans on foot for furtherance of Railway interests. Prices for such stocks are so high it will cause capital to seek for other issues. Their high prices have been brought about in securing them in interests of plans bound to benefit the other issues. There can scarcely be a doubt as to the probability of a notable advance. We believe in going ahead of the procession. Lead the band—do not follow. Buy stocks now. The harmonizing relations of a permanent nature now being brought about among the various roads are working a revolution in their earning power. They can no longer be measured by the yard sticks of the past. Announced schemes of the coming twelve months will be as remarkable as those of a year past in the railway world, and values will change in accordance with the new conditions. Forward seems to be the slogan of the railway kings.

The weak spot in to-day's market was the People's Gas, selling down to par at one time. Balance of industrials were strong and dull, fluctuating within narrow limits. The rest of the market was all strong, but of a pre-holiday nature. Penna. sold Ex. Div'd. Rock Island report for September was an excellent one, showing over thirty per cent. increase in passenger traffic, and two and a half per cent. in freight, also large increase in both gross and net earnings. The Vanderbilts meetings were postponed, pending Mr. Vanderbilt's arrival on the Oceanic. There is nothing weak about the general market. Activity will be at high figures.

DAIRY PREPOTENCY.

POINTS TO CONSIDER IN THE SELECTION OF BULLS.

Desirable Animals Usually Possess High Tempers—Work as a Factor in Keeping Bulls Tractable—Training on Tread Power.

This is a very important and difficult question. The best judges feel, more or less, that they are making a leap into the dark, says Heard's Dairyman. The object, of course, is to buy the bull that will make a sire of dairy cows of large capacity. (1) We want him to possess a rich heredity of dairy performance back of him. That we can determine easily if records have been kept of the productions of a long line of mothers. (2) We want him to have come from a long line of sires that have excelled in producing high record cows. That, too, can be determined by the records. (3) We want him to possess individual merit as shown in his conformity to well defined dairy points. All that can be determined by thorough examination by a good judge.

But, having settled the point of heredity or pedigree and individual conformation, which can be easily done, how are we to know that he will breed strongly and prepotently in the direction we wish him to? Here is the dark place in the road.

Up to the publication of the new scale of points by the American Guernsey Cattle club there had been no attempt to crystallize thought, experience and judgment on this important point in the judging of bulls at fairs and in their selection as breeding animals. The committee of the Guernsey club who devised the new scale have the following to say on this question of prepotency in their explanatory notes:

In the scale for bulls, for the first time, we believe, in the history of dairy breeds, this point is introduced. The reason we have included it is that prepotency is the chief consideration in the selection of all male breeding animals. The pedigree and conformation are often all that can be desired, but because the bull is lacking in prepotent breeding power he is an expensive failure. This quality is, in a sense, difficult to perceive or describe, but we know certain animals have it in high degree, and others fail of it completely. It is fairly well indicated by vigor of appearance, resolute bearing and abundant nervous energy. We would distinguish this from an ugly disposition.

A bull is ugly by the way he is handled rather than by his breeding. What we want is strong, impressive blood. A dull, sluggish spirit and action we consider indicative of a lack of true dairy prepotency.

Every breeder of dairy cattle uses the word "prepotency." He is looking for prepotent bulls, but has he ever undertaken to determine what are the indications or outward signs of this quality?

The Guernsey committee have gone farther in their effort to define this valuable quality than any other source we know of, but they cannot fully cover the ground in so short a space. In our opinion prepotency is a mental quality.

We can see it in certain families of men and horses very plainly. In almost every instance that we have noted where an ancestor has impressed powerfully his or her progeny, either in good or bad qualities, such ancestor has possessed a strong will and self assertion—in other words, a strong disposition to conquer. These characteristics indicate a large supply of nervous energy, nerve power, etc. Such animals can easily be made ugly if they are handled unwisely. Therefore we believe a desirable bull should possess a high temper. It would be interesting to search back and see whether or not the great masters of blood in the various dairy breeds were bulls of high temper. We take it as a favorable sign of prepotency in a bull, provided there is good pedigree back of him, if he shows a disposition to challenge the authority that is over him, is active, resolute and of a strong, masterful disposition. Of course such a bull needs to be well and carefully handled. Avoid conflict with him as much as possible.

There is nothing better on earth to make such a bull tractable than a tread power, in which he can be exercised a couple of hours each day. Every breeder of dairy cattle will do well to make a bull furnish power to separate the cream, and he should be trained to this from the time he is a yearling. Such training will add value to the bull in the mind of every discerning purchaser.

Remedy For Scours.

A remedy for scours given by Flint in Milch Cows and Dairy Farming is two drams prepared chalk or one ounce magnesia, ten grains powdered opium, half a dram powdered catechu, two drams tincture of capsicum and five drops essence of peppermint given twice a day in milk or gruel. In case this is not effective give two scruples Dover's powders, one ounce starch or powdered arrowroot, one dram cinnamon powder and half a dram powdered kino. Boil the starch or arrowroot in water until it thickens, and when cold stir in the other ingredients and give morning and night. It is a good plan to keep a lump of chalk constantly before calves, as it corrects acidity of the stomach.

Pressing the Curd.

Curd in the frames should be subjected to a great deal of pressure for several days, the length of time depending somewhat upon the character of curd and the kind of cheese being made. After the proper amount of pressing the cheese is removed and placed in the curing room.

If it is asthma, bronchitis, croup, or any such trouble, use Vapo-Cresolene. All Druggists.

Farmer's Backache.

There is scarcely a farmer in this country but knows what backache is. The hard work and heavy lifts, the constant grind of toil from early morning till late at night, frequently bring the stabbing pain in the back or the dull grinding ache that knows no let up. Then too there are often urinary troubles, swelling of the feet and ankles, puffiness under the eyes, rheumatic pains in the joints and muscles.

Dr. Pitcher ought to be held in high esteem by every farmer in the land on account of his Backache Kidney Tablets, which are doing such a grand and noble work in banishing backache, kidney and urinary troubles, which are such universal complaints on the farm.

HEAVY WORK.

Mr. C. E. Lane, King Street East, Ingersoll, Ont.: "I have been subject to attacks of backache and kidney trouble for some years, owing to heavy work on the farm in my early days. Every attack of cold aggravated it. I have tried other remedies in the past but with little effect, and decided to try a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. I got a bottle from A. E. Gayfer, druggist, using at first three and then two at a dose, as they proved a little too laxative. With the two tablet dose the pain and other trouble disappeared, and since then there has been no return, consequently I am sure they are a good medicine."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

THE POULTRY YARD.

Gravel or coarse sand is as much needed as ordinary food.

All chickens want for health, growth and good conditions is plain, nutritious food.

Even when the fowls have an unlimited range it is a good plan to feed them every evening.

One of the first things to learn about poultry is that they must be kept clean and free from vermin.

Peafowls are handsome and subsist with the least care of any kind of fowls. They are prolific layers and a good protection against hawks.

Raw bone contains every part of an egg—white, yolk and shell. Therefore it should be kept constantly before laying hens in the granulated form.

One of the best ways of removing lice from fowls is to make them do it themselves by having a lot of dry earth where they can dust themselves whenever they feel like it.

The comb is always an index to the condition of the bird. When the comb is white or very pale or very black, something is wrong. A healthy fowl shows a bright scarlet color in the comb.

Paine's Celery Compound

Woman's Home Friend.

IT HAS SAVED PRECIOUS LIVES AFTER PHYSICIANS FAILED TO RESTORE HEALTH.

No Other Medicine can so Well Cope With the Ills Peculiar to Women.

What a blessing it would be to people, more especially to wives and mothers, if they could just realize what Paine's Celery Compound is able to do for them in times of sickness. The work that cannot be done for the sick after weeks and months of experimenting with the ordinary medicines of our times is, at all times, successfully accomplished by Paine's Celery Compound.

If you are cast down and despondent over failures with medicines in the past, it will be wisdom on your part to make trial of the remedy that has succored thousands in times of peril. Mrs. F. M. Huff, Salmon Point, Ont., says:

"After receiving so much benefit from Paine's Celery Compound, I think it is my duty to inform sufferers what this great medicine can do for all who wish to regain health and strength. I have been a great sufferer for years from nervousness and weakness, and have had the advice and attendance of doctors with but little benefit. I was induced to use your Paine's Celery Compound some time ago. It is the best medicine I ever used; it has done wonders for me as far as health-building is concerned. I cannot speak strongly enough in favour of Paine's Celery Compound, and you may be assured I will always recommend it."

A Food for Brain and Muscle.

Whether it is brain fag, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind or bodily weakness and general debility, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will restore your old time energy, strength and health. Through the blood and nervous system it reaches every part of the body, and overcomes weakness, irregularities and disease.

THE RAGE FOR LACE.

No Dressy Gown or Coat Is Complete Without It.

The rage for lace will be as pronounced this winter as formerly. Many of the more stylish fur coats have jabots at the neck and lace frills or undersleeves. Little fur Etons are made with broad collars edged with the heaviest yellow guipure. No evening gown is perfect without some elaborate application of lace. Whole evening coats are being made of it, and the lining is of lustrous panne or oriental silk. Lace empire tea gowns and robes are the height of style, and with these the fan and hair ornaments are of jeweled lace.

Berthas of lace spangled with rhinestones are among the latest novelties. Choux of liberty silk of three shades

A smart reception gown is made of coffee colored crepe de chine. The collarless waist has a yoke shaped bolero of coffee colored net and Arabian lace, and it is fastened by loops of deep brenze velvet ribbon. The upper part of the sleeves is likewise decorated with a cap of the net and Arabian lace. The blouse is laid in fine tucks, and the upper half of the sleeves is also treated in the same way. These tucks are allowed to flare a little above the waist line and from the elbow down. The skirt is tucked closely at the hips, and the bottom is laid in ten soft folds.

The hat which accompanies this is of coffee colored lace trimmed with a huge brown feather. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Both are inflammations; the former of the muscle tissues, the latter of the muscous membrane. The only way to cure either is by a course of blood purifying and blood enriching treatment. He Had the Money.

A western millionaire who made a fortune out of mines and who was remarkable alike for his liberality and for his ignorance of his bank account, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, was asked one day to contribute to an object of charity. The canvasser suggested that $1,000 would be an acceptable contribution.

"That isn't enough," replied the capitalist. "I will give you five thousand if I have the money in the bank. Wait until I call up and inquire."

He summoned a clerk and told him to telephone to the bank to inquire if he had $5,000 on deposit, as he desired to contribute that sum, if possible, to a worthy object. The clerk returned and reported that the bank advised that he had $380,000 in the bank.

"Dear me," cried the capitalist, "as much as that! Well, make out that check for five thousand dollars."

A Sad Mistake.

A good story comes from Irvine way, which may be taken with a pinch of salt. On one of the vessels in the harbor there is a young son of Erin who acts as cook, etc. The crew is not large and evidently of a frugal turn of mind, and in consequence the cook's duties never varied since his arrival a month ago from the work of cleaning and gutting herring, at least so the story goes. The skipper, when up town, decided on a change and purchased a quantity of sausages. These he handed over to the cook to prepare, and the crew waited with impatience on the dinner. At last it was ready, and the boy, proud of his efforts, served up the delicacies. The captain looked for the sausages, but the pan contained only a mass of skins! The boy, following his usual custom, had treated them the same as herrings.

Not Within a Week.

London, Nov. 1.—"Miss Stone's release is not likely to be effected within a week," says a despatch from Sofia to The Daily Telegraph.

Your Nerves are Weak.

You sleep badly, appetite variable. You eat but gain no strength. Morning tiredness makes you wish it were night. When night comes refreshing sleep is hard to obtain. You're run down, your blood is thin and watery, your nerves have grown weak, the thought of effort wearies you. You need Ferrozone; it makes blood—red, strong blood. An appetite? You'll eat everything and digest it, too. Strength? That's what plenty of food gives. Ferrozone gives hope, vigour, vim, endurance. Use Ferrozone and get strong. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

THE REPUBLIC.

Then, too, sail on, O ship of state!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what Master laid thy keel,
What workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast and sail and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock;
'Tis of the wave and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of the sail
And not a rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock and tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee;
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee!

—Longfellow.

EXPRESSIVE PHRASES.

Those Which Foreigners Coming to America Learn to Use First.

What are the most expressive phrases in colloquial English? Of the dozens that slip off English speaking tongues in the course of a day some must be better suited for their purpose and more characteristic of the race that originated them than others. When foreigners come to this country, they catch certain expressions almost immediately and long before they can attempt to speak the language have made them part of their vocabulary. It would seem that these phrases must be the most expressive in English and that they are peculiar to the language and "fill a long felt want," since foreigners seize so eagerly upon them.

Every man or woman who lands in this country is saying, "Hurry up!" in two months. In whatever quarter of the city one may walk, Italian or German or Jewish, mothers will be dispatching their offspring on errands, using their native speech, but dicing their orders with the magic "Hurry up!" How delightfully characteristic of the nation is the phrase! It is not to be wondered at that the newcomers from the slow moving old world find that they have brought over nothing to equal it.

"All right" rivals "hurry up," not because foreign tongues lack similar expressions, but because there is a jolly, hail fellow well met air about "All right" lacking in other phrases of the same character. Then, too, "All right" takes the place not only of "Good," but of "Yes" and "I understand" and of a dozen other phrases which in other languages require separate expressions.

The third phrase, which alone shares the popularity of the first two, is, "It's nice." This should be interesting to purists who wish to restrict "nice" to its first and original meaning of "exact." No word of ancestry sufficiently aristocratic to please them takes the place of "nice" in its colloquial meaning, and foreigners clasp it with joy, wholly ignorant of the fact that they are outraging the feelings of anybody by so doing. Other phrases besides "Hurry up," "All right" and "It's nice" captivate the fancy of the newly landed but these three reign supreme.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

They Were Not Indians.

It is said that when the first Chinese came to California the Indians were very curious about them. A dispute arose among some of them as to what country the strangers might hail from and whether or not they were Indians. The Indians, wise as the Puritans of old, decided to apply the water test. If the accused swam, they were witches; if they drowned, they were innocent.

One day a party of Indians met a party of Chinamen approaching a little stream. The strangers approached the bridge and started across. The Indians, too, filed across and, meeting the Chinamen in midstream, pushed two of them into the angry, spooming current below. The test was conclusive. They could not swim. They were not Indians.

How to Detect a Cheap Shoe.

"It takes a rainy spell to show up a cheap shoe," says a shoe dealer. "It can be spotted by an observer on a rainy day, though it may have come within an hour from the store. Watch the feet of people the next time it rains, and you can pick out the inexpensive shoes. A cheap shoe always slips when the pavements are wet. Artificial stone pavements especially show them up. The sole of a cheap, common shoe is made of imitation leather, composed of pressed paper, and water softens it and makes the wearer slide along while walking. You can always tell a cheap shoe in this way."

The Greatest Surrender.

The greatest surrender in the annals of warfare was that of Metz on Oct. 27, 1870. As a fortified place Metz, with its surrounding forts, was practically impregnable, but bad generalship permitted it to be completely surrounded and cut off. The surrender included 3 field marshals, 06 generals, 6,000 officers of lower degree, over 400 guns, 100 mitrailleuses, nearly 00 standards and 173,000 rank and file.

Uninteresting.

"I supposed all grass widows attracted the men, but this one doesn't, and she's rather pretty too. I wonder why they permit her to stand around alone."

"Well, you see, it was all her husband's fault. She got the divorce."

It Matters a Lot.

"Now," said the teacher, "if one yard of cloth costs 35 cents, what would 100 yards cost?"

"That would depend," replied the merchant's son, "on whether you paid cash down or not."—New York Mail and Express.

Benny's Hedge.

"Benny Bloombumper, how do we know that the moon is 240,000 miles distant from the earth?"

Benny (alarmed at the teacher's manner) replied, "I-y-you said so yourself, sir."

Eat and Run.

There isn't a man who would be seen running through the street munching a piece of pie. Why not? Because it would mean dyspepsia and stomach trouble? Not at all; but because it wouldn't look well. As a matter of fact many a business man snatches a lunch in such a hurry that he might as well take it on the run. That is one reason for the prevailing "stomach trouble" among men of business.

There is a certain remedy for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The worst cases of dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach have been cured by this medicine. It cures where all other means have failed to cure.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., of Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before ——— to no avail. A gentleman told me about your medicine, and how it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad I did, for I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness. They stimulate the sluggish liver, and cleanse the system of impurities. They should always be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" when there is need of a laxative.

NOVELTIES.

Unique Things in Gloves, Collars and Boleros.

One of the French novelties in the way of gloves consists in black suede embroidered with silver. Occasionally a rhinestone is woven into the pattern. These gloves reach half way between the elbow and the shoulder, and they are meant to be worn with black evening gowns. It is quite the thing to accompany a black gown with gloves of gun metal color enlivened by a dazzling row of rhinestone buttons set in gun metal frames. White gloves are ornamented with turquoise buttons, and often beautiful bracelets are worn on the outside of these long evening gloves.

Dinner gowns for less dressy occasions are made with elbow sleeves and a round or V shaped neck. A pretty dinner gown for a young matron is made of many black gauze ruffles over a black princess slip, and each little frill is edged with a narrow black velvet ribbon. The low decolletage is outlined with a floral branch of black silk poppies plentifully jeweled with rhinestones.

NEW BOLERO AND COLLAR.

Two pretty ornaments for a plain dress are here shown. The first is a wide collar of ecru white mousseline de soie laid in fine tucks and edged with a medallion applique of heavy yellow lace. It is fastened a little to one side with a bow of black panne and a gilt buckle.

The second is a bolero jacket composed of alternate strips of black velvet and yellow lace insertion. The lower edges are cut in points, and the sleeves end at the elbow in narrow turn up ruffs.

JUDIC CROLLET.

Growing Winter Rye.

Winter rye will grow on any soil that will produce food for domestic animals. But it has a peculiar adaptation for soils sandy in texture, says Professor Thomas Shaw. It will also make a good growth on such soils when too low in fertility to produce good crops of grain or even good crops of grass. This crop is invaluable to flockmasters whose soils are sandy and rather light for abundant crop production. It will grow well enough on stiff clays, but on these it cannot be grazed when the land is wet without doing great injury to the same.

RUNNING THE ROOSTER.

A Brutal and Cowardly Sport That Flourished In Mexico.

The sport called in Mexico "running the rooster" is one of the most brutal and cowardly diversions that can be witnessed—cowardly in the extreme because the victim is always sure to be killed, has no vestige of a chance to escape his fate. Utterly defenseless by reason of his lack of size and strength, he is so treated that he cannot even use the simple means of saving himself which nature has given him.

Every old resident in Mexican communities has witnessed it, but few others have any idea what the game really is. A rooster is taken—a dozen or more may be used for a single occasion—and is buried in the ground up to the neck. The frightened thing can only turn his head and cast pitiful glances at the hilarious brutes surrounding him.

A dozen or more caballeros then mount their restless ponies and in Indian file gallop for the rooster, who keeps dodging his head in every direction to escape the hoofs of the ponies.

Rider after rider at full gallop stoops down from his saddle to grasp the fowl's head and wrest it from its living tomb. As soon as one succeeds he is off, holding the rooster by the neck. He now becomes a target for all the rest, who ride at him full speed, trying to take his prize from him.

His nearest assailant will have the rooster's body struck in his face. Should he, however, get hold of a leg or a wing, both pull. The leg or wing is liable to come off, of course, and the bird screams in agony as long as it can. But that is soon over. It is torn in pieces by the different champions.

The one who can make the designated circuit and deliver the head on the judge's stand is declared the winner and gets a small money prize.

By this time most of the contestants are bloody from head to waist if not to foot. Shouts of applause greet the valiant champion.

Another rooster goes into the pit and is compelled to pass the same ordeal. This is repeated until the supply of roosters is exhausted. Horses and men sometimes fare ill too. The riding is of a most reckless character, and horses run into each other and are thrown down. It is not many years since a man by the name of Romero had his neck broken by being thrown under his falling horse.

It is impossible to imagine a spectacle more revolting than this. In the bullfight the animal sometimes gets in a little work, but the rooster is simply butchered in the most brutal style imaginable—torn to pieces while alive—simply to gratify the savage tastes of a crowd of lookers on.

Over a Million Victims.

A careful estimate shows that one fifth of Canada's population suffer every winter with hacking lung weakening coughs. Four T's, Druggist Merrill's great discovery, cures a cough in 24 hours and the worst cold in two days making it unnecessary to wear the system out in this way. Large bottles 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's Drug Store.

The Dead One.

An old colored woman was "taking on" the other day over the death of her baby as she was going from the church to the hack which was to take her to the cemetery. A white woman who knew her happened to be passing and said sympathetically:

"Which one of your children is dead, Aunt Eliza?"

"The one in the hearse," moaned the negress.

Oxygen.

Oxygen forms one-fifth of the atmosphere, eight-ninths of the waters and, taking all together, one-half of all the materials of the globe, so far as they are known. As carbon is the basis of all the organic substances of the world, so oxygen, the supporter of life and combustion, represents its living energies.

UNDER WHICH KING.

Editor Examiner;

Dear sir,—The report is going the rounds that our worthy Mayor, Mr. Denne, and the other members of the town council (Mr. Edgcumbe excepted) are not particular about the King's birthday. The Retail Merchants think we have too many holidays, and they propose to begin by shutting down on the King. Do the Retail Merchants run the town, and are we merely lip loyal when honours are on the go? The true and loyal Canadians ought to take this matter up. No matter how we differ on politics, when it comes to the Crown, let us show that we are all of one mind. Peterborough is disgraced.

Yours, etc.,
FOR THE KING.

PUBLISH THE RESOLUTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner

Sir,—I see that Mr. Dennistoun has entered a defence of the "Children's Aid Society" re the child who died for want of proper care.

Mr. Dennistoun says "If the case in question had been reported as one of destitution or desertion the child would have been admitted at once." Now I most emphatically assert what I have stated before, that I did report the case as one of utter destitution, and I defy contradiction to this assertion, for a member of the society's board of directors was present when I made the report. The agent of the Children's Aid stated distinctly that an illegitimate child could not be admitted to the "Shelter," and that there was a resolution on the books to that effect.

The destitution of this child can hardly be denied its unfortunate mother was stretched on a bed of sickness, penniless, there was no one to keep the child except under protest, and those who kept it admitted frankly to me, that they had not the means which would enable them to give the child proper care, and they implored me to try and get it into the "Shelter." It was under these circumstances that I applied to the Children's Aid.

There is a discrepency among the officials in reference to a resolution on the books of the society. One party says that the resolution positively prohibits the admission of an illegitimate child to the Shelter, and if I understand Mr. Dennistoun correctly, he alleges in effect, that there is no such resolution on the books. Now how would it do publish this resolution just as it stands and then the citizens would know precisely, whether or not the social status of the parents is considered, before a destitute child can be admitted to the "Shelter."

A ROYAL ODELET.

(Printed exclusively by the Examiner, by special permission of the London Times.)

O Duke and Dukess, hail! all hail!
We're glad to see you home again,
That chance to say, will never fail,—
"O King and Kingess, reign! all reign!

Sweet Dukess, we'd have had you stay
A little longer with us here,
But little dukelings, far away,
Were blubbering for "Mammy" dear.

You may be regal, queenly, too,
And dower'd with greatness as none other,
But the sweetest, queeniest part in you,
Is the roy'l way you play the mother.

Would Teddy VII be what he is—
A king who praise from all will win,
Had not his mother known her biz—
Spankings with love taps sandwiched in?

The crown did not gild motherhood,
But motherhood illumed the crown,—
In all man kin's great brotherhood,
No name has won such sweet renown.

O Royal Pair, though now at 'Ome,
You ne'er have been in foreign parts,
Where'er, eight months, your feet might roam,
You've had a home in loyal hearts.

God bless you both, great Duke and Duchess,
You've won our hearts, you've won our prayers,
That Heaven's hand, with gentle touches,
May 'fend your life from carking cares.

Here's to you then, O Duke and Dukess,
Long lives, with happiness all through,
And reigns so blest that it will look as
Grandmother's spirit reigned through you.

Take them to Ormond & Walsh's Drug Store and he will give you a bottle of Four T's, the best, safest and quickest cure known for coughs and colds. More than a quarter million bottles sold in 5 years proves Four T's the best lung compound known. It is a positive cure for whooping cough.

AUSTRALIA AND THE NAVY.

Sydney, Nov. 5.—Mr. Wise, the Attorney-General, after addressing a gathering of yachtsmen yesterday, said the New South Wales Government had repeatedly informed the Admiralty that the colony was able to provide 10,000 skilled seamen for service anywhere. This information he added, was ignored, for some reason best known to the officials. Mr. Wise suggested that the three warships which were lying in reserve at Sydney should be manned by skeleton crews, the complements being filled by volunteers for training purposes. The suggestion is much commented on by the press, and is generally approved.

A Daily Nuisance.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later the disease extends to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucous, stoppage of the nostrils, irritation in throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging, and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often give temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh, is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These Tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalyptol and similar cleansing antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth, in this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire alimentary canal.

If desired, they can also be dissolved in water and used as a douche, in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche—a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use internally of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche.

Dr. Bement states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching and local applications, and further says that probably the best and certainly the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are contained in this tablet."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at fifty cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist, and if he is honest he will tell you there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the market.

THE BOARD OF WORKS reported as follows through its chairman, Ald. Best:

1. That the Town Engineer be instructed to deepen the ditch on Edinburgh street, west of Downie street, to carry away water, the cost not to exceed $10.

2. That the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust be asked to cancel the sale of the lots north of Townsend street made to the General Electric Company, and if this is done that the Engineer be authorized to, if practicable, remove the gravel from the lots, and use it where needed on the streets.

3. Your Board received one tender for the construction of a sewer on Perry street from Aylmer to George streets, and on Rubidge street from Dublin to Edinburgh streets, but considering the tender to be a high one we asked for new tenders to be received up to four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon next.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE FINANCE COMITTEE, reported through Ald. Best:

1. Mr. W. H. Moore, having made a digest of the special acts of Parliament relating to the Town of Peterborough, and having placed the same at the disposal of the town, your committee accepted Mr. Moore's valuable gift and have authorized the chairman to take the necessary steps to have it printed.

2. Your committee received a letter from the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., asking for an extension of time for filling in the branch stream on Reid street until the end of May, 1902, and saying that they would maintain the bridge over it in the meantime, and asking for a payment of $1200 now on the work they have done in connection with the diversion of the stream which crosses McDonel street, the town to retain the remaining $500 until the work is all completed. We recommend that the request of the company be granted.

3. Your committee recommend that Mr. T. E. Bradburn be appointed a trustee on behalf of the town under the mortgage from the Midland Ry. Co., in place of the late William Cluxton.

4. Your committee recommend that Mr. Robert Innis be appointed a Commissioner of the Peterborough Town Trust in succession to the late R. S. Davidson.

5. Your committee recommend that an account be sent to the Dominion Government for $16, for the use of the fire engine in pumping out a dredge.

THE FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE reported as follows through the chairman, Ald. Clinkscale:

1. Your Committee recommend that the Peterborough Water Co. be instructed to place a hydrant at the intersection of Perry and Bethune streets.

2. Your committee left the application of John Montgomery for holidays with the chairman of this committee to deal with it.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. CLINKSCALE,

The report was adopted.

The bylaw respecting the street railway franchise was introduced by Ald. Rush and Shortly. It provided for the restoration of the franchise to the company in its original condition, as granted in 1893 to the Canadian General Electric Company, any lapses from the provisions being condoned. An additional clause provides for the entire line being in operation, including extensions to Jackson Park and the Locks, by July next.

Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, Dickson Davidson, E. H. D. Hall and J. W. Shook were present in the interests of the company, and the former thanked the council for so readily acting on his suggestions, intimating that the new company which is about to assume the franchise within the next day or two, would put the street railway into first-class condition.

A bylaw was also passed, as introduced by Ald. Best, appointing Mr. T. E. Bradburn as trustee in the place of the late Mr. Wm. Cluxton in connection with the Midland Railway mortgage.

Ald. Rush and Shortly moved that the Town Engineer report immediately on the new bridge just completed by Wm. Langford.

A deputation from Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, was received, composed of Messrs. Thomas Gunn, Joseph Downing and J. J. Turner. They asked that the King's Birthday be observed on Saturday, stating that they were appointed by the Lodge to interview the council in respect to the matter.

Mayor Denne explained that the Executive of the Retail Merchants' Association had announced to the farmers that the stores would be open on Saturday, and suggested that the holiday be observed on Monday.

Ald. Edgcumbe expressed the opinion that the men who took upon themselves to announce that the market would be held on Saturday, had gone a step too far. They had not consulted the merchants about the matter.

Ald. Shortly said that he had not been consulted and agreed with Ald. Edgcumbe.

On the suggestion of the Mayor, the deputation agreed to, bring in a petition to-morrow asking for Monday to be observed, as Saturday is now too close at hand to notify the farmers that business would be suspended for that day.

The Council then adjourned until Wednesday.

TAMMANY'S DEFEAT

Croker's Candidates Defeated All Along the Line.

JEROME FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

In Greater New York Seth Low Was Elected Mayor Over Shechan—"Time for a Change."—Mr. Croker's Reason for the Result, Which Causes Him to Announce His Retirement From Politics.

New York, Nov. 6.—Seth Low, former President of Columbia University, and four years ago the citizens' Union candidate for mayor of Greater New York, was yesterday elected the second mayor of Greater New York by a plurality ranging anywhere from 80,000 to 40,000, defeating Edward M. Shepard of Brooklyn, the Democratic nominee. The campaign was an exciting one, and the vote, though somewhat less than the presidential election a year ago, was the largest ever polled in a municipal contest in this city.

In addition to the canvass for mayor, public interest largely centered in the nomination by the Fusionists of William Travers Jerome for District Attorney, and Mayor Robert A. Van Wyck by the Democrats for Justice of the Supreme Court. Both the candidates for District Attorney and Justice of the Supreme Court were voted for only in the territory contained in New York County. Returns received up to 11 p.m. indicate that Jerome had been elected by a comfortable plurality, and that Mayor Van Wyck had been defeated, the latter running behind his ticket from 15,000 to 20,000.

Returns also indicate the complete triumph of the Greater New York Fusion ticket, Charles Vincent Ferns the nominee of the Citizens' Union and the Republicans, defeating Geo. M. Van Hoesen, the Democratic nominee, E. M. Grout, for the past 4 years Democratic President of the Mayor-Elect Seth Low of Greater New York.

Borough of Brooklyn, now the Fusionist nominee for Comptroller, has also defeated W. W. Ladd, jr., Democrat.

About 11 o'clock Mr. Low gave out a formal statement in which he said: "The outcome of this election is a splendid vindication of universal suffrage. The agencies that have brought it about are many. Those who labored so long and so patiently to bring about the successful fusion so loyally are entitled to the greatest credit. For myself I ask for the generous and constant support of the community in the great task to which it has summoned me. And I dedicate every power that I have to its loyal service."

With the election of Seth Low as Mayor, Charles V. Fornes as president of the Board of Aldermen, and Edward M. Grout as comptroller, the Fusionist triumph in Greater New York appears nearly complete.

The grand total for Mayor, 145 districts missing, for greater New York, is: Low (Fusion) 268,318; Shepard (Democrat), 238,914.

Reports received from the various sections of New York State show that the Republicans will retain control of the Lower House of the State Legislature. In the various municipal contests reported from up the State, the most interesting elections noted were those of Albany, Troy, Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo.

The city of Albany will be carried by the Republicans, ex-Senator David B. Hill taking no active part in the local canvass.

The election in Troy was a lively one, a number of arrests for illegal voting being made. Former United States Senator Murphy headed the fight for the candidate of the Democrats, while former Governor Black managed the campaign for the Progressive Democratic-Republican ticket. Seymour Van Santwoord, the candidate for Mayor, supported by ex-Governor Black, was easily elected.

In Buffalo the entire Republican city and county ticket was elected, Erastus C. Knight, the State Comptroller, being chosen mayor.

The result in Rochester was close, but Mayor Warner's friends claim his election over the Republican candidate.

In Syracuse, Mayor McGuire, for a number of years past the Democratic Mayor of the city, was defeated by Kling, the Republican nominee.

THE TAMMANY DEFEAT.

A Large Number of Papers Concede the Election of Seth Low.

New York, Nov. 6.—The following papers concede the election of Seth Low, Fusionist candidate for Mayor, by pluralities ranging anywhere from 30,000 to 55,000: Brooklyn Daily Eagle, The Evening and Morning World, The Evening Journal, The Tribune, The Times, The Herald and The Press.

Richard Croker at 8.45 o'clock last night conceded the election of Seth Low, Fusion candidate for Mayor, but Mr. Croker was not willing at that time to give up the county ticket. He said he was much disappointed at the Brooklyn vote, as he had expected Mr. Shepard to make a good showing there, it being his home borough. As to the causes for the defeat of the Democrat ticket, Mr. Croker said he was inclined to ascribe it to the large silent vote, and the fact that the people sometimes feel that they want a change.

Mr. Croker, Maurice Untermyer and Senator T. D. Sullivan were together at dinner last night, and then and there, Richard Croker abdicated his leadership of Tammany and turned it over to John F. Carroll.

Seth Low, at 9 o'clock last night, said at his home, where he was receiving election returns: "I suppose it is safe to assume that the result of the election is now assured. It bears out what my friends have anticipated, and I am very much gratified at the result. This is a pleasant outcome of a hard struggle. I appreciate heartily the splendid support the newspapers have given this movement. I think they have been a splendid and important factor in bringing about the result."

Edward M. Shepard, at 10 o'clock last night, publicly conceded the election of Seth Low, and sent him a telegram of congratulation.

Returns so far received from different sections of New York State indicate that the Lower House of the State Legislature will be composed of Assemblymen grouped as follows: Republicans, 84; Democrats, 45; Fusionists, 21. Generally speaking, in Greater New York the Fusionists were supported by the regular Republican organization.

After going over the entire ground and including the money paid by the State to special election deputies and the thousands paid out by the district leaders of both organizations The New York Times estimates that not less than $2,500,000 was put in actual circulation in Greater New York on account of the election.

Governors Elected.

Ohio—Governor Nash, Republican, carried the state by over 50,000, with a decisive Republican majority in each branch of the Legislature.

Massachusetts—Crane, Republican, probably elected by about 65,000 plurality, compared with 97,000 last year.

New Jersey—Franklin Murphy, Republican, has been elected Governor by about 10,000 plurality. Both branches of the Legislature will be Republican.

Iowa—Cummins, Republican, elected by a plurality of 90,000 for Governor.

Sir Robert Ball asserted that every 100 years the sun loses 5 miles of its diameter. To allay anxiety, however, he mentioned that the diameter of the sun is 860,000 miles and that 40,000 years hence the diameter would still be 858,000 miles.

THREE CHICAGO DOCTORS

Failed to Do for Miss Mabelle L. LaMonte What Was Accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was in an awful state for nearly three years with a complication of female troubles which three physicians called by different names, but the pains were all the same. I dreaded the time of my monthly periods for it meant a couple of days in bed in awful agony. I finally made up my mind that the good doctors were guessing; and hearing from different friends such good reports of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I tried that. I bless the day I did, for it was the dawning of a new life for me. I used five bottles before I was cured, but when they were taken I was a well woman once more. Your Compound is certainly wonderful. Several of my friends have used it since, and nothing but the best do I ever hear from its use."—Yours, MABELLE L. ABUSE THAT MAKES A MINISTER STRONG.

(Belleville Ontario.)

There is a homely proverb to the effect that you will always find the most sticks and stones around the best apple-tree, which is capable of being applied with reference to Hon. J. R. Stratton, the Provincial Secretary. Of late this Minister has figured a good deal as the point of assault by the Opposition press, which means nothing else to an intelligent observer than that Mr. Stratton is bearing good fruit which will ripen to the Liberal harvest.

As a private member of the Legislature he was one of the most public spirited and active of the people's representatives. He always impressed us as a man who took his position seriously, and who, if he considered his personal advancement at all, aimed to obtain this through the straight avenues of honest and wise endeavour which lead to public appreciation. He was not even then always a follower, for the conceptions of his thoroughly practical mind exerted in different directions the formation of the Ross Government's present wide-awake policy which is easily conceded to be statesmanlike in its comprehensive character, reflecting the sympathies and aspirations of the people of the Province. It was the natural sequence that he would soon be called into the Cabinet, where his energy and fidelity to public interests would be certain to give the Government increased force and effectiveness in coping with the fiscal problems with which it is constantly being confronted.

When he became the Provincial Secretary, he at once threw his heart and soul into the responsible duties of that Department. It may be claimed that the thorough work of his predecessors made his task a smooth one; but it is not the less plain that he has given strict and conscientious attention to every detail connected with the numerous duties of his Department. The important public institutions which are especially his care are conducted with such ability as to make Ontario acknowledged in that regard the foremost Province in the world.

The public has good grounds for its appreciation of Mr. Stratton, which can only be increased by the tribute paid to his worth by the attacks of the self-interested papers of the Opposition. Every step made by the Government calculated to earn the approval of the electors lessens the chances of the Opposition, and we should judge by the attention which the papers of the other party are paying the indefatigable Provincial Secretary that he is doing much good work in that direction. Ill-natured criticism of opponents as the result of popularity with the voting public is a thing to be courted by a Cabinet Minister.

THE POET LAUREATE'S WELCOME.

Mr. Alfred Austin, Poet Laureate of Great Britain, has not, it may be humbly submitted, very brilliantly justified his appointment to that Parnassian preeminence, but in his latest essay he strikes a rather higher flight. It has a genuine patriotic ring, and sincere and happy sentiments are clothed in elegant verbal attire. In fact some of the lines in "A Royal Homecoming," are reminiscent in tone and graceful modulation of the style of Alfred the Great — Tennyson. For instance, what mind can exclude the thought of Tennyson in reading these lines of the later Alfred:

"Waned to their slumber in the starlit night,
And ever from land or lake, from wave or crag, etc."

If Mr. Austin keeps up to the literary and poetical level he has achieved in this poem, he will be in a fair way to wear gracefully the mantle of Alfred Tennyson, which has been placed upon his shoulders:

A ROYAL HOMECOMING.

Welcome, right welcome, home to these blest isles,
Where, unforgotten, loved Victoria sleeps;
But now with happy pride your father smiles,
Your mother weeps!

You went and came as swallows homeward draw,
Now it hath winged its way to winter's green,
But never swallow or wandering seabird saw,
What you have seen.

For you have circled earth with pinions fleet,
The seasons through; and everywhere a throng
Of glowing hearts your coming trooped to greet
With flowers and song.

O'er the unchanging sea eight changeful moons
Have moved from shield to sickle, seed to sheaves;
And twice a hundred dawns, a hundred noons,
A hundred eves

Waned to their slumber in the starlit night,
And ever from land or lake, from wave or crag,
From fixed or floating fort, you had in sight
The British flag.

And wider, further, onward round the world,
Securing the field, or furrowing the sea,
You found that emblem, which, where'er unfurled,
Floats o'er the free.

So that on man and man's laborious hand
No manacle nor hindrance shall be laid,
But mind with mind, and strand with generous strand,
Contend and trade.

And though the shade of treasonable strife
Falls on our homes and theirs you, wandering, saw,
Young commonwealths you found, surgwith life,
Yet ruled by law,

Whose blood infused in ours in war's emprise
To vindicate one sceptre, sword and tongue,
As ours perchance may help to keep them wise,
Hath made us young.

Fountain of youth, England in mellower years
Hath found and drained, so that she ne'er need know,
What nature feels when autumn stacks and seres,
Or Yule gusts blow.

You sailed from us to them, from them to us,
Love at the prow and Wisdom at the helm,
August ambassadors, who strengthen thus
Her rule and realm!

Round you to-day a people stand arrayed
That fain with peace two wedded worlds would dower;
Therefore rejoicing mightier hath been made
Imperial power!

—ALFRED AUSTIN.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

General Buller's bother over the now celebrated heliogram goes to convince him that "sunny ways" are not always appreciated.

The demand of the Turkish bandits, making Miss Stone's ransom the equivalent to her weight in gold, places her distinctly in the category of precious stones.

Hereafter the Primitive Methodist Church of the United States will tolerate no money-making socials, bun-feeds, bazaars, pink teas, festivals, etc., in connection with the church. The money will be asked for and members will be expected to "shell out" according to their means. This is simply a return to primitive Methodist methods.

Since anarchists kindly refrain from slaughtering our good King, the American newspaper correspondents seem determined to "remove" him nolens volens. They are giving it to him in the neck—cancer — or prostrating him with some deadly disease two or three times every twenty-four hours. And still the King obstinately continues to live, and will, we hope, continue to live, though some persons in Peterborough cannot consent to drop their yardsticks long enough to pray "God Save the King" even on his Majesty's Birthday.

Perfect Cure for Bronchitis.

This disease can be cured only by a remedy carried to the affected parts along with the air breathed, for nature intended these organs for the passage of air alone, and sprays, atomizers, and internal medicines utterly fail. But Catarrhosone does not fail, for it goes wherever the air breathed goes, and its healing antiseptic vapour is sure to reach every affected part. Catarrhosone is inhaled at the mouth and after passing through every air cell of the breathing organs is slowly exhaled through the nostrils. Catarrhosone protects and heals the inflamed surfaces, relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and perfectly cures all bronchial affections. Price $1; small size, 25 cents. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Sour Stomach

Is Often the Real Cause of a Sour Temper.

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition, is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Johnston wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a fact which none may dispute that a sunny disposition more often results from a healthy digestion than from any other cause.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gases, which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves, and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues," but how quickly all these disappear when appetite and digestion are restored!

Laxative medicines only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels and have no effect upon actual digestion of food.

The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate.

The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach trouble is because they contain in a pleasant concentrated tablet form all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says, "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life, should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself, and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigour to their daily use.

"From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal.

"I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction, which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous, but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

THE CYPRUS TREATY

Sultan Relies Upon It to Make Great Britain Stop France.

FRENCH FLEET MAKES A SEIZURE

The Turkish Customs at Smyrna Seized by Admiral Caillard's Squadron—The Course of the Government Toward Turkey Endorsed in the French Chamber—Speech by M. Delcasse.

Paris, Nov. 5.—"The Porte has asked Great Britain," says the Constantinople correspondent of The Echo de Paris, "to fulfill the terms of the convention of 1878, whereby in exchange for the Island of Cyprus, Great Britain guarantees the integrity of the Sultan's Asiatic possessions.

"The Porte claims, under this convention that Great Britain should protect Turkey against attack by France and suggests that Great Britain should send a squadron to the Levant for the purpose."

According to the Athens correspondent of The Journal, a fresh despatch boat arrived yesterday (Monday) at Syra, capital of the Island of Syra, to get a number of despatches that were waiting at the telegraph office.

French Seized the Customs.

London, Nov. 5.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says he understands that despatches have been received at the French capital, announcing that Admiral Caillard's division of the French Mediterranean squadron has arrived at Smyrna and seized the customs.

Endorsed Delcasse.

Paris, Nov. 5.—After a speech delivered by Foreign Minister Delcasse who said France was tired of the Porte's broken promises, the Chamber of Deputies yesterday sustained, by a vote of 305 to 77, the Government's action towards Turkey.

Excessive Freight Rates.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—The Militia Department has received the long service medals to be awarded to members of the Canadian militia who have served for twenty years or more. It is expected that decorations for officers will arrive in a week.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, will attend the annual banquet of the Canadian Society of New York on Thursday, and reply to the toast to Canada.

The Minister of the Interior has been receiving from the west complaints against the excessive freight rates on the White Pass and Yukon railways. It is said that Mr. Sifton will lay the matter before the Minister of Railways, so that the charges may be investigated.

Norwegian Steamer Aground.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 5.—The Norwegian steamer Kong Haakon struck on the rocks of Isle Madame, near Arichat, C.B., Sunday night in a thick fog and remains there hard and fast. She will probably prove a total loss, as a storm is approaching. The steamer was laden with seals and was on her way from Cape Tormentine to Cardiff. The crew, after the steamer stranded, made every effort to get her off, but without success, and at daybreak yesterday the decks were under water. The Kong Haakon is owned in Norway, is of 1,478 tons and was formerly the British steamer Earndale. She carried no passengers.

Thinks to Disprove Koch.

New York, Nov. 5.—Positive signs of tuberculosis have appeared in the cow that was inoculated with germs by Dr. George D. Barney of Brooklyn several days ago. Dr. Barney will permit the signs to become more pronounced, and will then kill the cow and hold an autopsy. Dr. Barney is now certain that he has disproved Dr. Koch's theory that human tuberculosis and bovine tuberculosis are not communicable. The cow was inoculated ten days ago. On Saturday last it began to show a fever, and now all the known signs of tuberculosis are apparent in the beast.

WON'T YOU

Write a Postal

TO GET WELL?

Send me no money, but simply write me a postal if you are not well. Pay when you get well.

I will send you a book that tells how a lifetime of study has enabled me to strengthen the inside nerves. Those are the nerves that operate the stomach, kidneys, heart, womanly organism etc. Weakness of these organs means weakness of those nerves. Nerve strength alone makes any organ do its duty.

I will send you, too, an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Use it for a month, and if it succeeds pay him $5.50 for it. If not, I will pay him myself.

No matter how difficult your case; no matter what you have tried. If my book shows you that your trouble is nerve weakness and most sickness is—I will warrant my Restorative to cure you.

I fail sometimes, but not often. My records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay, and pay gladly. I have learned that most people are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Mine is the only way to restore vital nerve power. Other treatments bring but fleeting results at best. If you want to be well, let me send you an order for the medicine. If it cures pay $5.50. I leave the decision to you.

Simply state which book you want and name of your dealer, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

FOLLOWED THE LEADER.

A Case Where Naval Cadets Turned Discipline Into a Joke.

Among other good stories told by Cyrus Townsend Brady in his "Under Tops'ls and Tents," published by Scribners, is this:

It is related that a large number of naval cadets were negligent in following the service in the chapel, which was after the ritual of the Episcopal church. An incautious officer in charge on Sunday morning made a little address to the church party on the subject, saying he supposed that some of them erred through ignorance, but if they would observe him carefully and do as he did—in military parlance, follow the motions of the commanding officer—they would not go wrong.

Word was passed quietly through the battalion. They marched into the church. The officer in charge took his place in the front pew, settled himself in his seat and calmly blew his nose. Three hundred noses were blown simultaneously with a vehemence that was startling. The officer looked around and blushed violently in great surprise. Three hundred heads "followed the motions of the commanding officer." Six hundred cheeks violently tried to blush, a hard thing to for a midshipman to do, and so on through the service.

The man could not stir without instant imitation. He finally confined himself strictly to the prescribed ritual of the service, looking neither to the right nor to the left, not daring to raise a finger or breathe out of the ordinary course. This enterprise also was a startling success.

The cadets received other instructions later in the day from a furious officer who sternly resented their innocent statements that they did not know which was ritual and which was not and that he had not instructed them that blowing his nose stood on a different plane from saying his prayers. It was a huge joke everywhere.

One in Four Has Piles.

The Most Torturing Disease That Man has Ever Known—The Safest and Most Certain Cure is Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Of the grown-up persons you meet from day to day on in four suffers more or less from itching, bleeding or protruding piles. Mock modesty leads many to suffer in silence, others dread the surgeon's knife, and, believing an operation to be the only cure, neglect to be treated. Some have found out by actual trial that piles can be promptly relieved and thoroughly cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

If you are a sufferer from this exasperating ailment and will once make a test of Dr. Chase's Ointment you will be greatful to the end of your life for having read this advertisement. It will certainly cure you, no matter what forms of piles you have, so long as you give it an honest trial.

It has been frequently remarked by persons who have used this preparation that it has probably relieved more suffering from itching skin disease than any remedy that the world has known. While remarkably effective as a cure for eczema and salt rheum, Dr. Chase's Ointment is unique as the only actual and proven cure for each and every form of piles.

Mr. W. D. Ketchison, Bailiff, 9th Division Court, Frankford, Hastings County, states:—

"I was troubled for thirty years with Itching Piles and Eczema. I could not sleep at night, and when I got warm the itching was terrible. Eczema covered my legs down to the knees—perfectly raw. I have tried every preparation I could hear of. Seeing Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, I procured a box, and less than this one box effected a complete cure."

If you have not met with some one who has been cured of piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment, ask your neighbours about it. It is impossible to publish testimonials of persons that all readers know, but by asking your friends you are sure to hear good words for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is standard the world over and is guaranteed to cure any case of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

He was found some time later, and Dr. Hilker of Underwood found on examination that his spine was broken. He died Sunday morning. Deceased was unmarried.

Your Nerves are Weak.

You sleep badly, appetite variable. You eat but gain no strength. Morning tiredness makes you wish it were night. When night comes refreshing sleep is hard to obtain. You're run down, your blood is thin and watery, your nerves have grown weak, the thought of effort wearies you. You need Ferrozone; it makes blood—red, strong blood. An appetite? You'll eat everything and digest it, too. Strength? That's what plenty of food gives. Ferrozone gives hope, vigour, vim, endurance. Use Ferrozone and get strong. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Mr. Timothy Crowley was going home and was driving a team of spirited horses attached to a waggon. The horses became unmanageable and threw Mr. Crowley out on the hard road. He was badly cut around the head and received other serious injuries. He was picked up by Mr. Jos. Smithson and carried to his home. The waggon was badly smashed as a result of the runaway.

Something That Should Certainly be Seen.

It is conceded by all those who have been so fortunate as to see West's "Life in the British Navy" in Toronto or other Canadian cities, that it is the very best entertainment that will be provided for the people of Peterborough this season. It's value in an educational way is inestimable alone and gives one a clear idea of the life and career of the sailor of the British Navy from the time he enters it as a boy on board a training ship. The pictures are each surrounded by bright music and realistic effects. Besides the moving pictures a large number of still pictures are shown, including scenes of the Duke of York's tour. The pictures of the decorations and illuminations at Montreal and Ottawa are alone worth the price of admission. Prices, 25 and 39 cts., reserved seats 50 cts. Matinee Saturday, 25 cts., children 15 cts.

GUY FAWKES' DAY.

Col. Saunderson Lodge, No. 321, L. O. L., marked Guy Fawkes' Day by having a fowl supper at Downer's Corners, last night, when the attendance was too large for the hall and many could not obtain admittance.

During the evening addresses were delivered by Rev. C. L. Thompson, of Mark street church, Ashburnham; Mr. Joseph Batten, County Master, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's church. The latter addressed his remarks largely to the Coronation Oath incident and stated while Orangeism was not intended to represent intolerancy still it stood for "no compromise." He thought that in many instances Orangemen were sacrificing blood-bought principles for the sake of toleration.

Another fowl supper is to be held on Friday evening in the Orange Hall.

Last Night's Play.

Mr. Edouard D'Oize and his talented company presented "The Mountebank" at the opera house, last night, to a very large audience, attracted no doubt by the fact that D'Oize is always a great favourite in Peterborough. Special reference should be made to the richness of the costumes, last evening, they being very handsome indeed. D'Oize as the Mountebank, of course, was splendid. He was well supported by Eugene Flagg, Chas. H. Montgomery A. Christie and a large caste.

The Obsequies Were Attended by Forty-one Priests, a Monsignor and Three Bishops—Hon. F. R. Latchford Present.

The funeral took place yesterday morning at ten o'clock, from St. Mary's church, Lindsay, of the late Monsignor Laurent, Vicar-General of the Diocese of Peterborough.

A large number of those whose deep love, admiration and respect had been won by the deceased prelate were in attendance from Peterborough, as well as from all the surrounding towns and villages.

Solemn Requiem Mass was sung by Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough. Rt. Rev. Father McCann, Vicar-General of Toronto, officiated as assistant priest, Rev. Thos. Spratt, of Wolfe Island, as deacon, and Rev. Father Dumoschel, C.S.B., of Toronto, as sub-deacon. Rev. Dr. O'Brian of Peterborough, was master-of-ceremonies.

The sermon was delivered by Rt. Rev. F. P. McEvay, D.D., Bishop of London, who spoke from the text, "Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted." The address was a practical and timely one, redolent with beautiful thought and dealing largely with the good works of the deceased, especially in connection with the Lindsay parish.

The service at the grave was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough.

The funeral was attended in a body by the Protestant clergy of Lindsay.

Amongst the distinguished ecclesiastical dignitaries present were Most Rev. C. H. Gauthier, Archbishop of Kingston, and Monsignor Farrelly of Belleville.

Hon. F. R. Latchford, Commissioner of Public Works, was also present to pay a last tribute of respect to the deceased.

The following priests, who formerly worked with the late Vicar-General in Lindsay at different periods, were in attendance: Rev. Thos. Spratt, of Wolfe Island; Rev. Michael Spratt, of Elgin; Rev. Wm. O'Boyle, O.M.I., of Ottawa University; Rev. Jos. Kennedy, C.S.B., of Sandwich; and Rev. P. A. Twohey of Picton. The priests who attended from points outside the diocese were Rev. Father Aylward, Rector of St. Peter's cathedral, Toronto; Rev. Father LeChair, of St. Patrick's cathedral, Montreal; Rev. Father Laborieau, of Penetang; Rev. Father Jephcott, of Stayner; Rev. Father O'Malley, of Oshawa; Rev Father Primeau, S.J., of Sault Ste. Marie; Rev. Father Thumel, of North East, Erie, Pa; and Rev. Father Nolan and Rev. Father Coty, of Hamilton.

Nearly all the priests of the Diocese were present, making the total number of priests in attendance forty-exclusive of the Bishops and Monsignor.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD.

Regular Monthly Meeting Was Held Last Evening.

The regular meeting of the Young Men's Guild, of St. Andrew's church, was held last night, there being a large turn-out of members. In the absence of the president, Mr. Thos. Anderson, the chair was occupied by the vice-president, Mr. Will Campbell. Amongst the business transacted was the fixing of the date for the annual concert which will take place on Monday, December 9th, for which date the best available talent will be procured. Mr. John Lang read a very interesting paper on Canada, on which he was heartily congratulated.

Rev. J. G. Potter also read an interesting paper. Mr. Frank McNaughton gave several of his recitations and Messrs. James Brown and S. F. Teft rendered several vocal selections.

THE HULL CASE.

The Charge Dismissed Without the Prisoner Being Called Upon to Offer a Defence.

To-day at a special sittings of the County Judge's Criminal Court, John Norman Hull and Thomas Hull, of Harvey, were charged with stealing certain gear belonging to the yacht Flash, the property of Mr. D. Breese, of Peterborough.

Mr. H. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, prosecuted, and Mr. W. A. Stratton, K. C., and Mr. O. A. Langley, defended the prisoners.

After hearing the evidence which was brought against Mr. John N. Hull by the Crown, the Judge dismissed the charge without calling upon the prisoner for a defence.

Upon the charge against Mr. Thomas Hull, the Crown brought forward no witnesses, and it was dismissed.

The Royal chorus is being photographed at Whiten's. The photo will be a valuable souvenir to remember when the Royal chorus sang before the future King and Queen of England.

MLLE. DE CREY'S RECITAL.

An Evening of Musical Luxury at Her Pianoforte Recital.

Music de luxe rightly names the excellent programme presented at the pianoforte recital of Miss De Crey, in St. Paul's school room last night. A refined, and certainly appreciative, audience, were the delighted listeners. Appreciative — for generous and discriminating applause, through the medium of daintily gloved palms, was cordially in evidence; refined, necessarily—because the audience was composed very largely of ladies, only one in a score of the common clay, yclept man, mingling with the delicate porcelain of the gentler sex.

Mademoiselle De Crey is a charming little French woman, whose national vivacity is expressed as much in the nervous elasticity of her physical movements as in the flash of dark eyes. Her performance as a pianiste suggests that her nerves and muscles are set to music and, being a teacher of the pianoforte, her services in this capacity must be important if they are to be measured by her excellent performance upon that instrument. In her programme she set herself no light task—about a dozen compositions, beginning with the old masters, Beethoven and Scarlatti, and including Tchaikowski, Brahms, Schumann, Chopin, Moskowski and Wagner, were rendered with creditable skill. All these were performed by memory, except a few bars of the Magic Fire Scene from Wagner's "Die Walkure." A detailed analysis of her performance is not demanded. It is enough to say that Miss De Crey is a finished performer, with a vigorous, virile, crisp, touch, and remarkable technical facility, conjoined with a most expressive style — even in the most headlong rush of the most rapid cadenzas, dainty shading finds a place — everything is not sacrificed to a reckless display of digital dexterity. Mademoiselle De Crey last night played her way to a warm place in the hearts of her hearers. She gave an intellectual rendering of her numbers, varying in style from the stately solidity and robust dignity of a Beethoven sonata to the sparkling airiness of a Brahms caprice or a Chopin mazourka.

Balance and variety were given the musical menu by the assisting artists. Mrs. A. G. Parker, a favourite with Peterborough audiences, revived her former vocal triumphs in singing with her old time sweetness three beautiful songs, "The Voice of the Western Wind," an "Irish Folk Song," and, for an encore number to the latter, singing with fine characteristic expressiveness, a dainty little French chanson. Miss M. Melish, of Toronto, furnished two violin solos, a dreamy romance by Tchaikowsky, and a sprightlier number, a polonaise by Sitt. This young lady, who showed considerable technical skill, was warmly applauded. Her second selection was heartily encored.

Altogether a very pleasant and instructive musical evening was passed. Mademoiselle De Crey at the close received personal congratulations, and if they were as cordial as they were deserved, she has excellent reason to be pleased with her evening's triumphy.

MORE LICENSES

That Have Been Taken out by Local Marksmen.

The local deer hunters are still moving back north and the indications are that the number of those who have taken out licenses will go much over that of last year. So far this season the number of these licenses issued by the local issuer of deer-shooting licenses, Mr. J. B. McWilliams, is 115 against 116 for the whole of last season. But there will be a number more licenses taken out yet, it is safe to say. The number of permits issued to settlers in the north country is 85.

The following additional permits have been issued: Milford Northy, Smith; John McBride, Monaghan; M. O'Brien, Peterborough; W. J. White, Ashburnham; W. G. Matrow, Peterborough; Smith Milburn, Selby; T. O. Arnott, Jas. Arnott, Monaghan; Frank Lawless, R. Neil, Peterborough; G. Creston, Springville; T. W. Bailey, Toronto; R. B. McKee, H. LeBrun, Peterborough.

GIVE THE NAMES.

Editor Examiner;

Dear sir,—Like many others, I was surprised to hear that a "dodger" had been distributed on Saturday last, notifying the farmers that the King's birthday, (notwithstanding it is a statutory holiday) would not be recognized in Peterborough, and that the market would be held as usual. Of course, I naturally concluded that there had been a meeting of the merchants, and after grave consideration, this decision had been arrived at. Imagine my surprise when on inquiry of some of our largest merchants, I was informed they knew nothing of the matter, and had not even been consulted.

Now, Mr. Editor, what I and many others would like to know is "Who did it?" and what right had they to take any such action?

I am not concerned to argue whether such action was wise or seemly, but things have come to a pretty pass in Peterborough if a few officious and impertinent nobodies can take it on themselves to decide whether a Statutory Holiday shall be observed in town or not. Talk about gall! I never heard the beat of this specimen.

But please, Mr. Editor, tell us through your valuable columns to whom we are indebted for thus running our affairs? Surely the gentlemen who took so much on themselves should not be ashamed to take the responsibility and have their names published. I think the B.O.E. did quite right not to proceed with any petition to the Mayor and Council asking that Monday be observed as a holiday. If any such action is to be necessary in regard to statutory holidays in future, a petition had better be passed around at once, or we shall have some impertinent meddler decide that we shall not observe Christmas day, as I notice that falls on a market day, too.

Any way, just let us know where we stand, and publish the names of our masters. I don't know at present who they are, but would wager a pair of old boots that they are our loudest loyalty shouters at election times.

Thanking you in anticipation.

Yours Respectfully,
PURE GALL.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The special committee appointed to enquire into the salaries paid teachers in the Collegiate Institutes and High Schools of the leading towns and and cities of the province, reported as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education,—

Gentlemen,—Your committee beg leave to report that according to their instructions they obtained the list of salaries paid the teachers in the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes of the Province. We find that Hamilton pays their principal $1800, Kingston $1800, Belleville $1200, St. Thomas $1500, Stratford $1550, Galt $1750, Cobourg $1400, Lindsay $1400, Brockville $1500, Windsor $1500, St. Catharines $1600.

We find that the total salaries paid in the above named places are as follows:

	No. Teachers	Att.	Total Salaries
Hamilton	14	430	$15,300
Kingston	10	278	10,300
Belleville	5	143	4,490
St. Thomas	7	233	7,700
Stratford	7	166	7,450
Galt	6	151	7,200
Cobourg	5	92	4,850
Lindsay	6	142	6,500
Brockville	7	220	6,800
Windsor	7	170	6,900
St. Catharines	7	166	7,100
Peterborough	6	180	6,960

In reference to the application of Miss Fife and Mr. McPherson, we recommend that their salaries be increased $50 from Sept. 1st last.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. HARTLEY,
Chairman.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Mr. V. Eastwood, acting-chairman of the Property Committee, reported as follows:

To the chairman and members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg leave to report that they met Mr. Irwin, the representative of Mr. Sheppard, the owner of the George street school. They visited the school property. Mr. Irwin agreed to have the necessary repairs made and the roof and plaster repaired at once. He also agreed that all the outside wood-work would be given two coats of paint during the summer holidays in 1902. We would recommend that the property be leased for three years from the 1st of Sept. at a yearly rental of $400 and taxes with the option of a further term of two years if required.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. FAIR,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

ANOTHER SPECIAL.

The special committee appointed to deal with the matter of religious instruction in the schools, reported as follows:

Your committee beg to recommend that the Ministerial Association of the town be given permission to give religious instruction of a non-sectarian nature during the last half hour of Friday of each week until the end of the present term, and if then still satisfactory, to be continued.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

V. EASTWOOD,
Chairman.

The report of the Special Committee re teachers' salaries was not adopted without some little discussion. Mr. Langford considered that the report should be merely received so that the members would have an opportunity of duly considering it. He did not think that it gave the necessary information required as it did not go into details as to the salaries of the respective teachers. It gave the combined salaries, but what he wanted to know was, what is each teacher getting in the local Collegiate Institute as compared with the teachers in other Collegiate Institute and High Schools, who are doing a like amount of work?

Mr. Stevenson strongly supported the adoption of the report.

Mr. Eastwood thought it wise to merely accept the report and he seconded Mr. Langford's amendment to this effect. However, the original motion which was moved by Mr. Hartley and seconded by Mr. McBain, was adopted.

Mr. Stevenson moved that Miss Dawson be appointed to the position on the public school staff rendered vacant by the resignation of Miss Brown, and his motion was seconded by Mr. McBain. Mr. Langford advocated the leaving of the matter over until the next meeting. He moved accordingly, but got no seconder. It was felt that in justice to the teachers who had applied, it was but right that they should know the decision of the Board as soon as possible. Miss Dawson received the appointment.

Mr. Eastwood gave notice that he would, at the next meeting of the Board introduce a motion to increase the Public School Inspector's salary by $100.

The Board then adjourned.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Nov. 6th, 1901.—The opening was irregular, with great strength in U. P. and S. P., and a striking rally in the transactions, but considerable realizing all round, apparently represented scattering.

Profit taken by the Nor. Pac. question, taken as settled in all essentials and details.

Strength at opening was unexpected, and was taken as representing a rally, forced by insiders on the large short interest.

The other transactions showed considerable strength, particularly as it was expected that Man. and B.R.T., would benefit by the result of the municipal elections.

Union Pacific showed considerable strenth at the opening, advancing nearly 2 points on the belief that the Nor. Pac. question was settled. There was good selling on the opening, strength and prices reacting materially.—Haight and Freese Co.

LAW IS TO BE CHANGED

Hon. J. M. Gibson on the Scrap-Iron Assessment.

LEGISLATION FORESHADOWED

It Will Likely Be Introduced During the Coming Session of the Legislature—The Bill of Last Session Was Introduced by Mr. Carscallen and Was Recommended by the Municipal Association.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Hon. J. M. Gibson, when spoken to yesterday, foreshadowed further legislation in regard to the assessment of the plants of corporations in order to leave no doubt as to the meaning of the law. He said: "The clause that was adopted was the Ontario Municipal Association's clause, and formed a bill introduced by Mr. Carscallen of Hamilton during the session. It had been submitted as the Municipal Association's proposed amendment for two or three sessions, and was supposed to be clear enough to settle any question as to the proper taxation of corporations. As a matter of fact, the assessment of Hamilton, and, I think, also of other places, in many parts of the Province, is not on the scrap iron basis, but has been made and settled on the basis of what was supposed to be the effect of the new law. No doubt there will be further legislation at the next session."

DAY-LABOR DEPUTATION.

Hon Mr. Tarte's Reply to the Building Trade Delegates.

Ottawa, Ont., November 6. — A deputation representing the building trades of the city waited upon Hon. J. Israel Tarte yesterday morning and asked that day labor be employed in the construction of the branch of the Royal Mint, the National Museum, the Dominion Astronomical Observatory and other Government buildings to be erected in the city. Messrs. I. E. Cross, Thomas Smith and A. Knapp were the speakers. They claimed that day labor has proved, where tried, to be much superior to the contract system. They maintained that experience had shown the contract system to be an expensive one for the country, whereas the day-labor plan is not only more economical, but gives a better class of work.

In reply, Mr. Tarte said that there was nothing new in the question. It had been discussed several times in Parliament, and he generally had to bear the brunt of the fight for day labor, even the labor representatives in the House not supporting him. He favored day labor, but would not say that it could be successfully applied in every part of the country. He would not hesitate to say that under proper foremen day labor is the best, but the other members of the Government and Parliament had to be convinced of the fact. He could not make any promise, as he was only one and a very humble member of the Government. In their own interest the workingmen would have to realize that it will be some time before the contract system is done away with, and they would have to give and take. As regards himself, he could claim to have done as much as any man for day labor. The west block, after its partial destruction by fire, had been rebuilt by day labor and there is no finer piece of work in the country. The addition to the House of Commons is being built by day labor most successfully and without friction of any kind. At Sorel dredges and steamers were being constructed by the same plan. He believed that Canadian workmen can do all the work of the country. He might be prejudiced in favor of day labor, but he believed in giving young men of ability a chance to climb to the top. Mr. Tarte concluded by again reminding the deputation that there is an adverse House of Commons to contend, and he could make no promises. He advised them to carry on the work of educating public opinion. The deputation were impressed by the cordial manner in which they were received and the frank manner in which the Minister discussed the question with them.

COULD NOT WALK,

Some people become so crippled with rheumatism that they cannot walk for months at a stretch. Mr. John Connell, Bedford Mills, Ont., suffered great agony with muscular rheumatism in his legs and could not walk for two months. Four bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure made a well man of him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment, 50 cents, at all drug stores, or Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

No Lady Law Students.

London, Nov. 5.—Miss Johnston daughter of Sir John B. Johnston, ex-Mayor of Londonderry has asked to be admitted as a law student at King's Inns, Dublin. The benchers Sunday determined that their constitution did not allow them to admit ladies as law students.

Brigand to Track Brigands.

London, Nov. 5.—According to the Vienna Politische Correspondenz, quoted by the correspondent of The Times in the Austrian capital, a well known Macedonian brigand has been instructed to obtain information as to whether Miss Ellen M. Stone is still alive.

I was pale and weamly for years. Miller's Compound Iron Pills brought about a change. Sold by W. Madill.

W.C.T.U. Closed.

Stratford, Ont., Nov. 2.—The sessions of the W. C. T. U. convention were resumed yesterday morning. The important item of business brought down was the report of the plan of the Work Committee. The convention adjourned this afternoon to meet at Toronto in 1903.

DYNAMITED A CAR.

Motorman Was a Non-Unionist, and Was Severely Hurt.

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 6.—A northbound car on the Scranton Railway Company, going from this city to Carbondale yesterday, was dynamited at the upper end of Mayfield and hurled crosswise of the tracks. Every window and the front platform were shattered. The motorman, a non-union man, was hurled into the street and severely bruised. The conductor escaped unharmed. Two Italians were thrown from their seats in the car and injured. This is the first outrage of the kind in connection with the strike of the company's employes.

WON AT LAST.

Although Many Times Attacked, This Enemy has Always Refused to Surrender—A Short and Decisive Engagement Ends the Struggle.

Down at Ruisseau le Blanc lives Dame Coletti Arseneau.

This good lady has for years been engaged in a struggle painful and almost pathetic.

On her side she has shown great courage and untiring perseverence. Everything that she could think of or hear of, she summoned to her assistance.

But despite all her efforts, her determined foe—Dyspepsia— showed no signs of giving up.

While she was growing weaker and weaker, her tormentor seemed to be growing stronger and stronger. Life was scarcely worth living for the poor woman, yet she managed to keep up the fight.

At last, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, the greatest known remedy for all stomach complaints, were suggested.

From the first, the tide of battle turned in the lady's favour.

Her pain decreased, while her strength grew greater. Rapidly and surely did these wonderful Tablets conquer the Dyspepsia, and restore her digestive organs to their natural health and vigour. She is now at last victorious over her old enemy, and has made the following written statement:—

"For years I have suffered with Dyspepsia. I tried many medicines, but all were useless. I used four boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I am happy to say I am cured."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are an infallible remedy for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach or Bloating.

The Stomach and digestive organs need rest, and an opportunity to regain their natural vigour. The large, white Tablets digest the food every particle of it—without aid from these organs, thus furnishing the required rest.

The Liver and Bowels need stimulating and regulating. The small, brown Tablets do this most satisfactorily.

Taken together these constitute the very best remedy for all derangements of the organs of digestion. (All in one box, 50c.)

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured cured Dame Coletti Arseneau. They will cure you.

CLEARING CAPE COLONY.

Only Four Hundred Boers West of the Railway—How Guns Were Taken.

London, Nov. 6.— Lord Kitchener, in a report to the War Office, under date of Nov. 4, giving further details of the recent engagement near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal, between Col. Benson's column and the Boers, says:

"The Boers were unable to remove the guns they captured until a British ambulance went out, when, under cover of the ambulance, the burghers carried them off. The Boer losses were undoubtedly heavy, but no correct estimate of them is obtainable. Commandant Opperman was killed and Chris. Botha was wounded. The Boers are reported to have behaved badly to the British wounded."

Lord Kitchener further reports that Cape Colony to the eastward of the Western Railway is cleared of Boers, with the exception of the Fouches-Myburg-Wessels commando of 400 men, with which General French is dealing.

Col. Gordon Convalescent.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Miss Richards, one of the Canadian nursing sisters in South Africa, writing to a friend in this city, states that Lieut.-Col. Gordon of Montreal, is convalescent, and getting on nicely. The colonel had a close call from an attack of erysipelas.

Royal Canadians May Go.

Halifax, Nov. 6.—It is stated here that the Royal Canadians are to go to South Africa. General O'Grady-Haly refuses to be interviewed on the subject.

The Royal Canadians are at present on garrison duty here, having taken the place of the Leinsters at the beginning of the South African war. They were enlisted from points in Canada, and the regiment is thoroughly Canadian.

Not a Word of Truth in It.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—"Not one word of truth in it," said the Minister of Militia last evening when his attention was drawn to the report that the third special service battalion, R.C.R., which was forced to take the place of the Leinster Regiment at Halifax, was to go to South Africa. "I suppose," continued Col. Borden, "that the report arose over the fact that a number of the Royal Artillery at Halifax have been ordered to the Cape."

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $160 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THE AMATEUR REFORMER.

He Has a Set-to With an Obstinate Postal Clerk.

An oblong piece of colored paper, printed and filled out in due form and signed by the postmaster at Morgantown, instructed the postmaster at Chicago to pay to Henry M. Gwilliams the sum of $1.65.

A tall, lanky person who had dropped in at the postoffice presented this order at the proper window.

The clerk read it through carefully and looked at the lanky person with some suspicion.

"Are you Mr. Gwilliams?" he demanded.

"Yes, sir."

"H'm! Who sends the money to you?"

"Harrison Hilker, Morgantown, state of Kentucky. He's a man, if I remember rightly, with a grimly mustache, wart on the east side of his nose, sandy complexion, blue eyes, pleasing expression of countenance, good talker, voted for Bryan in 1900, but believes in the gold standard. This money was sent to balance a legal account of long standing"—

"I don't care for any of that," interposed the young man on the other side of the glass partition. "Have you papers or anything of that kind about you to identify you as the owner of this order?"

"Here's the letter it came in," said the person professing to be Mr. Gwilliams. "You can see the name on the back of the envelope."

"Anything else?"

"Oh, yes."

Here he laid the contents of the inner breast pocket of his coat before the clerk.

"That's a letter from a cousin in Iowa," he explained, pointing out the one on top of the pile. "Receipted bill from gas company. Here's my bankbook. Name, I think, agrees with name on postal order. Letter from client on the west side. Involved in suit over line fence. Invitation to chili banquet. Circular from proprietors of wire fence fee[illegible] offering to"—

"I guess that'll do."

"I want you to be satisfied. It's a serious thing to pay out a dollar and six bits—or is it four bits?—to a total stranger who hasn't anything but an honest face and a few documents to recommend him. Here's"—

"I told you I was satisfied."

"But I'm not. I want to make the proof overwhelming."

He took a dozen or two of his professional cards from a small morocco cardcase and scattered them profusely about.

"That's all I have with me," he said, "but if I can have the use of your telephone I can bring the office boy here in ten minutes with a hundred more"—

"Don't get funny. I told you the identification was satisfactory."

"Quite sure?"

"Yes, sir."

"Because if you are not"—

"Please let that lady behind you"—

"Ah! Beg pardon, ma'am. I hope you will not have as hard a job in establishing your identity as I had."

He raised his hat, gathered up the order on the cashier which the clerk had shoved at him, replaced his documents in his various pockets and moved toward window No. 25.—Chicago Tribune.

His Argument.

The old gentleman showed his displeasure plainly.

"It seems to me," he said, "rather presumptuous for a youth in your position to ask for my daughter's hand. Can you advance any good reason why I should give my consent?"

"Yes, sir," replied the young man promptly.

"What?"

"I am comparatively modest and economical in the matter of my personal expenditures, and I think you will find me less costly to maintain than any other son-in-law you could very well pick out."—Chicago Post.

Here He Is.

"Well, I've just seen the meanest man."

"What did he do?"

IT'S AN ILL OMEN,

Thinks the wife, to have the wedding ring slip from the finger. "Something is going to happen."

Something is happening. That ring could hardly be pulled from the finger when it was put there a few years ago. Now it slips off by its own weight. How thin the fingers have grown! And the fingers don't grow thin alone. How thin the face is and how thin the once plump form. Almost unconsciously the wife has been fading and wasting away. The strength given to children has never been regained. Drains which should have been stopped have been neglected.

That is a common experience with women, unless some friend has shared with them the secret of the strengthening and healing power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, dries the drains which undermine the strength, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and gives vigor and vitality to nursing mothers.

"Words cannot tell how grateful I am for your kind advice and good medicines," writes Mrs. John Cooke, of Hastings, Northumberland Co., Ontario. "I have been in poor health for four years back and this spring got so bad I could not do my work. I went to the doctor and he said I had ulceration and falling of the internal organs, but thought I would try your 'Favorite Prescription.' I took five bottles and three of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and I can safely say that I never felt better in my life."

BEE AND HIVE.

If the hive rests on the ground, it will be too damp.

It will pay to use foundations by filling all frames full.

Set the hive a little above the ground to admit of a circulation of air.

From 9 o'clock a. m. to 3 o'clock p. m. includes the hours of successful operating with bees.

Procure new blood in the apiary. Inbreeding is as objectionable with bees as with live stock.

It is necessary to unite all weak colonies that will be unable to build up into strong stocks.

Care should be taken to save all young brood and the brood combs of those containing brood.

On account of it being the only material that can be depended upon to stay pine is the best material for hives.

Combs should not be left in empty hives about the apiary. That is the worst place they can be left, as moths are always to be found near the bees and are sure to infest the combs.

One advantage in closed end frames is that a hive full of combs may be handled as though it were a single piece instead of a collection of loose pieces, thus saving work, worry and time.

If the bees cannot conveniently enter the hives during the sudden changes of cool weather, quite a number will be lost; hence care should be taken to have the entrances arranged so that the bees can enter readily.

Knots on Trees.

In the barks of our forest trees are contained a multitude of latent buds, which are developed and grow under certain favorable conditions. Some trees possess this property in a remarkable degree, and often, when the other parts are killed down by frost, the property of pushing out these latent buds into growth preserves the life of the plant. These buds, having once begun to grow, adhere to the woody layer at their base and push out their points through the back toward the light.

The buds then unfold and develop leaves, which elaborate the sap carried up the small shoot. Once elaborated it descends by the bark, when it reaches the base or inner bark. Here it is arrested, so to speak, and deposited between the outside and inner layer of bark, as can be learned on examining specimens on the trees in the woods almost anywhere.

Manx Taxes.

In the matter of taxation the Isle of Man is unique. There is no income tax, no succession duties chargeable against the estates of deceased persons, no highway or turnpike tolls. Roads are maintained by the revenue from two sources—a small tax upon every wheel and shod hoof and a levy upon every male inhabitant, who must give a day's work on the road or its equivalent in cash. There are no stamp duties on receipts, checks, promissory notes, etc.; in fact, stamps are used only for postage.

Stuck.

Penner—Say, give me a synonym for "psychic," will you?

Wright—Well, there's "psychological."

Penner—All right. How do you spell it?

Wright—Why—er—oh, I give it up. Why not use "psychic?"

Penner—I would, but I don't know how to spell that.

Willing to Take Chances.

"So you're going to marry Mike?" said the mistress inquiringly.

"Yis, mum."

"Are you sure you are not making a mistake?"

"Well," returned the cook thoughtfully, "he's not the best man in the world, to be sure, but if I lave him go how kin I be sure of gittin' another wan? I've been thinkin' about it, an' it looks to me like it's right an' proper to take what ye kin git when ye kin git it. Them that holds off for the big prize has been known to lose the little wans. I think I'll take Mike."

THE FAMOUS MAELSTROM.

A Whirlpool in Which the Largest Steamers Would Be Helpless.

We sailed through the famous maelstrom which the ancients believed guards the entrance to the sublimest beauty of the fiords of the Lofoden islands and has furnished so much material for the imagination of the authors of Norwegian legendry and modern novelists. It is a reality. Not one, but several maelstroms actually exist, and any of them will answer the descriptions given by Victor Hugo, Jules Verne, Edgar A. Poe and writers of lesser fame. The chief and most dangerous is an extraordinary whirlpool between the islands of Moskaase and Roest, near the southern extremity of the Lofoden archipelago. It is called Moskaase-Strommen. Another, by the island of Vaero, called the flescstrom, is almost as dangerous.

There are many narrow channels between the mountains where great volumes of water coming from opposite directions meet as the tide flows in and out. They form temporary whirlpools twice a day, and during the spring tides or when the natural currents are accelerated by heavy western gales passage is impossible. No vessel could survive them. Even whales have been caught and whirled around until they were dead. Between times these channels look innocent enough. Even small boats can pass safely through them at the proper time each day, and the departure of the mail boats is regulated accordingly, but they have actually disappeared, being sucked into the vortex and carried to the bottom to whirl and whirl and whirl until the waters are tired and flow away, carrying the wrecks and bodies of the dead with them on the undercurrent to emerge miles and miles distant.

It is not strange that the ignorant and superstitious sailors of the middle ages attributed this mighty and mysterious action of the waters to supernatural power, and their imaginative minds, always creating monsters and miracles out of natural phenomena which they could not understand, placed in them an octopus whose awful arms were always extended to grasp unwary mariners who were so unfortunate as to come within his reach. Later writers and more intelligent represented the maelstrom as a vast caldron in which the waters revolve with terrific speed, their centrifugal force extending a long distance and gradually drawing toward the center all who venture within their power. The mariners struggle and shriek in vain. The monster is inexorable, and when the crisis comes the vessel springs out of the water and then shoots suddenly down into the vortex, while the shrieks of terror and despair are drowned in the crashing of the hungry torrent and the howling of the winds.

The straits are very dangerous, and all vessels are warned to keep out of them. The notes upon the charts issued by the Norwegian hydrographic office say that "when the wind is steady at flood and ebb tide each day the whirlpool is still for half an hour or more, when boats may then pass through, but half way between flood and ebb tide the passage becomes dangerous, although it can be used by steamers and large vessels when there is no wind for several hours a day. Toward the height of the tide or when a gale is blowing the water revolves with a speed of twenty-six miles an hour in mighty whirlpools in which the largest steamers would be helpless."

Over a Million Victims.

RUGBY.

The Toronto News says: "Mr. Tom Gibson of Ingersoll, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Gibson is an old Varsity Rugby player, and now turns out with the Ingersoll team. His brother, Earle played left half back for 'Varsity on Saturday against Queen's. Mr. Gibson says that the London team is not nearly as fast as the aggregation that won the O.R. F.U. intermediate championship last season. The Ingersoll team played London recently, and Mr. Gibson bases his opinion on that game. The team lacks the strength behind the line and the team play that marked the champions of 1900. He thinks that the championship will change hands when the Peterborough and London teams meet. 'The Peterborough team is rated high—almost good enough for senior company,' says Mr. Gibson, and if I were betting they would carry my money.' Peterborough and London are scheduled to play home and home games for the championship, the first game to be played in Peterborough next Saturday.

Mr. Frank Hobbs, the well-known London footballer and hockey player, had a narrow squeak that might have resulted fatally. While out hunting in Muskoka he was suddenly taken down with appendicitis and it became necessary to hire a special boat to take him to the stage route and from there to the nearest railway station. He arrived in Toronto on Monday afternoon and was operated on in the evening, and is now resting as easily as can be expected under the circumstances. Had Frank been a day later the doctors say he might not have recovered.

BASKET-BALL.

The man who attains perfection in athletics is not he who carries off the fairest palms of victory, but rather the one whose mind has been trained to the acceptance of defeat with noble equanimity. And while this is true no one will gainsay the fact that basket ball under its present Dominion auspices, those of the Young Men's Christian Association is doing much to raise the standard of Canadian sportsmanship. The game, being purely amateur, does not tend to infuse its losers with the bitterness that moneyed pastimes instil, and having players of acknowledged character, lends not itself to meanness of method. Hence basket ball should be encouraged far and wide. Mind and muscle, when working in perfect harmony, can be depended upon to arouse spectorial enthusiasm without bounds.

For some time past an agitation has been on foot for the formation of a Canadian League, comprising Hamilton, Brantford, Peterborough, Kingston, Stratford, Toronto, and other cities, but so far the sum-total of results amount to nil. The movement will bear fruit sooner or later, however, and many would not be at all surprised to find such an association an accomplished fact before the end of the present season.

HOCKEY.

"The Toronto Telegram says London couldn't get into the O.H.A. with a burglar's kit. There's more truth than poetry in that. It would take something abler than honest methods for a burglar's kit to get inside of Toronto's guard when Hogtown is on the grab."—London Exchange.

"For goodness sake what do they know about honesty in any kind of sport in London? Nothing, absolutely nothing. Last year's hockey tangle showed what breed of sportsman they are in the Forest City. It may come to them later but at present honesty is a dead issue up there."—Telegram.

AQUATIC.

Towns, the champion oarsman, is back in London, and in an interview spoke very nicely of Canada.

George Towns acknowledges he is not much on the talk, but one has only now to mention Canada to him and he launches whole boat-loads of kindly words expressive of his great enjoyment of the trip and the splendid reception and the great kindness he received.

"You know," said Towns, I'm not much on the talk, but I'm champion now, and I will become verbose. I have heard a lot of talk about Canada and its resources. Well, I had never seen the country, but I have met in this country a large number of Canadians, and I always believed that Canada must be a glorious country to live in from what I had seen of Canadians; but the country is grander than I had ever been led to believe it was, and it is about a 10 to 1 shot that I may, in the near future make Canada my home. I would like you to tell my Canadian friends that my visit to Canada was more enjoyable than I can find language to express."

AGOOD START.

The Board of the Y. M. C. A. Met Last Night—The Programme.

At the Board Meeting of the Y.M.C.A. held last evening most satisfactory reports were received from the officers, indicating an increased interest in the work in all the departments, and in each surpassing records of previous years in the new building, for the month which is the opening one of the new season's work. The largest increase is noticed in the Physical Department report, where an actual enrollment of 180 is shown, which promises to be increased to 252 when all who have registered have come in. The largest enrollment any previous year was 122. Ten classes are held each week. The total for October was 344, —an average of 33 daily.

Five Senior Bible Classes organized show an enrollment of 56 as against 24 for the same month last year. 67 are in the Educational Classes, as against 55 last year. The Boys' Bible Classes show a large increase—36, as against 17 last year. Other features of the work are equally encouraging, demonstrating the fact that the work is carried on on a city basis, and is reaching the men and boys of the town.

The officers are busily engaged now in an effort to close the next month free of debt, and as considerable funds are needed in order to do so, citizens are earnestly appealed to to see to it that the work is not hampered for the want of funds. On its present basis the fees from members only equal about half the amount required to maintain the work and the responsibility of the other half rests with the citizens of the town. The balance of the latter amount the officers are now trying to secure. John Ruskins' advice to philanthropic citizens in "Invest your money in Manhood—particularly young Manhood."

A Good Move.

In the present scarcity of houses and the certainty that in the near future there will be a demand far beyond the present supply, we notice with pleasure that Mr. Dumble is putting lots on the market at prices and terms that will enable men of small means to buy and build. For instance lots that he sells at $200 may be paid for in quarterly payments of $6.66 each. So that in 10 years the lot will be paid for, and the purchaser is enabled to put his money into a house. This is giving the poor man a chance to get for himself a home and get rid of the landlord.

Great Sale of Good Books.

Now's the time for book lovers to indulge their fancy at a small cost. The Peterborough Bookstore is offering about two hundred volumes of copyright books, including best works of fiction by writers of repute. The regular $1.25 edition for only 75c. each. This is an unusual chance to stock up your libraries. Prices were never more truly attractive. A chance came our way to buy a lot of Catholic prayer books, excellent sample copies in good order, which we can afford to sell at one-quarter off regular prices. The attention of parents is called to a remarkable offer in children's toy books. They are firmly bound in heavy boards and pictorially embellished, all to be sacrificed at half price. These extra inducements are the result of our efforts to make room for Christmas goods crowding in upon us. Make hay while the sun shines. A. H. Stratton & Co.

CAUSED SON'S DEATH

James Lewis Was Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE" JUDGED

The Judge's Two Questions to the Jury Answered in the Affirmative in Twenty Minutes by the Twelve Good Men and True—A Reserve Case Granted—Lewis Allowed Out on His Own Bail.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—It took but 20 minutes yesterday for the jury in the case of James H. Lewis, the Christian Scientist, charged with manslaughter, to decide upon the guilt of the prisoner. Mr. Lewis was allowed to go on his own bail, pending argument in the Court of Appeal on a reserved case granted to the defence. The trial was concluded with addresses of W. W. Vickers for the defence, Mr. Guthrie for the Crown, and Chief Justice Falconbridge's charge to the jury.

Mr. Vickers, in opening, said he was compelled to thank the judge, the Crown prosecutor and the press for the very kind treatment the defence had received in the Criminal Assizes, which is in great and pleasing contrast with the treatment received in the Police Court, where this system was openly called a "fad," and the Eddy book termed a "blasphemy."

Mr. Guthrie spoke only 15 minutes. He said that the Crown pressed this more for its moral effect than that the prisoner should be punished; the Crown asks for no punishment; should the prisoner be found guilty the authorities are content that no sentence should be passed if His Lordship so wills. "So long as a law is on the statute book the people must conform to it. If it is a bad law, it can and it ought to be removed."

Judge Falconbridge submitted two questions to the jury:

Did the prisoner neglect to provide medical aid for his child?

Was his death caused by or accelerated by such neglect?

During his charge he pointed out that Christian Science treatment used in this case is not a treatment recognized by law. The Crown did well, he said, to say that only a nominal punishment or no punishment should follow a conviction of this unfortunate man, unfortunate because it was his own little boy, only six years old, who died, and it is proper not to add to his natural grief. So far as he is concerned, the case is not of much importance, but it is fraught with very serious and grave consequences upon the community at large and upon those who are attached to the Christian Science belief itself. All the evidence touching other cures has no bearing on the case. It was allowed in order to satisfy everyone that the prisoner acted in perfect good faith when he took the course he did. After speaking of the danger to the community in cases of contagious diseases handled according to Christian Science system of treatment His Lordship said: "Every man has a right to employ such a doctor or surgeon as he pleases or to employ none, but in the case of a child it is different, and here is where the law steps in and draws the line."

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

LONG VOYAGE IN A CANOE.

Canadians, Bound 'Round the World in a Dugout, Arrive at Samoa.

Apia, Oct. 12.—Capt. J. C. Voss and A. K. Luxton, the adventurous Canadians who sailed from Vancouver early in July in an Indian dugout canoe for a voyage around the world in her, arrived here safe and sound on Oct. 10, having travelled in that time a distance of 6,400 miles.

After leaving Vancouver, B.C., they sailed for 56 days without seeing land or sail of any description, and on Aug. 31 they landed at Pearkya Island. From there they cruised to Apia, arriving Oct. 10.

The venturesome travelers remained but a few hours in Apia — only long enough to secure a supply of water provisions — and then set sail for Sydney, by way of Fiji. Both men were in excellent health, and expressed themselves as satisfied that they would be able to complete their undertaking.

LI HUNG CHANG DEAD

The Career of China's Grand Old Man Ended.

GREATEST CHINESE STATESMAN

Already the Offices for the Dead Have Begun Over the Body—Wife and Daughters Greatly Depressed—Worked for His Country Till Almost His Last Hour—Sketch of His Life.

Pekin, Nov. 6.—Li Hung Chang is dead. He was surrounded by his family in his last moments. The cause of his death was ulceration of the stomach. Within the past few days he has had several hemorrhages. For several months he had been suffering from a complication of diseases.

The burial clothes had already been put on. The court yard of the Yamen is filled with life-sized paper horses and chairs with coolie bearers, which his friends are sending in accordance with Chinese custom, to be buried in order to carry his soul to Heaven. Several of the Ministers of the powers have called to express sympathy.

The Chinese officials are somewhat uneasy concerning the effect his death will have on the populace and to guard against a possible anti-foreign demonstration the Chinese generals have disposed their troops about the city in such a way to command the situation. Trouble, however, is extremely improbable.

The wife of Earl Li and his two sons and daughters were with him. They are greatly distressed. Chinese officials throng the Yamen. Telegrams have been sent summoning Prince Ching, who is now on his way to meet the court, and Chou Fu, Provincial Treasurer, from Pao Ting Fu. The former will assume the general charge of governmental affairs, and the latter will act as Governor of Chili until Li Hung Chang's successor in that office, who will probably be Yuan Shi Kai, is appointed.

During the evening of Nov. 1 digitalis was frequently administered. Earl Li's persistent refusals to refrain from attending to government business aggravated his malady, while the refusal of the family to permit of certain measures customary in western medical practice for relieving the stomach, contributed to bring the end.

Sketch of His Life.

Li Hung Chang was born in the Province of Anuhuei, on Feb. 16, 1823. In 1860, while Governer of the Province of Thiangsin, he aided "Chinese" Gordon in crushing the Taiping rebellion. The other Thiang Province came under his sway, and in 1865 he was made Viceroy of the United Countries. In 1866 he was appointed Minister Plenipotentiary, in 1867 Viceroy of Hongkuang, and in 1868 a Grand Chancellor. After the Tientsin massacre, in 1870, he was punished on the charge of not
